Dear Eric,

The leaflets I have been given out here are quite tame unlike the full blown ones I have given out in Ireland.

The problem in Ireland is that it is an island far from the center of the west and it has suffered a lot from emigration. The difference between the classes is quite large. In France one finds a lot more older people who are coping on and there are many meetings to go to in Paris. I talked to a managing director of a factory to try to get sponsorship. When we were eating in his girlfriend's bar he started discussing what I have said to him about revisionism right in front of a communist who looks like one of the Jews in the Eternal Jew.

It's certainly easier to tell ostensible whites here than amongst Americans. I accept that there has been Asiatic influence amongst Americans. Nearly every American I have ever met claimed to be part Jewish, but they will shut up about that when it becomes less fashionable. I met an Afghan and his face reminded me of an American actor.

Only genetic testing will sort out the mess.

I remember being in a waiting room and a race mixer skipped the queue. An Albanian laughed at her and her black child.

The functional test of adulteration is preference.

But what makes good whites was only present in a minority. Intelligence and heroic virtues.

The Evil we face comes from the Manichean outbred outside thing but also the Boetian evil, the lack of virtue amongst a large element.

The French television uses obscenity a lot more than the British television and the French aren't allowed to really laugh at their own history and their television comedians are poor in quality.

I only see television when visiting others. I saw Sarkozy claim civilisations fall due to inbreeding and a French one on another channel saying "fuck your mother UMP", they found the burning of the cars a topic for comedy.

If the niggers in Ireland started burning people's cars they would soon find themselves very dead.

But Ireland is only at the beginning of a long process of degeneration which has been going on here for quite a while.

The Young French are very difficult and very Marxist, but at the same time I have met very coping people.

People have magnificent architecture here but don't know much about their history.

By making tame material perhaps I can build a group but I am undecided as to whether I will stay here. I need to find an active role. I also want to start a family but that is difficult on the margins of society.

I was listening to France Culture radio and they had a revolting queer program on. Culturally the media here is non-stop brazen Marxism.

Irving discovered that Milch's father was not Jewish. The details are in his excellent book. Milch was one of the more capable top Nazis and responsible for the successful doodlebug whereas the V2 probably was a waste of resources. Things like that need to be cleared up. If a fact isn't 100% certain it's best to leave it off a leaflet.

For mass distribution a leaflet should have a simple message that doesn't strain the attention span and if possible provide photographic evidence. It's only by giving out many of them and studying the reactions of people and what they retain that one can craft an effective one.

My revisionist ones have travelled around Ireland. I need to find a backer before I can distribute DVDs en masse.

That would be safe leafleting because it would take a few hours before they could see what was on the dvd.

Although I had some injuries leafleting in Ireland the risk wasn't too great .I got my leg badly broken when I was wearing sandals instead of boots and was leafleting in the center of Dublin.That is still a nuisance and running is painful.Apart from Americans ,Brits or Jews we had very few problems in Ireland.I'm convinced that if I had some resources I could start a reasonably sized group there. When one has nothing at all to offer people , not even a meeting place for them to go to its harder. France is deadly and one just cannot do the same thing but one can do the letterboxes alot more easily.

I even went house to house and had few problems. I think I could open a bookshop there if I had a few thousand to start. Books could be sold using volunteers to go door to door and get them out.

"Baboons, as I have said, are monkeys (Cynocephali), and that is what made the pregnancy in Kenya so astonishing. It has long been believed that human females could conceive by gorillas (Anthropithecii). One apparent hybrid, named Julia Pastrana, became quite famous in the middle of the Nineteenth Century; see the article by Allan Callahan in Liberty Bell, March 1986, pp. 58 ff. The author justly observes that although she exhibited human intelligence, the fact that her child, sired by the man who virtually owned her, closely resembled her corroborates the opinion that she had been engendered by an ape. (3) In January 1976, a similar creature, evidently part gorilla or orangutan (as shown by the published photograph), was purchased for $8000 by an attorney in New York named Michael Miller, who thought it a capital investment from which he intended to profit. I do not know what happened. "

I am interested in pinning down various things I read . I am a perfectionist in some ways . I saw a liberty bell website but last I looked they had very few past articles online. If there are good articles I can scan in limited quantities and put a certain amount online. Oliver mentioned things like the above several times but I have not found much on the net about such things.

I need to get proper internet access but I have no phone in the house.

The bbc reported that the Russians killed a peruvian student and beat a spaniard unconscious recently.

I am suspicious of Putin .He reminds me of Shamir .A rump stalinist in some ways.

I met a stunning russian woman the other day and I will see if I can draw her into my world. I have a copy of Jurgen Graf's book in Russian and I will give her that.

I can't relate with the young french women as easily. They want money or else they are degraded by contact with the arabs .I will have to get a car to go to all the meetings .There are no normal jobs.Most of the Russian women here are forced to work as whores in the hostess bars.The French women are dumped by their husbands for young foreign women.Everyone shakes hands with the arabs and curses them as soon as they leave the room.

I choose this town because it is quiet. Not too many cars burnt here. There are no go areas in the town though and the police can't control the crime.There is alot less ecstasy amongst the youth. In Ireland and the UK that is an epidemic.

Subject: The Zündel Trial witnessed

Hello All

I went to Mannheim to witness the first day of the Zündel trial on Tuesday 8th of November. The proceedings were fascinating and worrying at the same time. What I witnessed that day was extraordinary and I am sure if such events happened in an Irish court, the papers would be full of it.

I do not speak very much German and so, much of what happened was translated to me by German people I met in the courthouse before the trial began. To begin with, the court was full of supporters. Unable to gain entry, other supporters waited outside. There were two television reporting teams outside the court - one from RTL, and the other I did not get to find out who they were working for. Everyone was passed through metal detection equipment and also frisked by the security people. There were eight security persons in the court during the proceedings. Five judges comprised the 'judging team'. This, I am told by German friends, is the norm in such cases.

In the first session of the morning, it seems one of Zündel's lawyers was dismissed by the judge for some reason that remains a mystery to me. Though perhaps others you will be in contact with will know the reasons. In any event, in response to this the Zündel team essentially charged the judge saying that he must decide if he is fit to hear the trial as he seemed to express a bias against the defendant! After a brief recess, the judge finally decided to hold over a decision on this matter until next Tuesday the 15th of November. It is bizarre to me to see a judge having the right to decide whether he has a bias or not, but that is the situation.

Incidentally, whilst the members of Zündel's team were making their submissions, the judge looked as though he was asleep. His head was down and his eyes were closed. I know this sounds funny, but I am not joking. It is the absolute truth.

The judge was either actually asleep or was making a very overt demonstration of his indifference to the submissions - this was the worrying part of the proceedings. At one point one of Ernst's supporters made a sudden loud noise as though to 'rouse' the judge. Rouse he did and fixed us all with a stare that would not be out of place in a Dracula film. It is a stare I will long remember. His eyes had the look of a psychopath - black, very close together and only separated by a long, thin nose.

During one of the recesses, a supporter asked the prosecuting lawyer, "how can you sleep at night?". They were the very words used. They were spoken softly and without menace. At this, the supporter was immediately arrested! How Orwellian is that? We did not find out if anything was going to come of it however.

As promised, I took some photographs. Unfortunately, I am no photographer and I do not know if you will be able to use the images as they are not of very high quality. One image shows the entrance to the court along with people waiting to enter and the other shows some supporters in conversation with a young lady who is one of Zündel's lawyers. This young woman is apparently an assistant to Mr. Horst Mahler. She was very impressive as a defending lawyer and, in spite of her youth, demonstrates a level of maturity not usual in people of her age. We were not allowed to photograph inside the court itself. The photos are zipped up into a zip file but even so the file is 640Kb in size. Unless you are on broadband, this will tie up your computer for some time downloading. If you want me to send them anyway, please let me know.

Ernst himself looked in very good health. He seemed very 'alive'. He was alert and very aware of us, his supporters, whom he spent much time looking towards as though to remember each of our faces. His eyes went from one of us to the next. He was not very far away from any of us and so could see us all in detail. It was quite a thrill for me personally to be in the presence of man of such high principle and bravery. During one of the recesses of the proceedings I was standing up at the back of the court and as Ernst was looking my way, I raised my hands in a salute of solidarity. He smiled broadly at me and he did not look away for a long time. He is a special person without a doubt.

I hope this is of some use to you Fredrick. I will be sending this to Mrs. Zündel also as I promised to let her know what I witnessed.

Very Best Wishes, Tony O'Neill, Kells, Ireland

I have been working for two weeks on a half hour broadcast. I think things should always contain something original before they are shown to the world. A supporter sent me the software. Hits to the website went way up after the first ten minute broadcast. People have a short attention span. Hopefully after few months I will have an entire cd that can be handed out in Ireland .

Ireland suffers from Isolation from the center of western civilisation. One of my friends was an extreme catholic and used to holiday in Franco's Spain. At present he is alone without much heating and not able to move much after his heart attack. There isn't social support for people in Ireland like there is here of course they make exceptions for foreigners. People like him had alot better understanding. There is a sharp generational divide there as elsewhere. In France its more extreme. Many of the family play sport and are eternal peasant man ,they have hardly read a book in their life. I kept out of the intense antiintellectual sport life . Its a sharp difference going from a childhood with statues of Jesus and Mary everywhere to niggers everywhere.

In superficial thinking here a blonde jew is white and an albanian is a quasi nigger. The masses need a cultural dimension injected into their thinking but that is difficult without media power. One Gypsy from bosnia told me people were always asking was he moroccan so now he hangs out with moroccan drug dealers and is a defacto wog.
