Why is Immigration the way it is? Our continued genocide

Written by Captain Cannuk

The economics and demographics will not allow any political force to do anything about immigration until Canadian Law addresses the ridiculous policy of blind equality. Not all immigrants are equal.

The primary and number 1 problem in the near future for all whites in this country is the 25 Million person shift that is about to take place.

Over the next 20 years the baby boomers will be dying, emigrating, retiring and reducing in no small sum their contributions to the work force and the GDP. In return this means that there are going to be a massive amount of low - medium wage and a finite amount of higher paying jobs to fill. The baby boomers did not have enough children to fill all these spots. There is a gaping hole in the system. I am sadly part of that generation. What's worse is the problem is compounding because my generation is waiting longer to have children, less economically stable and living at home longer AND boasts one of the highest levels of none post secondary graduates in the Caucasian community in more than 75 years. I am not commenting on the reason. WE KNOW THE REASONS...

What's even worse is the Government has caught on to a trend the corporate community has been using for some time. It's called externalization. Meaning that it is much cheaper for the government to bring in a foreign worker with minimal language skills and moderate vocational skills, educate them perhaps even pay them a little to settle here then jump right into the work force in a low to medium wage job. In smaller part this also applies to Professional occupations as well. When a Canadian child is born, the government incurs a great deal of expense in the rearing of this child. From Hospital bills, to education, primary, middle and high school and possibly scholarships or reduced interest rate loans for post secondary education. In some cases a Canadian born child isn't contributing to the GDP until they are into their mid twenties and even early thirties. This is a burden and generation GAP our government didn't have the foresight to structure for. Again I reiterate I'm not making excuses for the way things are I'm simply illustrating it.

Back to the issue of Immigration though; now that I have laid the ground work for why they do what they do, one might simply say, well let more whites in and less 3rd world people in. This is much easier said than done. There is not enough incentive to put it frankly for people from other 1st world nations to come here. This is why largely over the last decade our white population short of our birth rate has only seen modest advances in numbers through the immigrant of eastern block nations. Immigration from England and western European countries is at an all time low. Our government is simply not doing what it takes to attract such talent. For instance, if we implemented world class technology R & D, world class medical R & D along with world class living standards and much more we would see a return to 1st world immigrants wanting to come here. The problem again goes back to money. This cost associated with implementing such programs is again extremely high. Perhaps higher than the racially unaware majority are willing to pay. They must be un-programmed to understand the true ramifications of what we are all aware of.

If you compound these factors along with other such agendas as the Corporate worlds seeking of wage suppression, neo-liberal race melting, globalization and just about anything else you can think of the picture really starts to become clear.

This is a war that is being fought on several tiers and on several fronts.

Until there is a complete collapse of our social fabric why would the rich who are only getting richer want to return Canada to the world class leader it once was if it is going to come out of their pockets? If there is complete collapse or massive wage suppression we will be whoring our resources like beaners on a street corner with bags of oranges. The Americans will have unprecedented access to our oil, fresh water, minerals and precious metals. Not to mention every other foreign nationalist organization we have let set up shop in our own backyards. The Chinese and Malaysians are already frothing at the mouth with the prospect of our biggest steel producers folding. Why? because companies they control will binge on our steel and take it back to their countries through free trade agreements while leaving us little, very little.

This truly does sound fairly bleak now that I look back on what I have written. This is not the end and things do not have to play out this way. There is still hope. We the White Nationalists cannot fall asleep while we are on guard and looking after the empire our forefathers have built for us. We must continue to fight for what is rightfully ours and seek to assemble under a single banner where we can truly start to influence and change the direction this doomed ship is on.

Time is more of the essence for our survival and ability to flourish, more so now than for any generation before us. We must return to a visionary Canada where we entice the worlds best and brightest to come here. We must foster an environment that seeks to encourage our indigenous white intellects to stay here, while still allowing them to be just as successful if not more so than if they were to emigrate elsewhere. The future success and continuing enrichment of Canada's greatness depends on what we do today for the Canada of tomorrow. We must not allow the elite and the neo-liberal factions in this Nation to continue to build their 3rd world corporate slave driven quagmire.

Part of my personal aspirations to make a difference is to form or become part of a political party for our own people, get married to a white nationalist female, have at least 5 children and maintain my economical stability well supporting and nurturing other white nationalist who have similar goals. I will also seek to endeavor on a life long journey of intellectual enrichment and education so my contributions will benefit my people and my Nation to the fullest extent of my capabilities. I will contribute to, encourage and foster the white youth of this Nation to be proud of Canada, their roots and their potential for greatness. Every minute counts and the clock is ticking.

Some "Dominion Day" Reflections on the Benefits of Being Canadian

By Erik the Norseman

These "Benefits" include the dubious "Right" to be compelled to pay the GST against strong public opposition. Of course, Status Indians (who are also Canadians) are, on the basis of their race, exempt from this tax. When I first encountered the GST in action, it was about a week after its implementation. I hadn't done much in the way of shopping that week, and what little I had done consisted only of groceries, exempt from this, now very much hated tax.

Going to my corner grocery store, a corner store the like of which you can find on a corner in almost any neighbourhood, in any town or city in the country, I found that I had been preceded by a little boy of about five or six. At least I think it was a little boy, what with unisex clothing and hairstyles being what they are, it is sometimes hard to tell. In any event, the little tyke reaches, with a somewhat grimy little hand, into one of those opened boxes of candies that sell by the each, and extracts his choice. You know, with so many 'somewhat grimy little hands' pawing through these candies before one is actually popped into some greedy little mouth, it is a wonder more of these kids don't get sick from anything other than an overindulgence of sweets!

Anyhow, holding his choice up for the proprietor's inspection the kid asks, "How much are these?" The proprietor, a kindly middle aged man, replies, "Those are a nickel each son."

Now I don't know if this man knew this child or just made the same assumption as did I, in any case the 'boy' reaches back into the box and after removing a second candy there from, drops them both, along with a dime on the counter by the cash register.

This apparently places a different complexion on things. The proprietor looks down on the tot and says, "I'm sorry but you need another penny, these cost eleven cents." "But you said," exclaims the young fellow, "that they were a nickel each, and two nickels are a dime!" Well, the youngster sure knows how to count his change but this does not placate the proprietor who tries to explain, "Yes, one candy is a nickel but two are ten cents and on that I have to charge GST." Further attempts to explain only caused the child's face to cloud up with threatening tears welling up, and again he exclaims, "You TOLD me they are a nickel each!"

Considering the difficulty, if not the outright impossibility of justifying the GST to an adult, one can well imagine the result of trying to explain it to a six year old. Indeed, further attempts only resulted in a single tear rolling down one cheek and the treat of a torrential cloud burst to follow. The proprietor, himself a father, as was inevitable from the outset, finally relented, and sent the tyke on his way, tears forgotten, happily munching the two candies he had exchanged for a dime and no GST. I don't know, and I didn't ask, if the storekeeper ate that penny or simply rang the transaction up as two sales.

The foregoing cutesy little story would normally be of no further import. But it serves to illustrate a very important principle. It is frightening, indeed terrifying, to think that we have a government which not just figuratively, but as illustrated by the preceding story, we now have absolute proof, literally steals candy from babies!

Canadian Heritage Alliance, www.canadianheritagealliance.com

Canadian Heritage Alliance is a collection of dissident writers and concerned Canadians who have united to act as a political lobby group. We seek to revive the civil liberties of the Canadian citizen, which have been smothered by the voice of the minority. We recognize that a revision of the "Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms" and the Criminal Code" is essential to eliminate contradictions that restrict freedom and restrains justice for all Canadian citizens. We appreciate the significance of freedom of speech, press, petition, and assembly; in addition to the right to be free of unjustifiable and unwanted government intrusion into one's private affairs and possessions, the right to be treated justly by the government whenever the loss of liberty or property is at stake, and the right to be treated equally before the law, regardless of social status. We urge politicians to take a more active "Canada for Canadians" approach to dealing with Canadian issues and to stabilize immigration.

Canadian Jewish groups join censorship brigade to silence Freedomsite

Written by Marc Lemire

On January 27, 2006 several Canadian Jewish groups have applied for "interested party" status at the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing against Marc Lemire. This case involves the Canadian "Human Rights" Commission alleging Marc Lemire could "expose" certain privileged groups to "hatred and/or contempt" by material contained on the websites: The Freedomsite (<http://www.freedomsite.org>), Freedomsite Message Board and Stormfront.org Message Forum.

The groups that are applying for Interested Party Status are:

- The Canadian Jewish Congress
- League for Human Rights of B'nai Brith Canada
- Friends of Simon Wiesenthal Centre for Holocaust Studies

These censorship driven groups, are requesting to participate in the constitutional issues raised by Marc Lemire as well, as act like prosecutors and cross-examine witnesses. In previous hearings against Ernst Zundel, where the Jewish groups had Interested Party status, all they did was agree with each other on every motion.

One might wonder what possible purpose they could serve to further this case, other than costing the respondent additional money and prolonging the hearing.

A decision on if the Jewish groups can intervene is expected soon.

History of the case

Back in 2004, the Canadian Human Rights Commission (Canada's leading internet censorship agency) received two complaints about content on the Freedomsite (<http://www.freedomsite.org>) and the Freedomsite message board located at <http://chat.freedomsite.org>.

The two separate, but identical, complaints named Marc Lemire in one and the second named "The Freedomsite" which was listed as "www.freedomsite.org" and "chat.freedomsite.org"

The complaints surround posts to the Freedomsite Message Board, as well as a post by Kevin Strom entitled "Aids Secrets." After the Canadian "Human Rights" Commission investigated the complaint, additional grounds were added, which included an article by the veteran journalist and WWII war hero Doug Collins.

After a well written legal motion by famous attorney Barbara Kulaszka, the complainant withdrew his complaint and the case against the "The Freedomsite" was quashed.

In January of 2006, Marc Lemire became the first person in Canadian history to ever win a Section 13 complaint under the Canadian Human Rights Act.

The case against Marc Lemire continues to progress it's way to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal. The tribunal is a farce that poses as a court, where truth is no defence. Your intent is no defence. Your motivation is no defence. In fact, there are no listed defences for a private citizen. Yes that's correct. ZERO defences!

While the tribunal has a legal like atmosphere, although it really has no rules and can do pretty much anything they want. If previous hearing is any indication, they are nothing more than politically motivated enforcers, working at the behest of special interest groups who are intent of silencing any critiques of issues such as immigration, multiculturalism, the holocaust, Zionism and other current political issues.

This outrageous abuse of power has lead observers to call these tribunals "nothing more than Kangaroo courts" and "hick tribunals"

The Canadian Human Rights Act - Section 13, covers literally all forms of speech via "a group of interconnected or related computers, including the Internet, or any similar means of communication." Meaning any computer that is networked can fall under this act. As far fetching (and unconstitutional) as this act is, it can even covers private communications between a citizen and perhaps his Member of Parliament. This act can cover literally any communication made from a computer - whether it was public or not. Private communication is also covered.

With the more recent amendments to the "Human Rights" Act, victims can now face stiff fines as well as cease and desist orders. If you're found in contravention of a wide ranging cease and desist order that the "Human Rights" Tribunal issues, your looking at possibly lengthy jail sentences.

We need to fight against such a broad act that covers literally every form of speech imaginable on the Internet -- enforceable by fines which could run clear in excess of $60,000 and financially ruin people.

We continue our intense fight to preserve our inherent rights to freedom of speech and freedom of the press on the Internet.

This battle will be long and expensive. I need your help to continue the fight! Computer Security: Browser Security

The time has come to dump Internet Explorer. The benefits of using IE are too few, the faults too great.

Just about everyone reading this has seen computers that have been beaten down with spyware, the evil junk that hijacks IE and renders a system virtually useless. The system slows to a crawl and every other mouse click conjures up some species of perverse, obscene image.

What most people don't realize, however, is that there is a very simple and powerful way to defend your system

Don't use Internet Explorer.

Most other browsers don't make it so easy to install malicious software on your system without you knowing about it. IE makes it relatively easy through two features called ActiveX and Active Scripting.

These technologies were designed specifically for the purpose of giving websites more control over a user's computer.

In addition to the spyware issues, IE in general has had a terrible track record when it comes to all types of serious security issues. For years now, it's seemed like every time you turn around there is a new way to have your computer taken over via Internet Explorer.

Put "internet explorer" and "allow an attacker to execute commands" (with the quotes) into Google and you'll see what I mean.

The alternative browsers are actually as good or even better than IE. There are many out there, but the Mozilla products are the best. I recommend Mozilla Firefox. Not only does it keep your browsing sessions a lot more secure and spyware-free, but it also supports Internet standards and has a wide range of powerful features.

Arguably the biggest benefit to using a Mozilla-based product is something called tabbed browsing. What this allows you to do is have multiple pages open within a single browser window.

Rather than going from window to window in the taskbar, you can switch between clearly visible tabs, all within the same view. You can even do this and many other commands via the keyboard if you are into that sort of thing.

Using Firefox will not require any major shift in your daily browsing habits. It'll import your favorites automatically, and you can benefit from the improved security starting the first time you open it.

With the popup blocking enabled, you can breathe quite a bit easier when browsing to unknown sites. Attempts to install garbage on your system that could have easily succeeded if you were using IE will simply be ignored by Firefox.

Plus, the whole time you're browsing you'll know that you are doing your part to keep the soul of the Internet alive by choosing to use a browser whose developers actually care about standards.

Download a copy of Firefox, Opera, or another alternative browser. Run it for a week and see how it feels. I think you'll find that you'll wish you had switched sooner.

No longer will you have to worry about garbage clogging up your system because of your browser, or having to make a mad rush for a patch every time an IE vulnerability is released.

What Say the Reeds at Runnymede?

A poem commemorating the signing of the Magna Carta. Runnymede, Surrey, June 15, 1215. Rudyard Kipling (1865-1936)

At Runnymede, at Runnymede,
What say the reeds at Runnymede?
The lissom reeds that give and take,
That bend so far, but never break,
They keep the sleepy Thames awake
With tales of John at Runnymede.

At Runnymede, at Runnymede,
Oh, hear the reeds at Runnymede:
'You musn't sell, delay, deny,
A freeman's right or liberty.
It wakes the stubborn Englishry,
We saw 'em roused at Runnymede!

When through our ranks the Barons came,
With little thought of praise or blame,
But resolute to play the game,
They lumbered up to Runnymede;
And there they launched in solid line
The first attack on Right Divine,
The curt uncompromising "Sign!"
They settled John at Runnymede.

At Runnymede, at Runnymede,
Your rights were won at Runnymede!
No freeman shall be fined or bound,
Or dispossessed of freehold ground,
Except by lawful judgment found
And passed upon him by his peers.
Forget not, after all these years,
The Charter signed at Runnymede.'

And still when mob or Monarch lays
Too rude a hand on English ways,
The whisper wakes, the shudder plays,
Across the reeds at Runnymede.
And Thames, that knows the moods of kings,
And crowds and priests and suchlike things,
Rolls deep and dreadful as he brings
Their warning down from Runnymede!

Canada and the 1918 Flu Pandemic

Written by RB

I had a little bird,
Its name was Enza.
I opened the window,
And in-flu-enza.

The Spanish Flu struck Canada fast and hard, making its way into even the most remote areas of Canada, striking thousands of people of all ages.

The malady originated in the Far East in 1917 and soldiers were infected in the trenches of Belgium and France that April. Soon after, the flu rapidly spread through military hospitals, army camps and crowded barracks.

Suspicious of the killer flu, theories for the pandemic ranged from the idea that it was a biological warfare tool of the Germans to the use of mustard gases or the fumes of the soldiers guns.

When the War ended, soldiers crowded into ships and brought death home to Canada.

The Spanish Flu would enter the body through the respiratory tract and soon cause symptoms that included fever, chills, headaches, sore throat, muscular pain, loss of appetite and cough. Some went to bed healthy and never woke up. Some people on their way to work suddenly developed the flu and died within hours.

In Quebec, some smaller towns were almost completely wiped out and in Labrador, one third of the population died from the Spanish Flu pandemic.

In Canada, 1 in 5 caught the disease. In many Canadian homes, frightened families lit small incense lamps, burned sulphur candles, or bought bizarre elixirs and potions. Doctors handed out quinine tablets and rum - prohibition was in force. Alcohol could only be used for medicinal purposes.

Out in the streets, almost everyone wore a gauze face mask, and in Alberta, the Board of Health made it mandatory. On Oct 31, the government prohibited all public meetings of seven persons or more. Edmonton eventually banned all public gatherings and closed all city schools, and churches and theatres.

In some communities across Canada, it was illegal even to shake hands. Mass gatherings at sporting events were curtailed - the Stanley Cup was cancelled after the death of a player.

Spanish Flu was a global disaster, the most devastating epidemic in recorded world history. In total, at least 675,000 died in the United States and over 50,000 in Canada. Recent estimates says the flu killed as many as 50 million people around the world.

More people died in a single year than in four-years of the Black Death (Bubonic Plague) from 1347 to 1351. The Spanish Flu killed far more soldiers than all the shells and bombs and bullets and gas of World War I.

Guess Who Came to Dinner While You Were Beefing Up the "Hate Crimes" Unit?

By Paul Fromm

Buried deep in her column on the Yonge Street Massacre, Christie Blatchford included the confirmation of what we had suspected and what the police and most of the press have studiously suppressed. The gang of crazed gunmen who shot up Yonge Street on Boxing Day and murdered super achiever high school student Jane Creba were black. Blatchford writes: "Both Mr. Thompson and the 17-year-old are young black men, as are, Globe sources say, most of the other dozen or so teens and 20-somethings police believe were involved in the shooting and whose identities are now being aggressively run down by detectives." (Globe and Mail, Dec. 31, 2005) Perhaps, the cover-up began to unravel Dec. 30, when the Toronto Sun ran a front-page photo of one of the two under arrest. His kinky hair and complexion made it crystal clear that he was Black.

Okay, I concede the point -- it really is all about poverty after all, as floor-flushers like Prime Minister Paul Martin, and NDP leader Jack Layton, already offering alibis for the killers, keep telling us.. Not the poverty of physical want or some mythic exclusionary social order, but a deeply ingrained, ineradicable poverty of both mind and spirit that cannot be made presentable with a spritz of recreational facilities and resume writing classes. It's about people so morally impoverished that if Jamal Hemmings impregnates "Cheesehead's" HO while Cheesehead's doing a stretch in stir, Cheesehead's first act on release is to rub out the sperm donor -- and then, just for good measure, witness Amon Beckles at Hemmings' funeral service.

It's about an irreversible form of mental poverty where one tribe "disrespects" a rival tribe through primitive ritual taunts over territory (see story below), and, instead of waving spears, they shoot into a crowd -- at Caribana, on a bus, at a day care centre or a crowd of Boxing Day shoppers. The Hamilton Spectator, in the story below, fails to inform its readers that Bloods and Crips are Black gangs of drug pushers, named after lethal Black gangs with the same names in Los Angeles. The Ardwick Bloods and Jamestown Crips are Black, mostly Jamaican, drug gangs in Rexdale in northwest Toronto.

"In November, four men from Toronto and Hamilton were wounded during a shoot-out in downtown Brantford. When police arrived, they found the victims -- some bleeding profusely. They refused to say what happened. Shortly after, police stopped a car a few blocks away for driving erratically. As the passengers jumped out, police noticed one of them throwing a loaded handgun under the car. A 26-year-old Hamilton man and 20-year-old from Toronto were charged with possession of a restricted handgun and possession of a dangerous weapon. Until this incident, police said, this type of gun play was almost unheard of in the city of 100,000. And according to Toronto police, at least one gangster moved to Brantford this year to escape a deadly vendetta with another Toronto gang.

Police claim the ongoing feud between the Jamestown Crips Crew and the Ardwick Bloods was sparked by a DVD called Premier Edition Pt. 2. On it is a rap tune recorded by "Tha Squad," reputedly members of the Crips. In the song, rival gang members exchange taunts and try to assert their territorial supremacy. Police believe the DVD triggered a series of shootings in Rexdale this summer, and a homicide. They also claim an unidentified young offender with the Crips relocated in Brantford where he is now selling cocaine. Toronto police are trying to determine whether the Toronto Boxing Day shooting -- which resulted in the death of a 15-year-old girl and injuries to six other innocent bystanders -- was connected with the ongoing dispute between the gangs." (Hamilton Spectator, December 31, 2005)

Backpeddle, stammer and alibi all you want. It's still the immigration stupid.

Maybe it's just me, but it seems that this year the killings did not just gradually die off with the end of Caribana as usual. Why? Is it because the police created a power vacuum in September? I've wondered about the effect of creating holes in such organizations and it seems that might be what's going on (or part of what's going on). Remember about ten years ago, some US law enforcement gang expert lecturing Toronto Police, telling them that the proliferation of gang tag graffiti was a very dangerous sign -- that they HAD to act right then and there, or they would have established gang activity they would never be able to eradicate? I've often thought of that since -- wonder how many police brass have? 'Of course, on the other hand, we hardly hear anything about Tamil gangs now, and that was effectively what they did with them -- a sweep.

"An intensive 10-month police investigation called Project Flicker ... targeted what police called the Ardwick Blood Crew, most of whom had already moved out of Ardwick but still conducted business there. In September, 300 officers raided homes in Toronto, Brantford, and Peel and York regions, resulting in 47 arrests and 1,350 charges including attempted murder, firearms, drug trafficking, armed robbery and participating in a criminal organization. Sixty-one people are facing charges. ... The Flicker charges are still before the courts. Nobody has been found guilty, but those with the most serious charges are behind bars, their attempts at bail unsuccessful. ... While massive gang sweeps seem to work, at least initially, a Toronto doctor familiar with the gang scene worries about their long-term effectiveness. Dr. Michael Falk, who has worked at Children's Hospital Los Angeles and with community groups involved with youth gangs, says they ultimately didn't work in L.A. ...

The sweeps also create a leadership vacuum and ultimately fail to deal with the generation of kids coming up below them. 'If you pull those guys out, there's no checks, and so if we think it's bad now, imagine what it would be like with armed 14-year-olds with nothing to lose,' Falk says." (Toronto Star Dec 31 2005)

I still think that key components of taking the streets back are:

1. Deportation of ANY non-citizen involved in crime.
2. Stemming any further influx of welfare mammas, dysfunctional families, etc. from the Islands.
3. Re-vamping citizenship requirements to include 10 years offence free residence here; proficiency in English, established by a written test; and mastery of meaningful knowledge of Canadian history, customs and institutions, established by a written test..
4. No welfare, Medicare, or subsidized housing for non-citizens.
5. Most important, we must be able to talk honestly about the problem. These are not "gangs of youths." They are gangs of specific types of youths -- Blacks, mostly from families where there are no fathers. The dysfunctional families, which is a cultural thing, is a major cause of the problem. Here the doctrine of multiculturalism -- all cultures are equal and everyone should be encouraged to practice his culture -- adds to the problem.
6. Stop making excuses for the killers. Yes, that means you Paul Martin and Jack Layton. These are not "marginalized" youth. They're stone cold killers. The only "marginalized" person in the Yonge Street Massacre is poor, lovely Jane Creba. She's suffered the ultimate marginalizing: she's dead!

Freedom of thought is shackled by the Canadian government. Zündel is a pacifist, yet was declared a security threat to Canada and has been held without charge in solitary confinement. All because his views are unpopular to certain people.

Do you consider yourself opinionated?

Canadian Heritage Alliance is looking for quarterly columnists for Canadian Heritage News!

What we offer: Canadian Heritage News is run by volunteers and we have no budget to pay anyone for their writing. BUT... we will pay you in copies. You will receive a free copy of Canadian Heritage News for every issue where you are published.

What's expected: One column quarterly, 1500 words or less. All we ask is that if you come onboard, be prepared to follow through on your one-column-quarterly commitment.

How to apply: Send CHA an e-mail to info@canadianheritagealliance.com or letter introducing yourself and describing what kind of column you'd like to write. Attach a sample of your writing in MS Word format or in the body of your e-mail. You can use one of our suggestions or choose your own topic. Just submit your idea to CHA with an outline of the information that will be covered.

Some suggestions for columns:

Book Reviews
Foreign Affairs
International News
Canadian Law
Opinion Pieces
Canadian Heritage
Social Justice in Canada
Activism
Political Hall of Shame
Canadian News Briefs
Unwanted Immigrant Highlight
Voices from the past

Only columns and articles that are relevant to the subject matter of the CHN will be considered. If we like what we see, we'll send you further details on when we require the submissions and to inquire on where to mail your copy of Canadian Heritage News.

DONATIONS NEEDED

CHA does not receive funding from any government organization and needs the help of our supporters. Our major expenses are postage, photocopying, developing, printing, and monthly fees of the web host. Below are some items we still need:

Binding Machine , Envelopes , Paper , Postage Stamps , Laminating Equip., Cash Donations, Printing Services

If you are able to donate any of these items, or are familiar with a place we can purchase any of the items at a very affordable price, please let us know.

Your help is appreciated!

Activist Meetings

If you would like to become more involved and have a positive impact on Canada, how about organizing monthly meetings?

The meetings can be informal, yet will provide a great foundation for networking, discussion, building community awareness, action organization, planning events, and social interacting. All you need is to designate a day each month, designate a meeting place that is private and accessible by foot or public transportation, and invite people in your community who are concerned about the oppressive, destructive liberal influence in Canada.

If you are interested in receiving more information about starting a monthly discussion group, contact CHA.

The Modern Inquisition: CHRC

Alexan Kulbashian and James Richardson

On March 10, 2006, the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal in made orders against Kulbashian and Richardson to cease and desist from communicating "hate messages" contrary to s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act" and to pay a total of $13,000 in penalties. The ruling awarded the complainant, Richard Warman, $5,000 in compensation.

Marc Lemire and Freedomsite

In 2004, the Canadian Human Rights Commission, two complaints were filed with the CHRC against Lemire and Freedomsite. Lemire has won his motion to have the complaint against the Freedomsite dismissed, but the case against him continues.

Jessica Beaumont

In January 2005, a Canadian Human Rights complaint was filed against Jessica Beaumont by Richard Warman. The complaint alleged that Ms. Beaumont's posting on the Stormfront forum were contrary to of s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. The Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing is dated for October 2006.

Ciaran Paul Donnelly

In December 2004, a Canadian Human Rights complaint was filed against Ciaran Paul Donnelly by Richard Warman. The complaint alleged that Mr. Donnelly's posting on the Stormfront forums were contrary to of s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. The Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing is dated for October 2006.

Melissa Guille & Canadian Heritage Alliance

In June 2004, a complaint was filed with the Canadian Human Rights Commission by Richard Warman against Melissa Guille and Canadian Heritage Alliance and referred to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal in September 2005. The Richard Warman alleges the free speech, educational website contains hate material in violation of s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. The Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing date is pending, yet expected in late 2006.

Glenn Bahr & Western Canada for Us

In September 2003, a Canadian Human Rights Commission complaint was filed by Richard Warman against Glenn Bahr and Western Canada for Us for allegedly promoting hatred online through the WCFU website and various forums. Mr Bahr removed the WCFU website from the internet on May 11, 2004 and soon after ceased all internet activities after his home was raided and computer seized for "hate" material by the Edmonton police; however, that wasn't enough for Richard Warman and he continued to pursue the complaint against Mr. Bahr and WCFU. A Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing is dated for the week of May 23, 2006

Tomasz Winnicki

A complaint against Winnicki was filed in September of 2003, alleging his online forum postings were contrary to s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. In August, October, and December of 2005, Winnicki defended himself before the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal in Toronto, Ontario. A decision is pending.

Terry Tremaine

Richard Warman filed a Canadian Human Rights complaint against Terry Tremaine in October of 2004 for his Stormfront forum postings. Mr. Tremaine was a professor at the Department of Mathematics at the University of Saskatchewan; however, his position at the university ended when someone, most likely Warman, sent a copy of the complaint to the university. A Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing is expected in late 2006.

Peter Kouba

Peter Kouba was one of the members of Western Canada for Us [WCFU] and for his participation in the organization; Richard Warman filed a Canadian Human Rights complaint against him in June 2004. The complaint included forum postings Mr. Kouba made on various websites that allegedly contrary to section 13(1) of the Canadian Human Rights Act. In August of 2005, the Canadian Human Rights Commission referred the case to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal and a hearing is expected in late 2006.

Craig Harrison

A Canadian Human Rights Commission complaint was filed against Craig Harrison of Georgetown, Ontario for his postings on the www.freedomsite.org forum in 2003. Richard Warman alleges the complaint against Harrison was in violation of s. 13 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. A Canadian Human Rights Tribunal hearing is expected later in 2006.

Bobby Wilkinson

A Canadian Human Rights Commission complaint against Bobby Wilkinson, Ottawa, Ontario, was filed by Richard Warman in December 2003 for his efforts to start the organization, "Canadian Nazi Party." On November 2005, the complaint was transferred to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal. A hearing date is still to be determined.

It does not end here. There are many more cases before the CHRC and Canadian Courts that were initiated by Richard Warman. Please help us fight against this lawyer, Richard Warman, who is using his legal system to silence Canadians.

Humour: Reasons to live in Canada

British Columbia

1. Vancouver: 1.5 million people and two bridges.
2. Your $400,000 Vancouver home is just 5 hours from downtown.
3. You can throw a rock and hit three Starbucks locations.
4. There's always some deforestation protest going on.
5. Weed

Alberta

1. Big rock between you and B.C.
2. Ottawa who?
3. Tax is 7% instead of approximately 200% as it is for the rest of the country.
4. You can exploit any natural resource you can think of.
5. You live in the only province that could actually afford to be its own country.
6. The Americans below you are in anti-government militia groups.

Saskatchewan

1. You never run out of wheat.
2. Your province is easy to draw.
3. You can watch the dog run away from home for hours.
4. People will assume you live on a farm.

Manitoba

1. You wake up one morning to find that you suddenly have beachfront property.
2. Hundreds of huge, horribly frigid lakes.
3. Nothing compares to a wicked Winnipeg winter.
4. You can be an Easterner or Westerner depending on your mood.
5. You can pass the time watching trucks and barns float by.

Ontario

1. You live in the centre of the universe.
2. Your $400,000 Toronto home is actually a dump.
3. You and you alone decide who will win the federal election.
4. The only province with hard-core American-style crime.

Quebec

1. Racism is socially acceptable
2. You can take bets with your friends on which English neighbour will move out next.
3. Other provinces basically bribe you to stay in Canada.
4. You can blame all your problems on the "Anglo *#!%!"

New Brunswick

1. One way or another, the government gets 98% of your income.
2. You're poor, but not as poor as the Newfies.
3. No one ever blames anything on New Brunswick
4. Everybody has a grandfather who runs a lighthouse.

Nova Scotia

1. Everyone can play the fiddle. The ones who can't, think they can.
2. You can pretend to have Scottish heritage as an excuse to get drunk and wear a kilt.
3. You are the reason Anne Murray makes money.

Prince Edward Island

1. Even though more people live on Vancouver Island, you still got the big, new bridge.
2. You can walk across the province in half an hour.
3. You can drive across the province in two minutes.
4. Everyone has been an extra on "Road to Avonlea."
5. This is where all those tiny, red potatoes come from.
6. You can confuse ships by turning your porch lights on and off at night.

Newfoundland

1. If Quebec separates, you will float off to sea.
2. If you do something stupid, you have a built-in excuse.
3. he workday is about two hours long.
4. it is socially acceptable to wear your hip waders to your Wedding

Crime Data

Written by Richard Smith

Crime is a concern to many people. This is the case in part because there is much more crime today in comparison to 50 years ago. In fact, crime in the West is between 400% to 15,000% higher, depending upon the country.

Crime started to increase during the 1950s and 1960s. It has been discovered that during years of American civil rights legislation or racial integration—1957, 1964 and 1968—rates of violent crime and theft greatly increased around the world. Today, the annual increased victimization from integration is 9.5 million for white Americans, 23 million for Europe and 55 million for the entire world. The increases in crime represent the adaptation of low crime whites and Asians to the high crime blacks. The crime data and a commentary can be viewed in the link below.
