

1 MAR 05. Hail D.R.! I just got yours of FEB 24th. I agree that we should be like good Boy Scouts, that is, prepared. Although it does not burn many calories, our first preparation must be in our minds, for if we are not so prepared to understand events in their context of reality, then our bodies may not behave in terms of our survival. I found a relevant quote in "Woodsmanship & Survival" by C. Jacobs, which appears in "The Backwoodsman" of JAN/FEB 05: "In a panic, a man can run two hours, walk two hours, crawl an hour, then lie down from exhaustion for eternity." Some sailors used to say: "When in trouble or in doubt, run in circles, scream & shout." Being 'tough-minded' is a must for those of us who study &/or participate in international relations. Although most never study IR as such, all of us are participants, whether we like it or not. Those who cannot swim, from their lack of interest, tend to take on more water than they care to. Congratulations on your foresight!

At this stage of unemployment, I am busier than ever, & I considered that I may now be at the zenith of my career as writer/researcher of international relations. Although the ZOG denied me a livelihood in that career, which in itself was a valuable lesson in the field, I attempted to keep up with events, despite the time-consuming distractions of various coolie jobs, which I no longer have, & which I no longer need, so far. Such a deal! As Tulsa Doom said to Conan: "I made you what you are. I am your father." (Or words to that effect.) Then Conan gave his 'father' his just deserts. If the ZOG had only one head, wouldn't it be lovely? I'm glad the second attempt to deliver "The Backwoodsman" succeeded. Many thanks!

Of course, I did profit from my coolie jobs, albeit not financially, for I could study the country's economy, politics & demography at firsthand. It is just as important to know what is going on in the bilges as on the bridge, when one studies the workings of a ship of state. Yes, the hull of the USS Titanic is cracking. Watch for jew rats leaving the ship! They are presently swarming into Zionist Occupied Germany, rather than the Zionist 'paradise' of Occupied Palestine, after they turned their Soviet 'workers' paradise' into a typical jew hell on earth. This is how Hitler described them in his dialog with Eckhardt, for it is in their nature to destroy their hosts, like the rapacious parasites they are. It's interesting that Marcus Eli Ravage echoed Hitler when he wrote "Confessions of a Jew" in Century Magazine in 1928: the jews are disturbers & destroyers. But what they do to Goyim they also do to themselves. The job of Goyim is to prevent them disturbing & destroying us. If this planet were solely populated by jews, it would be in bloody turmoil. Goyim merely participate in jew-instigated conflicts, so far, for jewish profit. Jews basically cannot stand each other. That is why they are really addicted to Goyim. Jewish association is more like a conspiracy of thieves & murderers, than it is like a community. ZOG knows! Watch when 'thieves fall out'. They have fallen out many times in the past, if one cares to study their history. The only thing which has saved them from extinction is their trait of tribal cohesion, despite their differences, which are mainly acted out by their Goy stooges & dupes.

The answer to "cui bono" from the bombing of the former Lebanese leader in Beirut would obviously be the ZOG & Israel. Why would the Syrian occupiers blow up a FORMER president or premier? Obviously, the hebes are putting pressure on Syria, as well as Iran. In the case of Iran, I'm watching Putin's response toward U.S.-ISRAEL prohibitions on further nuclear development in Iran, which was a Soviet & now Russian interest, as well as enterprise. Stay tuned! I suspect that Putin is not pleased, regardless of the jewsmedia whitewash of his 'friendship' with Bush. That 'friendship' smacks of the old Hitler-Stalin Pact. As Charles de Gaulle said: "Nations have no friends. They have interests." Right!

Your observation that the increasing economic downturn, plus inflation, will tend to make bribes acceptable to police & border-patrollers. I would also add, especially if these people are themselves mestizos. The narcotics trade is corrupting society, just as Prohibition corrupted Canadian & U.S. officialdom. See "Pawns in the Game" by Guy Carr, a Canadian whose books are banned in Soviet Canuckistan alias "China-duh". Events in Mexico are similar to those in Colombia: the militarizing of drug-traffickers. In Colombia, guerrilla groups were ostensibly politicized (a good cover for banditry) & also militarized BEFORE they got into the drug business. In Mexico, they were narco, first, before they became terrorists. Now, it's narco-terrorism Uber Alles. The Bush regime is neglecting the domestic security situation, as you say, on behalf of Israel. We may see "The Chosen One" revisited, with all sides bombing &/or shooting the targets of their choice. When the ZOG loses control, we all will know. There are signs that it is, although these may still be mere straws in the wind, rather than heralds of a hurricane. ZOG knows! Yakima has periodic bouts of narco-terrorism, as occurred recently, so we can only go by the frequency & severity of such actions, as well as the ZOG's ability to cope therewith. Stay tuned!
