

18 MAR 05. Dear Tom: Many thanks for your letter of MAR 13th, & the outstanding photos, which reveal the aspects of the house & its surroundings, & thereby create an aura of poignant mystery. You have revealed, by analogy, a figure in a cloak, which we can see clearly, without knowing if the figure is male or female. In other words, that which the photos revealed us to wonder what story that old house conceals! It looks as if it were intended for a large, rural family, of the sort White people used to have, before the ZOG decided to get rid of them, in favor of mestizo migrant farm workers on huge agribusiness estates. One child of a farming family, who only has memories of the land & the way of life, told me that farms were not merely for growing crops & livestock, but for growing sturdy & productive people. I mentioned that Rome went the same way: from family farms to agribusiness estates, often absentee-owned, & worked by slaves. The former farmers' families went to the cities, where they often lived on welfare, the notorious bread & circuses. The welfare mob was also composed of many of foreign stock. Gee, it all sounds so familiar! The lesson seems to be that Whites were too busy producing the fruits of the land to defend it from alien conquest & subsequent invasion. In other words, Whites have been living on borrowed time ever since they came to North America, for they carried the seeds of their dispossession along with them. In the Protocols of Zion, the Jew rants about the need to dispossess "the landed aristocracy". Although this scheme was aimed at Tsarist Russia, it was also aimed at the American families who owned their farmland. People who own their farmland have always the option of growing their own food, which is the absolute key to independence & self-determination, & that is the necessary key to freedom, just as the ancient Spartans knew. It is thus folly, suicidal folly, to put control of one's food in others' hands, subject to prices they dictate & money which they depreciate. The Spartans also had slaves, so they would easily recognize our status, under ZOG. Unfortunately, most Whites prefer not to see the truth of their abject slavery. Instead, they view the chains of indebtedness as if they were jewelry with intrinsic value. Credit, that is debt, is not a privilege, but slavery. Can we call this reversal of meanings anything else but folly? When the government of a country bases its existence on debt, thereby enslaving future generations, this is not mere folly, but treason.

How far the pendulum has swung from the hardy, Puritan rascals of the past, to the decadent savages of the present, who seek escape from all privation in the realm of self-indulgence, & of all hard realities of the normal human condition, no matter what the price. As one philosopher concluded: Man seeks pleasure & avoids pain, but a single pleasure may bring a thousand pains in its train. What a great amount of knowledge we have gained, without one iota of wisdom! American abundance obviously produced an abundance of fatheads, & it is still true that fools & their wealth are soon parted. When our memories fast-forward through history, the process becomes obvious. The enclosed French postcard of an American soldier of World War I refers. What in hell was he doing over there? He should have stayed in America, where he could protect his home & his family, along with the rest of them, but he obviously had no clue of his folly. As you say, we must first recapture Whites' imaginations, by dreaming better dreams. DOWZ! & ORION!
