

21 June 05. Hail D.R.! Thanks for yours of June 15th & welcome back from the Great Northeast! It sure is refreshing to be with one's own kind in beautiful surroundings while engaged in pleasant activities. What a contrast to return from there to Nigger City! Your toleration for niggers-at-a-distance identifies a major theme in our lives, for we all crave things which people produce, without wishing to involve ourselves intimately with those who produce them. As you say, those who most watch niggerball seem least inclined to have nigger ball players in their livingrooms. The same rule holds for tigers which we like to see on TV, but not for real & not too close. Alien cultures can produce certain items, including music, which we can appreciate, without necessarily wishing to immerse ourselves in the entire culture. I tend to think of this behavior as eclectic, rather than contradictory.

As for those who "are not interested in politics", they usually prove to be the victims of those who are interested in the subject. It strikes me as similar to people in the middle of an ocean who are not interested in the water. Politics (people-power) intrudes into all facets of our lives, whether we choose to perceive it or not. A very good example of the folly of willful ignorance is expressed by most people whose primary quest is money, without any desire to know what money is, how it is created & who creates it. Perhaps they fear that such knowledge would remove the 'magic' from this commodity into which they invest their hopes & fantasies, as well as their time & labor. If only they could win the lottery: with that, all their problems would be solved & all their dreams realized, they think. I have known people with more money than they need to live on who lead miserable, miserly existences. Their money represents their own lives, which they keep locked in a box, to what purpose? Time will rob them of their lives & their money (their surrogate for living). I have also known people who are slaves to their fortunes, always working to increase them, while never enjoying what money can buy. For most, however, life consists of working more & more, for less & less, provided one can find a job!

As you gathered from the recent pro-White/anti-White demonstration in Boston, the orchestration was obvious, in which all parties involved played their parts, without deviating from the script. It really is "canned dissent", as you say, but is it cost-effective for anybody? The only winners I can imagine are the powers that be, since their well-managed street theater sends all sorts of ZOG-serving messages to the Goyim, such as, "what a free society this is", & "how powerful & humane are those in authority!" The "Nazis", who were so few, compared to their opponents, served merely to emphasize ZOG-propaganda that Nazis are a tyrannical minority, rather than a popular majority. Old Brit-prop used to claim that the German masses were cheering Hitler because they were surrounded by very well-hidden machineguns! But on the other tip of the propagandists' forked tongue, we were told that the Germans were all "criminals", as revealed by their enthusiasm for Hitler, who was, by the way, "jewish". Such a deal! It was this mess of contradictions which sparked my interest in Hitler & National Socialism, for no man in history has allegedly been comprised of so many opposites. Thus did propagandistic over-kill undo itself, for those of us with memories & minds which can spot absurdities. The jews may be over-selling The Holohoax, as they did Hitler, for alleged suffering does not make hateful predators lovable, & it may give the jews' victims some ideas... Speaking of ideas, let me know if you find any gems of thought in Ben Franklin's Autobiography. It sounds like great reading.

I'm glad you are getting a Gestalt of Yakima & its surroundings from the local newspaper's photos & articles. Their editorial policy reminds me of The Bulawayo Chronicle et al. in former Rhodesia: they kissed up to the Blacks, just as the Yakima Herald-Republic attempts to pander to the Mexicans. The Rhodesian prostitutes of the pen did not seem to realize that they could be pro-Black all they liked, but they were the wrong color! The Yakima Harlot-Repulsive does not seem to understand that their staff are not sufficiently 'hispanic' & that they are pandering to Mexicans in the wrong language! Sometimes the truth hides in plain sight. I'm impressed at your observation on the racial ignorance of so many country folk & their ignorance about the racial makeup of cities, & the demographic danger they pose. They seem unaware that they live beneath a non-White volcano. Did you see no hispano-mestizos in the places you visited? I recently read of a ZOG round-up of some mestizo bandidos in that area. Maybe those who got away are hiding out. Ha! I guess country-dwellers will be as surprised to find themselves dispossessed & dispatched as were the Roman gentry on their rural estates. Poor dumb, gentle Elooi! Racial competition in the form of "affirmative action" is rampant, so your idea of acquiring skills is valid. One can lose his job, but not his skills, which have value, in & of themselves. Hunting, fishing & edible plant identification come to mind, as well as first aid. So much to learn & so little time.

Yes, R. Crumb dislikes jews so much that he married one, I guess so he can keep an eye on her doings: sheenie-surveillance? What a strange approach to security! As for 'escaping' to live in France, a correspondent who lives there says that France is great, if you love Gypsies, jews, Arabs & niggers. How elegant it must be to be mugged in a foreign language! In regard to unexamined minds on the part of those who are most expressive of their thoughts, I recall people who are said to be set on 'transmit', but never on 'receive'. Yes, one can 'get away' to some isolated spot, but for how long? Crumb's biography will be interesting, if only for its conclusion.

More interesting will be to read Tom Chittum's sequel to "Civil War Two", if one appears. I wrote to the publisher whose address appeared in his book, but the letter was returned by the post office: "Attempted, not known." The racial & political situation in the U.S.A. is changing along the lines he described, with the addition of Chinese numbers & influence. Our military is exhausted; our economy a house of cards; our borders are open to invaders; so the ZOG is talking tough with China, while we anger the rest of the world with our threats to impose our jew-serving ideas of 'democracy' & 'culture'. Meanwhile, our supplies of unpolluted water become scarcer, so one is tempted to wonder if political crises are being used to distract us from ecological disaster resulting from our 'normal' abuse of our resources. As they used to say in the Wehrmacht, "Don't fret, just wonder!" I not only wonder, I marvel that life is still so good, for now. DOWZ! & ORION! E.T.
