

17 "Jewlie" 05. Hail Phil! Congratulations on your informative letter of "Jewlie" 15th & the outstanding enclosures! What a wide range of topics you have provided, along with lots of useful information thereon. I wish you continued good luck on the job scene in this dry weather. Yakima is publicizing the drought, which is going to require water-rationing. How far that will extend, I don't know, but I'd like to take my daily shower & do my weekly laundry. Yakima water is hardly drinkable, as it is, for it tastes like some cocktail of chemical solvents, hardly suitable for rinsing one's mouth, let alone swallowing!

In your selection of reading material, I note several jewish sources which complain about the Bush regime, which they compare to Hitler. These include such well-known jews as "Lyndon LaRouche", whose real name is Markus, something or other. Of course, Skolnick & Bloom are also hebes. Re their statement on "Hitler bowing down to the Pope", we should understand that Protestants & Catholics were "established" churches in Germany, long before Hitler. This meant that the German state had to have treaties with those churches, as if they were foreign countries. Hitler's successful concordat with the papacy kept that church officially out of German politics. Protestants & Catholics could participate in politics as individuals, just like Hitler, who was a Catholic, but their churches were not supposed to take sides on political issues. The carrot wielded by the German state for compliance on the part of the clergy was state subsidies for the churches. In the U.S.A. & Canada, a church risks losing its tax-exempt status if its clergy make specific statements which endorse or condemn particular candidates or parties. A church official can denounce abortion, for example, as long as he does not condemn any pro-abortion candidate. In Germany & the U.S.A., churches were supposed to bless the cannons & otherwise shut up. This is what Hitler achieved from the Vatican, as I understand. Hitler was not a fascist, but a totalitarian populist. As such, he had to heed his people far more than the jew, Stalin, who had inherited & expanded the terror apparatus of the jew, Lenin. The fascist or corporate state designed by Mussolini was an authoritarian consensus of existing power blocs within Italian society, with the exception of the Communists & the Mafia, which Mussolini had almost stamped out, until the U.S. regime backed the Mafia in World War II & thereafter. The Mafia is defined as "an Italian-jewish criminal organization" by Peare's Encyclopedia, if you can find an old edition.

I got a good chuckle from your little joke: "Do you think there's a God?" "No, thank God!" Nietzsche: "God is dead." God: "Nietzsche is dead." In a Mexican joke, a reporter asks the Man on the Street: "Are you a Christian?" The man replies: "I believe in it, but I do not practice it." "Are you a Communist, then?" "I don't believe in it, but I practice it."

No, Hitler would not approve of such cruelty to horses inflicted by The Omak Suicide Race. Neither did he approve of kosher slaughter cruelty, which is also practiced by Moslems. One advantage I see in modern warfare is that horses no longer have to suffer in battle as they formerly did. Hitler would not approve of cockfights, bullfights & dogfights, either. Local owners of certain breeds of dogs have been losing them to dogfight promoters, as multi-culturalism makes inroads into U.S. society. Dognapping is prevalent when spics want fighting dogs & when other asiatics want their favorite food. Roosters are bred for fighting, so they are rarely stolen. The analysis of our increasing economic plight from The International Forecaster of Florida is excellent, & it appears to sound all the relevant alarms, such as the pending collapse of the U.S. $. With so many prospects of disaster, I deem it a miracle, every day the status quo wobbles on. We should enjoy it while we can, for no one seems willing to do anything about it, & most don't want to know anything about it. Yeah, let's write our congressman, to tell him what he already knows! Bush does not have the qualities to be Hitler. He might make a credible Nero, however. Stay tuned!

Thanks for the update on the Idaho economy. It looks as if the real estate bubble has enveloped parts of your state. Watch for it to pop. Hey, if you own property, you pay property taxes. People want the services & infrastructure, but they don't want to pay for them! When were they ever taught that they are entitled to something for nothing? I want all the candy in the store, but I don't want to pay for it. Such a deal! It's time to grow up, people, if that is possible.

Re Hunter S. Thompson's demise: two stories have appeared which allege that he was murdered because of something he knew, something which could further incriminate the ZOG. Would he have been able to inform & convince any more of ZOG's sheeple than already know? The majority DO NOT want to know, no matter who tells them the truth, & no matter what the truth is. Thanks for your kind concern. Compared to most sheeple, I'm O.K. in every way. All the best! DOWZ! & ORION!
