

16 AUG 05. Hail D.R.! Many thanks for your letter & the great Chittum downloads! They are a 'hoot', despite the serious & tragic subject matter. It is remarkable that all the projections of "Civil War Two" are becoming reality. On today's jewsradio, for instance, the U.S. CONgress apologized for the seizure of Hawaii. According to the radio broadcast, "Native Hawaiians" comprise around 20% of the Hawaiian population. Now, CONgress has offered them 'sovereign status' on par with American Indians, but some Hawaiians say that is not enough. The USA has admitted its crime, so it should return the stolen land to the Hawaiians, they say. It is possible that the USA will pay these new 'sovereigns' rent on Hawaiian military bases, depending on how much sovereignty CONgress grants them. Meanwhile, back on the mestizo front, Mexicans in Mexico were allegedly polled on how many would like to emigrate to the USA: virtually all of them. Mexicans north of the border were polled about additional immigrants from Mexico, & they thought, the more the better, for they alleged that more Mexicans made the USA stronger (for Mexicans). As Chittum foretold, we have only seen the tip of the enchilada, for the rest will cover more territory than the original Mexican territory which the Gringos grabbed in 1848. As Chittum predicted, all that is necessary for a mass-invasion of the USA is a crisis in Mexico. There is a demographic tipping point, which we may have passed already. Here in Brownest Yakima I used to watch the busloads of illegals leaving for Mexico, on green & white INS buses, at tax-payers' expense, of course. The local Mexican head of INS was sending his countrymen back for a visit south of the border. One non-Mexican INS agent remarked, "They'll be back here before the buses return." I said, "It's like deporting Mexicans from one part of Mexico into another part." I thought it was like attempting to bail water from a boat already sunk. Not only are we living on borrowed money, we live on borrowed time. As the jews would sing: "Somethin's gotta give," (& sooner than we'd like).

Back to Hawaii: Some U.S. citizens who've lived decades in Hawaii, but are not "Native Hawaiians", expressed their bewilderment that some U.S. citizens will now be "more equal" than others. They feared that the U.S. government will create a "two-tier" citizenship. This is what Tom Chittum described, exactly in his words. Well, the ZOG is switching its definition of 'nationality' from place to people or race, so one can understand why those who believed the myth of "American nationality" are bemused. They fell for the jew-screw of Boas, so the concept of biological nationality is like a Martian in their midst. But, didn't these so-called "Americans" know that the USA has always had Indian "nations" in their midst? Duh! I am a native American, because I was born here. That's what "native" means. So why do the so-called Indians have a monopoly on "native"? If we wish to have equality, we should equalize our terms: I am a Euro-American & "Indians" are Asian-Americans. Those who are mixed (Eurasians) would be Eurasian-Americans or Mestizo-Americanos. These terms would apply to everyone, whatever his place of birth, for "America" is his place of residence. For others, the same nomenclature should apply, as Judeo-Americans, Arab-Americans, Afro-Americans, &c. America describes the place, with our race &/or nationality. As Chittum says, the ZOG is fostering this national distinction, for non-Whites, so Whites should get into the act for equal rights. Like American Indians, we are entitled to our pride & our exclusivity as Whites, but not unless we insist on those rights.

Re Blacks: History shows that they are not 'cheap labor', even when they are slaves. The first Whites attempted to enslave the Indians, who were quite unfitted to lives as slaves, & Whites' diseases killed them off, for a bit. To this day, Indians who live in the high Andes are said to be prone to lung diseases if they live in low altitudes, where there are, apparently, more bugs to catch. The judeo-European rulers of North & South America were beset by labor problems as soon as they came ashore. Now it appears that Chinese labor is what they really want, because it appears cheapest & most productive of all. Stay tuned! It appears to me that our rulers will be devoured by the 'cheap labor' they have always wanted. As you say, Africa is too rich a continent for niggers to occupy, so my prediction seems valid which I made before I left Africa: When the White man leaves, the Black man will die. We see this happening today, & I'm sure Africa will fall into the hands of those most determined to take it. My bets are on the Chinese, who are already there, most notably in The Sudan's oilfields. No doubt that is why the USA is meddling in the area. "Rots of ruck!" the Japanese would say, & that goes for the USA's hypocritical attempts to remilitarize Japan. Once again, we are likely to get a 'blow-back' from such policies, right in our stupid faces. Remember how our efforts to industrialize Japan in 1858 were rewarded in 1941? There is no doubt that The District of Corruption has always harbored Americans' worst enemies, which includes all denizens ruled therefrom.

2) Once again, as Tom Chittum foresaw, ZOG's efforts at buy-offs & more divide & rule attempts by admitting more exotic groups into former US territory will only hasten conflicts within this Land of ZOG. The fatcat felons of Yakima recently brought in strikebreakers from Thailand, under some sort of global labor agreement, in order to undercut the now expensive Mexican labor unionists, which reminds me of the song about the woman who swallowed the fly, so she swallowed the spider to catch the fly, but no one knows why she swallowed the fly. I understand that Israel imports similar Asians to replace their formerly 'cheap' Arab labor. So much for jewish pretensions to National Socialism, as touted by the kibutzniks of Herzl & Jabotinsky, the jewish fascist. Hitler gave them the chance to show the world that jews could live on a land of their own, under their own government, instead of being parasitic interlopers in the lands of their host peoples, dependent always on the productive labor of others. We see that jews will not do their own work, even when they have a land reserved for jews, alone. Thus is Benjamin Franklin's warning fulfilled: that vampires do not live off vampires.

Speaking of rural relocation: a correspondent informed me of a movement to establish self-sufficient agricultural communities in North America. Check out a website called Folkshaven. I'm not sure of the spelling, nor if it's .com, .org or what, but good hunting! Initially, I see a major problem as land-acquisition, not so much recruitment, except in regard to careful selection of recruits. Communes have been destroyed by a "come one, come all" policy, & such communes must be exceedingly discreet in regard to the ZOG, after Waco. It only takes one traitor to wreck the entire enterprise, so the security chain is only as strong as its weakest link, as is wisely said. I think there is a better prospect of capturing suitable land when the fit hits the shan, but it would be desirable to have leaders & organization well in advance of dire necessity. I question the wisdom of putting such information on the Internet, but you may find it informative, as will the ZOG. As you say, our purchasing power is eroding rapidly, so buying land now may be out of the question. Communes have long been a part of the North American landscape, including the first New England colonies, which were religious communes, to a great degree, & virtually self-governing. In the 1930s communes sprouted up in California. We used to drive by several former commune sites visible from the highway in the Mojave Desert. Then in the 1960s, communes reappeared, usually in secluded areas. Mark Vonnegut wrote of his commune experience in Canada, as well as his malnutrition-caused schizophrenia in "Eden Express". His low-protein hippy diet nearly did him in. Misfits in a dysfunctional society like ours may be leaders in disguise, but more often, they are just misfits who would be unsuited for a survival-oriented society. The key is just how well the misfit survives in any society, for that is a sign of his intelligence & skill, by showing how well he can adapt to the social mores. In my experience, the viable misfits keep low profiles by looking normal & doing their own thing. Of course, it helps them survive if they do not engage in self-destructive behavior! Can we call the plethora of meth-addicts "misfits", when there are so many of them? We live in a consumer society, so meth-addicts are just consumers who are consumed by what they thought THEY were consuming: the biter bitten. "Normal" is defined as the majority. By definition, if the majority are insane, then "normal" is redefined so as to dub the new minority "abnormal", &/or insane. Therefore we must ask if dysfunctional people who live in a dysfunctional society are 'misfits', since they reflect majority values. Ha!

I agree that judicial trials for the malefactors would be unnecessary, for they have made war upon honest, productive people, & in a war, there is no time for trials of enemy combatants. Maybe after the war is over, if ever. Wealth is prima facie proof of guilt, for those who most serve the ZOG are those who most profit by their criminal activities.

Of Christ-insanity, Savitri Devi wrote that the evil of other-worldly religions is that they rob good people from this world. I always question why we were put into this world, if this is only an anteroom for "the life eternal". Surely, what we do here is important, even in Christian terms. I was recently approached by some Jesus-juicers & flesh-eaters who said they would pray for me. I told them that they should pray for the Devil, so that Yahweh & he could finally kiss & make up. That would obviate the need for all other prayers. Boy, they reacted if Satan, himself, had spoken!

Yes, the world power configuration is interesting, especially in light of the fact that nothing, whatsoever, was solved by the 2 world wars, least of all demographic competition for the world's wealth of natural resources. As you say, only our ability to kill large numbers of people has improved, so the incipient Third World War will be a dilly. The huge population is perhaps the ultimate bioweapon, for the depletion & pollution of our environment would be sufficient to kill us off, without any fighting, but we know that fighting will occur as resources become scarce.

3) Like you, I used to look forward to a fast regime-change in The Land of ZOG, but I am not impatient, so I am content to let it occur in its own good time. Whatever condition I am in when that time comes is up to the Gods, as they say. As Che Guevara wrote: whenever death will surprise us..." Humans are behaving like the bacteria which produce alcohol as their waste product. Sufficient bacteria produce sufficient alcohol to kill them off, & that's what we are working very hard to achieve. Stay tuned!

Yes, the Chinese are attempting to spend their zogbucks on real wealth, & the U.S. corporations will likely sell out for short term profits, as they always do. As Greenspan said, it is not a good idea to put trade restrictions on China. Talk about feeding the Dragon! I am also reminded of the Russian tales about passengers in a sleigh who are being pursued by wolves on the frozen steppes. The wolves are overtaking them, so they toss a fellow passenger out to gain time & distance, but in this case, the wolves of China will most likely surround the sled, so as to devour the horses, the passengers & the one thrown to them. Chittum also warns the American sheeple that there is likely to be a massive transfer of U.S. housing to those foreigners who have lots of otherwise worthless zogbucks, & I fear that he will be proved correct, as usual. Dream on, dumb Goyim! My advice is to adopt a scorched-earth policy to deter the invaders, just as our "gallant Soviet Allies" did in World War II. After all, World War III began long ago.

When I remarked that we were being invaded, a local loco objected because the invaders were not troops. I said, why should they be troops, if we are not resisting? Imagine how the French would have welcomed invading Germans at their border, who came with their babies & other family members, with the intention of living & working in Paris? Of course, the French would have resisted such an invasion. That's why the Germans had to invade as soldiers, only by overcoming the resistance of French & Allied soldiers. But now, Arabs & Blacks can invade Paris et al. just by boarding jet planes or boats, with no resistance, whatsoever! I wonder why the French even bothered to resist the German invaders in the recent past, if they were going to give up their country to less-desirable aliens within a decade or two. As for those fierce Christians who fought bloody battles against the Moslem invaders, such as Roland & Martel, one also wonders why they bothered. The Christian creed has not changed, but the believers seem like creatures from another planet, certainly not this one! The value of living-space has not diminished, either, so why aren't we behaving as we should in defence thereof? Once again, the invaders are deemed 'cheap labor', for the benefit of domestic fools & criminals who sell out their fellow nationals' future for immediate, short-term profits. In addition to being fools & criminals, these creatures are also traitors. Imagine what would have happened to Frenchmen who PAID Germans to invade & occupy France. Our ZOG has long used the threat of foreign invasion to goad the Goyim into imperialist wars. Even now, it says that "we must fight 'terrorists' in their territory in order to 'protect' U.S. territory from such 'illegal combatants'." Yet, we allow our former enemy, Mexico, to invade us & 'reconquer' U.S. territory, & we PAY them into the bargain! Once again, it's 'cheap labor' for the few & loss of living-space, jobs & living standards for the many, who are so unfortunate as to be U.S. citizens. The first thing I noticed, aside from racial quotas, when I returned to the USA in 1992, was that citizens had duties & aliens had rights. Such a deal! As Chittum observed, citizenship is heavily eroded & devalued. I first registered to vote in 1960, & I was required to prove my U.S. citizenship & my personal identity. When I registered to vote in the 1990s, I was required to show nothing in the way of I.D. or citizenship. I could actually vote as many times as I could sign a different name on my voter's registration forms. So much for our 'sacred' rights & duties! By the way, according to Mexicans, they never ceased to be the enemy of the USA. They were merely defeated temporarily, in a continuing war against us, which they have largely won, thanks be to ZOG! I have witnessed what Mexicans are taught in their schools, so this attitude is not surprising. As one Mexican said: "Poor Mexico, so far from God & so close to the United States!" Some Gringos think that was meant as a joke. Dream on, dumb Goyim! Sleep, obey, consume, for They Live, as they prepare for your extinction. After all, cattle are fattened before slaughter, just as sheeple are fleeced before their visit to the abattoir. Well, 'sheep' are what our Christian shepherds call us, & I say 'baah' to that. DOWZ! & ORION! E.T.
