

18 NOV 05. Dear Phil: Many thanks for your letter of NOV 15th & the great enclosures! As far as I now know, I shall be able to stay in Brownest Yakima for the rest of the year, including December, so send me anything you can. It's always appreciated & useful.

Yes, a drought in the Amazon is testimony to subhuman meddling, that is, the immense deforestation of the Amazon region, which is ongoing, on behalf of short-term profit & insane population growth. As one writer stated about China, its growing deserts are the result of the 3 O's: Over-logging, Over-grazing & Overpopulation. That seems to be the standard recipe for desert-creation on this planet, so let's let everybody into The Western Hemisphere & let's keep pumping out more of our own mouths to feed, who cannot feed themselves! Let's continue to behave as if we lived on infinite depletion & pollution of resources on this finite planet! One writer described our behavior as "Man's War Against Planet Earth." If we win, we LOSE! Christians, Capitalists & Communists cannot understand this concept, for they brag that "man conquers Nature!" The results of this arrogant idiocy are widespread & obvious in the former USSR & are likewise visible in the (about to be former) USA. The origin of this practical plague is the Jewish belief that Man is apart from Nature; that He is a crony of the gangster-god, Yahweh, who made Man exempt from the laws of Yahweh's creation, Nature! Supposedly, that is why Man can foul the air he breathes, poison the water he drinks & ruin the soil from which he eats, AND supposedly get away with all these environmental abuses. And, if you believe that, you might wish to purchase my quit-claim to the Brooklyn Bridge, as well.

Many thanks for the two Wall St. Journal articles. The one on the steel price fluctuations, especially in the USA, seem^s to indicate that what's left of our steel industry is trying to pull the same price-manipulation swindle as the petro-banksters. The rule is to buy cheap & sell dear, if you can get away with it! So far, the oil crooks have been able to do it, so others want to get into the act, by creating artificial scarcities of their products. The WSJ article is hard-pressed to 'explain' (cover up) why, in this global economy, U.S. steel prices could zoom up as world steel prices are dropping. That doesn't look like a 'free market' to me! Bush apparently wanted to protect the U.S. steel industry with some sort of tariff or steel import restrictions, which Greenspan advised against, in favor of World ZOG's global Jew World Ordure. So, was the rise in U.S. steel prices the result of protectionism or price-gouging? Nothing in our economy benefits domestic producers, just aliens overseas & aliens who take our jobs remaining here. Maybe we should call this country "The Alien States of America."

The article on Venezuela's economic reforms is revealing, for Hugo Chavez is behaving somewhat National Socialist. Let me count the ways: (1) Populist structuring of industry, using previous private management. (2) Promoting self-sufficiency, that all things Venezuelans need can be made by Venezuelans in Venezuela! (3) Regulating banksters in favor of the Venezuelan economy. (4) Promoting economic growth, rather than foreign-directed policies which create scarcity of jobs & products. (5) Bartering on a goods-for-goods basis, rather than paying for the services of moneylenders & money-changers in international trade. (6) Promoting modern technology, such as computers, to be made locally. Unlike The Third Reich, Third World Venezuela has abundant oil to pay for its policies, good or bad. Now we shall see if its mongrel population can prosper with sound economic policies, or if Chavez' reforms just multiply the poor & dysfunctional, as did Porfirio Diaz' public health program in 1910 Mexico. I think that the translator erred, or the speaker was self-contradictory, when Venezuelan Minister of Tourism, Wilmer Castro, was quoted as "not competing" with other airlines, but "having the lowest fares." That's what we used to call "price competition" when I studied economics in college, which is the most basic form of competition. As one Turd World businessman told me, "I'm not greedy. I just want a 5% profit. If I make a dollar, I just take out 50¢. See? A 5% profit!" As one Black declared, "Why a zero ain't nuthin', man!"

The vaccination issue grows along with the Avian Flu epidemic. One factor may be used to strengthen the other, in terms of virulence. This has been suggested by Dr. Cantwell et al. on Rense.com. so beware of the ZOG. That would make a good sticker to put on government buildings. Ha! Keep up the good work. DOWZ! & ORION!

P.S.: Thanks for the tips on jury duty. I was going to use one of your statements in regard to jury nullification of any law which jurors deem unjust. The most recent example, to my knowledge, was in Canada, in which a hand-picked jury found the Jew abortionist Morgenthaler 'not guilty' by reason of jury nullification of Canada's anti-abortion law.
