

30 MAR 06. Hail Jason! Many thanks for your letter of 23 MAR 06. I also return, with thanks, your great list of addresses, which I copied. The group I wanted to contact was in Missouri, not California, as I recall. I didn't know so many groups existed!

I have not heard of "Spirit of '69," for that is the year I went into exile from the Land of Amerizog. I used to know a fellow who could not understand why anyone would want to put into life any more than he could get out. I tried to show him that the more we put in, the more we get out, including our own immediate satisfaction from accomplishing things we want to do. Why climb a mountain, when you can look at a picture someone took, who went to all the effort to climb it for you? I can see that the viewer of the picture would get some idea of the view from the mountain, but the one who had to climb up to take the picture would gain even more than the picture-viewer: tired muscles! Still, would you prefer to see a picture of a great meal, or eat it, instead? One man's meat is another man's poison, I've seen, & I'm no mountain-climber by choice. I have done hard physical work, which I enjoyed in a peculiar sort of way. It is good to exercise & to develop skills & stamina. One summer with the U.S. Forest Service I gained 20 pounds & lost 2" around the waist. We ate like the proverbial horses on that crew, so our weight increase was muscle, which is heavier than fat. That's why doctors who urge their patients to "lose weight" are quacks. The correct thing is to turn fat into muscle, not lose weight. This is achieved by eating less carbohydrates & by getting more exercise, over time. The body seeks equilibrium, so it's best not to rush.

I was sorry that Thule Publications went out of business, for lack of money. Now I have things published in "Fidelitas," whose fliers I enclose. I understand that they will move to Montana in the near future, but I'm sure the post office will forward their mail to their new address, when they get one.

Yes, we stepped in "deep doo-doo," as Bush Sr. would say, when we went into Iraq, on behalf of Israel. The Bush family are jews, according to a reliable source, so that means they are dual-citizens (Israeli-U.S.) I asked some sheeple what they would think if we had Iraqis in charge of our Middle East policy. They replied that their role would be of dubious value for the USA. I said, "So what's the difference when we have jews in charge of our Middle East policy?" Boy, you should have seen the looks of confusion on their faces! One ZOG-zombie recited his brainwashing: "Israel is our lifeline to the Middle East." I said that's a strange thing to call a hangman's noose around our necks. "We get trouble from Israel & we get oil from the Moslems, so why do we please Israel & make trouble for ourselves with the Moslems?" Once again, you'd shake your head when you saw their confused reactions. It's sad to see how effective Zionist propaganda has been. So far, no reports of World War III, which was supposed to start at the end of March, 2006, according to sources on the Internet. That's just as well!

No, I don't have a car. I don't want one & I can't afford one. It's dangerous to ride bikes, because of the bad drivers, so walking is safest, although the drivers are still dangerous, especially at intersections, where they pay no attention to the traffic signals, especially the "walk" signal for pedestrians. The Turd World has arrived, big time, with the hispano-mestizo invaders, so you are deemed worthless if you don't drive a car. Crossing streets is your lookout, not theirs, even though the gringo laws claim that the pedestrian "has the right of way." Sure, & if you believe that, you can be 'dead-right.' The only reason I got into trouble with FEDZOGUSA was because I believed the lies I was taught in ZOG schools about "a citizen's rights & duties," in this "free country of ours." That's the danger of living in a hypocrisy. In proper dictatorships under which I've lived, one is told what NOT to do, to avoid getting the chop, but in the Jewnited States, one is INVITED to do what gets him the chop! That's why I hate hypocrisies, which claim to be democracies, but never were. The USA is officially a "republic," whatever that may mean. I define it as "rule by the rich". That's why wise Americans say, "We have the best government money can buy!" I have seen nothing to contradict that statement. Yes, I think we have another 9-11 in store for us, although we could have a civil war, if the regime in The District of Corruption decides to try to enforce laws against illegal immigrants, that is, alien invaders. It is said that an optimistic American studies Spanish, but a pessimistic American studies Chinese, as some Chicago students are doing. War could start in Iran, but it could also begin here. Life can be surprising, sometimes. I always hate to be right, but so far, my predictions have come true: U.S. forces are wasted & exhausted in Iraq & Afghanistan, & our real enemy, China, hasn't lifted a finger! The report on China refers. All the best & ORION!
