

13 MAY 06. Hail Joshua! Many thanks for your thoughtful letter of 5-5-06 & happy Cinco de Mayo! After the big demonstrations on 1 MAY 06, on behalf of illegal immigration, i.e. invasion, that major Mexican festival seemed subdued, for it did not tie up traffic in Brownest Yakima as the May 1st demonstration did, which passed in front of my Gringo window.

I think I did inherit the crime statistics from the old, dead NA, from a correspondent. The Color of Crime has become much worse since those statistics were compiled.

Zionist Occupied Palestine is just a big concentration camp for Arabs, so the jew^s can get their S & M jollies. Wherever jews rule, there are concentration camps. Apparently, they love them. Pictures of the kibbutzes of the 1940s looked just like concentration camps with guard towers, wire fences & barracks, which the jews had built for themselves. Kosher 'democracy' is only what Zionists like. If the Gentiles should decide 'wrongly', then 'democracy' is 'bad.' One jew declared that "Germany had too much democracy" when they elected Hitler. Oy veh! If the Arabs would leave the jews alone, they'd fight amongst themselves & vice versa.

As far as the invaded USA is concerned, I don't see how it can afford to invade any other country. I believe Bush has shot the works. The danger is that he will start a nuclear war on behalf of Israel. Former Mossadnik Victor Ostrovsky wrote in his book, "By Way of Deception", that Iraq was #1 on Israel's hitlist, then Syria & Iran, but not necessarily in that order. The USA is kaputt, through, acabado. When General Odom of the NSA declares that the U.S. incursion into Iraq is "the worst disaster in U.S. history," I tend to agree. I could see what was about to happen before we invaded Afghanistan & Iraq. I agreed with a Tom Clancy high-tech warfare fan that we could invade very easily, but when we occupied, we would die in a war of attrition. I could easily foresee that Iraq would disintegrate when the Sunni Saddam was toppled. With that, the Jewnited States pulled all the crockery down upon its head, for the Shi-ite majority wanted self-rule, as did the Kurds. Moreover, the Shi-ites are not Arabs, but Iranians, who are also Shi-ites. Of course, I knew more about the area than did Bush, who cannot distinguish between "Iraq" or "Iran", since I'd read some history about the area & its peoples, & I knew how & why the British carved out the bastard state of Iraq from the former Turkish Empire, to get the oilfields of Kirkuk & Mosul. Because of its location en route to Basrah & its oil, that part of the Turkish Empire played THE major role in starting World War I. I just hope it won't play a similar role in starting World War III, which the USA has already lost, in any event. The USA is now a business address in the Zionists' global empire, & is fast becoming part of Mexico. China also wants North America, & China is getting it as their invasion proceeds. Moreover, the Chinese have the manpower & money to take over, when the time comes, & the sheenies skedaddle, according to their biblical mythology. In effect, China now has sufficient jew I.O.U.s to buy the USA, which awakened that sleeping giant & gave it a big thirst for oil.

Like you, I also suspect that the hebes need the release of International Tracing Service records to give their Holohoax a boost, with additional kosher baloney for the dumb Goyim to consume.

Yes, being on a hotshot firecrew was all handtool work, whether we went into the fire zone by truck, helicopter or on foot. As a foreman, I recall my "standby" week ends. If we were called out to a fire, I would receive 52¢ an hour, but our pick up labor got regular fire pay. One fellow foreman asked me what I thought about risking my neck for 52¢ an hour. I said, "It's part of our job description, & if we get killed those days, we won't have to gripe about the pay." Somehow, the wage scale wouldn't have meant much to me if I'd been dead. One fellow asked me why I'd refused "the best job I'd ever have," in the spook business. I replied that I preferred not to be the richest corpse on the beach.

I have also noted that when one is convicted of a crime, he cannot do legal things in terms of his bail conditions &/or parole. If you were to work on a firecrew or construction crew, would you be allowed to wear workboots, which look suspiciously like Dr. Martins? If ZOG claims you belong to a gang, what is the name of the gang? All gangs have names. This is like accusing one of being a soldier, without giving the name of his army. Since ZOG has advertised "An Army of One," being idiots, I guess they can claim that you are "a gang of one." I think the zoggies have O.D.ed on Rambo movies.

Meth is more of a curse on the outside now, than when you saw the situation in Sacramento. Even the hippies of the silly sixties knew that "speed kills," referring to meth, but every generation must, seemingly, rediscover fire & reinvent the wheel. They can't seem

2) to learn from history, nor from people around them. I never thought I was 'special', so I watched what others did, & if I saw that the results were bad, I would not do what they did to harm themselves, for I figured it would harm me, too. When I saw a kid pick up a hot iron, his experience was enough to teach me not to do it!

I thought my search for a meaningful career was hard, but now it really is hard to find work that one feels suitable, not to mention fulfilling & useful. In work, it is said that "it's who you know that counts." That has been my experience, so networking is important. Fidelitas may be able to help you in that department. If I hear anything which may be of interest to you, I'll sure let you know. You could become a mercenary contractor for a security company overseas, of course. I figured that things would be desperate if I were ever to market my alleged military skills, but beggars can't be choosers. Fortunately, I avoided becoming a beggar, but I did get enlisted during the civil war in Rhodesia. That was a whole lot better than being in the French or Spanish Foreign Legions. Few know about The Spanish Foreign Legion, & the less one knows about it, the better. Suffice it to say that their nickname is "The Sweethearts of Death." During the Spanish Civil War of 1936 to 1939, The Legion took the city of Badajoz, which was heavily-defended by the Reds, at night, with knives. What a bunch of 'sweeties!'

Whites could build a White community, if they wanted to, but Whites are not noticeably pro-White. It's rather like telling a hungry man that he can walk a block to the store & buy what he needs, but as long as the hungry man won't walk that block, he remains hungry. The Order, as I said, was a prime example of what not to do & how not to do it. ZOG knows I can't be more specific.

Bush is creating objective conditions for civil war in this country, & civil war, as described by Thomas Chittum in his book, "Civil War Two," would be revolutionary, similar to the Lawrence Dennis thesis of "The Dynamics of War & Revolution," which he wrote around 1940, before FDR had him charged with sedition. Dennis warned that "foreign adventures" can lead to revolution at home, as Russia experienced in 1917, & nearly did in 1905, during the Russo-Japanese War. Objective conditions are opportunities in which people can realize their objectives, but if they have no objectives, then the opportunity is wasted, & may be taken by other people, for their advantage. Whites are not yet pro-White, so no amount of opportunities will make them take what they do not want. The situation remains at full stop now, as it did in 1992. The Five Steps mean nothing, either, if Whites do not wish to live as Whites. The only hope, as I see things now, is that non-Whites will force Whites to behave as Whites, or die as mindless victims of non-Whites. I've already seen that happen in Africa, so it can also happen here. Whites cannot survive as a race unless they begin to think racially, as other races do. Where there's a will to achieve White Nationhood, there is a way, but where no such will exists, there is no way. My message has not changed since I wrote those words. Passage of time is no guarantee that minds may perceive racial emergencies or racial opportunities, so I have only stated desirable goals & possibilities. Without others who desire & comprehend such things, nothing will be achieved, except the worsening of our situation. So far, my ideas have not changed & neither have my people.

Without a specific idea of your career possibilities, the best contribution you can make is to acquire knowledge on behalf of Our Race. The more knowledgeable you are, the more you can contribute, when the time comes. The key to career is in finding where your aptitudes & interests intersect. I have known people who were very good at things in which they had no particular interest, & took no joy in doing. It is best to enjoy what one can do best, so seek & you will find. Just before I graduated from college, I was concerned about finding my life's work. After graduation I was too busy to be concerned. I never found my 'career,' but I have searched for it so long that it no longer matters. Ha! As a mechanic said: "It's not how hard you tap, but knowing where to tap is what you get paid for." I enjoy your questions, for those which I can't answer, I can look up, thereby increasing my own knowledge. Knowledge is funny: I can give you all my knowledge & still retain as much as I had before I gave it to you, but if I give you a thing, then you have it & I do not. That's why knowledge is more valuable than most things, & there is always enough knowledge to go around. It's there for the taking. In the end, we are all self-taught, for no one can learn for us. That we must do for ourselves. All the best & ORION!
