

16 JUNE 06. Hail Joshua! Many thanks for your great letter of June 12th. I'm sorry to read of your ZOG-problems with receipt & sending of mail. There must be a source for "Did Six Million Really Die?" in the USA. It is grotesque that you must order a copy from the U.K. Thanks for the four 39¢ stamps. They are always appreciated! If I had a copy of "Did Six (...)," I'd send it to you free, since it isn't very long. Maybe one of the NA splinters has it in stock. As far as I know, NA split into various fragments, none of which seem to get along with the others, to my knowledge.

Congratulations on your slightly-improved living conditions under ZOG, & on your new address.

Sometimes, Hebrewood makes certain things 'manifest,' as they did with "They Live." Another instructive movie is "An Innocent Man," starring Tom Selleck as the innocent man who is framed by corrupt cops & goes to prison. When he gets out, the same cops try to blackmail him into working for them as an informant, &c. The former KGB & the FBI also used blackmail to recruit spies & informants, as the ATF tried to do with Randy Weaver. It seems to me that your highly-restrictive parole 'agreement' could lead to such machinations by ZOG, so be very careful. I think it was Napoleon who wisely said that he would not "throw himself upon the fixed bayonets of the enemy." In the U.S. Army, we were trained as soldiers to be very sneaky, to stay out of sight & to take the enemy by surprise, to co-ordinate our attack, but to stay spread out, for our safety. My World War II-style basic training was pretty good, as was my basic infantry tactical training in Rhodesia. The scary thing was our World War I-type exercises in trench warfare. I can say that the most frightening command I ever received in training was: "Fix bayonets!" When you hear that, it's probably time to kiss your arse goodbye, as one 'motherly' old sergeant said.

When I took U.S. History as a university undergraduate, our jew professor Rappaport warned us that "anyone who even suggested that FDR had prior knowledge of the Pearl Harbor attack would get an 'F' in the course!" My mission was to get good grades & graduate from the kosher college system as soon as possible, so I made a mental note of the jew's warning & steered as clear of World War II as I could, when I was given a choice of papers to write. I got an "A" in the course, & received my first B.A. degree within 4 years. Later, I learned that FDR certainly knew all about the Japanese preparations to attack Pearl Harbor from Dr. Oliver, who'd helped crack the Jap codes, & from my friend Col. Curtis B. Dall who turned out to be FDR's son-in-law, both of whom I met in 1976. I also worked with Dall on his book, "Israel's Five Trillion Dollar Secret," so I didn't just read about it. Your own kosher indoctrination began much worse & much earlier than mine, so public school must be Hebrew hell for White children. Did your parents know what was going on? My parents did not tell me anything about jews, so I had to learn about them from them! Oy veh!

My advice to you is to "adopt the spirit of the bamboo," as the Japanese describe judo. One judo instructor said that a snowfall will weigh down the branches of an oak tree sufficient to break them, but snow on bamboo causes it to bend, leaving the bamboo unbroken. Judo is a way in which a weaker opponent can use a stronger opponent's strength against him. I have used the technique at various times in politics, with success. Avoid the fixed bayonets of the ZOG. I think a good attorney could unmask the phony "gang" accusation ZOG uses against you. Surely, your age at the time as an 11 year old, should be a mitigating factor. It seems to me that you got the shaft, & that ZOG intends to keep giving it to you. ZOG's choice of gang-name: "Supreme White Power," sounds like a great rock group. The members would be called "The Supremes," although I think a Black rock group already has that name. Maybe they could sue the ZOG for copyright infringement. Ha!

I don't mind reading about anyone's ZOG-gulag experiences, for those of us still on the outside need to know all about ZOG-POWs' conditions of confinement, & so does the Public who fund these institutions.

Thanks for the information on how to obtain copies of the U.S. Constitution, plus! I'll spread the word.

Unfortunately, I'm not one to advise you about earning a living. When I returned to "Usreal" in 1992, the only work I could find was unskilled, minimum-wage, part-time jobs. When my last job in Brownest Yakima left for India, I was just in time to go on Social Security, food stamps & Section 8 housing. I have been very fortunate, thanks be to ZOG! Ever since I became old & broke, I've never had it so good. That's why I believe in The Law of the Contrary.

In regard to The Order, it is wise to ask "Cui bono?" (Who benefits?) before taking action. I think The Order would have served Our Race better by staying outside the ZOG-

2) gulags. I enclose a long list of those brave people who sacrificed themselves to achieve benefits for the enemies of Our Race, so we must THINK before we act. In the 'spook' or espionage business, one never really knows for whom he is working & taking risks. The same applies to military service. One is encouraged to believe that he is working for a worthy cause, but his real 'comrades' or employers may be the opposite of that which he is led to believe. The devious nature of organizations & actions is well-described by the article on Tsarist double-agents, informers & agents-provocateurs. I witnessed such doings as a member of Canada's Western Guard Party, which was destroyed by a police agent-provocateur & the stupidity of the Party Leader, who fell for his scam. The best way to honor The Order is to learn from their mistakes, so their sacrifices shall not be in vain.

Politics is people-power. It is also called "the art of the possible." Hitler believed that the best politicians had ears for music. Politics, like comedy, is also described as a matter of timing. The 'right' deed at the wrong time can backfire on the doers. Yockey believed that "the man of politics" was superior to the man of the military or even the man of money, for the able leader can put such men at his service, in the service of his cause. Hitler certainly achieved that! Personality is the key to political success, for people are attracted to personalities, the 'singers' of a song or creed, even if the song is lousy! Few people heed the song, or political statement, when the singer is attractive. In 1960, I voted for Nixon, because his 'song' seemed more sensible & realistic than did the photogenic candidate JFK in their televised debates. I was not voting for a pretty face, but for a practical program, as I thought. When JFK won, I took advantage of his Alliance for Progress, which funded my job in Colombia, South America. I did not go into a corner & sulk about Nixon's defeat. When Nixon became president, I got kicked out of the USA by ZOG, in 1969, & also banned from all Soviet Bloc countries, including Cuba, according to their embassies. That proved to me that "ZOG is one." 1969 was the year I wound up in Rhodesia, "for reasons of health." Nixon, another Rockefeller stooge, began a whole new ballgame by recognizing Red China & getting the USA out of the Vietnam Quagmire. Rockefeller hit-man, Henry Kissinger, wound up The Cold War in Africa, by telling White regimes to hand over to Black Marxist Misrule, as did Ian Smith of Rhodesia & de Klerk of South Africa, both in rigged elections. That's why I had to leave Africa, so now I'm back in North America, as of 1976. "Anything for the quiet life," as the Brits say. The ZOG certainly took me by surprise, for I thought I was performing my rights & duties as a U.S. citizen, by investigating the Peruvian situation, but ZOG was not pleased by my honest, legal efforts. Perhaps they intended to blackmail me into their 'spook' business. At any rate, I became one of "America's Least-Wanted," for over a quarter of a century, & I survived so far, because I had "the spirit of the bamboo."

As you so wisely write, we must always ask ourselves: "Is this good for Whites?" If we can do things of benefit to Our Race, without breaking the law, that's what we should do, just as you advise. Even now, there are many legal things we can do, & we should do, such as arming ourselves with knowledge, rather than weapons. Military training is neither good nor bad, per se, for soldiers may learn the wrong tactics in warfare. Discipline must be combined with versatility, & mission must conform to military capabilities, as we still have not learned from Vietnam & Iraq. When General Gavin was given the 'to do' list for Vietnam in 1961, he resigned, for he publicly stated that there was no military solution possible under the conditions set by ZOG (the regime residing in The District of Corruption). Military stooges who wanted that 5th star proved General Gavin right, because he was a competent soldier & they were not! Moreover, General Gavin was a patriot, who put U.S. interests ahead of his career, so unlike the military marionettes who got us into Iraq et al. One bad tactic is the use of weapons on the "spray & pray" basis, when ammo is scarce. If one is trained to fire off his ammo a.s.a.p., he will need untraining, fast! That's why Che Guevara advised his people to be equipped with bolt-action rifles, so every shot would count. Knowing when to shoot & when NOT to shoot are of equal value for a soldier.

Military enlistment guarantees nothing. There is no guarantee one will survive warfare in any useful shape thereafter, & there is certainly no guarantee that one will remain drug-free, as we learned from Vietnam. Youthful adventure can have a steep price! I would never have gone to Colombia et al. had I not been prepared to die, for even death was preferable to the Judeo-American Rattrace, which I saw others in, to their misery. I survived only by chance, for I would have died in 1963, had I not overslept an hour on the road to Bogota. Had I wakened on time to catch the first bus, the landmine would have killed me, as it did

3) all on board. The second bus I was on made it. The first one did not. As far as I know, its wreckage lies at the bottom of the Andean gorge.

I met Ben Klassen in 1976, & I read "Nature's Eternal Religion," which first impressed me as a "White Man's Talmud." It seemed quite correct, but it struck me as soulless, in terms of religious inspiration. I guess inspiration is in the eyes of the beholder, but so far, such creeds as Creativity & Cosmotheism seem to lack the religious inspiration I feel in National Socialism, which did not call itself a religion. It's The Law of the Contrary again. You be the judge! As far as I know, Cosmotheism is another splinter from the NA, & it has a website which you can log onto, when you leave the ZOG-gulag, as I hope will be soon. "The Protocols of Zion" make highly-concentrated reading. I used them, as well as Henry Ford's study of them, entitled "The International Jew," as subject matter for a members' training course with The Western Guard Party. A political soldier must know what to do when there is no one around to give orders.

As far as I know, my writings are on such websites as www.FAEM.com & VNN. Fidelitas published two of my Odinist short stories, "The Awakening" & "Return to Spring Island." I can put you into contact with Wayne MacLeod, who is a Canadian promoter of Cosmotheism, but that would be best when you get out, for foreign mail appears to cause difficulties for ZOG-POWS, according to their letters.

The origins of Whites on Planet Earth are recorded in immense volumes of pre-Judaic literature in India. Ludovici wrote his book entitled "Man's Descent from the Gods." The Bible's Genesis records the arrival of the Elohim or gods who mated with earth-women. Ancient Aztec & Inca religions worshipped "the White Gods." In von Däniken's books: "Chariots of the Gods" & "Weapons of the Gods," et al., which are based on archeology & ancient texts, such as the Indian writings about extraterrestrial warfare of gods & men, much evidence is brought forth about the arrival of "gods" from outer space. A South African correspondent encourages Wayne to posit our extraterrestrial origins, as exemplified by our interests in outer space, as a return to our origins. Religion is myth, which captures our imaginations. Carl Jung wrote of "racial memory" & "racial archetypes," which are distinctive to each race, so an Aryan religion must awaken those memories. Jung observed that Hitler had liberated the spirit of Odin in the German Folk.

Our task is the creation of a White community. Community is a two-way street: The Folk must support their heroes, & the heroes must do what is best for the Folk. The Order proved this, when they were not supported by a White community, which does not exist. A good gladiator can fight on behalf of his Folk, but the Folk must be more than spectators who see his sacrifice as entertainment. So far, the majority of Whites are not pro-White in belief, nor in behavior, despite all the words we have used to promote a change of mind. It demonstrates the old saying, that you can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink. Che Guevara experienced the same lack of community when he came to 'liberate' Bolivians from "capitalist oppression": The Bolivians were not interested, & Che paid with his life. In fact, they viewed Che & his small group as "foreigners," so Che was isolated, located & captured. Mao Tse Tung wrote that the insurgents are the 'fish' & their people are the 'sea' in which they swim. If the sea turns hostile or indifferent, the fish die. That's what happened to Che & The Order, aside from traitors who informed on Che & The Order. The parallels are instructive. Both groups used "the propaganda of the deed" & "armed struggle" while ignoring Lenin's requirement of "objective conditions for revolution." Lenin's revolt against the Tsar failed in 1905, because such conditions were allegedly lacking, but not so in 1917. Such conditions were also present in 1918 Germany, mainly because Germans & Russians were starving. Nietzsche wrote that "Man has his stomach to remind him that he is not a god." Events have their way of bringing forth leaders & followers, which propaganda can not do in more comfortable times. My professors taught us that "politics is defensive," since people become politicized when they have something to lose. That's why the rich are in politics. They also taught that "revolutions are conservative," for people do not fight for things they never had, but for things they have lost. The American Revolution was an example of that rule of thumb, even when we lost it to the jew banksters, who had caused it in the first place.

All the best, & ORION!

DU Scandal Explodes - Horrendous US Casualties

The Preventive Psychiatry Newsletter has written to its subscribers telling them that the real reason the former Veterans Affairs Secretary, Anthony Principi, recently resigned was because he has been involved in a massive scandal covering up the fact that Gulf War Syndrome was caused by the use of depleted uranium, according to the SF Bay View.

In the article Arthur Bernklau, executive director of Veterans for Constitutional Law, reportedly wrote that "thousands of our military have suffered and died from, [and depleted uranium] has finally been identified as the cause of this sickness, eliminating the guessing. The terrible truth is now being revealed." Bernklau went on to detail several alarming statistics. The historical disability rate amongst soldiers last century was about 5 percent, although it approached 10 percent during Vietnam. But due to the use of depleted uranium in the battlefield, 56 percent of the 580,400 soldiers that served in the first Gulf War were on Permanent Medical Disability by 2000. 11,000 Gulf War veterans are already dead. Now 518,739 Gulf War Veterans, almost all of them, are currently on medical disability.

Principi, under the order of the Bush Administration, had been allegedly covering up the disastrous results of using depleted uranium since 2000. However, with so many soldiers having serious health problems it has become impossible to keep secret.
