

Lawsuits, complaints allege president and others complicit in 9/11 terrorist attacks

Citizens with compelling cases are seeking criminal and civil remedies against named individuals for complicity in 9/11

Petition seeks criminal charges

A formal, 27-page petition asking the state of New York to investigate possible criminal charges against President Bush and others regarding the mass murders on 9/11 was handed to New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer Oct. 28, 2004. At present, the allegations are under investigation. No decision has been made to pursue criminal indictments.

A copy of the entire petition and background information to support its allegations of government prior knowledge and complicity in 9/11 can be located at www.justicefor911.org. RODRIGUEZ v. BUSH, et al

The most recent lawsuit was filed by attorney Phillip Berg Oct. 28, 2004, in a Philadelphia federal court on behalf of William Rodriguez, a maintenance worker on duty at the WTC on the morning of 9/11.

The 237-page civil complaint charges President Bush (and 54 others in and out of government) with 13 counts under racketeering statutes, including misprison of felony, misprison of treason and crimes against humanity.

The complaint is available at www.911forthetruth.com.

Berg was the attorney for Ellen Mariani who recently dropped her 9/11-related lawsuit citing health concerns.

FBI whistleblower lawsuit

Sibel Edmonds, a translator who worked at the FBI's top language division two years ago, claims officials ignored highly sensitive information heard on wiretaps which would have alerted the government to potential terrorist attacks prior to 9/11.

Edmonds story and related documents can be found at www.911truth.org. Class action suit filed against Bush and others by 14 families who lost loved ones on 9/11

Another federal lawsuit was filed in 2002 by San Francisco attorney Stanley Hilton on behalf of more than 400 victims of 9/11. Plaintiffs name the president and members of his administration as defendants and are seeking $7 billion in damages.

The case is presently stalled in the pre-trial discovery stage as government attorneys are refusing to turn over documentation, hiding behind what Hilton calls a "phony blanket of national security."

To read more about the lawsuit, go to www.911review.org

Lucky Larry's $2 billion bonus

Just six weeks before their collapse, Larry Silverstein had secured private control of a WTC complex that had been public property since 1972.

Larry Silverstein

On July 24, 2001, a $3.2 billion, 99-year lease agreement for the Twin Towers and WTC buildings 4, 5 and two nine-story office buildings was finalized between the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey and Silverstein Properties, Inc. Upon consecration of the complex, multi-billion dollar deal, Silverstein took out a full-coverage insurance policy that specifically protected the Twin Towers from losses due to acts of terrorism.

On December 6, 2004, a federal jury awarded damages of $4.6 billion to Silverstein based upon a finding that the attacks on the Twin Towers were two different events. The nine insurance companies involved are expected to appeal the decision.

Building 7

The 47-story office building known as Building 7 belonged to Silverstein. For some reason no one has yet explained, a few small fires started in various locations throughout Building 7. Hours after the Twin Towers collapsed, Building 7 came down. The Federal Emergency Management Agency's report of May, 2002, states, "The specifics of the fires in Building 7 and how they caused the building to collapse remain unknown at this time."

Four months later, Silverstein told the world what happened to Building 7. The Public Broadcasting System (PBS) aired the documentary "America Rebuilds" in September, 2002. The show contains an interview with Silverstein in which he stated, "I remember getting a call from the, er, fire department commander, telling me that they were not sure they were gonna be able to contain the fire, and I said, 'We've had such terrible loss of life, maybe the smartest thing to do is pull it.' And they made that decision to pull and we watched the building collapse."

The term "pull" in this case means to initiate a controlled demolition. According to Silverstein, he and the New York Fire Department decided to "pull" Building 7 and, at 5:20 p.m. on Sept. 11, 2001, the building was "pulled."

It takes weeks to plan a demolition of this type, set the charges in precise locations and time their detonation. Silverstein's admission infers prior planning of Building 7's collapse.

In February, 2002, Industrial Risk Insurers paid Silverstein Properties, Inc., $861 million to rebuild on the WTC 7 site. It is estimated that Silverstein had invested about $386 million in Building 7. In raw numbers, Building 7's demolition netted Silverstein almost $500 million.

Though Silverstein admitted Building 7 had been demolished, FEMA has not revised its May, 2002 report and the 9/11 Commission did not address it.

What a day it was

In economic terms, one could safely say that Sept. 11, 2001, was the luckiest day of Larry Silverstein's life. The 9/11 Commission did not investigate the possibility that Silverstein's pre-9/11 land management activities were influenced by prior knowledge of an attack on the WTC.

Insider trading and 9/11

The first rule of investigation is to follow the money. The CIA knows this rule which is why one of its duties is to monitor, in real time, large financial transactions in the interest of national security. What may be one of the largest insider trading scams in history took place during the weeks before 9/11. Insider trading is facilitated by investment activities known as "shorts" and "puts." Incidence of such trading increased dramatically with regard to American Airlines and United Airlines stock, reported the Chicago Board Options Exchange. Millions were made by a few investors when these airlines' stock crashed after the attacks. No investigation has commenced to determine if the lucky speculators had prior knowledge of 9/11. As an aside, "Buzzy" Kronegard was investment bank A.B. Brown's chairman until 1997. Brown managed United Airline's pre-9/11 "puts." Kronegard is now—and was during 9/11—CIA executive director.

In Crossing the Rubicon, Michael Ruppert provides an exhaustive analysis of evidence proving millions were made from curiously-timed investments that capitalized on the 9/11 tragedy. The 9/11 Commission did not pursue leads strongly suggesting that certain insiders profited from 9/11 prior knowledge.

30 DEC 06. Dear Michael: Many thanks for your letter of 22 DEC 06 & the interesting enclosures! At times your zoggies' arbitrary mishandling of your mail appears downright stupid, rather than officious, as in the case of "no return address" mail. When the return address appears on the contents, even a zoggie could deduce that the sender was the author of the contents. Did I hear someone say, "Duh"?

Thanks for the trenchant quotes, which seem to describe your situation in this century, even when they were written back in the 19th century.

The article on Semitic DNA needs to go beyond jew mythology of their "Roman diaspora," since jews have long been denizens of ancient trade routes, predating Rome & Babylon. This accounts for the existence of the Chinese jews, Indian jews & the Falashim or Black jews of Africa, so DNA testing should be done on those jews to determine if they are all genetically related as jews & not so much with their host peoples. Jews say that it is good when "Goyim fight Goyim," so we are lucky to have ostensibly anti-Zionist jews who decry present-day Israel as a fraud, based on The Lie of the Six Million Kosher Gas-sees. I understand that the jews were trying to find a biowarfare agent which would discriminate between Arabs & jews, but I've received no information on any results. Some Afro-Eurasians may be more 'equal' than others.

Thanks for letting me know that I was invited to the Reviso-Conference in Iran. I did not know that I had been invited. I can just imagine Iran's current leader announcing my invitation on Iranian TV! Ha! FEDZOGUSA might say to me: "Go, & don't come back!" I've been "America's Least-Wanted" before, & besides, I can say "Amerikani jasus nistam," in Persian, which means, "I am not an American spy." It would sure be funny were I to wind up my career in Iran, although it would not be that big a shock for me.

As far as AZA goes, it can stand on its own legs. As you say, if the jews were to become sole members & activists, then it could become kosher as well as anti-Zionist, but that goes for any group, organization or country. It may come to pass that World-ZOG has decided to wind up its costly bandit state of Israel alias Zionist Occupied Palestine, so these kosher cowboys in Iran may be a straw in the wind. Most jews prefer to live outside Israel, as Benjamin Franklin predicted.

My favorite Czech jew, Franz Kafka, would understand your situation: One who is 'guilty' leaves solitary, & one who is 'not guilty' stays in solitary. As you say, new thought-stops may be enforced, so your zoggies may be able to ban any topics they dislike in the near future. Stay tuned! In Zionist Occupied Canada the law states openly: "Truth is no defence!"

With the hanging of Saddam of Iraq, the USA has sought to cover up its responsibility for setting him up in power, putting him up to do ZOG's nefarious bidding, & then shutting him up. Saddam was the Abe Lincoln of Iraq who killed sufficient Iraqis to maintain the integrity of the territory that the Brits ripped off the former Turkish Empire after WW I. According to research writer F.W. Engdahl's "ACentury of War," our ZOG deemed it profitable to convert the existing rivalries & conflicts into "A Crescent of Crisis" from The Balkans throughout The Middle East. The Bushes don't wish to clutter their "beautiful minds" with the parade of U.S. military corpses returning from Iraq & Afghanistan. Besides, they are 'only' Goyim. One pessimistic writer opined that "Iraq's present is America's future." I hope not, but that is only my opinion. Most people appear to behave like cattle, preferring not to know who is setting predators loose in their corral/country. Those with a bit more intelligence hope that they will not be the ones devoured, as they line up to enter the kosher slaughterhouse. Those who are even more intelligent are given the Mexican option: Silver or lead. They are the ones who encourage the herd to head for the slaughterhouse door. These are the Goyim of the ZOG. H.L. Mencken observed that no one ever lost a dime by underestimating the intelligence of the American people: Not in his time & not in our time! I watch where the herd is headed & try to avoid going in the same direction. I can do that because I have no hostages which pull me into the life of the herd's cattle-conventions & I have sought to rise above cattle status. So far, I have not been offered silver or lead by the kosher cowboys who ride herd over us, so I've been lucky. Perhaps I should practice assuming that dull, dazed look of a 'good Goy' so jews will not know that "I can see," like the hero of "They Live." If dumb Goyim could comprehend that movie, our world would become a Whiter, brighter place. Keep up the good work, & Happy New Year. DOWZ! & ORION!

Eric