

8 JAN 07. Dear Tom: Happy New Year! Another month is rushing by as we approach the much-touted political-economic-demographic abyss described by so many news sources, including the Internet. Several such sources predicted war with Iran, which was supposed to begin no later than April of 2006. April Fool? Yet, the ostensible jew motives & instigators of such a war appear to be active, just as they were last year. Our disastrous Zionist invasion of Iraq proves such evil forces can be effective, using puppets like Bush #2 & the Christian Armageddonists who want to see Jesus ben Yahweh a.s.a.p., but in lieu of that, they are quite willing to send others' sons & daughters to find Jesus via death in Iraq. In judeo-christian, or more appropriately, satano-christian mythology, Jesus will come after the advent of the "anti-christ" (christ = jew-king). One anti-Zionist jew, Israel Shamir, correctly pointed out that those fanatic Christians who want to get Armageddon going are actually working for the anti-christ, so the hoped-for "2nd coming" of Jesus will not be their salvation, but their eternal doom, because their Christiansane haste has prompted them to serve the anti-christ. Such people will therefore go, with him, wherever Jesus decides to send the anti-christ & his servants. Such a deal!

Many thanks for your vivid description of try-outs for a job from hell, which I understand to be trash-sorting. Your description of the prospective employees: 8 Blacks, 1 Yellow (female) & 3 Ostensible Whites, led me to wonder: Where are the Mexicans? After more consideration I guess they are already at work on the job. What you may have seen was a pro forma procedure in which jobs are advertised, Goyim are gathered; applications filled out & submitted, &c., while Mexicans are already filling the advertised vacancies. Since I returned to this Land of ZOG, I have answered many a Help Wanted ad, filled out many an application, had almost as many interviews & received 100% non-response. I first learned of this pro forma procedure as a British colonial civil servant in Central Africa, in regard to civil service posts which were advertised. According to the specified job qualifications, I thought I should apply, but I was told by knowledgeable colleagues that such ads were required by the Public Services Board, even though the posting was already filled by the pre-selected candidate. "All that was omitted from the list of qualifications for the post was the name of the one chosen to fill it," I was told. I subsequently learned that my informant did not exaggerate. In my own case, I would be assigned to positions which I'd not seen advertised. First, I'd be a clerk in The Central Deeds Registry, then I'd be transferred from Salisbury (Harare) to Bulawayo (Bulawayo, or The Place of the Killing) where I'd be Assistant Registrar of Companies, thence to Rhodesia Railways, as clerk in their personnel office; thence as civil administrator for a district, with my very own Black troops, none of which were advertised; nor did I ever meet anyone else who was interested in the jobs.

My experience after my return to the Jewnited States in 1992 was not much different: Never did I get a job by answering an ad; but I did get jobs by word of mouth, so it turns out that "who you know" is as important, over & above "what you know," as the old saying goes. What I noted, after years of absence from the Judeo-American scene, was that living expenses had gone up & real wages had consequently gone down. In order to obtain my minimum-wage job as gardener in Louisville (Loserville) KY, I required a car, for there were no living quarters within walking or public transportation of my job in a golden ghetto suburb. Combined with my rent, my car expenses had me working at a net loss of $1000 every 5 months! I was laboring hard, while paying to go broke! Fortunately, I moved to Brownest Yakima, where I could rid myself of the car, & the consequent expense. Hence I could live below the poverty line, without going into debt! Such a deal! There is no need to wonder how I'd have fared if I'd had any dependents, for I'd need to go on welfare, pronto, or starve to death out on the street. Before my last job left for India, I observed my Anglo-mestizo co-workers in their frantic desperation to make ends meet by working at several part-time, minimum-wage jobs simultaneously, while attempting to raise kids & live at their parents' places. I understand from fellow Yakimorons that a single individual must have a car to commute to his minimum-wage jobs. The car expenses consume the incomes from 2 of such jobs, so the Goy needs the 3rd minimum-wage job to meet his own living expenses. In today's Judeo-American ratrace, sleep is a luxury most can't afford. This is the alleged 'freedom' we fought so many wars to 'defend.' Poor, dumb Goyim!

Many thanks for the download, & your cogent comments, on the current African invasion of Europe. How things have changed! When I was first in Europe, in the mid-1960s, Spain & Portugal had a population surplus & a job-scarcity, so those countries supplied labor-scarce European countries with workers, mainly unskilled ones.

2) Now, Spain & Portugal are importers of "cheap labor" (an oxymoron, for there is no such thing!), in addition to the 'useless-eaters' & predators who pour in from Africa. I understand that the Iberian Peninsula is experiencing a renewed Moorish invasion, in addition to all of Europe north of the Pyrenees. So much for the Christian Reconquista. It appears the Goyim are as dumb as the jews say we are: If invasion is called 'diversity', the Goyim welcome it, throughout White or formerly White living space. It is equally obvious that the denizens of formerly 'sovereign' countries are now subjects of unelected rulers who put short-term profits ahead of the people's long-term interests. I understand that in previous times, every square inch of one's homeland was said to be 'sacred' & worth every drop of the dwellers' blood to defend from alien occupation. Suddenly, concepts for which millions paid with their lives are deemed worthless, in favor of corporate bottom lines. Now we are expected to 'get along' with all comers who lust for our land & who despise our ways. Our bravery on behalf of folly pays us no dividends, because we have been fighting for alien interests under phony labels. We are doing this now, in Iraq et al. I wonder if I can con-vince someone to give me his money by urging him to "do it for democracy." I'm even willing to throw in The Brooklyn Bridge. That's a whole lot more than Bush #2 has promised.

"The Camp of the Saints" depicted Europe's present fate of supinely allowing its alien invasion & conquest. Spain lacks the will to defend its Canary Islands, so it is logical that Spain's government lacks the will to defend Spain itself from unarmed invaders. Europe in general & Spain in particular were much healthier in terms of nationality than they are today, when I first visited them in the mid-1960s. The USA was always an agency of the jews, so we tended to take official patriotism with a sprinkle of suspicion, based on our repeated experience of U.S. policy changes, foreign & domestic. The USA reminds me of a person with a moving van in front of his house, which is being loaded up with his belongings, but says, "No, I'm not moving. What makes you think that?" Despite all its centuries of lying that the USA was a 'nation,' we were always an empire. One cannot manufacture nationality by means of words, for nationality is biology. The U.S. folly would try to call a horse something else, in defiance of the facts, but any demented struggle against reality fools no one. Try fooling Mexican residents, invaders & occupiers of "Aztlán." If you hear them say, "Gringo loco," you will catch their meaning. Nation = People, not place. I am a White man living on the North American continent, just as I have lived on the continent of Africa, but I remain a White man. Just as horses behave like horses, so do empires behave like empires, no matter what liars call them. When we understand that we are subjects of a global Zionist-Capitalist Empire alias The Jew World Ordure, we may address our problems realistically. One cynic noted that the achievement of freedom requires us to learn that we are in prison, & that our invisible chains of debt are no less effective than chains of steel. Rothschild knows!

When the Whites ran Africa, there was no Black invasion of Europe, for under White rule, Blacks had jobs. Under Black misrule, they don't, & they certainly lack tax-funded welfare! Blacks do not produce food surpluses, as do Whites; nor do they produce jobs, aside from the slave-trade. Blacks mainly produce Blacks, so it is logical that they would use their fellow Blacks as victims, & even as food. I read that Black misrule in Zambia allowed swarms of wandering Blacks to harvest crops for their own consumption, whenever they felt like it. If you lived in a suburb, for example, & you had a fruit tree in your garden, you had no right to prevent Black wanderers from eating fruit from your tree. This form of communism would tend to discourage hard-working producers, just as it has done in all Black misruled countries. For me, I'd prefer to sleep at night, rather than hear loud Black-chatter in my garden, while I lost my fruit in exchange for Black waste products. Thus, I'd probably convert my fruit tree into firewood. But, seriously, I'd have to be an idiot to live in such a place, in The Heart of Darkness. It was fine under White rule, but hell under Blacks. No, Virginia, we are not equal, Jefferson's jabber to the contrary. This fact will be proved in our own lifetimes, if we are still too blind to see it right now. In this regard, the alienation of the young from the status quo ZOG can work in our favor, provided we want it to work for us instead of against us, as White Nationalists. It is true that a given place can only change if the old makes way for the new. U.S. territory is up for grabs, as any Turd Worldling can tell us, so Whitey needs to listen. Don't let the bastards grind you down. DOWZ! & ORION!
