

Guess Who's Lobbying Hard for America to Attack Iran

Top Israeli general confirms what others already know

Mark Glenn

In a very candid op-ed piece recently appearing in the Israeli online journal YNET, Brig. Gen. (ret.) Oded Tira, former chief artillery officer for the Israeli Defense Forces, confirms in so many words what others have been saying for many years—that U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East is merely a pawn for the Zionist octopus whose tentacles are to be found on every lever of political power in the United States.

In a piece entitled "What to Do With Iran?" Tira confirms that indeed the Jewish voice in America speaks the loudest when it comes to the business of influencing not only public opinion but public policy.

In this piece, he contradicts the mantra regularly heard being chanted by various talking heads in the American mainstream media that the "inordinate and disproportionate amount of influence" possessed by the Israeli lobby over American foreign policy is an "old canard" dreamt up by anti-Semites.

The general, unmindful of any possible political backlash against himself, comments as follows:

President Bush lacks the political power to attack Iran. As an American strike in Iran is essential for our existence we must help him pave the way by lobbying the Democratic Party and U.S. newspaper editors. We need to do this in order to turn the Iranian issue to a bipartisan one and unrelated to the Iraq failure. We must turn to Hillary Clinton and other potential presidential candidates in the Democratic Party so that they publicly support immediate action by Bush against Iran. We should also approach European countries so that they support American actions in Iran, so that Bush will not be isolated in the international arena again. We must clandestinely cooperate with Saudi Arabia so that it also persuades the U.S. to strike Iran. For our part, we must prepare an independent military strike by coordinating flights in Iraqi airspace with the U.S. We should also coordinate with Azerbaijan, the use of airbases in its territory and also enlist the support of the Azeri minority in Iran. In addition, we must immediately start preparing for an Iranian response to an attack.

The reader will note certain important things in this piece:

- (1) That Israel wants Iran hit and wants America to do the dirty work, rather than risk precious Israeli lives;
- (2) That Zionist assets both at the governmental and media level need to be activated in order to get the ball rolling;
- (3) That by activating assets in Europe, the general is acknowledging the international scope of the Zionist agenda;
- (4) That the governing cliques of certain Middle Eastern countries—in this case Saudi Arabia—are merely enablers for the Zionist agenda.

CARBON COPIES

In essence, the things casually mentioned by this Israeli general are mere carbon copies of what has been asserted for years by those who have been critical of the power of the Zionist lobby but who have been marginalized and made the brunt of vicious personal attacks for daring to challenge the beast. It is this creature, "the elephant in the room," that those in America are told regularly and forcefully does not exist but which nevertheless is responsible for not only the first and second Gulf wars, but for bringing the world to the brink of nuclear Armageddon.

Will this latest revelation spark a new series of debates amongst the intelligentsia in America? Will it lead to an intellectually honest examination on the part of America's elected leaders of how this present Armageddon has been brought to mankind's doorstep and who is responsible for doing it?

One can always hope, but the sad truth is that this is not likely. When it comes to the weapons of bribery and blackmail, nobody does it better than the Zionists. Added to this is the fact that few there are to be found who are willing to risk their careers and relative peace of mind over issues of principle or national interest. ★

14 JAN 07. Dear Michael: Thanks for your letter of 'good news' & your enclosures of 1-1-07! A colleague designed the AZA logo, but he lives in Soviet Canuckistan where "ZOG" is outlawed as "thought-crime." I suggested such a logo for ZOG-busters' T-shirts, but they are 'verboden' under ZOG law in Canada, Australia & Europe. Your great idea for the AZA cartoon is about the same as one Zundel drew up for White Power Report, back in the mid-1970s, so great minds think alike. Yes, anything which becomes current in the sheeple's minds can be a two-edged sword. We lacked the funds to promote Holohoax awareness, so we used the hebes' propaganda against them. They spent millions upon millions of zogbucks drumming "Holocaust" into the dim minds of the Goyim, & while their fleeting, feeble attention was on that word, we inserted "...is a hoax!" The result was much wailing, gnashing of teeth, hissing & spitting, plus over a decade of thoughtcrime trials, but we began to get our message across, thanks be to ZOG's Holohoaxers.

Thanks for the newspaper article on the alleged records recently released from The International Tracing Service at Arolsen, Germany. Obviously, some of the 'records' have been forged on behalf of the zionazis, much like the phony 'diary' of Anne Frank. I note what appears to be yet another concentration camp: "Sachsenburg!" I used to hear about "Sachsenhausen," but never "Sachsenburg." I wonder if that's a typo or a new jew lie. The newspaper article omits the Allied allegation that ALL German camps gassed jews, not just the six camps in Poland. That story changed in 1961, when the movie gas chamber at Dachau was labelled as "Never used as a gas chamber." Well, I saw the Allied atrocity film, & they said it was used to "gas" inmates, although jew film-director George Stevens had it built after the war so he could make his atrocity movie. As I recall, over 100,000 inmates were "gassed" in that Hollywood chamber. The jews are bragging how they got the Arolsen files 'released,' but they were the ones who had them placed off limits to none but the kosher crowd. Ordinary Goyim were not allowed to peruse those former camp records. Many thanks for the article!

Re Enigma: I interviewed a former Enigma operator, a former secretary of Dr. Goebbels, Herr Willi Krämer. I asked him about the alleged British intercepts from aerial transmissions which the Brits allegedly decoded with another Enigma machine which had "fallen off a truck in Poland," or had been "taken from a captured U-boat." Krämer said that Enigma was restricted to landline, not shortwave aerial transmission. He said Enigma was compromised by Die Rote Kapelle (Red Chorus) of moles in German communications who had laid a duplicate landline into Switzerland. That meant that all H.Q. messages sent by Enigma were also sent to the rogue Enigma machine in Switzerland, to which the Allies had access.

I am intrigued by your statement that the Hearings Minutes & Findings pages are still missing. I received 3 of your envelopes on one & the same day, so they became separated from my initial reply to you, but I sent them in the next letter, with your kite of query about them. I'll check the dates, & I'll send additional copies with this letter.

Thanks for decoding your zoggies' enigmatic correspondence to me. It's good to know that they usually say the opposite of what they mean.

Some of the reprints you request I may not have, but I'll do my best to find them & send you additional copies. Your zoggies sure like to loot your reading material.

Thanks for the "Cell Leasing Agreement Rules of the House." It shows the importance of freedom of association & the fact that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at once. That item reveals more about gulag existence than many a picture could. Some people have noted that the fewer are one's possessions, the more 'precious' they become. I would not like anyone else using my personal items, especially without asking me first! I recall my army footlocker which had a top compartment which was for inspection purposes, only. In it were displayed a razor & blades, a shaving brush, a toothbrush with an unopened tube of toothpaste, & maybe a bar of soap. None of those items were ever to be used, until one left the army. They had to accompany one wherever he was posted in any part of the world. One of my Spanish landladies would use my safety razor to shave with when I was out, judging from some very coarse hairs I found on it. That's how I knew why my blades got so dull so fast! I took the precaution of leaving the dull blade in the razor when I left my room, & using a sharp blade for shaving. Travel is broadening, it is said, so hide your razorblades! It was quite a chore using icy cold water for shaving, but I had to give up when my water froze solid in my Tangier hotel room one winter. The water had frozen in the pitcher & the basin over night. Spain & North Africa are as sunny as advertised, but they are surprisingly cold in winter. Been there. Felt that. The best climate I've experienced was in Cali, Colombia, but you must know when to duck.

Thanks for your picture. DOWZ! & ORION!
