

1.

5/20/07

Dear Eric,

Supreme Greetings Kinsman! I hope this letter finds you doing the very best possible; everything here is going well considering the circumstances. I received your letter and enclosures, and as always, it's great hearing from you again.

I can agree with you, there is no way we can "make" someone learn and apply the truth to their lives - there has to be an effort on their part. Like you said, there is a disconnection when it comes to people not understanding the big picture, and how they fit into this - this coming from people on both sides of the spectrum (aware and unaware) - but can all of this be attributed to genetic factors? Mental illness? I don't think that alone tells the tale although it's a major factor. You are well aware that people are not taught HOW to think any more, that went out over 50 years ago - we are taught what to think. It's easy to see this, look at the enclosed article about what a teacher showed her class at a school in Michigan Eric - this is how people are being taught - what to think, not how to think. Children are being taught that this perverse behavior is normal and sound rather than showing them the error of this behavior. This is just one such example, there are countless others, and you know this. What to think, not how, that is the prevalent mode of indoctrination.

People who are saying that they have our interests in mind have the same problems - they don't know how to think - they know what to think. The genetic material for being a successful, productive, or motivated Aryan is there, they just don't have knowledge that goes beyond impulsiveness or the sentimentality of someone with charisma. We can say that these people are stupid or dumb for allowing themselves to be in that position, but our collective incapacity to reason, and the absence of judgement falls on all of our shoulders. As a whole, we have allowed ourselves to be duped by the exciting external influences of the Jews and their cause (s). The Jews have been successful in getting us to do what we (those in the know) are trying to get our folk to accept - they know that a people who are suitably influenced (by what ever) are ready to sacrifice themselves for the ideals with which they have been inspired. They are influenced by what they are taught - even the dullest person can be taught and inspired - that's pretty much obvious. Granted, the dull segment of our social stratum isn't something we should be aiming at, I just mention this to make the point that people can be taught - there can be a change of belief if positive images are evoked by certain words (method of teaching), that is what got us into this predicament, and will be the only thing that gets us out.

Yeah, we can lead the horde to knowledge, but we can't make them think, I agree with you on that, but the problem most experience in this respect resides more on their delivery and knowledge, rather than that of their target audience. That is a fact. A lot of times the people who are complaining that people are not "smart" enough, or organized enough, are the ones who are coming up short. If we are so smart, then why aren't we able to make a presentation that can be readily accepted? Contrary to what most say, I believe that people CAN be reached through a rough and ready association of ideals - their behavior shaped positively as a result of this. People are not ruled by reason - most aren't anyhow, and that is what we have to be cognizant of Eric - the laws of logic has no action on us (collectively). On an isolated basis, perhaps reason does dominate, but from a mass perspective, it is an association of ideas that leave the lasting impression that bears fruitful consequences. To bring about conviction to our race it is necessary first of all to comprehend thoroughly the sentiments by which they are animated - then modify them by bringing forth, by means of rudimentary associations, certain eminently suggestive notions. It's not always the FACTS that people learn by Kinsman - the transformative power resides more in the ideals, than reason.

2.

The Jews know this, and that is why they have been so successful at misleading our people. They know the power of imitation - it's the human tendency to imitate. They use this against us - whether in the matter of opinions, ideas, literary manifestations, dress et. al, how many people are bold enough to run counter to "fashionable"? It is by examples, not arguments that people are guided. At every point in history there has been a small group of individuals which react on the remainder, and are imitated by the unconscious.. We have the same things going on in racist circles: people become skinheads or Klansmen because they are imitating images that they perceive to agree with the healthy Aryan. What's fashionable? What is the spirit of the times? Is this what we are thinking about as we try to reach out to others? Can we for once realize that the opinions and beliefs of groups of people (those in the community or racist circles either one) are specially propagated by contagion, and not reasoning (on its own)?

I'm going to enclose a few other news clippings that you might find interesting.

Do you have any contact addresses of independent publications or zines who take submissions of unsolicited articles ect.? If you do, would you please pass a few of those along to me. I do a little writing and I would like to make a contribution to someone who may have an interest. Please keep me in mind.

I am currently working on a small book project, and I wanted to know if you'd be interested in making a contribution? I am seeking 14 different authors to write on fourteen topics requisite for our survival. Some of them include:

3.

Natural Health, Ecology, Morals & Ethics, Living Space, and a sweeping overview of race and creation. I would like to ask you if you'd be interested in writing a article on "Race & Creation" - something that explain that race is real, something that really exists - a organic entity: then explain how the divergent evolution of our Aryan race is how and why we've been able to build and maintain all the major civilizations on the planet (and also highlight why those self-destructed). If you could help me with a article of this nature I would greatly appreciate it. It does not matter how long it is - there is plenty of space for what ever you do. If you already have something written along these lines that you think I could use, that would be fine as well - I just need a quality author (and you are that) to write on this subject. If you don't have time to devote to this I will understand, just let me know. (There is no rush on this either)

Thank you for giving me permission to use some of your materials on the I-net, I am doing a small racial/political publication with a friend of mine, and your work will fit well within the context of our propagation. Once this publication is in circulation, I will make sure you are placed on the mailing list.

Before I close, could you tell me if you have any contacts with men or women political prisoners overseas (Czech Republic, Slovenia, Russia, UK ect.)? I am trying to find some worthwhile contacts over there to network with, and if you could help me with a few addresses, I would appreciate it. I was once in contact with a couple in the Czech Republic, but once they were released, I never heard from them again. I TRY to reach out to folks with a pro-active message, and impart workable ideas so they don't find themselves in the same predicament time and time again.. Your help is appreciated.

Okay Eric, I will close this letter out for now and let you get on with your day. Take care of yourself, and keep plugging away Kinsman, your wisdom does help others, I have SEEN that.

White Triumph!

Douglas Ray Chism
623508 - Eastham Unit
Po Box 16
Lovelady, Texas 75851

8 MAR 07. Hail Douglas! Thanks for bringing up so many points about which I was discussing with a local contact. You have identified a major malfunction in sheeple: the disconnection between knowledge, belief & behavior. This is a sign of downbreeding & mental illness. As you say, it is fine to impart information, but the teacher, unlike the reporter, must put that information into a meaningful context of understanding, so the student sees how it fits into The Big Picture, of which his life is a part.

Speaking from my own experience, I had a thirst to know The Big Picture from the age of 8, when I looked at the map of The Western Hemisphere, & I decided I would be an explorer. My first objective was to visit South America & the Amazon. I thus took every opportunity I could seize toward that goal: I studied Latin American history, geography & languages. I read explorers' books which described where they'd been & what they did. I pursued this goal in junior high school, high school & university. The day I stood on the banks of The Amazon River in Leticia, Colombia, came as no surprise.

I attended an elementary school in California whose students were majority Anglo-mestizo. This was before the Hispano-mestizo invasion, which justifies calling it Mexifornia. If they had any ambition, to my knowledge, it was to become gas station attendants so they could afford to purchase & maintain their intended hotrods. Some of them may have achieved this goal, if they did not die in accidents by the time they reached junior high. Two of my classmates were killed when they drove their motorscooters between parked & moving traffic. One got killed by a door which a parked car's driver opened suddenly in front of him. The other died instantly of hitting a car making a righthand turn. His scooter-borne body went over the car's hood & he broke his neck upon landing on the other side. I knew that I must be careful in traffic if I wanted to see The Amazon. Ha! Like normal sheeple, I had my share of distractions, but my goal remained on course, like a compass needle. During this period, I received lots of disinformation about the country in which I lived & about its form of government. En route to The Amazon, I began to compare the American reality with the illusion. I could see that the Bank of England (Rothschild) stooges who formed the Zionist (jew-supremacist) entity called the USA, were quite different from our school & media propaganda. Eventually, I learned the true meanings of "nation" & empire. The clues were always there: The Senate, Roman eagles & fasces, under our Roman-style "republic" which was ruled by rich rascals, just like ancient Rome. Our 'king' was a document, a "damned scrap of paper," as Bush II called it. Words written on paper are no better than the men who back them up, I learned. I had to know The Big Picture if I were going to make wise investments of my time, effort &, possibly, money. I needed to know reality, & to rid myself of jewsmedia illusion. No one I have ever met on this planet had this thirst for knowledge, although I suspect that many jews have it, usually passed onto them by their elders. My elders hid from me even the tiny fragments of truth they had acquired. Hence, I am an all-too typical Goy.

We cannot be relevant to reality if we are guided by illusions. I have reached the comprehension of where we are now, & how we got here. The USA was always a front for bankster imperialism. As President Coolidge declared: "The business of the USA is business." It appears that we are now living in the 'atomized' society of individuals promoted by madmen like Rousseau, Locke & Jefferson, who also promoted adultery between Whites & Amerasians. Our ersatz Roman state is now one of international (globalist) corporations: a mercenary entity. Those who fight for "democracy" for regular military pay still believe in the illusion. The military mercenaries who fight for globalist imperialism in The Middle East do it for the money. Their behavior is thus based on their beliefs of what the USA really is, whereas the behavior of reservist ZOG-slaves is based on illusions. I always study to DO things right. I never studied for lack of things to do. What I learn, I apply. As one correspondent wrote: "We can bring a horde to wisdom, but we cannot make them think." If Goyim prefer not to think, then I don't care to trouble them. If they will not behave in terms of their beliefs, based on their knowledge, then they are hopeless, but not serious. Goyim must want knowledge. Where there is no will, there is no way. Oncoming events may serve to teach a few, as they flatten the majority, but the knowledge may come too late. We shall see. What I have achieved has been a satisfactory combination of knowledge, belief & behavior. As I understand, my writings appear on www.FAEM.com & the VNN website. Everyone is welcome to use them as they wish, as long as they do not have me state that jews are "White." I say they are NOT White, for that's what jews say to themselves. Everyone can heed my advice to avoid TV & stay debt-free. Those are the first steps toward sovereignty over ourselves. ORION!

Edo