

market reforms, and lengthening the work week from 35 to 40 hours. Where was that global interest story? Four sentences on an inside page. But we can have a big picture of a story about several guys in California fighting over a video game, resulting in a shooting.

Got me to thinking: If I went to an organization at which the agenda was always against what I thought was right or agreed with, would I renew my membership? Or if I repeatedly go back to a store, not finding what I want, do I not just eventually quit going there? Thinking people are finding less and less rational thinking in what is read and watched. How about a new approach — just the facts and issues (placed in order of importance) without the coloring of them?

ally bad part is that we, the taxpayers, are having to foot the bill for this. I guess these same people putting a priority on seat belts don't know that car theft, graffiti, residential theft and illegal immigrants are draining us dry. Maybe they live on a different planet? We had better wake up and get these jokers out of the positions they're in or we're going to continue down the same road.

It's political science, not science

To the editor — Now that the book and movie, "An Inconvenient Truth," by the noted scientist Al Gore is out, all the politicians, big media and even big energy companies have jumped on the greenhouse gas and global warming bandwagon.

In a recent article in the Nation, Dr. Martin Hertzberg points out that 20 million years ago during the Eocene period, the start of the age of mammals, carbon dioxide levels in the atmosphere were 300 percent to 400 percent above current concentrations. This, of course, was long before Henry Ford rolled out the Model T or Pacific Gas and Electric Co. built the Boardman, Ore., coal plant.

Hertzberg continues that the greenhouse warming "experts" have it all backward. Since most of earth's CO₂ is dissolved in the oceans and we are involved in a cycle of global warming caused by the eccentricity of Earth's orbit and inclination, CO₂ is being released from the oceans. You can demonstrate this in spectacular fashion if you try to heat a can of Pepsi. This theory was worked out in detail between 1915 and 1940 by Milutin Milankovitch, the astrophysicist and thermodynamicist.

The current near panic by the politicians to clamber aboard the global warming bandwagon has more to do with political science than science. The whole thing looks like a hoax to me. Talk about an inconvenient truth.

Imagine if we were to find ourselves in charge of Usrael in its present state! What would we do, & who would we find to do it with? We'd inherit a Zionist empire in process of destruction. My first idea would be to co-operate with Nationalists of all races, toward peaceful separation of peoples & the creation of racial states on former imperial turf. This is what happened, to some degree, when the former Soviet Empire folded. Putin wants to make its Russian portion strong & dominant, even though it includes lots of Khazars, who are "Russian" by default, since they killed off most of the real Russians. Does place dictate politics? Will the denizens of today's territory called "Russia" become the new "Russians?" It will be interesting to see, but the jews of Russia can always flee based on their nationality. Nationality is portable because it's biology, not geography.

I don't know if you've heard that the NW-USA is "The Great White Hope-land." Well, In WA Whites are alleged to make up 77% of the WA-pop, but ZOG equates mestizos (Eurasians) as "Whites," so that figure is suspect, as all ZOG-stats should be. Whites are the real minority in the USA, so it is just jew-jabber to claim that non-Whites are "minorities." When they are officially recognized as majorities, the same privileges will not attach to White minority status, you may be assured. That's when we finally become a democracy, under majority rule. Whitey pays for non-White 'minority' status & he will also pay for non-White majority status. There are no fools like White fools. It is well said that "demography is destiny," & the destiny of this continent looks dark, indeed. But let's look on the brighter side: were North America 100% White, jews would find ways to make us kill ourselves off. Moslems say that there are 2 holy wars or Jihads. The first one & the most difficult one is within ourselves. Islam means 'submission' (to Allah). Christians do not use the term, submission, but "fear;" a true Christian is "god-fearing." So both Moslems & Christians seek self-conquest: Moslems on behalf of Allah & Christians on behalf of Tolerance. I have no doubt as to the victor in such a conflict of faiths. The Christian has already lost, & to the extent Whites are Christian, they have also lost. The Moslems' secondary Jihad is their fight against infidels. They say that Jihad is 'easy' if they can win the 1st Jihad in themselves. Moslems are mongrels, like Christians, so their biology is not as important as their theology/ideology. ZOG's apparent ambition is to change that by corruption. ZOG seems to assume that all who enter its version of The Whore of Babylon will become "Amurricans," as Tacitus assumed non-Romans would become under Roman rule. The NJ Jihadists may be a ZOG-op with ulterior motives, or it may be genuine, as depicted in the jewsmedia. The message is that some Moslems, at least, are not neutralized by ZOG's corrupting influences. Hmmm: It's 10:52 a.m. & I've heard 3 distant gunshots, along with spic boombox thudding. Just routine in this sector of The Western Front. No sirens yet. Maybe not any.

I agree with some ancient Greeks & modern geeks who think that "man is the measure of all things." This means that man is able to suffer man's own mistakes, but is he able to comprehend them? First, he must survive them, but then he must learn to avoid their repetition. That is our Great Jihad. All the best. Our Race Is Our Nation!
