

YULETIDE

Before the Yule season was renamed for the celebration of the Judeo-Christian Eucharist or Christ-Mass, in which the followers take part in a symbolic cannibalism of the physical embodiment of the Holy Trinity, the Yuletide was a celebration of the coming of the new year and the return of the life giving sun.

Our pre-Christian ancestors began the Yule celebration by gathering on the eve of the Winter Solstice. This is called Mother Night, and the Winter Solstice or Mid-Winter is the point at which the sun is as far away from the earth as it ever gets and at which point it begins its gradual return and however imperceptibly the days begin to be longer and warmer.

Our Heathen (from the heath of country dwelling) ancestors that believed in the Old Gods usually dedicated the Yule festivities and sacrificed to Thor because it is believed the Thor successfully fought back the evil Frost Giants of winter with His Mighty Hammer, Mjollnir. Not only is Thor a mighty Warrior and defender of Midgard he is also loved by the farmer, the tradesman and the common man and he is a real god of the people, so to speak, and it was said that during the Yuletide, Thor, being in such good spirits from all the praise and sacrifice he receives, he travels through the air in his cart pulled by his mighty goats and rewards especially deserving children with toys and treats. It is said that Thor would know how deserving a child was by how worn out his or her shoes were. During this time of year the children would leave their shoes by the door and when Thor came he would put the best gifts and treats in the shoes that were the most worn out because the more your shoes were worn the more you worked and helped that year. If you worked really hard Thor would leave a lump of coal in your shoe also. Coal was especially valued and coveted because in the harsh winters coal would burn long through the night and keep the house warm so the more hard-working children a household had the warmer it would be in Mid-Winter.

The Yuletide lasted 12 days, from Mother Night till the day of the new year. During that time families gathered around the Yule Fire, that was lighted from the previous years extinguished Yule Log, and share the past year experiences. They celebrated new life that was born to the clan and mourned lost kin and they set goals and made pacts for the coming year. They chose an appropriate evergreen tree to represent the Tree of Life (Yggdrasil) and decorated it with nine orbs to represent the nine realms of existence and circled it with garland to represent the World Serpent. On each of the 12 days of Yule it was appropriate for couples or sweethearts to exchange one small homemade gift each day. Each gift representing a memory or hope from each month of the preceding or proceeding year.

So you see we still celebrate Yule the way our Heathen ancestors did. Some things have just been renamed but Santa, stockings, X-mas trees, Yule Logs, 12 days or X-mas and many other "Christmas customs" all have their roots in Heathenry.

Except for the whole cannibalism thing.....weird.

Hail Chad! Many thanks for your letter of 1-1-08 & the great enclosure on Yuletide, which I shall copy for the benefit of thinking people. I, too, was disgusted by the ritual cannibalism/deophagy of Christians, whose man-god eating & blood-drinking was, to me, shocking & obscene. Religious liars claim that the ritual is only 'symbolic', but other liars claim that the priest's mumbo-jumbo magically transforms crackers & hooch into Jesus' real body & blood, by "transubstantiation." This doctrine is swiped from Greek philosophy, in which it was argued that all things had their characteristics which we can perceive with our 5 senses, but if those characteristics were removed, there would yet remain the "Substance" of the person, place or object. Religious salesmen translate "Substance" as "Soul!" Millions of crazy Whites slaughtered one another in the "30 Years' War," allegedly over the 'substantial' nature of the Christian ritual cannibal feast. Imagine feeling 'righteous rage' sufficient to hack others to death over this silly, sick difference of interpretation of twaddle! Well, it not only happened, but it ravaged Europe for over 30 years. If God is Truth, then Lies such as these reveal their Evil to those who can see.

In my studies of anthropology in college, I learned that Pacific & South American cannibals had a common belief that "you are what you eat." Brave warriors were chosen, or at least, brave victims, in order to transfer the bravery to the eaters. This resembles perverted Christian doctrine to an embarrassing degree, for if Jesus' "body & blood" were of The New Testament, as alleged, then the Christian could devour the book itself for the same degree of 'divine understanding.' Likewise, instead of a choir learning the words of a song, they could just eat the songbooks. I pointed out to Jesus-eaters that none of his 'miracles' were magic tricks which Satan would not perform, such as healing the sick, resurrecting the dead, walking on water, driving demon-infested scapeswine over cliffs, multiplying loaves & fish, &c. But the true test of Jesus' alleged divinity would be in his ability to confer UNDERSTANDING. The ancient Aryans of India claimed that the source of "all evil" was "the lack of understanding," so when we see the evils resulting from the cult alleged to Jesus, we see mostly evil in terms of human suffering. As the jewbook says: "By their fruits shall you know them," which takes us, as always, back to ZOG.

So far, I've received no restriction notices from your mailroom zoggies, but I understand from a letter that individual zoggies are empowered to censor mail as they see fit. That letter comes from WAZOGDOC's Associate Superintendent, Steve Sinclair, dated 15 AUG 2007. In brief, this is an official admission of anarchy. If this policy were applied to police, it would allow any individual cop to arrest or ignore any citizen for his own particular reasons, maybe because the cop did not like the citizen's looks. My one issue is that your zoggies do not steal first class mail. Whatever they deem unkosher & therefore inadmissible from me should be returned, & not kept or trashed by them. First Class postage guarantees return of undeliverable First Class Mail. That's the law, even if zoggies choose to be lawless. E.T. says: "A tyranny is known by the number of its laws the government breaks." First Class Mail is not just a price; it is a contract, & theft thereof is a crime, regardless of any monetary value. Theft is a felony, so your zoggies are serious offenders, according to The World Postal Union & The U.N. Charter on Human Rights, Article 119, as I recall.

Like you, I am also a ZOG-tot, as were my parents. I might entitle my autobiography as "A Tale of a ZOG-Tot." We are, after all, the products of our upbringing, as Tulsa Doom says to Conan: "I have made you what you are, my son." Conan agrees, & lops Doom's head off. Your letter brought to mind Friedrich Nietzsche's statement that "Man exists to discharge his energy," in regard to your dislike of idleness. Since my unplanned retirement, I am busier doing what I like to do, than when I was working at my coolie jobs at part-time, minimum-wages. We have also experienced, in Nietzschean terms, 'What does not dumb me down makes me smarten up.'

The huge & growing U.S. prison population reveals our moral bankruptcy & our genocidal policies. This society is unwilling to motivate youth & create meaningful jobs with living wages. We enrich & empower the few at the expense of the many, while creating a growing debt & prison population. Some see it as a 'good deal,' but for whom? Surely, we can do better than this, & just as surely, we must. The consequences of this status quo are due to bust, if we don't. Man has the ability to adapt, & he can also change things to suit himself. That is our power, & our responsibility. Yours for a Happy New Year. DOWZ! ORION!
