

20 JAN 08

Dear Claude: Many thanks for your letter of 3 JAN 08 & the outstanding enclosures! I'm pleased to know from you that the old National Geographics were of interest. I guessed right in sending them where they'd do the most good.

I'm beginning to learn that "There's nothing new under the sun," if Earth's history goes back so far. In that case, the horrible truth seems to be that mankind has grown no wiser as history repeats over the eons. As the old song goes: "When will they ever learn?" Believers in reincarnation claim that there are "old souls" which have been recycled or reincarnated many times. With so long a history as Earth seems to reveal, how do we account for "new souls?" Some reincarnationists claim that humans who have led nasty lives become reincarnated as insects, vermin like rats, cattle & even microbes, as the Hindu sect called Jains apparently believes. Therefore, if a man may reincarnate as a woman or a man of different race, as well as an insect, why can't a 'virtuous' insect reincarnate as a man? I see quite a few "new souls" who must have reincarnated from their former pig existence, as I gather by their behavior. Their souls reveal that they are still swine.

As yet, I have not encountered nor read Kemp's "March of the Titans." I understand he proposed the creation of a White state in South Africa, which would be to my liking, rather than the multi-racial state of the present, under Black Misrule. This is what I propose for the U.S. Empire of ZOG. The White man's folly in Africa was his absolute NEED for Black labor, similar to the White denizens of the U.S. southern states. For them, life without Blacks would be 'just too terrible' to contemplate. Why, we'd have to do our own work & raise our own children! This White sickness stems from the Old Testament in which INFERIORS must do useful work, such as "hewing wood & drawing water." In his "The Theory of the Leisure Class," Thorstein Veblen observed that useful work was traditionally the woman's job in White societies. For whom did the women work? Why, for their husbands & masters. Veblen says that "semi-barbaric" societies reward their predators & parasites by giving them status & privilege over productive members of society. He who works most is least appreciated. Hitler stressed "The Honor of Work" in National Socialism. Southern Whites hated "them Nayses" because they expected White men to do "nigger work." Perhaps Boers & Brits who fought the Germans had the same prejudice.

True to their heritage, & to Benjamin Franklin's prediction, the jews of Israel import labor from Asia & Latin America. The early Zionists allegedly wanted jews to do all their own work. That's why Hitler set up job-training programs in such places as Theresienstadt, where jews were taught farming & useful trades. But, contrary to Zionist pretensions, the jews got their own land, & reverted to type, by using foreign labor in Israel. Moslem Arab states do the same, despite the growing poverty amongst their own people, particularly in Saudi Arabia.

In regard to the poor, whose power lies in their ability only to breed more of same, Communism has been wisely called "The Politics of Envy." There is a tale of a Bourgeois Gentleman who declared to a Proletarian Peasant that, under Communism, the peasant would be able to wear leather shoes like the bourgeoisie. The peasant replied that under Communism the bourgeoisie would be wearing straw sandals like the peasantry! I saw similar behavior in the U.S. Peace Corps who came to 'uplift' the natives of The Turd World. Some Peace Corps-niks saw that it wasn't possible to uplift the Turd-Worlders, so they degenerated to the same or lower level of behavior as those they came to 'help.' The Brits called that "going native." An anthropologist, Oscar Lewis, if I recall the name correctly, described life in a Mexican village as "The Culture of Poverty." Nobody was supposed to prosper. Any prosperity was supposed to be shared with all the villagers, who blew it on a big party. That way, everybody could stay poor, & they did, except for those who escaped the village. This is Communism in practice, as opposed to mere theory. If the village community wanted to escape from poverty, it would invest any prosperity so as to improve the village & its people as a whole, rather than contribute to the general ruin by dissipation. Obviously, the mestizos have no concept of "Volksgut," which I translate to mean "the commonwealth." Your wonderful letter to The Weekend Argus refers. Indeed, there is a Culture of Poverty, which is best expressed as "From each, according to his ability, to each, according to his need." Marxism is merely Christinsanity without a Sky-Jew. The jew, Lenin alias Ulyanov, tried to practice Marxism for at least a week, but reality intervened, so he declared: "Those who do not work shall not eat!" This new doctrine he called "Marxism-Leninism," which makes no more sense than it does to combine Old & New Testaments into Christianity. This is an oxymoron, like "hot cold." It is also known as "cognitive dissonance" to befuddle the Goyim; unfortunately, it works!

As you say, in terms of religion there is nothing to invent. We sit atop a cosmic junkyard of mythology & history; everything is there for us to work with, so why can't we produce something both attractive & useful for today's Zeitgeist? Of course, it must appeal to human nature, Wayne to the contrary. It must appeal to our imaginations. Mark Twain had the key when he urged us to "Dream better dreams." Such dreams will serve to inspire us to rise above ourselves, & thus overcome what assails & oppresses us. Somehow, Newton's Laws of Thermodynamics alias Waynian Doctrine lack the stimulation to quicken my pulse, or even keep me awake. Yes, they are true, but they don't seem to motivate. Perhaps there is more potential in building a religion around the credo that "Man is born; man suffers, & man dies." I say, "Ho hum" to that, as well. I could recommend such 'religious doctrine' to people who suffer insomnia.

After I had a good yawn, I want to address more exciting issues, such as ZOG's imperial impasse in The Middle East. It is said that timing is essential in politics & comedy, &, as you note, the time for Usrael to attack Iran seems to be passé. Some jewsmedia pundits have been jabbering about "when we should leave Iraq," as if the decision to depart has already been made, by someone. So, what happened to ZOG's plan to build "permanent bases" for its imperial troops in Iraq? Where is Saddam, now that we really need him? I've noted the U.S. tendency to believe that we can "tech" our way out of problems, rather than think our way out. As I predicted before the ZOG invasion of Iraq, the easiest part would be to invade, & the biggest part would be to leave with U.S. plumage intact, without leaving a worse mess in Iraq than that which our invasion would create. You will observe that I am one of the few who positively hates to be right. If Bush were capable of reading a standard history of Iraq, which I doubt, he might have hesitated to pander to Israel's lust to smite Saddam, but I know Bush has a big brain tumor: Cheney. I see no advantage whatsoever for the USA in Iraq. Of course, Israel loses nothing, but it may have learned that U.S. military might is limited in its effectiveness, & in its results. Imagine Iran as another Iraq!

Pakistan/Afghanistan is one more example of Usrael knocking over the 'honeybucket.' In terms of 'cui bono?' the assassination of Bhutto was chiefly of benefit to the ZOG & its Paki-puppet. As Eric Margolis warned: The very last thing the USA wants anywhere is "democracy," for it would be most unhappy, were it to achieve what it prates so hypocritically in its official statements & propaganda. In fact, the Founding Felons of Usrael specifically objected to democracy, which they deemed "mob rule."

I did not see "Gangs of New York," but I read about the Irish draft riots of The Civil War, which merely establishes Lincoln as "The Saddam of the USA", because he got so many Americans killed to maintain his damned "Union," which was under bankster rule from the beginning. The U.S. Civil War has the record for the number of Americans killed in all U.S. wars, since both sides were "Americans." The CSA was equally under the kosher claws, so I see no virtue in either side. In the end, the banksters won, not by dividing the USA, but by buying control of it entirely. The rabbi is right when he says "There's more than one way to gut the Goyim."

Perhaps the Goyim who bleed in Iraq & Afghanistan will finally act in their own interests. A military coup is indeed possible, or some other type of "regime-change." The USA already has a "shadow government," so an alleged accident or "terrorist act" could present a new crop of faces in The District of Corruption, along with The North American Union.

As you say, Russia shows great potential for good or ill, while China watches the decline of our ZOG, so ZOG is not in a vacuum & must think about other players on the scene. That may upset Bush & Company, to the extent of exercising a bit of caution.

Brian appears unable to proselytize competent comrades, especially in regard to his 'snail-mail.' Since he claims he did not receive my latest letter dated 28 DEC 07, I assume that his Thornhill colleague is as dysfunctional as ever. Brian hinted that 'snail-mail' is subject to surveillance, but that is nothing as compared to E-mail. I mentioned his success with words in the air, & no reliable feet on the ground. To me, that is a dilemma, similar to Wayne's, in which he is on the Internet, but few are interested in his message. Life is certainly a learning experience, if we are awake & sober.

All the best for '08. ORION! 88!
