Dear Steve: Many thanks for all the informational goodies. I'm glad you're receiving my mailings, ZOG willing.

I see by the card you sent from the Christian Falange that they have not studied the effects of prohibition (of alcohol) in the USA. I agree that tobacco, alcohol & gambling are anti-social, as are so-called hard drugs, but prohibition in the USA only made the Jew Mafia strong & wealthy. In the 1950s, Oklahoma was still a "dry" state. I asked an Okie I knew why that was, since one only needed to drive outside Oklahoma to obtain all the alcohol one wanted. He said that the gangsters & the churches always vote to keep the state dry. The churches do so, because they are fools & hypocrites; the gangsters because they need not pay state taxes on their wares, just federal taxes. With prohibition comes corruption of the police, the legislature & the courts. This has all been tried before, with abysmal results of corrupting society (more) & enriching & empowering criminals. How far do we go in protecting sheeple from themselves? And what is the cost thereof to our society? Dr. Oliver wrote a trenchant article entitled "When We Were Sane." Therein he mentioned the masculine attitude toward evils of drugs, alcohol & gambling: When one is taught that they are bad, then one indulges in such things at his own risk. Society can improve by losing such degenerates. But now, society, via the tax-payers must be its brothers' keepers. Personal responsibility & personal accountability are denied by the minions of political correctness, so the burden of social dysfunctionals steadily increases.

In Scandinavia of the 1930s, losers & degenerates were supported by tax-payers' money, on one condition: That they did not produce more of their kind. Society will feed, but the dependents may not breed more of same. This policy is not Christian, nor is it Marxist, for it aims to preserve & improve society, rather than the opposite. We really need to grow up.

Independence without responsibility is infantilism. Children want to eat the candy without paying for it. Perhaps unscrupulous dentists would support such a programme, but responsible parents would certainly not. If churches want prohibition, then they should PAY for it, instead of saying, "You & he should pay for what we want."

I understand that alcohol prohibition exists in all Moslem countries, but even there it is infringed, despite heavy punishments for possession &/or use. Tolerance to any degree involves corruption, when something is prohibited. Certainly, an all-Moslem Australia could prohibit alcohol-consumption to a greater degree than a Christian Australia, so the Christian Falange should promote more Moslem immigration, to realize at least one of its goals. Allow me to pause for a chuckle.

I hope your U.S. visit will be successful. Use of the Internet should facilitate your plans to maximise your exposure, in advance of your arrival. The blightwing is highly compartmentalised because of ego & incompetence. All others are deemed 'competitors,' by their very existence, so lack of co-operation is the rule, rather than the exception. Some blighters have their very own 'homeland' picked out, so they may be unwilling to listen to other ideas. But I mention these dysfunctions not to discourage you. I'm sure there will be sufficient interest to justify your visit, provided the blighters know you are coming, & when & where. Good luck!

It is said that "Travel is broadening." Had Hitler visited Britain to any extent, he'd have known how powerful the Jews were, & he might have held the British soldiers captive at Dunkirk, for purposes of negotiation, as I would have. Your trip will allow you to obtain a reasonable racial cross-section of U.S. demography, as well as a firsthand view of the U.S. economy. Decisions, especially political decisions, should be based on accurate information, rather than wishful-thinking, as typifies the blightwing.

In this brief calm before the political/economic/demographic storm, the mere existence of blightwing egomaniacs & self-seekers indicates that blighters are hopeless, but not serious, so don't let the blighters grind you down. Mao would say: "Things look darkest, before they go totally black." Are we enlightened by our awareness of darkness? The Law of the Contrary defines "Illuminati" as the minions of Darkness. That is sufficiently contrary for me.

Strength through Joy. CRION!
