

Hitler's positive family program

Hitler's plan to build thousands of low-cost homes also demanded a vast mobilization of manpower. He had envisioned housing that would be attractive, cozy, and affordable for millions of ordinary German working-class families. He had no intention of continuing to tolerate, as his predecessors had, cramped, ugly "rabbit warren" housing for the German people. The great barracks-like housing projects on the outskirts of factory towns, packed with cramped families, disgusted him.

The greater part of the houses he would build were single-story, detached dwellings, with small yards where children could romp, wives could grow vegetable and flower gardens, while the bread-winners could read their newspapers in peace after the day's work. These single-family homes were built to conform to the architectural styles of the various German regions, retaining as much as possible the charming local variants.

Wherever there was no practical alternative to building large apartment complexes, Hitler saw to it that the individual apartments were spacious, airy and enhanced by surrounding lawns and gardens where the children could play safely.

The new housing was, of course, built in conformity with the highest standards of public health, a consideration notoriously neglected in previous working-class projects.

Generous loans, amortizable in ten years, were granted to newly married couples so they could buy their own homes. At the birth of each child, a fourth of the debt was cancelled. Four children, at the normal rate of a new arrival every two and a half years, sufficed to cancel the entire loan debt.

Once, during a conversation with Hitler, I expressed my astonishment at this policy. "But then, you never get back the total amount of your loans?," I asked. "How so?" he replied, smiling. "Over a period of ten years, a family with four children brings in much more than our loans, through the taxes levied on a hundred different items of consumption."

As it happened, tax revenues increased every year, in proportion to the rise in expenditures for Hitler's social programs. In just a few years, revenue from taxes tripled. Hitler's Germany never experienced a financial crisis.

To stimulate the moribund economy demanded the nerve, which Hitler had, to invest money that the government didn't yet have, rather than passively waiting—in accordance with "sound" financial principles—for the economy to revive by itself.

Today, our whole era is dying economically because we have succumbed to fearful hesitation. Enrichment follows investment, not the other way around.

25 AUG 08. Mr. Tony Campbell alias Brokeback Camel: I don't know if your ever worked for a living. I have, all my adult life. I also fought the Jews with my fists so Mr. Zündel could get into court for his thoughtcrime trials, which we finally won, when the Supreme Court of Canada abolished the law under which he was tried. Oh, we also beat the Jews, & knocked them on their asses. The skinheads I knew in Toronto were too busy to help the Aryan Cause, for they had lots of booze to drink & pot to smoke, as well as rock concerts to attend. Yeah, it's a hard life, but somebody's got to do it. Nothing could be further from real Nazis who I knew than skinheads who claim to be Nazis. Sorry, but I know how the truth must hurt. In my speeches to skinheads I cautioned them that they were still part of society, as long as they lived in it, with or without their parents. If they wished to avoid work, while making targets of themselves, & weakening themselves with drink & drugs, they were only going down to the bottom of the social ladder. This was not the way to make a decent future for White Children, if they ever became parents. That's what National Socialism was all about. As Our Race diminishes in the USA, Commander Rockwell's prophecy may be fulfilled, that our skins will be our uniforms. We won't need tattoos or insignia, as Whites have found out, too late, in South Africa. Yes, I've been a soldier, & we are all cowards, for we wear camouflage uniforms to make us harder to see. We don't make noise or shine lights so the enemy can see or hear us. We find it best to sneak up on the enemy so we can kill him, rather than him killing us. One day, you may discover the wisdom of behaving like a soldier. No, you don't scare me. I hope, for your sake, that you grow up. All the best. ORION! Eric Thomson

Hail Gregory! It's great to hear from you. Thanks for your letter of 19 AUG 08. The so-called "History" Channel is largely entertainment, especially when it comes to Hitler. Please let me know if it ever shows Stalin's invasion plans for all of Europe, which his fellow jew, Trotsky, had failed to do in the 1920s.

As a youth, I began to notice the contradictions in all the defamations of Hitler: He was a crazy-sane, brave-coward; a cool, calculating fanatic; a woman-loving homosexual; an honest liar; a kinky straight; a jew-hating jew who collaborated with the Zionist founders of Israel, &c. Moreover, Hitler shot himself in his bunker in 1945, then escaped to Argentina, where his corpse is found about every 6 months by National Enquirer.

Of course, Hitler was no more wacky than the jew psycho-quack, Sigmund Freud, Einstein or Marx, according to their biographers. General Patton allegedly had an intimate relationship with his niece; as did Franklin D. Roosevelt, who married his cousin, if I recall correctly. Nothing about Hitler nor his family can be normal, if we are to believe the jew story-tellers. Since Hitler got elected as Chancellor of Germany in 1933, it is likewise alleged that all Germans were crazy, like Hitler. The only consistency in the accusations levelled at Hitler & his Germans is that they were not jews, since they stood up for German interests, rather than jewish interests. Since the jews were screwing the Germans during the Weimar Republic period, it would really be crazy for the Germans to identify themselves with their jewish oppressors, & I don't think the jews would accept them as jews. If we were to declare our love for the jew-banksters, I doubt that they would accept us as fellow jew-banksters. If we were to applaud robbers & burglars, would we expect them to share their loot with us? In other words, those who call Hitler & his Germans "crazy" seem crazy themselves.

I've known a few German-American Bundists. I understand that The Bund was to show solidarity with NS Germany. The Bund had quite a popular following in the USA, & they held a big meeting in Madison Square Garden in Jew Yawk Shitty, of all places. In my opinion, the Bund's identification with Germany left the way open for the jews to identify their interests with those of the USA. This was a major blunder on the part of The Bund, for the U.S. Goyim identified jewish interests with U.S. interests in the coming war. To non-Germans, The Bund represented German imperialism in the USA, whereas jews wrapped themselves in the Stars & Stripes & proclaimed themselves as 'true Americans.' The Germans in the USA should have shown the Goyim that German interests were the same as U.S. interests. They should have shown how jewish interests were anti-American. Since one out of 3 U.S. Whites is of German descent, they should have called themselves American Patriots, rather than German-American Bundists. I see similar blunders occurring in the American blighting today.

The 'show-biz' feature in regard to defending U.S. borders appears to be scripted by The 3 Stooges. Our Zionist Occupation Government wants its North American Union of Canada, USA & Mexico, as well as Central America, so the "border fence" issue may be irrelevant by the time the fence is completed. Under The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), economic union has largely been achieved. All that remains to do is to declare political union. The U.S. government, that is, the U.S. tax-payers, fund two Mexican imperialist organizations: La Raza Unida (The United Race) & La MEChA (Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan or Mexican Student Movement of Aztlan, their name for the lost territories in the USA). La Raza Unida is recognized by both Democrats & Republicans. Bush II & Al Gore spoke to Raza meetings when they ran for the previous presidential election. La Raza is a real Nazi party, whose motto is: "For the race, everything; outside the race, nothing." But these Nazis are "kosher." "Mecha" means "fuse" in Spanish, as in "bomb."

Satanist Aleister Crowley was awarded the highest degree of Freemasonry: the 33°, as was Franklin Roosevelt. High mucky-muck Freemason Albert Pike was also a Satanist who was instrumental in building the Washington Monument, a great phallic symbol of Egyptian sex magic, along with the Ku Klux Klan, which kept the Blacks close, "but in their place," as the jew-banksters wished. I understand that Lincoln wanted to repatriate the Blacks to Liberia or anywhere else in Africa, after they had been emancipated, but the jew, Booth, had another idea.

Thanks for your compliments on my writings. In regard to The Third Reich, I agree with Friedrich Kurreck, whose speech I translated & hereby enclose. Unfortunately, religions are often rackets for the power & profits of their 'prophets.' Jefferson concluded that a Christian must either be a fraud or a fool, so I may be excused for agreeing with him this time. All the best. Strength through Joy to you. DOWZ! ORION!
