

Hail Michael! Many thanks for your latest effort. Ulysses arrived & I always appreciate his company. There is only one, so it's hard to figure how it was sent to me thrice.

I note in your abstract that you omit the research done by Colin Renfrew, as reported in National Geographic, November 1977. Renfrew originally believed in the "eastern diffusion theory" that civilization went from SE to NW in Europe, but with carbon dating, corrected with the oldest living things, the bristlecone pines, he discovered that Aryan civilization began in the NW & proceeded into the SE, chronologically. That came as a surprise to me, to read that the Orkney Islands, home of my people, may have been the site of masonry contemporary with the building of the Egyptian pyramids, which are by no means the oldest European structures, since they were built after tombs in Europe.

In "The Makers of Civilization," Waddell states that the first Aryans were the Sumerians, who were forced out of Sumeria, & fled to India. Hence, your dates & sources are subject to conjecture, as well as scientific rebuttal.

DNA says who is Aryan & who is not, so it ill-behooves us to make claims based on myth, when the evidence exists in the here & now, with no need to reference jew-books. Besides, the hokum of British Israel was concocted by the Rothschilds as propaganda to split the Angles & Saxons of England (Angle-land) from their parent stock in Germany, prior to World War I, which dates the first British Israel propaganda I came across in Rhodesia, of all places. A righteous jew said: "God is Truth." As an Aryan, I certainly agree. Truth must always supersede dogma. Not only must we be Aryan, we must act Aryan.

As for the allegation that words attributed to the mythical Jesus were plagiarized from the historical Buddha, it seems that one should be able to locate the relevant sources with White Man's magic of the computer. I understand that this theory originated with certain Danish theologians who translated Buddhist texts from their original Sanskrit, which is the basis of Indo-Aryan languages, unlike Hebrew.

Would a god break his own rules, & thereby disrupt his or her plan for the Universe? If so, why? To be "all-knowing," a god must know the future. By interfering with Nature, the god would be altering his or her own plan for the future. As you say, there is no contradiction between a god's work & evolution. Who, but a jew-book, would demand that a god create present life-forms without reference to the past? Nor even with reference to the planet on which such life-forms as man live? This is why Savitri Devi wrote that all jew cults seek to oppose man to Nature. Hence, Judeo-Capitalism, Judeo-Communism & Judeo-Christianity, with its dissonant incorporation of the Old Testament. Judeo-Islam is no different, since all have Semitic, that is, Arab origins. I spoke with a young Jesuit priest when I was in university. We agreed that "all things must have a cause." He touted his dogma: "You see, God is the first Cause!" I said, "No. You have thus denied your major premise. If all things have their causes, then what caused God?" I left him in a state of shock & consternation, for when Truth collides with dogma, Truth wins. So it must be in regard to your dogma.

This reminds me of your evaluation of the strange female 'supporters' who want to establish intimate personal relationships without the possibility of consummation. It was a coed who introduced me to the young Jesuit, whom she fancied, for his looks, personality, &, as I suspect, because of his vow of celibacy. I noted such behavior in other females who used their seductive wiles to the utmost on such priests, but not upon me, who was more than willing to consummate their alleged desires! Campus queers also had their coteries of otherwise attractive females, who apparently wanted male companionship without sex, or maybe they labored to dissuade them from their queer 'vows.' In your case, I'm reminded of "Katja Lane!"

I knew a successful divorcee whose wife wanted to remake him in her image. As he reflected, she was attracted to him because of his alleged 'faults,' & if he had warped his personality to fit her stereotype, he'd have been unhappy, & she would have found him no longer attractive. When I last saw him, he was happily married to another divorcee, both of whom had learned from their mistakes: Wiser, but not sadder. The question asked by the jew, Freud, is "What does a woman WANT?" My father's credo was: "Tell them what they want to hear, & take what you want." Wise people I have known.

Yes, vested interests are known to thwart technological, social & racial progress. The USA is proof of that!

Re "White Supremacy:" The German national anthem, "Deutschland Uber Alles," or "Germany above All," was construed by Rothschild propagandists to mean that Germany must rule the world. The actual meaning was that Germans must always put German welfare above their own personal desires: Collective welfare before personal welfare.

Parts of the anthem are banned in present Zionist Occupied Germany. To my knowledge, the only country which has declared its intention of "conquering the world" is the USA, with "Novus Ordo Seclorum" on its Great Seal (New World Order). Naturally, if you want a new world order, you must conquer the world. Everyone we accuse of desiring world-conquest has made no such statement. Only we have! The USA was never a democracy, always a hypocrisy. I may be here to atone for the sins of my relatives, the Founding Felons, who labored for their Rothschild bosses, against Our Race, in the name of Yahweh & Lucifer.

A South African writer states that Whites must finally fight for their racial existence in North America, as they DID NOT in South Africa. I saw the beginnings of White collapse in Rhodesia, owing to Judeo-Freemasonic treason, plus Christinsanity. There I met my first "true-jew Israelites." They were useless, since they believed that Yahweh was going to make Rhodesia their "promised land." They showed me their basic books which bore the hallmark of "His Majesty's Printing Office:" Rothschild propaganda. In South Africa, the Boers thought they were the true-jew Israelites, with similar results.

As Savitri Devi wrote, other-worldly religions deter good people from doing good in this world. In the Aesop fable, a peasant's cart gets stuck in the mud. The peasant falls upon his knees & prays to Zeus for assistance. Zeus thunders: "Whip your horse. Put your shoulder to the wheel. Zeus helps those who help themselves!" Wishes must take the form of action.

Plato introduced to me the idea of 'substance.' He posited that substance was derived from ideal forms. If we were to remove all the qualities of a table, for example, that is, all its characteristics perceivable by our 5 senses: Size, shape, color, hardness, weight, &c., the "substance" of the table remains, he claims. This supernatural doctrine was adopted by Christ-eaters who claim that a priest's blessing "transubstantiates" bread & wine into the 'actual' body & blood of Christ alias Jew-King, for a virtual cannibal feast. Yuk! In the New Testament, Jesus is alleged to say that his disciples should make converts of "all nations," that is, non-Whites. The Mormons took this doctrine of transubstantiation to its logical & pernicious conclusion: Non-Whites could be 'converted' into Whites! By ignoring the 7th Commandment against adultery (race-mixing), Christ-eaters believe that all bipeds who are "Christians" are fit to f..k. Like it or not, we can't deny this is their practice.

In other words, the adultery between natural & 'supernatural' results in cognitive dissonance, exactly as it was intended by the preachers-for-profit & their jew paymasters. As one thinker stated, "We cannot know what is 'miraculous,' (i.e. supernatural) until we know all natural laws." At that point, Man would become God, for he would have to know all knowledge in The Universe! If Man is the measure of all things (he perceives), then such infinite knowledge is beyond us, for Man is a combination of his abilities & his limitations. Otherwise he is not Man, but something else. If pigs could fly, they'd be something else, as well.

Thus, comparative mythology is nothing more than a maze of anthropological casuistry, as befits Talmud scholars in a Judenschul. To be White, one must think White, not like an Israelite. Racial truth is biological fact, regardless of 'history', mythology & theology. Race is natural, as we understand that term, for it stems from the evolution of our fellow creatures on this planet, as far as our knowledge has taken us.

Naturally, I'm disgusted that you, of all people, would be banned from participating in a "pro-European" cultural event. I wonder who your zoggies will pick to represent the European heritage: A Black Muslim, perhaps? We can certainly say that "ZOG works in mysterious ways its blunders to perform."

But don't be discouraged, for "He only loses when he, himself, gives up," as my old comrade, Col. Rudel, used to say. I know you will not give up. Therefore, The Struggle itself is The Victory. Strength through Joy. DOWZ! ORION!
