

America's inventions in the field of technology are few in comparison to America's inventions of religion. Next to India, East Asia and the Middle East, America has produced a plethora of cults, sects and pseudo-philosophies, many of which are profitable to their founding 'prophets', for as the great American psychologist, P.T. Barnum, once said: "There is a sucker born every minute." And he made his fortune proving it! Or, as that great German-American man of letters, H.L. Mencken, noted: "No one ever lost any money by underestimating the intelligence of the American people." And every day, millions of Americans prove that statement by watching television.

This sad story of duplicity on the American continent is reflected in the sorry state of political awareness and development. The American's real problem is that he concerns himself so much with the getting and spending of money on needless gadgets that he has little time left over with which to think about important things which affect the future of his children and his race. Although the American thinks a lot about money, he knows next to nothing about the source of the money he earns and spends. Although the American bears the brunt of any decision made by fools and criminals in public office, he troubles himself little over political questions. The things which he is absolutely dependent upon for his very existence, like air and water, he takes for granted and does not worry about, although he should be very worried, for it is he who must pay the penalty in the end.

A great German statesman and philosopher once said: "A man must decide whether he will be a politician or a religious reformer." It is to the undecided people who call themselves "the true Jews" that this tract is directed.

The 'Identity' movement made its appearance most evident in North America during the First World War and in the years between the wars. Its American origins were mainly in the Mormon Church, a 'made in America' cult, whose missionaries tried to convince the American Indians that they were one of the 'Ten Lost Tribes of Israel'. The Mormons had a good reason for courting the Indians as allies against their fellow Whites: Because they were polygamists, they were outcasts from White society. They were persecuted or punished for their 'heresy' and so retaliated against their fellow White settlers by attacking and massacring wagon trains of Whites who were crossing the continent en route to California and Oregon. To conceal the authorship of these murders, the Mormons disguised themselves as Indians and were often accompanied by Indian war parties. And so, the 'Israel Identity' movement got off to a bloody start--quite fitting with its gruesome basis in the Old Testament, which is one of the most hateful and savage pieces of writing on the loose in Western Civilisation.

Few Americans know that the original name of the 'Identity' movement was "British Israel". It began in World War I as the outgrowth of an unholy alliance between British leaders who wanted America to come into the war against Germany and the Rothschilds who promised to bring America into the war if Britain agreed to give Palestine to the Jews. Palestine was then part of the Turkish Empire, so it is strange that the Jews were talking to the British instead of the Turks!

As we all know, World War I was a veritable thieves' market of stolen territories, and, although the British tried to wriggle out of their deal with Satan, they were forced to honor their bargain at last, and in 1948 Israel became a Jewish state. This necessitated the betrayal of Britain's World War I allies, the Arabs, but as Napoleon remarked: "Betrayal is the hallmark of British diplomacy."

It was thus during World War I that emissaries of "British Israel" wandered through the Bible Belt of North America, selling their brand of 'religion', much as their predecessors, the snake-oil charlatans, had done. One such Jew was the father of Herbert W. Armstrong, the leader of an 'Identity'-based church which has made millions of dollars from gullible Americans who believe that they are 'the true Jews'. 'British Israel' was an attempt by Rothschild Zionists and the British Government to convince Americans that the Germans were a race apart and that Americans and Englishmen were really Jews who were members of something called an 'Adamic Race'. There are still in existence some of these original texts about British Israel, printed in 'Great' Britain through official British Government channels. The British were indeed so desperate that they would embrace Satan himself in order to swindle America into the War.

The problem with the 'Identity' creed is that it flies in the face of known historical and biological facts--whatever the torturous interpretations of the Bible it gives as its basis. When British Israelites or Identity people talk about 'race', they are talking about a combination of history and geography in accordance with their own biblical interpretations.

Race is otherwise. Race is biological. A man does not change his race by moving from one place to another. A man does not change his race by adopting one religion or another. The Aryan who lives in Germany is of the same ancestry and blood as the Aryan who lives in Britain or America. The Teutons conquered the British Isles and peopled it with Celts, Angles, Saxons, Jutes, Swedes, Danes, Norwegians, Franks, Normans, et al.--all Teutonic tribes. At the very time the idiotic 'British Israel' lie was being dreamed up by Jews and race-traitor Englishmen (Anglemen), the British royal family were members of the House of Hannover--from Germany! Because they had come to live in England, these Germans were now deemed to be of a different race than their own blood relatives! Apparently, their crossing of the English Channel had altered something in their bloodstream. If the 'British Israel' argument were true, then Europeans who visited Africa would become Negros.

Because the 'Identity' people fight the right enemy (the Jews) for the wrong reason (we are the 'true Jews') they naturally fight the enemy in the wrong way. They largely ignore the White race-traitors, without whose active collaboration the Jews would be powerless. In the 1950's and 1960's they misjudged the timing and tactics necessary to steer American politics onto a new course. Instead of public demonstrations, public education programs and political candidacy, the 'Identity' people were drilling secretly in the desert! They isolated themselves from their potential supporters, but this secrecy and isolation did not protect them from enemy agents and spies. It only neutralised the members in terms of political relevance, for America's struggle is in the streets, not in the deserts.

The White Man's problem is not how best he can try to behave like a Jew, but how best he can behave like a White Man. The problem is not solved by interpretations of scripture, but in the struggle to survive as a race. ORION

Anthony Lane Hargis, Fires That Cry, 1996.

"Alice Miller, in her book, For Your Own Good, . . . comes to the conclusion that the things done to a child will be done by that child when he or she becomes an adult. . . If we are taught obedience as children, the weak among us will be obedient as adults and the strong among us will require it when adults. If we are done injustice as children, the weak among us will submit to it as adults while the strong among us will administer it when adults. If we are taught that our childhood opinions mean nothing, the weak among us will be incapable of complaining about wrongs done to them as children or adults and the strong among us, when adults, will not listen should anyone dare to complain of the wrongs done to them. If we are told as children that we are property of the king, the priesthood or the State, the weak among us will pliantly accept a status of cattle and the strong among us will demand it when adults" (pp. 34-35).

"If we can introduce traumas into their lives on a weekly basis -- not only can we hobble them [children], but -- we can lead them into self-destructive behavior. If they can be led into situations that produce nothing but frustration -- if, for example, they can be burdened with children that never should have been born, they won't have a chance. They'll never have a clue as to why their every step leads to disaster -- why their lives amount to failed experiments" (Ibid., p.98).
