

An Aryan Overview of Religion, in Theory & Practice by E. Thomson

The Word in Writing: Major religions have their 'holy books' which their alleged adherents cite in justification or condemnation of certain practices. It is revealing that NO religious leader or promoter is content merely to hand out copies of his religious 'holy book', even if the words are alleged to be from his respective god or gods (including goddesses). Buddhists have their 'holy scriptures', although Buddha is not a god, so their priests also cite such texts as bases for their lessons. As lawyers know, written words are always subject to interpretations. In Europe, lawyers (often pronounced "liars") were derived from priests, monks & other clergy. In Dark Age (Age of Filth & Faith) England, if an accused could claim to read from a sacred text, his status would be elevated from 'common criminal' to 'a member of the clergy', which included certain privileges in courts of law, in those times. Hence, crooks would learn the words to the usual passage by rote & pretend to read the words, which they had really memorized, since they could not read at all! This trick usually worked in courts, since courtroom personnel were most often illiterate themselves! Many of them also pretended to read, so it was an example of "The Emperor's New Clothes" in daily practice: a conspiracy of hypocrisy. Writing & the ability to read it have been considered signs of great status. In China, if an illiterate peasant found a scrap of paper upon which anything resembling writing appeared, he was ordered, under pain of death, to hand that piece of paper to his local Mandarin (who could read!) for study & evaluation. I read that villages had their 'postal box' for depositing such pieces of paper, for subsequent collection by the Mandarins' minions.

Such societies often had a social hierarchy based on writing ability. China's would be, from bottom up, peasants, postmen & Mandarins. Israel's would be scribes, pharisees & hypocrites; England's would be toilers, liars & friars, &c. Written words themselves had magical & religious significance, as did numbers & symbols. Thus it is that "clerical" refers equally to writing & to religious promotion, as "clerk" relates to "cleric."

Much was achieved, mainly for mischief, when a "god's word" was put into writing! It opened a Pandora's Box full of possibilities for pernicious prose, errors of omission, errors of commission, mistranslations & misspellings. Most readers have heard of the printer's error of spelling "coronel" as "colonel" in English. Instead of the printer spanking his devil, the word was multiplied so much that the error became the "correct" spelling in English! I understand that similar errors of text occurred in "incanabula," which I was told meant texts inscribed in books before the invention of printing. It is possible that monkeries copied 'sacred' texts by means of monks who were good at drawing the letters, but who may not have been able to read the texts which they were supposed to copy. Fortunately, we do not seem to be currently inundated by incanabula requiring proofreading, as we are by printed texts! Thus it is, that the more something is written, the greater the chance for intentional & accidental errors. Imagine an infinite number of monkeys with an infinite number of typewriters!

It is no wonder that the Catholic Church forbade translations of its 'holy book', for when it finally did become available to 'unapproved' readers, it sparked all sorts of heresies, schisms & bloody 'holy wars'. Even when the words of a text are the same, two readers may derive two opposing interpretations of what they have read. A hundred readers may derive 100 different meanings, or more, depending on their understanding of the words, & to which words they give emphasis. Religious texts are like the proverbial wife of Caesar: "all things to all men." Words take on meaning from the reader or listener. Recently, a crowd of Mexicans confronted a crowd of Gringos in Texas. As I heard, both groups were shouting, "Remember the Alamo!" at one another. For Gringos, the words mean fighting Mexicans. For Mexicans, the words mean, "Kill Gringos!" Meaning resides in the mind of the beholder.

The Spoken Word: Religions evolve or devolve when speakers voice their interpretations of the written texts, & of texts written to 'interpret' the original texts. It has been noted that Australia^w was where the British sent their common criminals, & America was where they sent their religious nuts. If one drops a bible in America, someone will likely pick it up & start a new church, based on the first page he reads. The Black Muslims have done this with the words of The Koran, which they interpret to please themselves, just as Black "Israelites" consider themselves to be the "true jews"! One local Black preacher assured me that King Solomon had kinky hair, revealing his Black heritage, as he read in HIS bible. At last count, I know of several versions of "The Bible": King James the Pervert; The Catholic Douay version, The New Revised Standard version, funded by kosher-commie-capitalist bankster, Jakob Schiff;

2) & a "Scofield Bible", which is apparently the basis for another definition of "Israelite." Then we should be aware of "The Geneva Bible", & bibles translated into other languages, &c. Although "The Bible" of whatever version is allegedly the basis for the Christians' religions, it includes the Old Testament, which is anything but Christian! This is like combining Yahweh & Satan into a single deity. The Mormons, pronounced "Morons", have composed their very own book, allegedly from an "angel" fittingly named "Moroni." Once again, we see the connection between religious leaders or conspirators & their written texts. This modern pattern identifies how bibles & other 'holy books' begin: The human founders of a religion impose their interpretation in the beginning, & those words become interpreted & perverted by other religious leaders, who compose their own texts, for later interpretation; so on & so forth. The written doctrines of a religion may be likened to the words of a song, & the promoters of the doctrine are the 'singers' of their 'song': emphasizing some of the lyrics & muting the rest, according to ^{their} purposes. In religion, the power of the singer is essential to the power of his words. A written text is just as useless, unspoken, as it is on a shelf, unread. One wonders how the Protestant Reformation would have fared had it appeared in pamphlet form, without Martin Luther. The rebellion against the Catholic Church most likely would have been buried, if it had only appeared in writing, without the able rabble-rousers who spoke in its name, & who stirred others to fight. The Catholics also had their 'singers', who persuaded their believers to fight. If no 'singers' had existed, Luther's written theses could have been burnt as trash, or the Pope's indulgences could have fuelled a 'Bonfire of the Vanities,' & a Thirty Years' War avoided! Luther did not write a new bible, but relied on the translation printed by Gutenberg for his song. The Gutenberg Bible was Luther's lyrics & the totem of his perceived legitimacy as 'singer' or religious leader.

The power of the singers is at least on par with their purported lyrics or doctrines which are supposedly derived from their 'immutable holy books', as history proves from the U.S. Civil War. Abolitionists who purported to be Christians denounced slavery as "unChristian", but nowhere have I read anything in The New Testament, nor the Old, which denounces slavery. On the contrary, Jesus' alleged advice to slaves is to serve their masters loyally. Dr. Oliver reported the discovery in Sardinia of a slave collar which was inscribed that the slave who wore it was the property of the so very Christian Archbishop of Sardinia. Dr. Oliver also concluded that "the good Christianity brought to Europe was not new, & the new was not good." He added that such crimes as theft were wrong amongst Whites, simply because they were wrong; not because some ancient Hebrew scribe wrote down that they were 'wrong' in a 'holy book'. Nietzsche applauded the inclusion of the jew-book in European culture, because it made Europeans exercise their minds in order to interpret around what was ostensibly forbidden. In other words, it made Whites into 'lawyers', much like jews! When Greeks were Aryans, in ancient times, they denounced such use of words as "sophistry", i.e. immoral abuse of language, as when the letter of the law is misused to defeat the spirit of the law, much as Jesus was said to rebuke the Pharisees for the same thing.

It seems fair to say that excessive reliance on written & spoken words, as opposed to action & experience, leads one toward hypocrisy, in which one can use words to excuse any crime of commission or omission. When one's god is derived entirely from words purveyed in texts written by men & meanings interpreted by other men, such gods become "all things to all men," & thus, as fallible as men are, themselves.

A god's purpose is to serve men who need his wisdom. Men can offer nothing to a being endowed, by definition, with everything! As the French say: "Noblesse oblige": that the higher one's rank, the greater his obligations. If we consider how finite men's gods are, much as we are, as tiny parts of The Universe, we may have the way in which the Gordian Knot of man's religious verbiage may be severed, so that men may dream better dreams in order to achieve higher planes of religion & therefore of existence, as our destiny demands. It is our privilege & our duty to achieve ORION!

3) viks kicked Kerensky out & a civil war erupted between the "Reds" & the "Whites" of the former Russian Empire. Naturally, the jew banksters supported the Reds, financially & politically. Kerensky was allowed to retire in California, where he lectured at my college in 1956, just as the last Communist leader of Red Russia, Gorbachev, retired & lives in the Presidio of San Francisco, as I last heard. He probably gives lectures, too!

(3) The Cold War was a matter of convenience to the banksters who controlled the monster of East & West: the USSR*USA. The USA was the source of the USSR's funds & food. The only 'hot' part of the war was the war which the ZOG of the East & the ZOG of the West waged against their own peoples. As usual, 'our' government lied to us about a "Communist giant" composed of Red Russia & Red China, but these two powers were rivals, in reality. The Chinese wanted parts of Russia which the Tsars had taken from China, when China was weak, & there were border skirmishes between Chinese & Soviet forces, as I wrote in a little book entitled "China, the jews & World War III (Secret Soviet Border Wars)". The USA had made sure China would go Communist in 1949, when we dumped Chiang Kai Shek's ammo in the ocean. That's why his forces had to flee to Taiwan that year. The U.S. presence in Vietnam was (1) To gain access to the heroin trade in the Golden Triangle of Laos, next to Vietnam & (2) To open a second front against Red China! The USA-USSR were supposed to fight China in a World War III! Hebrew propaganda advertised such a "desirable," that is, kosher idea, in such films as "The Kremlin Letter," "55 Days in Peking," & one film starring Gregory Peck, who enters Red China to steal an invention, & flees to safety in the hands of "our gallant Soviet allies." I never learned the name of that film. The jews' fallback position, following NATO's rejection of World War III, on behalf of the USA*USSR was to unify Vietnam under the northern Soviet client state, which we did by dumping the South Vietnamese ammo into the ocean! The proof of my thesis was that Vietnam unified under the Red regime of Hanoi, at which time CHINA ATTACKED VIETNAM! The Chinese message was, "Don't get smart with us, or we'll flatten you, like a noodle!" Then the Vietnamese & Chinese got into a "proxy war" in Cambodia, where one side, the Khmer Rouge, was supported by China & the other side by the Vietnamese, years after the U.S. pullout. As I recall, it was just toward the end of the Vietnam War that Nixon made his surprise visit to Red China. As always, the USA betrays its allies. We are truly a flip-flop RICO outfit! For decades, we had been supporting an Asian alliance against Red China, but all of a sudden, we recognize Red China! The Japanese, South Koreans, Taiwanese, Philipinos, et al. were unpleasantly surprised, to say the least. I wrote that book during the Vietnam War, shortly before the USA dumped the South Vietnamese ammo in the ocean. I don't have any copies, & I don't know if anyone still sells them, but now it's 'ancient history.' It was published by Liberty Bell Publications of West Virginia, but they are out of business.

The invasion of Iraq has been as disastrous as I foresaw, when I corresponded via a friend who ran my original website, www.FAEM.com. The third party to this 3-way correspondence was supposedly a Pentagonian zogling who wrote how easy it would be for the U.S. to invade Afghanistan & Iraq. I replied that the invasion would be easy, but the occupation would be deadly. As usual, I hate to be right! I said: "When you occupy, you will begin to die, & you will continue to die until you become smart enough to get the hell out." One correspondent asked me to sum up the history of all Afghanistan's invaders, over the centuries. I summed up by saying: "They came. They saw & they conked out." We can stay there, as long as we are willing to die a little, every day. There's lots of heroin there, since we switched sides & fought the Taliban. Aren't we nice?

There is only one question to ask about such things as Oklahoma City & 9-11: "Cui bono?" Who benefitted from the deeds? Israel has a history of attacking U.S. LIBRARIES (the Lavon Affair), U.S. ships (the USS Liberty & likely, the USS Cole), so it is logical that Israel & U.S. jews would support the spectacular attacks on The Trade Towers, et al. It was Benjamin Netanyahu who said on the radio that 9-11 "was very good for Israel," before he thought to mention how "sad" he was for the USA. Oklahoma City helped distract the dumb Goyim from the ZOG's Waco Massacre, so that incident also helped the ZOG. None of the targets were strategic, but mainly symbolic. The Red revolutionary, Che Guevara, wrote that a Coca Cola bottling plant does not have the same strategic (revolutionary) value as a power plant, so the destruction of a non-strategic target is usually the sign of a government action, not an anti-government action.

I correspond by snail-mail, but many of my correspondents have access to computers. I rely on them to supply me with good downloads, which they do. Others put my writings on

4) the Internet. I think I have two: FAEM & VNN, so far. Since barely 1 out of 20 Goyim have any leadership potential, as confirmed by Chinese studies of U.S. P.O.W.s during the Korean War, it's not the number of my readers, but the quality thereof, which counts. The Zionist enemy is likely my most devoted readers, if I may flatter myself.

All the best, as always. DOWZ! (Down With ZOG!) & ORION! (Our Race Is Our Nation!) Elit

THE VAMPIRE ECONOMY: THE JEW WORLD ORDER'S 'GLOBALIZATION' RACKET by E. Thomson

Newhall, California, is a long way from Transylvania, but at least one member of the vampire tribe passed through the small town when I was a school kid. Little did I know that I was witness to economic vampirism on a small scale. A wandering jew came to town and took over the town's waterwell drilling company with a leveraged purchase of controlling interest. This takeover meant acquiring 51% of the company's shares on borrowed money. The jew grabbed the liquid assets and sold the company's real estate and equipment, then departed, leaving the town without an essential service. Had 'privatization' been in effect, he could have done the same to the fire department!

Bigger vampires like Milken, Boesky and Soros used similar methods to loot pension funds and destroy jobs, whenever they sank their fangs into a company. Their appetites were such that they adversely affected national economies. Soros is blamed for precipitating the Asian economic crisis by his gigantic transfer of wealth, some of which fell into the hands of his sheenie bandit tribe in Russia, alias, "the Russian (sic) Mafia".

The massive diversion of money from the productive sectors of the economy, into the speculative, parasitic sector, alias the stock market is reflected in the rise of share prices and the concurrent rise in unemployment. In short, what's good for the jews is bad for the Goyim. We should be neither surprised nor ignorant of this constant fact of life.

"Free trade" is a much touted mantra of the Jew World Order. In Argentina, such free trade policies led to the demise of domestic manufacturing. Some factories were converted into shopping malls. Productive jobs in the primary and secondary economic sectors diminished. Store clerks did not earn as much as factory workers and Argentina began to use the equivalent of IOUs to acquire foreign goods for its largely mercantile, consumer economy. No country can live off the tertiary or service sector alone, as U.S. bipeds will soon discover. Argentines are suffering the dire consequences of abandoning a diversified economy, which can manufacture its necessities and exports from its own raw materials. The first two sectors of a country's economy are the locomotives which pull the third or service sector along. Without one or both of them, the service sector coasts to a halt. The U.S.A. is going the way of Argentina.

Leveraged buyouts, mergers and takeovers of essential and productive enterprises usually result in the reduction of jobs and output, on behalf of boosting share prices in the short run, through the sale of 'surplus' assets and the 'savings' from reduced salaries. It is the economic equivalent of arson-for-profit, the profit of a few vampires and the loss to the productive many. The victims are the former employees and the public at large.

Deregulation is deemed magical, for like magic, the barriers are torn down so the vampires can swarm in, to perpetrate the very abuses which brought about regulation in the first place! If the parasites have their way, there will be nothing left to regulate.

Privatization allows the vampires to deal with former government agencies as they deal with their non-government victims, with the additional benefit that government becomes their servant, as they bleed the country's economy dry.

Globalization is vampirism on a global scale. Its major characteristics are the export of jobs and the importation of the jobless from other countries. This policy is imposed by World ZOG's guns and usury, with increased oppression for all us non-vampires. Our lives depend on the speedy demise of the ZOG, so let's get those wooden stakes good and sharp. ORION!
