Police raid homes across Germany

COMMENTARY

HOLO-SKEPTICISM

Since French professor Paul Rassinier first called into question* what was later to be consecrated as "The Holocaust"*, the whole issue of Jewish casualties during the Second World War has come under closer scrutiny by a growing number of scholars and investigators.

Among these has been Northwestern University Prof. Arthur Butz, whose The Hoax of the 20th Century has become a revisionist classic; the French documentary analyst, Prof. Robert Faurisson; forensic investigators Fred Leuchter and Germar Rudolf, both having produced definitive reports discrediting allegation of mass gassings; and the late and widely respected Hamburg jurist, Dr. Wilhelm Stäglich, whose conscientious procedural integrity remains a juridical model.

The Holocaust myth has been examined from every conceivable angle: from the standpoint of German government policy, logistics, demographics, technology, forensics, witness credibility, and the statements and admissions of Jews themselves, as well as that of self-serving postwar motivation.

The universal conclusion is that European Jews, as active participants in the war, both as instigators and combatants as well as enemy aliens, did indeed suffer casualties as a result of wartime hostilities—not to mention natural causes—during the period, 1939-1945.

Thousands of CDs, books seized as regime targets dissidents

Early on the morning of March 3, 2009, German police launched a coordinated series of raids throughout the Bundesrepublik, targeting National Socialists and militant nationalists. Specifically, the authorities were interested in compact discs, books and other publications containing forbidden words and music, both historical and contemporary.

Movement sources within Germany report that more than 400 homes were raided. The police announced that 204 suspects were seized, and that 45,000 CDs, 170 computers, and 70 weapons were confiscated. The number of books and other written materials seized was not disclosed.

The mass media portrayed these raids as a new escalation of the government's response to the growing threat of "neo-Nazism." In a statement Siegfried Mahler, Stuttgart's chief prosecutor, said right-wing extremists were using the material to attract interest and support for their ideas with "xenophobic, anti-Semitic and anti-democratic" words.

In reality, the Stasi-like* raids are part of an ongoing effort to stifle the resurgence of National Socialism throughout the German Reich. Among those singled out for governmental persecution are the National Democratic Party and the Patriotic German Youth (Heimatreue deutsche Jugend, or HDJH). But the attacks on legal political parties and young people's formations are only part of a broader effort to crush dissent.

The German government has also waged a relentless war on anyone who publicly challenges the official, Judeophilic, anti-Hitler version of the Second World War.

* the former Communist secret police of East Germany

In particular, those who have exposed the falsity of Jewish allegations concerning the so-called "Holocaust" have been subjected to persecution by the Bundesrepublik, which takes its instructions from the Central Council of Jews. (Despite the miniscule number of Jews in Germany, the Council is so powerful that it has been described by some as the de facto government.)

No one who dares to question the lie that Jews were executed in gas chambers in Auschwitz is safe from the heavy hand of the German judiciary: not academic scholars, not historical researchers, not engineers—not even the lawyers who defend them in court!—are exempt.

Currently in jail:

Wolfgang Fröhlich (Germany)
Gerd Honsik (Austria)
Horst Mahler (Germany)
Sylvia Stolz (Germany)

In legal jeopardy:

Robert Faurisson (France)
Jürgen Graf (Switzerland)
Vincent Reynouard (Belgium)

But it is not only in Germany and Europe where Holocaust dissidents face arrest and imprisonment. In far-off Australia, Dr. Fredrick Töben has been a key target of an anti-revisionist campaign since his appearance at the 2006 World Revisionist Conference in Tehran. The Iran conference was an historic occasion: it was the first time that the government of a sovereign state sponsored such an event.

IN MEMORIAM

John Colin Campbell Jordan

The Central Office of the New Order was saddened to learn of the death of Colin Jordan on April 9. Comrade Jordan died of a massive heart attack. He was 85.

CJ, as he was known, is best remembered as the leader of Britain's fighting National Socialist Movement (NSM) of the 1960s, and as a co-founder, with Lincoln Rockwell, of the World Union of National Socialists in 1962. He was also an influential author for the Movement, with such works as Merrie England 2000, a fictional account of the future as projected by current trends in political correctness.

A full retrospective on Colin Jordan and his life will appear in the next issue of the NS Bulletin.

We join with National Socialist comrades in Great Britain and throughout the world in mourning the passing of this great man.

THE HOLOCAUST® AND THE BATTLE FOR TRUTH

by Bernhard Schaub

Although the plight of some historical revisionists has improved, it is important to understand why harassment aimed at those who dare to question the Holocaust® becomes ever more legally entrenched.

The following address was made by BERNHARD SCHAUB, a Swiss revisionist and First Chairman of the Association for the Rehabilitation of Those Persecuted for Disputing the Holocaust® (VRBHV), at the Holocaust Revisionist Conference in Tehran, Iran, in December 2006.

Highly Honored Host, Most Honored Attendees:

...We recall the year 1943, when Tehran was compelled to be the conference site for Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, that is, for the representatives of those powers which brought about the suppression of national freedom and independence, namely, the powers of Anglo-American capitalism and Soviet bolshevism—both inspired by world Zionism.

It is all the more significant that the present truth-loving and God-fearing Iranian government is now trying to shed light into the thicket of horror propaganda, which was cast over a disarmed Germany and which, at the same time, emerged as the moral basis for the expulsion of the Palestinians from their homeland and the establishment of the state of Israel, with all its consequences.

I would also like to add a few short comments to these introductory remarks, however, in order to pay tribute to the spiritual link between Persian and German culture.

One of the most significant musical-poetic creations of the German spirit, Richard Wagner's Grail drama Parsifal, owes its name to the Persian term for "pure fools"—the innocent. The philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche spoke through the mouth of the Persian wise man Zarathustra. And inspired by the medieval Persian poet Hafiz, Goethe composed an entire volume under the title East-West Divan. Allow me to quote two stanzas from it, which could stand as the watchword for our conference, as they give expression to the divinity of right and truth:

God's is the East!
God's is the West!
Northern and Southern land
Rests peacefully in His hand.

He, the singularly righteous,
Wishes justice for everyone.
With His hundred names,
May this One be extolled.

Honored guests, you all know that we are involved in a mighty political confrontation, which at the same time is a spiritual struggle of historic and global proportions. It is a struggle between truth and the lie.

In every culture and religion, truth is one of the highest values. The search for truth is a top priority in religion and science, just as it is in a court of law. Those who would prevent the search for truth and burn truth-seekers at the stake have something to hide; they have a bad conscience. And you can be sure, my esteemed ladies and gentlemen, that the Western democracies have a bad conscience and that they have something to hide. If they really were the "governments of the people," as they pretend to be, they would not be afraid of revisionist research. The truth doesn't hurt anyone—except liars.

And that is why, this fact alone—that in the West, revisionists are condemned to character assassination via the media, ruined economically, and finally thrown into prison—is an indication that something does not add up with the "gas chambers" and the number of victims. If the exponents of the Holocaust® theory had better arguments on their side, they would welcome public discussion, confident that they would prevail.

Instead, the Western ruling classes, in coordination with the media, and the educational, political and legal systems, have made the subject of the Holocaust® totally taboo, have removed it from any controversial discussion, and have made belief in the Holocaust® a kind of compulsory European-American religion.

The "Auschwitz club" serves to intimidate or beat down anyone who simply reveals the intrigues and power plays of Jewish high finance and its accomplices, as for example, when one asks why Benjamin Shalom Bernanke, successor to the Jew Greenspan as head of the US Federal Reserve Bank, happens to be another Jew. Whoever even dares, however, to submit the current historical picture of the Second World War and German concentration camps to revision and who poses unaccustomed questions (that is the real meaning of the word "revisionism"!), such a person is greeted by the media with the worst title that can be conferred: "Holocaust® denier." That is why this idea is considered defamatory and mean, because not only does it dispute the so-called Holocaust®, but it suggests a challenge to better knowledge. Intentional lying is imputed to revisionist investigators when they question alleged gas-chamber killings.

At the same time, however, it is made impossible for the public to gain a general idea of the basis for their arguments, since the press, radio and television beat the drum for the Holocaust® and since bookdealers avoid revisionist works out of fear of the media and the law. The scholarly presentations and conclusions of revisionists are deliberately ignored or passed over in silence by institutional academia, while the media hasten to warn against these alleged "pseudoscientific concoctions."

Mevr. Florentine Sophie ROST van TONNINGEN-HEUBEL

14 November 1914 — 24 March 2007

by Matt Koehl

It was early September 1989. As we sat at a picnic table beside the Milwaukee River at the former campsite of the German-American Volksbund outside the town of Grafton, Mrs. Rost van Tonningen related the story of her life.

We had just come from the nearby USS Liberty Memorial Library in that small Wisconsin town, which she wanted to visit to pay tribute to the servicemen killed and wounded in the dastardly 1967 Israeli attack on the American vessel. Earlier this remarkable woman had spoken before a gathering at the NEW ORDER's Nordland site.

"Vrouw" Rost van Tonningen was born Florentine Sophie Heubel in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1914, shortly after the outbreak of World War I, the third of four siblings. Her father, who was of German-Dutch parentage, was called to serve as an officer in the German army. Her mother, of Dutch-Frisian stock, was an artistically inclined housewife, devoted to her children and husband.

Despite the war and the absence of her father, young Florrie—as she was called—had a happy early childhood, playing with the swans, geese, chickens and two German shepherd dogs, who were kept in the family garden. It was here that she developed a lifelong love of animals and the outdoor world.

After her father's return from the war, the family moved to the "Sunshine House" in Hilversum, an idyllic place, graced by art, music and many happy times with friends and relatives. Going to school, Florrie had good grades in German, but her favorite subjects were biology and drawing. Later she was sent to England and Lausanne, Switzerland, to perfect her English and French language skills.

In 1936 Florrie went to study marine and avian biology on Helgoland, the legendary island in the North Sea, where the famous ethologist, Prof. Konrad Lorenz, had set up his pioneering center for animal behavior research. This was followed by field study of wildlife in the Dutch East Indies (now Indonesia) in 1938.

While all this was going on, the young Miss Heubel had a chance to observe larger social and political events in Europe. Of particular interest was the rise of Hitler's party in Germany and a similar movement in the Netherlands, the NSB—Nationaal-Socialistische Beweging. Along with her brother Wim, Florrie became part of the movement's youth branch, the Jeugdstorm.

After returning to Holland from the Far East, Florrie became active in the work of the NSB, where she met her future husband, Dr. Meinoud Rost van Tonningen, former assistant to the general commissioner for the League of Nations in Vienna and leading figure in the NSB after Anton Mussert. In 1940 they were married.

During the war years, Dr. Rost van Tonningen served as president of the Bank of the Netherlands and unofficial advisor to Adolf Hitler on European economic development. At the end of 1944, he met with Hitler in Wassenaar on the Dutch coast to discuss the deteriorating military situation. While there, the Führer took the occasion to present Mrs. Rost van Tonningen with a special bouquet of white flowers.

In March 1945, with so much at stake, Dr. Rost van Tonningen left his position as bank president to serve at the front as a member of the Waffen-SS. Captured at the end of the war, he was brutally tortured and murdered while in Canadian custody. His remains were never turned over to his wife, and to this day the case remains under official seal.

Left with three small children, Florrie was not spared the cruel indignities and hardships of the defeated. But despite the most horrendous abuse and mistreatment, she managed to pull her life together again. Forming a small company, she set about manufacturing and marketing wind-powdered drying mills for home use. The operation was a great success, eventually employing several dozen people.

The last decades of Florrie's life were devoted single-mindedly to reviving the National Socialist cause. In a small periodic bulletin, De Levensboom (The Tree of Life), she published numerous articles in Dutch, German and English.

She also hosted comradeship gatherings regularly at her home in Velp, outside of Arnhem, as well as at her later residence in Waasmunster, Belgium. She provided the venue for several conferences of the World Union of National Socialists, including 1992, where the WUNS Convention was adopted, formalizing changes to the reorganized WUNS structure.

With the passing of Florentine Rost van Tonningen, there goes someone who stood close to many of the events and leading personalities of the 20th century, from heads of State, princes of the Church, scientists and artists, heroes and scoundrels, those who fought for a New Order and those who opposed it—from Prince Bernhard, Princess Juliana, Engelbert Dollfuss, Pope Pius XII, Konrad Lorenz, Willem Mengelberg, Winifred Wagner and Otto Skorzeny, to Anton Mussert, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, H.A. Rauter, Alfred Rosenberg, Joseph Goebbels, Rudolf Hess and Heinrich Himmler, not to mention the leading figure of the age, Adolf Hitler. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

WIR HATTEN EINE KAMERADIN

Centa Baur

Centa Baur, wife of Hitler's personal pilot Hans Baur, died January 8, 2007 at a senior home in Greifenberg near the Ammersee in Upper Bavaria. She was age 99.

Born Kreszantia Ursula Mörtl, Frau Baur was a good friend of NEW ORDER Commander Matt Koehl and a staunch supporter of the World Union of National Socialists, as well as a member of the select inner circle of the Führer's surviving associates.

Frau Baur was laid to rest in Munich's Westfriedhof beside her late husband, who died in 1993.

All of this shows us that the Western political system finds itself in a downright panic at the thought that the so-called Holocaust® could prove a fiction, and the American-European power structure is therefore defending itself tooth and nail against any open discussion.

Why?

Whoever discovers a lie must, sooner or later, ask about the liar and about his motives and intentions. If the gas chambers, and therefore the murder of millions in gas chambers, one day turns out to be a fabrication, then the question will inevitably arise: What sort of brain thought up such a perverse, bestial lie? And what kind of monsters have assured themselves the power, not only militarily to conquer an entire great people of culture—the Germans and their Reich—but to morally imprison it for all time to come.

The French author Roger Garaudy has, of course, already indicated one of the essential reasons for the Holocaust myth in his book Les mythes fondateur de la politique israélienne (The Founding Myths of Israeli Politics): the moral justification for the establishment of the Zionist state in Palestine.

That, however, is not all, and it is not even the most important. The key factor is the establishment of a unique victim status for the Jewish people, not only in a world-historical, but in a virtually religious dimension. This places the Jews in a position of moral unassailability. This people, so it is postulated, has—through its immeasurable suffering—attained to a godlike status, and thereby stands beyond all criticism and has the right to treat its opponents as it will.

And this even applies not only with regard to Israel and the Palestinians, but to the entire so-called world "community of Western values," that is, at least to Europe and North America, and therefore to the traditional Christian areas. Whoever criticizes the Jews is considered an anti-Semite.

And since the anti-Semitic National Socialists are said to have killed 6 million Jews in gas chambers, anti-Semitism is the worst thought-crime that one can commit.

It is not even necessary that the ordinary European or American be conscious of the prescribed train of thought. Through nonstop, 60-year brainwashing this conclusion is so internalized, it has become a reflex—almost an instinct—especially among those of higher academic education.

That's why belief in the Holocaust® can even be expanded into a Holocaust® religion, with everything that goes along with it: martyrs, cult worship sites, commemorative days, and lamentation rituals of all kinds. Even the Christian churches—to their shame, it must be said—have submitted to this new Zionist world religion.

But religion needs not only a god and his chosen people, but also a devil and his chosen people. Just as Yahweh and his Jews form the bright side, so Adolf Hitler and National Socialist Germany form the dark. It is drummed into today's Germans that they are the descendants of the devil of that time and must atone for the sins of their fathers for all eternity. And meanwhile, almost all of them believe it.

Evangelicals enraptured by idea of war

Now that Iraq and Afghanistan have been effectively crippled as opponents of Israel, the same champions of those misadventures seem to be following the same play-book with regard to Iran, trying to find an excuse for yet-another military intervention.

Well-known televangelists, such as Pat Robertson and John Hagee, have seized upon tensions in the Middle East as signs that the Battle of Armageddon and the biblical Rapture are imminent. With Iran seeking to develop a civilian nuclear-power source, visions of atomic explosions over Israel alarm them—while at the same time proving miraculously convenient and timely.

Gullible believers and potential recruits are indoctrinated to view coincidences or manipulated rhetoric as proof that the End Times are near, and to put their faith, money and, increasingly, their political might into the hands of these merchants of the Apocalypse.

Evangelical leaders have cultivated a growing symbiotic relationship with Israeli Jews, Jewish lobbyists, like-minded political figures and moneyed interests. What makes the collaboration especially volatile, however, is the fact that each group seeks to further its own cause at the ultimate expense of the other.

Evangelical proponents believe that fulfillment of the biblical Apocalypse requires that Jews remain alive until after Christian believers are safely transported through the air to meet Jesus in the sky, an expected event referred to as the Rapture. Those Christians who have died will have their bodies rematerialized and will ascend to join them. Following the Rapture, the majority of Jews are then fated for a fiery holocaust—presumably a real one this time! If Israel were to be obliterated prematurely, the doctrine of imminent Rapture propounded by Evangelical preachers would lose its urgency. That would not be good for the Evangelism business.

In order to ensure Jewish survival until prophecy is fulfilled, fundamentalist Christian leaders have gone into political overdrive. With the blessing of their Jewish mentors they preach unquestioning support for Israel through their sophisticated media networks. In addition, Evangelicals have formed aggressive lobbying groups to influence government policy in favor of Jewish interests. For example, last year well-known televangelist John Hagee founded the lobbying group "Christians United for Israel." For years, this powerful and influential figure has hosted "A Night to Honor Israel." As a speaker before the AIPAC (American Israel Public Affairs Committee), it is obvious whom this outfit is fronting for.

Earlier this year the even more insidious new "Congressional Christian Allies' Caucus" was formed to work with like-minded pro-Israel Christians right in the bosom of the American government. The CCAC was founded by Representatives Dave Weldon (R-FL) and Eliot Engel (D-NY). On February 14 the caucus met with the Israeli Knesset and representatives from AIPAC to discuss Israeli security. Foremost among the concerns enunciated by Israeli officials is the alleged threat Iran poses to the Jewish state.

The pattern that has been established is obvious. The priorities of the US government have become identical to Israel's. Those regimes which defy Jewish interests are toppled, and individuals who question the Jewish worldview will likewise be hounded. Even the most disconnected Americans will not have failed to notice the upsurge in anti-Iranian propaganda, pointing to Iran as next on the chopping block. What they need to know is why.

Christian kids celebrate Jewish hate date

The most important hate date on the Jewish calendar is Purim, the kabbalistic celebration of the slaughter of tens of thousands of Persians who opposed Hebrew rule some 2,500 years ago. Now the self-chosen ones have enlisted the support of sychophantic Christians in their demonic ritual, by preying upon the innocence of children in an insidious attempt to create a new climate of hate against Iran (formerly Persia) in preparation for war against that country.

Michael D. Evans, the evangelical head of the Jerusalem Prayer Team, an Internet-based initiative to encourage Christian prayer for the Zionist entity, called on the "pure-hearted prayers" of six million Christian children worldwide to protect the Jewish people from the Iranian nuclear threat, in conjunction with Jewish observance of Purim [March 29].

Evans was inspired by a report in The Jerusalem Post about kabbalist Rabbi David Batzri's campaign to enlist 10,000 children to pray that God annul the alleged plans of Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad for the destruction of the Jewish people.

"After reading, I said to myself, 'Why stop at 10,000?'" Evans asked. "The number Six Million is a reminder to Christians that never again must we allow a Holocaust," he added. "And since the young suffer most in times of catastrophe, it is fitting that children should be the ones praying."

Rabbi Yitzhak Batzri, son of David, enthusiastically welcomed the initiative. "Hopefully, it will awaken the entire world to the Iranian threat," he said. "If the goyim have come to the realization that we are in danger, maybe the Jews in the Diaspora will finally wake up."

Vatican embraces Holocaust® as dogma

Following the opening of the Iranian conference on the Holocaust® in 2006, a press statement issued by the Vatican press office ratified the Holy See's position, expressed on March 16, 1998, with the document of the Commission for Religious Relations with the Jews, entitled "We Remember: A Reflection on the Shoah."

The Vatican press statement explained that "The 'Shoah' was an immense tragedy, before which it is not possible to remain indifferent." [Hence,] "the Church has a profound respect and a great compassion for the experience lived by the Jewish people during World War II," it elaborated.

"The memory of those terrible events must be a warning leveled at consciences to eliminate conflicts, respect the legitimate rights of all peoples and exhort to peace, in truth and in justice."

"This position," the statement concluded, "was affirmed by Pope John Paul II at the Yad Vashem Monument to Memory in Jerusalem, on March 23, 2000, and confirmed by His Holiness Benedict XVI during his visit to the Auschwitz extermination camp on May 28, 2006."

For a list of serious, factual, thought-provoking titles totally demolishing the Holocaust® see: www.nspublications.com

That is why it is so enormously difficult to have an objective discussion of the revisionist thesis in the German-speaking countries. And not only there: Zionist propaganda has raged throughout Europe and America and deeply anchored the new religion in people's hearts and minds.

Not only does criticism of the Jew (called "anti-Semitism") belong to the deadly sins of the Holocaust® religion, but also the healthy self-consciousness of a people (called "nationalism"), and the sound instinct for self-preservation of a people (called "racism" and "xenophobia").

With the support of this new faith and this new catalog of sins, world Zionism—of whom Israeli Zionists form but a small part—has been able to extend its power into the unforeseeable future. Its mightiest opponent, the German Reich, was crushed in two world wars, and now it strides toward its imagined sole domination. Systematically and step by step, culture, tradition and morals have been destroyed in Europe—even among those who, like the English and the French, consider themselves victors—until in the proud West almost nothing but a decadent rabble still remains.

But for all the self-satisfied cleverness of the Zionists, they have committed a huge and unforgivable error. They have built their empire upon a lie, upon the lie of six million gassed Jews.

And now they tremble before the truth. Not because they have any scruples—this kind of people lies without scruple—but because they fear those throughout the world who have been exploited and humiliated by them, should they one day discover the truth. Because not all Europeans have bowed down before their new masters and saluted Gessler's hat.*

In every country there are dauntless fighters for the truth, particularly revisionists. They are brought to court, they sit in prison, they are reduced to poverty—but they fight. Freedom heroes Arminius and William Tell are not dead. In the best men and women of all nations they live on.

For these fighters, we established on November 9, 2003—the anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall—the VRBHV (Verein zur Rehabilitierung der wegen Bestreitens des Holocaust verfolgt) = Association for the Rehabilitation of Those Persecuted for Disputing the Holocaust®, to which leading revisionist researchers and publicists from around the world belong.

The steering committee consists of Ursula Haverbeck, Arnold Höfs and myself.

Our lead lawyer is Horst Mahler, who himself has meanwhile been thrown into prison, accompanied by his colleague, attorney Sylvia Stolz. Even the reports of the Verfassungsschutz** and the establishment press confirm that we are the most important revisionist association in Germany.

Our fight is carried out on two levels: first in the courtroom, where the accused and their defenders try to breach the wall of legal opportunism and toadying to the system. I am reminded here of the two trials currently running against Ernst Zündel and Germar Rudolf*** in Mannheim. Secondly, however, we carry our arguments increasingly to the public. After we noted that for years our books and written material had been successfully killed with silence, that a scholarly discourse did not materialize, and that the judges—out of cowardice and refusal to listen to reason—pronounced ever more inquisitorial sentences, we opted for campaigns aimed at the broad public.

In Switzerland, in Westphalia, in Berlin, in Mannheim and, hopefully soon everywhere in the German-speaking countries, there are leaflet campaigns for the education of the citizens. I personally believe that in this way we can break up the enemy phalanx. When the man on the street begins to doubt the false myths, then there will be pressure against the media, the court and, finally, the politicians.

As a huge step we can see how the Swiss justice minister, Dr. Christoph Blocher, recently announced that he wanted to remove the offense of "genocide denial" from the penal code, and how a little later his party, the Swiss People's Party (SVP), decided to consider a popular referendum for the complete abolition of Article 261 of the penal code, the so-called "anti-racism law." This is an encouraging sign—even if it is only a statement of intent.

Let us never forget: A human being—if he is a human being at all—basically wants to know the truth. He loathes the lie. And upon that basis we can build, even if at first we encounter so many bad experiences.

But, of course, we need assistance. We need courageous fellow fighters, we need money, we need connections with influential persons, and we need every kind of direct and indirect support, even from abroad.

That is why we consider it a gift of God that the wise and courageous President of Iran—and along with him a great number of other Islamic political and religious dignitaries—have taken up the fight against the Holocaust® myth.

We European fighters for right and truth would like to call out to all of you here in the Islamic region: We have the same enemy! It is the corrupter of mankind, who—with the assistance of the American war elephant—wishes to subjugate the entire world under Jewish capital and destroy all independent peoples, cultures and religions, until all that remains is a faceless mass of spiritually inferior slave-workers toiling for Zion.

This must not be! We shall fight this enemy and his lies and free ourselves—so help us God!

*** Since released following a two-year sentence for thought crime.

But the number of those who died has been shown to be highly exaggerated and inflated, in no way bearing credible resemblance to the far higher casualties of other major participants in the war. It has been further shown that those deaths which did occur resulted primarily from disease and wartime shortages of food and medicines—as well as the well-deserved execution of Jewish Communist partisans for their terrorist crimes and atrocities!

There is, in fact, a body of evidence of encyclopedic proportion refuting the Jewish lies and allegations, and one could spend years reciting this evidence, evidence which the Jews choose to stigmatize as "Holocaust denial," but which is, in fact, nothing more than legitimate criticism and skepticism.

In the search for truth, however, one is not concerned with derogatory labels and name-calling but with verifiable facts and evidence, employing all the rigorous canons of the scientific method. And so it is now with a growing wave of Holo-skepticism, which was highlighted and given impetus by the 2006 Revisionist Conference hosted by Iran, that this greatest of historical myths is beginning to unravel.

Biological Impossibility

Nowhere is the Hoax more glaringly exposed than in published figures showing the Jewish population at around 15 million before the war in 1939 and up to 18 million in 1948—a truly prodigious feat of population growth, especially if we allow for an intervening loss of that iconic Six Million. One does not have to be a rocket scientist to realize the biological impossibility of 9 million Jews (15- minus 6-million) doubling their number in less than 10 years, even if each one had been administered a hefty dose of Viagra!

Then, there is the question of that mysterious ball-point pen, first introduced after the war, which somehow managed to write whole sections of the so-called "Diary of Anne Frank." But that's another story.

Perhaps the most telling indicator that we are dealing here with an elaborate hoax comes from the sacrosanct treatment of the kabbalistic figure of "Six Million" itself. Concocted in late 1944 by Ilya Ehrenburg, the hate-crazed, psychopathic Jew in charge of Soviet wartime propaganda, 4 million of this number were said to have been "gassed" at the Auschwitz detention facility. For years this was commonly accepted as gospel.

Then in 1983, French researcher George Wellers declared the number of those who died at the wartime campsite was only 1.5 million, a reduction of 2.5 million. In 1992 Dr. Franciszek Piper, director of historical research at the Auschwitz museum placed the number of deceased at only 1.1 million.

"Holocaust mathematics moves in strange and mysterious ways ..."

Other reductions followed: down to 1 million; then to 900,000; after which came 800,000; then 700,000; 600,000; 140,000; and finally (based on the more recently released Soviet death registers), 74,000 of all nationalities, including German personnel!

Yet despite these deductions, somehow, mysteriously—miraculously—the figure of "Six Million" has remained intact and constant! If one were to subtract any number from 6 million, one would expect it to be less. That is only simple arithmetic.

The 'Six Million' Constant

But Holocaust mathematics moves in strange and mysterious ways—and the Six Million doesn't move at all, but remains undiminished. For it is written, and the Chosen have spoken. Only an anti-Semite or inveterate Holocaust denier would say otherwise!

Yet some remain incorrigible and skeptical. And no World War II theme park or faith-based litany, no matter how often recited, can persuade them that a blatant hoax is actual history.

About those Racial Comments by Sotomayor

Speaking to a sympathetic audience in Berkeley, California, in 2001, Federal Judge Sonia Sotomayor confided:

“I would hope that a wise Latina woman with the richness of her experiences would more often than not reach a better conclusion than a White male who hasn’t lived that life.”

According to media reports, Sotomayor has made these and similar remarks on numerous occasions. Surprisingly, such blatant racism on the part of a federal judge did not attract any public attention at the time. Now, however, this self-described “wise Latina woman” has become President Barack Hussein Obama’s first Supreme Court appointee, and her past words and actions have received intense scrutiny – much to the embarrassment of the Obama regime.

Sotomayor’s defenders have come up with a number of lame excuses and dodges in an effort to explain away her anti-White racism. They say that she “misspoke” and made a “poor choice of words.” Had she said “different conclusion” rather than “better conclusion,” everything would be all right, they claim. Above all, they say that her words have been “taken out of context.”

The point about context is fair enough. We think that her words should be taken in context – but not only in the narrow context of her Berkeley speech, but also in the broader context of vicious anti-White comments made by other Hispanic leaders in recent years. We invite you to examine the remarks made on the reverse of this page under the heading “NO ANTI-WHITE HATE!” You will quickly discover that what Sotomayor has been saying fits in perfectly with a pattern of disgusting anti-White prejudice and bigotry displayed by other prominent Hispanic spokesmen and spokeswomanes.

If this is what they are willing to say about White people in public, one can only imagine what they are saying among themselves behind closed doors!

And beyond that, what does it tell us about Obama’s agenda, that he would appoint a known anti-White racist to the Supreme Court?

NO ANTI-WHITE HATE!

There is a word in Spanish for race. It is called "RAZA."

Mexican Chicanos use this term to describe themselves: "La Raza."
They also use it as an excuse for the crudest anti-White hate and racism.
Let us listen to some of these "Razistas":

"Go back to Boston! Go back to Plymouth Rock, Pilgrims! Get out! We are the future. You are old and tired. Go on. We have beaten you. Leave like beaten rats. You old White people. It is your duty to die. Through love of making babies, we are going to take over."
—Augustín Cebada, Brown Berets

"They're afraid we're going to take over the governmental institutions and other institutions. They're right. We will take them over. We are here to stay."
—Richard Alatorre, Los Angeles City Councilman

"We have an aging White America. They are not making babies. They are dying. The explosion is in our population ... I love it. They are shitting in their pants with fear. I love it!"
—Professor José Angel Gutierrez, University of Texas

"Remember 187—the proposition to deny taxpayer funds for services to non-citizens—was the last gasp of White America in California."
—Art Torres, Chairman of the California Democratic Party

"We are politicizing every single one of these new citizens that are becoming citizens of this country ... I gotta tell you that a lot of people are saying, 'I'm going to go out there and vote, because I want to pay them back.'"
—Gloria Molina, Los Angeles County Supervisor

"California is going to be a Hispanic state. Anyone who doesn't like it should leave." —Mario Obledo, California Coalition of Hispanic Organizations and California State Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under Governor Jerry Brown; also awarded "Presidential Medal of Freedom" by President Bill Clinton

"We are practicing 'La Reconquista' in California." —José Pescador Osuna, Mexican Consul General

"We need to avoid a White backlash by using codes understood by Latinos."
—Professor Fernando Guerra, Loyola Marymount University

"The American Southwest seems to be slowly returning to Mexico without firing a single shot."
—Excelsior, the national newspaper of Mexico

DID YOU KNOW that immigrants from Mexico and other non-European countries can come to this country and get preference in jobs, education and government contracts? It's called "Affirmative Action." or racial privilege. It immediately entitles these non-citizens to special rights denied Americans who happen to be of European descent. It is blatant, anti-White—RACISM!
