GLOBAL WARMING AND CLIMATE CHANGE

No one loves the environment more than I do. I go backpacking in Yosemite whenever I get the opportunity the hoax of the twentieth century was the gassed six million Yids. The hoax of the twenty first century is global warming and climate change. Maybe you have noticed that our communist Kiklemedia never gives the public a temperature number that they can confirm or refute at the several dozen whether stations in several countries that have been keeping weather records for more than 100 years. Earth has been cooling down for the last 100 years, all during the industrial revolution.

Earth has cooled down in the last 20 years. Earth has cooled down in the last 1,000 years!!! In fact if Earth cools off another two and three quarter degrees, we will be in a mini ice age. If earth cools off a total of five degrees, we will be in a major ice age, with 1000 feet of ice in New York City, Chicago and glaciers will push Seattle, Washington, out in Puget Sound! The warmer EARTH becomes the more life.

The cooler Earth becomes the less life. So why would the Kiklemedia and the Yiddlephiles who run government give us propaganda about the weather? The answer is fear. Fear is control and they must have all the control they can get! Greenland was once very green. The VIKINGS did farm Greenland 1,000 years ago. Now Greenland is our most important ice cap. The ice and snow on the polar caps is very dry.

GREENLAND contains more water than the Polar caps combined. The Greenland ice cap is 250 feet thicker since World War II. CO2 is now the big bugaboo word going around.

Without CO2 life is not possible on Earth. Remember that middle school or high school science class where the teacher told the students that all green living trees and plants must have CO2 to prosper and grow? The smog in our large cities is not good for people or animals to breathe but or farm crops and forests would all perish without CO2. Do you now see all of the fear propaganda being sent your way from all over the world? There is no life possible or earth without volcanoes. They spew forth millions of tons of sulfur dioxide, carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, or CO2. All deadly to humans but most important to plant life!

The world's largest volcanoes have spewed trillions of tons of trash into the atmosphere, CO2, far more than a man ever dreamed he could ever pollute. We do not have near the active or dormant volcanoes we once did. So a man actually needs to burn all the fossil fuels he can so that or plant life does not die.

In Oregon there's is Mt. Hood at over 11,000 feet, and in Washington STATE there is Mt. Adams at over 12,000 ft.. In the 1920s one could ride one horse to the top of either mountain in summer without encountering any snow. Now these two famous mountains are ice and snow bound year round! There is a silver mind in the French Alps that a glacier is trying to bury. There are those who are so bombarded that they will believe only the Climate change propaganda.

9-11-2001 WAS AN INSIDE JOB

I have in my possession two very, very professional documentaries on the take down of the WORLD TRADE CENTER. No Jews died that day in the buildings because they all called in sick. Talk about a conspiracy. But Jews are famous for conspiracies such as their rule of the Soviet Union from 1917 to 1987 and their murder of more than one hundred million Russians! One documentary is called, 9-11 ROAD TO TYRANNY: by Alex Jones of Austin, Texas. Both of these documentaries give you just the facts, do not delve into conspiracy theories the way I do. The other film is 9-11 in plane sight! By the Power Hour of Versailles, Missouri. These two docs are full length, About two hours each both on DVD. There is no copyright on either because they want us to copy them. I need $10.00 bucks a piece for them because I need to purchase a very expensive DVD copy machine.

One doc. Starts by showing you the crash site at the PENTAGON. The Kiklemedia told us that a 757 Boeing aircraft made that 16 foot hole in the side of the Pentagon. My old Lincoln is 17 feet long. A 757 is a huge aircraft with more than 100 foot wing span. At the PENTAGON crash site there was no 757 to be found. No plane body no human bodies no luggage no flight recorder black box no landing gear no engines. Some of these items always survive every plane crash. There was very little fire at the PENTAGON compared to the WORLD TRADE CENTER.

The second plane to hit the WORLD TRADE CENTER had no windows and had a pod on its belly. Why didn't the commie news networks show you the footage in slow motion?

There are two military air bases in northern New Jersey, one air force and one Navy. Those planes attacking the WORLD TRADE CENTER were 18 minutes apart and the second one could have been shot down. Fighter interceptors from North Jersey could have been in New York City in less than five minutes. The military was ordered to stand down that day. There is some footage in both docs see about the Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City.

Timothy McVeigh is still working for the FEDS. His execution was faked. His chest was seen moving up and down as he was removed from the execution chamber; he could not hold his breath long enough. Our wonderful government did all of the above to justify going to war with IRAQ, etc.. to have the idiots in Congress pass new very unconstitutional laws to take your freedom. No matter which Yiddlephile is elected in November, nothing will change. As long as there is oil in IRAQ OUR MILITARY WILL BE THERE. We're also there because Marxist, racist ISRAEL hates everyone and every country in the region. WHY should ISRAEL expend her young people when she can expend those of the USA and other countries? There is no question that the USA is a puppet and satellite of Marxist racist ISRAEL.

OUR ROTTEN YIDDISH ECONOMY

A lot worse than you are being told. I am looking for the worst major DEPRESSION in 1,000 years. This problem can be traced to the YIDS. The kiklebankers cause all of our modern wars and then the Kiklebankers went to get us out of the depression by getting us into a major war. Thomas Jefferson said he feared central bankers more than he feared standing armies. Benjamin Franklin wanted to ban Jews from the U.S.A. Franklin said JEWS would change our way of government and way of life to such a degree that our descendents will curse us. What a great founding father; that is all happening right now. THEY will not learn this from the KIKLEMEDIA but by word of mouth. Most of our serious problems can be traced to YIDS OR YIDDLEPHILES. The big problem is the KIKLEBANKERS loaning money with no intrinsic value at interest. The bank does not loan the interest which makes it impossible for all the borrowers to pay back the principal and the interest in this largest of all time PONZI schemes. When this disaster hits, there will be a great shortage of dollars causing a temporary rise in its value. At this time silver and gold should bottom at 50 cents to a dollar and gold at about 100 dollars to the ounce, at which time everyone should load up on their favorite metal.

The government will panic and monetize debt. This will send precious stones and all precious metals through the roof! Do not buy mining shares. The government may confiscate the mines to back a new currency. The average parcel of real estate will lose more than 90% of its value. Commodities and base metals will go back to the prices where they were in 1932. The Dow Jones will go to where it was in 1933, below 500 but not below 50! This depression will be as bad as the one that started in 1720 with the collapse of the London and Paris stock market crashes. John Law had his Mississippi land scheme and they had the South Sea Bubble just like here in the U.S.A. with our recent real estate bubble and stock market bubble, both looking for a pin. YOU ask why would gold go to $100 from where it is now? When the stock market crashes people will need money to pay their bills. Then you should ask what will make gold go up from the bottom? The monetization of debt. This will signal sophisticated investors, that the government is destroying the last two cents of the dollar! Are huge depressions unusual? Not at all. They have been happening for thousands of years! So do everything you can to get prepared!

When this depression gets rolling real good, with better than 30% unemployment and you live in or near a racially mixed neighborhood you had better be ready to permanently relocate fast. During the 1930s Blacks were very subdued. The Yids HAVE BEEN TELLING BLACKS for decades that they are equal but they in most cases cannot create equal and this is very frustrating to them. After the police, sheriff, highway patrol layoffs, Blacks will take out their frustrations on innocent Whites.

UK-U.S. RIFT OVER AFGHANISTAN WIDENS – AMERICA FURIOUS AT BRITAIN FOR SUGGESTING PLAN TO ARM AFGHAN WAR- LORDS TO FIGHT TALIBAN By Richard Walker

British and American generals are at loggerheads about how to defeat the Taliban in Afghanistan, and their disagreements mirror a fundamental flaw in the way military strategists in both camps define counterinsurgency. The first signs of discord began after May 2006, when the British were given the task of controlling Helmand Province. The central government of Afghan president, Hamid Karzai, had already shown it could not bring stability to the region and its security forces were regarded by locals as brutal, corrupt and ineffective. As a result, many people supported the Taliban or local warlords. Helmand mattered a lot to Karzai because he reckoned that eliminating the Taliban there would send a message to rest of the country that they could be defeated.

But Helmand also held a special significance for insurgents because some former Taliban leaders and a lot of its best, young fighters before and after 9-11 were from tribes in the area. Many senior Taliban figures fled to Helmand after the U.S. invasion, following on the heels of the defeat of Taliban leader Mullah Omar and his militias in their stronghold at Kandahar.

The British strategy to defeat the Taliban was based on a long history of fighting insurgencies in British "colonial emergencies" in the 20th century, in places as far away as Kenya, Aden and Cyprus. In more recent times, the British also gained considerable experience in anti-terrorism warfare, or what is often called counterinsurgency, by combating the Irish Republican Army for several decades. Those conflicts provide the British with a wealth of knowledge and important lessons on how to defeat insurgents. First, It is vital to win the hearts and minds of the local population. Second, local elements can be empowered to act as intelligence agents and can be trained and armed to counter the insurgents in their own communities. Any action by occupying power that alienates the local population is therefore counterproductive because it serves the aims of the insurgents. It can also provide the enemy with ready-made propaganda, or recruits, and possibly both. In 2006, the 6,000 strong British force quickly set about wooing the local population with promises of reconstruction.

British commanders opposed U.S. demands to destroy the poppy crop, which was the only source of revenue for many poor farmers. From a British perspective, it was a negative policy to destroy the crop before creating industry and jobs. The British also criticized the U.S. Military's use of heavy air power to support its small bands of Special Forces that operated throughout the country, especially in Helmand, British commanders felt massive air strikes were killing innocent civilians and making the task of winning over the locals much more difficult. For example, in one incident, 57 civilians were killed, many of them women and children.

In surprising move in August 2007, a British commander openly called for the removal of U.S. Special Forces from his region. He pointed out that because of insurgents they called in air power that killed civilians. While that debate pointed to a growing war of words about tactics, other issues quickly added to further tensions between generals. One was secret deals with the British negotiated with the Taliban. The deals were called "cease-fire arrangements" by some and "capitulation" by others. They required both sides to pull back from several population centers. But the biggest disagreement about tactics is the one that is now raging and causing a serious rift at the highest levels of NATO, as well as in the corridors of power in London and Washington. It concerns British plans to train and arm village militias to fight the Taliban. The strategy has the backing of the British Prime Minister, Gordon Brown, who recently said Britain would expand its plans for "community defense initiatives" in Helmand. He stressed the policy would be based on the Afghan principle known as the "arbakai" system, a tradition in part of the country whereby local militias banded together to confront a threat to their communities. It is clear the British favor exploiting this tradition because they successfully employed similar tactics in Kenya and Aden.

Later, the U.S. Used the Hmog tribes in much the same way during the Vietnam War. From a British perspective, arming Afghan militias could create a counterinsurgency force with vital local knowledge. British generals argue it is necessary because the Afghan police force is out-gunned, corrupt and thin on the ground. American generals say the British will seriously undermine their efforts to retrain and rebuild the police force. They also point out, that armed militia could end up begin controlled by corrupt warlords. In a sign that tension within NATO have reached boiling point, the U.S. general in charge of restructuring the police, Maj. Gen. Robert Cone, has openly criticized his British counterparts. The result has been heated exchanges between diplomats in London and Washington. Cone and his command believe the British plan is too much like their disastrous effort to create an Afghan auxiliary force, a project that was abandoned in 2007. Cone is not alone in condemning the British move. The U.S. commander in Afghanistan, Maj. Gen. Dan Neil, has told reporters the British strategy will fail. He said his knowledge of Afghan history indicated that the arbakai community militia system would be worked in only a few areas of the country, and Helmand was not one of them. His comments represented a stern put-down of his British counterparts. And, as if to rub more salt into the wound, Cone added that the $7.4 billion the U.S. has set aside to rebuild the police force would eventually create a force that was highly trained —a force of which the Afghan people would be proud. He said he backed greater community support and involvement with the police.

Overall, the U.S. top brass see British strategy undercutting their plans to make the police force the vehicle to defeat the Taliban. And, for its part, the Pentagon is also angry. It feels that, with more than $7 billion earmarked to make the Afghan police force the preferred weapon of choice, the British are putting a monkey-wrench in the works by going off the opposite direction. The midst of this battle of ideas, the Afghan government has weighed in and made it clear it will expel any diplomats who engage in secret talks with insurgents. To show it was serious, it recently sent packing two EU-ers to talk about conflict resolution. The debate about arming community groups is not confined to Afghanistan, were some UN observers argue it will undercut efforts to disarm militias through the country. It also has echoes in Iraq, where the U.S, much to the consternation of the Shiite-dominated government in Baghdad, has been arming and training Sunni insurgents to fight Al-Qaeda. Some observers fear those insurgents will one day turn their weapons on Iraqi government forces after the U.S withdraws.

EXAMINING THE NAZI EXTERMINATION PLOT... DID ADOLF HITLER ORDER THE HOMICIDAL GASSING OF SIX MILLION INNOCENT SOULS?

The Myth of the Six Million by David L. Hoggan

This was the first book ever written that really dug into the facts of "the holocaust." David L. Hoggan, the author of the book, fearing academic retribution, was unwilling to publish the book with his name attached. Thus the first edition was published back in 1969 under the name "Anonymous." Now Hoggan can be given the credit he so rightfully deserved. The book includes a fascinating foreword by the editor, Willis A. Carto, describing the amazing history of this powerful book. Chapters cover such politically incorrect topics as: Hitler's real feelings toward Jews; three phases of National Socialist treatment of Jews before WWII; Bruno Amann's exposition of the Jewish policy; the Weissberg tale; Jewish memories of the concentration camps; the torture of Rudolf Hoess and the Hoess "confessions"; uncomfortable facts about the Holocaust; Red Cross factual wartime appraisal of the camps Adolf Eichmann; the legends of Hitler's depravity; and many more.

GUTSY TRIAL LAWYER SYLVIA STOLZ JAILED

OUTSPOKEN BARRISTER SENTENCED TO 3.5 YEARS IN PRISON FOR QUESTIONING HOLOCAUST, 'DEFAMING THE STATE'

By Pat Shannan

A German court has just taken the persecution of Revisionists in Europe-and the world-a giant step forward by jailing the defense attorney of Ernest Zundel on charges including holocaust denial and defaming the state. Sylvia Stolz, who may be the most courageous attorney ever to defy a courtroom judge, has been sentenced to an outrageous three-and-a-half-year prison sentence for, among other things, ridiculing the holocaust as "the biggest lie in world history."

The court in the western German city of Mannheim sentenced Miss Stolz on charges that include "defaming the government." In addition, she was banned from practicing law for five years, thus crippling her financially. Miss Stolz made the remarks-illegal in Germany-in 2006 while representing historian Ernest Zundel, who was handed a five-year prison term in Germany last February for repeatedly disputing the court historians' line on the holocaust. Prior to this, Zundel had been kidnapped by conniving U.S authorities in Tennessee and returned to Canada, where he was extradited to Germany in 2005. In recent years, even Jewish officials at various memorial sites such as Auschwitz and Dachau have revised exaggerated claims. The Jan. 7, 2000 issue of the Los Angeles Time said:

Some revision sin holocaust history have been generally accepted. Stories that Jewish remains were manufactured into soap and lampshades have been dismissed as myth. There were, most historians now agree, no human gassings at Dachau. Deaths at Auschwitz, once estimated, based on the testimony of Nazi commanders, at up to 3 million, have been scaled back to about 1.1 million. Even the widely accepted figure of 6 million Jewish dead all over Europe has been questioned in recent years by some of the world's most prominent holocaust scholars.

During her two-week trial, the 44-year-old quoted fact versus falsehood. This further angered the prosecutor and judge. This prompted Stolz to tell the judge he deserved the death penalty for "offering succor to the enemy" (Astonishingly, there is still no existing formal WWII peace treaty between Germany and the United States and England. Germany is still, le gally, an occupied nation.) At one point she said to the court, "what are you afraid of, judge? You are making a monkey of yourself." Miss Stolz repeatedly asked the question:

What is an attorney supposed to do when he constantly discovering evidence that would help his client? Should the attorney just keep quiet and ignore it? Should the attorney ask whether he is going to be threatened, indicated and convinced for introducing evidence that would help his client? Judge Glenz, interrupted Miss Stolz and reminded her of his judicial admonization that what she was reading in court has nothing to do with her indictment, which is for expressive doubt about the holocaust.

The German newspapers, all of which must endorse the holocaust clames by law, referred to Stolz as a "neo-nazi" and again attempted to highlight her foolishness by printing that Nazi Germany systematically murdered six million Jews and reminded readers that it is a crime to deny the holocaust in many European nations. Germany, Austria, France, Switzerland and Belgium are just a few of those nations were challenging the holocaust is illegal. Those few American publications, such as AFP, which seek the truth, have never denied:

- The existence of a vast network of detention camps with forced labor programs for inmates throughout Nazi occupied Europe, not unlike FDR's interment of all Japanese-Americans during WWII.

- The existence of the crematoria in the larger detention camps for the purpose of efficiently and sanitarily disposing of the corpses of inmates who succumbed to typhus;

- The existence of "gas chambers" in the camps using the disinfectant cyanic gas Zyklon-B to disinfect clothing, bedding and prisoners in the camps. This included the use of Zyklon-B for delousing purposes on the German guards, officers and their families living in the camp.

- The fact that British and American troops at the liberation of these camps in 1945 saw and photographed the scenes of strewn piled corpses but with no evidence or reliable recorded testimony of murder from those who were still alive.

- That many millions of innocent European civilians died-from natural causes, diseases, bombings, other military actions and malnutrition while in captivity-and that a considerable number of these, unquestionably in the hundreds of thousands, were Jewish.

HILLARY ALSO INVOLVED IN VOTE FRAUD

MOST AMERICANS COMPLETELY UNAWARE ELECTIONS ARE BEING STOLEN RIGHT BEFORE THEIR EYES

By Victor Thorn

Desperate to keep the Bust Clinton crime syndicate intact, America's power elite resorted to an old standby on January 8, 2008: vote fraud. Readers of American Free Press are already aware that not only has candidate Ron Paul been the victim of ballot tampering in New Hampshire, but numerous other sources have confirmed that the scandal also extends to the Democratic side of the aisle. Specifically, Bilderberg attendee and fixer-extraordinaire Hillary Clinton literally stole the nation's first primary from the forward surging favorite, Barack Obama. Behind by double digits in every conceivable poll (including their own internal audits) while drawing significantly sparser crowds at her rallies, Hillary Clinton still pulled what major television pundits on MSNBC called "one of the most stunning upsets in the history of politics," Others said the results "defied explanation," while Keith Olbermann labeled it a "titanic" upset victory" for Mrs. Clinton. Once again, the culprit in this messy affair was the Diebold optical-scan voting system, which was responsible for tallying (in secret) 81% of all votes cast in New Hampshire. This corrupt outfit-which has an exclusive programming contract for New Hampshire (as well as three other states in New England)—is LHS Associates, run by a man named John Silvestro.

Silvestro has previously admitted to violating Connecticut's security protocols during the 2006 congressional elections, while a documentary, Hacking Democracy, proved that the memory cards in his machines can be “hacked” in less than 10 minutes. Computer expert Harri Hursti testified before New Hampshire legislators in September 2007 that the Diebold (now called Premier Election Solutions) electronic computer voting machine was extremely vulnerable to tampering.

In 2000 and 2004, George W. Bush was the obvious benefactor of this illegal practice, while many Americans remember how Pat Buchanan got shafted during the 1996 Arizona Republican primaries, effectively undermining his campaign. Nothing has changed. While populist Ron Paul’s votes were siphoned away in New Hampshire, ultimate insider Hillary Clinton’s candidacy was saved from the ashes before it crashed and burned. All she had to do similar to her husband in 1992—is the latest “comeback kid.” Josef Stalin was certainly correct: “Those who cast the votes decide nothing. Those who count the votes decide everything.”

IRAN ATTACK PLAN NOT NECESSARILY DEAD

ISRAEL—FIRSTERS BEHIND GEORGE BUSH NOT GIVING UP SO EASILY ON PLAN TO CRIPPLE PERSIA

By Mark Glenn

Foolishly, when the National Intelligence Estimate (NIE) was released many spectators in the bleachers watching what appeared would be an imminent war with Iran breathed a sigh of relief, and thinking the game was over began packing their bags to go home. They should have hung around, paying mind to that old saying, “It ain’t over till it’s over.” They failed to consider the fanaticism driving certain players in this game, including the Zionists controlling George Bush and the president himself. Bush and his handlers (both in the U.S. and Israel) being the genuine Armageddonites they are, see themselves as the guys in the white hats fighting an epic battle against “forces of evil.” Rational persons should understand that the release of the NIE will have little effect on them when it comes to doing the Lord’s work of whipping out Judea’s ancient enemies in Persia.

Some—with unrealistic optimism—may think Bush’s continuing rhetoric against Iran is just an act. Wiser heads assume that he plans to make good on all the promises he made to his Zionist overlords prior to his election in 2000.

Bush has been a cauldron since the release of the NIE, seething with embarrassment and humiliation like a boiler ready to blow. He has not relented one iota in his previous position that Iran “was, is and will be” a danger to the world. Rather than trusting the intelligence services whose multibillion-dollar budgets he himself approves he has cast aside the opinions of experts and professionals who are as wedded to their work as Mozart was to his music. It is similar to an obstinate man being told by doctors that the patient does not have a deadly case of appendicitis but rather a simple case of indigestion and the man, listening to the mad voices in his head and the mad voices of his handlers, grabs the scalpel and begins slashing away in an effort to “cure” the patient.

Before the ink had dried on the NIE, Bush’s handlers were howling like spoiled, petulant children. This is typical behavior whenever the Jewish state does not get lollipop or new toy it demands, in this case a genocidal atomic war against Iran. Politicians and military people alike in Israel have since scoffed at the NEI with a mixture of rage and ridicule, have characterized the NIE as either rubbish or else a deliberate maneuver to endanger Israel and have made it clear that if the United States does not go forward with the annihilation of Iran that Israel will do it herself.

Soon after the NIE’s release it was announced that Bush was headed to Israel for his first presidential visit. The stated reason for his visit was making peace between the Jewish state and the Palestinian Christians and Muslims. But the more likely reason was for him to get his marching orders from his bosses in Tel Aviv regarding how to reignite the flames of war with Iran.

Before he had even landed, several incidents has taken place, the first being the launching of two Katyusha rockets said to have come from Hezbollah-controlled southern Lebanon into said to have come from Hezbollah-controlled southern Lebanon into northern Israel.

The rockets are of course "Iranian" in origin, just like all the supposed improvised explosive devices (IEDs) killing American troops in Iraq. Following was the "clash" between elements of the Iranian navy and three U.S. warships passing through the straits of Hormuz. American news channels depicted five Iranian fast boats—not much larger than an ordinary fishing boat and incapable of carrying anything more than a few personnel—charging the American ships (that could have cut them to shreds literally within seconds) in a "threatening and provocative" manner.

UN WANTS FINAL WORD ON REARING YOUR KIDS

While pressing senators to reject the Law of the Sea Treaty, or LOST, patriots should also urge rejection of another "convention" sent to the chamber by Bilderberg President Bill Clinton that has been lurking since 1995. If the Senate ratifies the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the world body, not parents, will decide how to rear children.

The Senate is likely to get a significant makeover in the 2008 election. If your senators are incumbents with a good, America-first record, contact them and warn them of these two treaties. If one or both are new boys, give them an in-depth education. Even senators who are normally on good behavior can cast odd votes. For example, the late Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) was a strong patriot and pork-fighter. But, unexplainably, he advocated ratification of the UN's so-called "genocide treaty."

If the Senate ratifies Rights of the Child, the state, acting under UN direction, will decide what your children read, who they associate with, what discipline (if any) can be imposed and whether or not they can be home schooled (home-schooled children perform significantly better academically than their peers in public schools). But, regardless of merit or lack thereof, the UN should have no role in rearing America's children.
