EXPLODING BALLOONS DELIVER LITERATURE TO PORTLAND, OR

The American National Socialist Workers' Party's Oregon branch, under the leadership of Daniel Jones, has invented an exploding balloon technology that it is using to distribute ANSWP literature over wide areas of Portland, Oregon and surrounding towns.

A close up of the exploding balloon, from YouTube : <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i18B6p9T1pM> made its name hanging banners from freeways, distributing large amounts of pamphlets, and raising substantial funds for the benefit of the party organization and other ANSWP-related causes.

Jones is a labor activist in the Portland area who has become increasingly involved in National Socialist activism over the past several months, and who will likely be taking on the task of organizing the ANSWP's Northwest Region in the near future.

The balloon is the latest in a series of experiments the ANSWP has been conducting with literature distribution technology, which has included experiments with model planes dragging banners over public events, and banner drops over free ways, as well as more traditional in the trenches style door to door literature distribution and community outreach.

Originally suggested by ANSWP Florida State Leader Michael Blevins during a bi-weekly meeting of national leadership, the balloon, whose use is shown on YouTube at: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i18B6p9T1pM>, is launched using helium into the atmosphere with a fuse for a cord. The fuse is lit, and when it reaches the balloon, it causes the balloon to pop, scattering ANSWP pamphlets from a height into the surrounding neighborhood. When used with light enough literature, pamphlets can be blown and scattered over a larger area.

The balloon is the latest great thing to come out of the Oregon unit, which has

STROM PLEADS TO CHILD PORN

Former National Vanguard Chairman Kevin Alfred Strom pled guilty January 14 to one charge of possession of child pornography, and was awaiting a sentence of up to ten years in prison when this magazine went to print. Strom is expecting to receive eighteen months in prison, of which he will be credited twelve months for time served, making him almost eligible for release upon conviction.

At his conviction, Strom told the judge and the press that he was not a racist or a white supremacist and that he had been threatened in prison because of "false media allegations" of his "white supremacist" views.

Strom is the former head of National Vanguard, once the main successor organization to the National Alliance, but now defunct as its leaders have fled to other pastures, mostly Stormfront, after revelations about the sexual activities of Strom towards young girls. At his previous trial on charges of enticing a ten year old girl to have sex with him, it was revealed that a National Vanguard financial backer, John Justice, had loaned Strom money with the knowledge it was being used to solicit young girls for sex.

Strom's ex-wife, Elisha, has been attacked during the course of the trial in an effort to force her not to testify to her knowledge of the pictures of children which she repeatedly found Strom masturbating to in their home.

HAL TURNER SHUTTERS SHOW

Internet and radio talk show host Hal Turner has shut down his show, citing financial problems and a recent attack on his web server that revealed messages indicating he had been acting as an FBI informer.

Turner had briefly agreed to host the websites of the ANSWP after the Jena 6 incident, but that relationship had been terminated in November. The ANSWP has purchased a web hosting facility in Roanoke, Virginia, and is hoping to bring it operational in January 2008.

With little explanation to his fans, Turner shut off his website and his program after members of a hacking group called 7Chan gained access to Turner's email account and posted correspondence purporting to show Turner fingering listeners to a relative working in the FBI.

Turner had been known for his insanely radical and inflammatory speech over the years, which had included calls for the murder of Congressmen, Senators and other government officials. His radio show had broadcast on 95.1 FM New York.

I stayed silent on the subject of the Ron Paul campaign because I'd met the man, known of his involvement with the soft side of the white movement, and thought he might be the best candidate for President. While his campaign never excited me, as I knew he was not the "great white hope" that the teacup-intellectual side of the movement had made him out to be, I didn't see any need to interfere in their latest "secret agent" game. I thought it was better to wait and to see.

Then I heard Ron Paul on television, denouncing white activists for their "racial collectivism," and I thought the time had come to speak up. I made a post on Vanguard News Network pointing out the obvious -- that the reason Ron Paul was receiving millions of dollars in donations from white activists was because of his ties to Don Black, Stormfront, and their activist set, and he had used those contacts to get them out recruiting white volunteers and white money into his campaign.

The response overwhelmed me. Jewish lurkers on the VNN Forum messageboards republished my statement on numerous neo-conservative blogs, and the Stormfront smear organization -- the same group that had gone all out to defend would-be child molester Kevin Strom and to justify David Duke's theft of millions of dollars of movement money -- went into motion. While the average white activist wrote in to the American National Socialist Workers Party to thank us for our comments, and we gained new several new activists as a result, white messageboards were smeared with attacks, accusing me of "outing" Ron Paul. Ironically, white activists working in the Paul campaign published multiple posts denying they were working the Paul campaign, and their claims were supported -- not by white working people -- but by the big Jew media, who ordered several news organizations that ran or planned stories on my comments -- including the New York Times and the New Republic -- to hush it up.

In 2001 and 2002, I wrote a column for the online publication Pravda.ru. One of my last columns was on the subject of Jewish media conspiracy and Joe Sobran's dismissal from National Review. As a result of this column, I was invited to speak to a group of men who met regularly at the Sala Thai restaurant in Arlington, Virginia -- a group of men that included Joe Sobran and Ron Paul congressional aide Norman Singleton. Singleton was impressed and invited me to come to Paul's office to discuss the Zionist occupation and foreign policy with Daniel McAdams, another Ron Paul aide, and the Congressman. Later, I attended a small dinner of about fifteen to twenty people that included the Congressman and several prominent white activists in the Stormfront circle.

While at this dinners, which I attended regularly for several months, I learned their history. The dinner had been founded by Pat Buchanan, Joe Sobran and Sam Francis as venue for media personalities to plot anti-Zionist campaigns during the First Gulf War. Like all secret conspiracies of the conservatives, it did not last long -- it was discovered a year or two later by Charles Krauthammer, Norman Podhoretz and AM Rosenthal, who campaign to have, first Sobran, then Francis, dismissed from their positions in the press. Only Buchanan's strong 1996 presidential campaign saved him to the point where he was able to make a deal with the Jews -- Buchanan would stop public criticisms of them, and they would give him more media exposure. Soon after, Buchanan dropped out.

As I attended, the dinner transformed from a small meeting of media figures to a larger, public meeting of the Council of Conservative Citizens, headed by Sam Francis, and then into an even broader meeting of "paleo-"conservatives and libertarians. I am told it is now called the "Robert Taft Club" and it is headed by the half-Chinese, half-Jewish "chi-brew" Marcus Epstein, whose heritage excites Asian / Jewish supremacist Jared Taylor of American Renaissance.

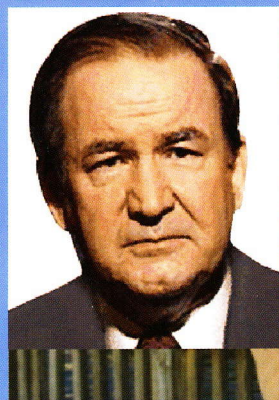

I became disillusioned with much of the white movement during the year 2003, when Kevin Strom and the tea-cups launched their first slander campaign against myself and Alex Linder, as our Vanguard News Network project threatened to eclipse them in the wake of William Pierce's death, but I had become disillusioned with the paleo-conservatives much earlier, and declined to meet with Paul. His kind of small government Constitutionalism may be good for patriot publications and so-called Constitutionlists, but I was intent on pursuing a harder and purer National Socialism, not some bastardized Americanized anti-Semitism that owed more to World War II propaganda against Hitler than any real conviction.

So my story of meeting Ron Paul was exciting not because of what I'd done, but because I observed Paul with many white leaders and that explained why Stormfront and its corrupt crew has worked so hard for the Paul campaign -- just as they worked hard for the Buchanan campaigns of 1992 through 2000. On the surface, Paul is no more "racist" or "extreme" than Christian Zionist Mike Huckabee -- the only reason a white activist would be excited about his campaign is because it would empower men like Don Black, Jamie Kelso and Jared Taylor and give them direct access to the White House and direct influence over policy decisions. For most white activists, these limp wristed lesser men in the White House is not empowering; for them, its the chance of a lifetime.

So they went overboard to try to defend their latest "Manchurian candidate". Paul's aide, Singleton, launched an attack on me, lying about our Back when they were still influential in the media, Pat Buchanan, Joe Sobran and Sam Francis launched a dinner for members of the media and politicians who were tired of Jewish influence in Washington. After it was discovered, Francis and Sobran lost their jobs, but Buchanan cut a deal to continue his media position.

dealing to the New York Times, and I started to see that Paul was not a straight talking honest politician, as he presented himself, but another one of these highly politicized racials. When the New Republic finally did break a story, publishing excerpts from Paul's newsletter denouncing blacks and Jews and expressing the views we all knew he dealt with, if not shared, Paul's response was to say he did not know who wrote the newsletter which had been published in his name -- a clear and transparent lie that put the last shovel of dirt on his candidacy -- and his credibility.

From an insider's position in the white movement, what the Paul campaign was really about was no secret. I'd seen it all before when I'd worked for the last "Manchurian Candidate", Pat Buchanan, back in 2000. I objected to his campaign deliberate destruction of the Reform Party through the alienation of, first, Jesse Ventura, then, second, Lenora Fulani; and I resigned when Pat fixed the Reform Party primary, choosing to mail ballots to Buchanan campaign donor mailing lists instead of Reform Party members. He stole $12 million in federal matching funds and embezzled it through a series of front companies, owned by his sister, Bay Buchanan, with the help of his treasurer, Bob Bowles, instead of using it to run campaign ads -- and thus kept the populist message of anti-internationalist economic and social reform off of the public agenda that election cycle. This was nothing new; he pulled the same stunt in 1996, with a series of moves documented in an article that, unfortunately, was only published in Hustler magazine, a disreputable source that essentially buried the story.

But the Paul campaign is (or, by the time this article reaches press, was) more than just a fraud -- another false hope for white people to divert their precious time and money instead of working with effective white racist and National Socialist groups. And there was more than the fact that certain men in the white movement are profiting off of Paul -- and selling him to us because of their paid loyalty. The fundamental issue is what the Paul campaign says about white activists -- and white people -- in the United States: And it says that we are so demoralized, so self-hating, and so convinced we can't win that we can actually stand up and support a candidate who openly tells the press he wants nothing to do with our kind.

Its like the National Rifle Association backing a candidate who says he wants to ban guns, or the American Family Association standing up for someone who wants abortion on demand, because, candidate may not be with his main issue, "he's just so everything else." Can you hear one of those lobbies doing it? So when white people line up, why do we have to support the one that is the least "anti-white"?

There may be some logic in voting for the white who is least anti-white, but that justifies pouring our money and energy into their campaign, instead of using it for our issues? Should be, as the focus groups suggest, a radical appendage of the Republican Party, and devote our money and our time to promoting that anti-white, capitalist and Jewish institution? Is there no other way to be politically active?

The American National Socialist Workers Party was founded as a radical rejection of this approach. We are dedicated to providing candidates who are willing to run on an openly white, racist, National Socialist platform, calling not only for economic and social reform, but for the reform of race relations and the restoration of white rule in the United States. We do not allow our contributors and our state leaders to use pseudonyms, or to act anonymously, for precisely this reason -- we want to recruit only white men who are willing to stand up, under their own name, and fight openly for the white race, without fear of losing a job, a position in a university, or facing some imaginary social isolation. In the real world of white activists -- the world that I and the rest of the ANSWP live in -- there is no social or economic penalty for being outspoken and white. You do not lose your job or your home or your friends and peers because the local Jewish fishwrap slanders you or because some Jewish owned TV station gets too aggressive with its reporters. It is this fear and this myth which the Paul campaign has brought to the surface -- and which we must confront and defeat for our movement to move forward.

The white movement must face the fact that no politician dies or loses an election because of their white racism. White activists who lose elections do so because of a lack of money or a lack of a proper campaign organization, not because of their views. In fact, the lack of campaign organization and money usually means that white views get a chance to compete. The two major political parties may attack white activists and withhold support from members who speak openly about the Jewish problem or the problems of the Mexicans and the Negroes, but this is only because white activists do not have an independent organization which advocates for them -- and as long as we continue to focus on building these political parties which advocate against us, the situation is not going to change.

Building a political organization is hard. It requires everything from campaign workers to lawyers, and a toughness of skin in dealing with a press that is as corrupt as the electoral system. Most people are not capable of dealing with life as a constant state of conflict, and thus most idealists who seek office are never able to win -- or even stand a fighting chance. This is true for both multi-culturalists and white nationalists; the political system is a self-perpetuating bureaucracy in which all outsiders have the same hard fight, regardless of message.

So why support Ron Paul? We don't need to build his Republican Party, and we don't want to build the clique of anti-white parasites that feed on our movement from their perch at Stormfront. If we want to build an independent, white, political organization, we must do so through independent white political organizing, and through directing our resources inward, not outwards. As white activists, our first thought has to be to our house and to our movement, and to what we want for our people.

I've been around political movements since I was 13, and I was involved in many, from different sides of the political spectrum, before I turned 20 and began to move towards National Socialism. I've seen Republican and Democrats, Constitutionalists, Libertarians, Communists and Anarchists. None of them have particularly large core groups of activists, except where they are empowered and able to hand out slop from the public trough. All of them have factions and have the problems of the white movement, or the smaller parties. The only difference is that, with the Republicans and Democrats, each individual participant sees more value in the group than in the individual, and thus sticks together, whereas white activists have consistently placed their own benefit above the benefit of the race.

Individualism, libertarian, capitalism and Constitutionalism cannot form the basis of a white political movement because the ethic involved -- the ethic of the individual apart from society -- cannot be the basis of a united political effort. Only when we set aside our notion of self, and set aside our fears of losing our petty nothings and realize that we only have meaning in the context of the greater racial whole for which we struggle can we endure the type of sacrifice necessary to build an organization that can struggle on behalf of our people. Only those white activists who are capable of that sacrifice, and capable of that kind of unity, can form the core of the movement necessary to restore our people to our former greatness.

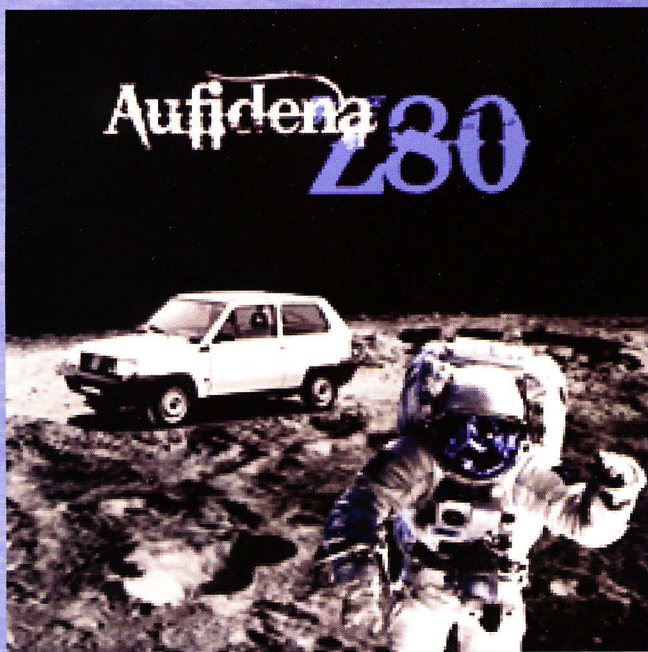

For that reason, the Manchurian candidate trickery of the Ron Paul campaign and of any effort for Reform that does not involved personal risk must and always does fail. Only when the movement becomes willing to sacrifice, and to lose before we can win, can we

These hooded penitents, from Spain, are the model upon which the Ku Klux Klan designed their hooded robes. The ban on masks in many states is thus a ban on Christian religious practice, not a ban on "racism" "hate" or "prejudice".

Many Christians believe that National Socialism is against them, and American National Socialist Workers Party activists are often asked about the acceptance of Christians into the Party. This misconception stems from the radical Zionist propaganda that has equated Judaism and Christianity and posited that the opponents of the one must be the opponents of the other. The truth, though, is that many of the ANSWP's members are Christians and that Christians do not find themselves out of place within the National Socialist movement, or insulted by the followers of other white faiths. National Socialism accepts and embraces all white religions, including Positive Christianity.

Like Germany during the Third Reich, we support all forms of Positive Christianity -- and that does not mean we change the basic tenets of Christianity in any way, shape or form. Quite the opposite, we oppose the modern Judaeo-Christianity, which, though taught by many so-called religious leaders, is, in reality, not Christianity, but a form of modern Judaism. Its notion that there is salvation for the Jews outside of belief in Christ as the Savior is a rejection of Christ's role as Savior, and mirrors blasphemies, published in the Jewish Talmud, accusing Jesus of being a magician, a sorcerer, and the bastard child of the rape of Mary by Roman soldiers.

Judeo-Christianity is nothing new. Since the early foundation of Christianity, there has been a power struggle between the Jewish interpretations of Christianity and the Aryan interpretations of the same. Coming from a Semitic culture-soul with an emphasis on universalism and chthonic multi-culturalist social structures, the Jewish approach to Christianity melds Christian teaching with these negative, non-Aryan pagan faiths. When the Jewish mindset rules, terrible things take place, such as the Dark Ages, and white people and white civilization contracts. When the Aryan mindset rules, our creative powers are freed, and we see the same greatness our pre-Christian forefathers had achieved, and we see our people and our civilization expand.

Most churches of today teach that racial pride means nothing. This is a concept the Jews have invented for non-Jews. Even St. Paul understood that White Christians were different than Jewish Christians. He taught that to convert Aryans one did not have to change their customs or traditions. Martin Luther, the German Reformer, also understood this basic concept. He blended German Nationalism with the teachings of Christ, leading to the deportation of Jews. During this time the Jews were using usury against the German people and forcing their Talmudic ideas on the German states -- sins, according to Christ, that were tolerated by the Catholic rulers.

When Christianity has been used against our people, you can always find the Jewish strain at the head. The early attacks on the Christian people were not done by the Romans, as Jewish history likes to teach, but Jews who advocated and organized the murder of the early Christians. The Christianity of late Rome, that led to the Dark Ages, reflected the same mindset -- where Jews broke apart the societies that embodied the principle of white intellect and denied mankind access to science for hundreds of years. As late the Renaissance, even Sir Isaac Newton, an ordained priest, could not openly practice science. Today, the promoters of race-mixing and the Zionist Occupation are from the nominally "Christian" church, but they teach this same lethal doctrine of ignorance and enslavement for white people.

European Christian kept many of their Aryan customs when our people converted to Christianity. The Templar Knights, Teutonic Knights and other orders of Knights across Europe all practiced versions of the faith that incorporated traditional Aryan warrior notions. Most Europeans who fought in the Crusades not only saw this as a "Holy War" but a racial war to keep Europe and the Holy Land pure from alien blood -- particularly the blood of the Turkish tribes which had been invading the Near East from their homes in Central Asia. Even some of the early priesthoods of Europe, such as those among the Celtic people, kept traditions and customs of the pre-Christian era, including Druidic practices and festivals.

Early white Americans understood race differences while accepting Christ and being Christian. This may shock many, but no where in the Bible does it say all people are equal. Actually, the Bible is clear the Indo-Aryans and early people of Europe were superior in all aspects than the native people of Africa. The Negroes are called the "beast of the field" many times throughout the Bible. Early explorers of the African jungles also recorded the same data and referred to Africans as "beast like" or "ape like". No other people have ever had to protest "I am a Man", and for good reason.

The Ku Klux Klan is a prime example of American White Christianity. Almost all the practices of the Ku Klux Klan are based on pre-Christian European custom. The name Ku Klux Klan comes from the Greek word, "kuklos," meaning cycle, and referring to the Aryan notion of the cyclic nature of time. Many Klansmen hold ranks of European, pre-Christian, terms such as Grand Titan, Exalted Cyclops and Imperial Wizard. Even the head religious Chaplin, known as the "Kludd," is named after the early Christian order known as the Culdee or Cele De, which incorporated many aspects of pre-Christian Irish religion into their "Celtic Christianity".

For many years, Christianity and the Churches were the backbone of the movement to keep America white, though certain Northern churches had always advocated race-mixing. When Reconstruction fell upon the white South, it was the Christians of the Ku Klux Klan that took up arms and defended the white race. During the "Civil Rights" Movement of the 1950's and 60's, it was the Southern churches which fought against integration of schools and neighborhoods -- and it was for that reason that such a high priority was given to attacking the Christian religion and replacing it with the Judaeo-Christian faith. Now our churches teach Judaism, their social role is the total

The Klan emblem, above, represents a traditional Aryan sunwheel with a blood drop in the center, symbolizing Christ. It is one example of how the Klan has adopted traditional Aryan forms in a positive Christianity.

Today the church is a tool for multiculturalism and the enslavement of Christians in service of the Zionist occupation of Palestine. People such as Joel Osteen, following the instructions of the Talmud and the Jewish Noahide laws, tell us to throw away our Aryan Heritage and abandon our customs and traditions. Heretics such as John Hagee teach a modern form of Christianity know as "Replacement Theology" with Christ denying Jews are saved and that all White Christians are damned down to them. During the day Hagee would have been tied to a post and burned alive for teaching such and un-biblical ideas; today we publicize him widely and following.

Christianity is the path to freedom when its practice is tamed by the White Race. Many of its teachings go hand in hand with National Socialism. Both teach that a man and a woman makes a marriage. Both are against abnormal sexual behavior such as homosexuality. Both teach that a man runs the household and that a woman is the mother and teacher of our children. And both have been "saviors" of the White race.

National Socialist Christians must teach our White non-Christians brothers and sisters that not all Christians of today are Jew puppets and slaves. Many are racially conscious and politically orthodox. Our White Christian brothers and sisters must respect our non-Christian brethren and work to make that respect mutual. The more we fight among each other, the more the Jew wins. I will leave you with these words of wisdom. "Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth." -- Titus 1:14

In using the term "the coming war", I don't mean the highly probable future attack on Iran. What I mean is the hammer blow that is finally falling on the environment and industrial civilization.

The U.N., that skeletal framework of Jewish world government, now admits that "humanity's very survival is at risk," because of the mud flood which is overpopulating the world. The intention of the Jews has always been to wipe the White Race off the face of the earth, by bastardizing our holy blood and butchering the remnant in a global repeat of the Bolshevik revolution. "The depletion of worlds resources are now at the point of no return, 400 scientific researchers backed by 1000 of their peers tell us in the Global Environment Outlook (GEO4). The "scale of the challenge is huge."

All serious scientists now admit the planet is in peril. The billionaire oil lobby in the U.S is the biggest denier. Running the Republican Party, they deny global warning while conning the gullible American yokels with bogus talk of how "Christ" will protect the god-fearing from environmental disaster. While planning new wars against Iran, Syria, Russia and China in a sick attempt to seize more of an obsolete fuel, America is predicted, by climate modelers, to suffer worse than any other nation by global warming's full impact. It is conservatively predicted that in a greenhouse world, America will become like the Sahara desert, though by then the North polar icecap would have melted, flooding 90% of the worlds' crop producing areas. With this massive environmental catastrophe, at least 90% of the worlds' population must therefore disappear. Humanity will have to face the fact that most of that 90%, crawling, as they do, out of a Third World that has fed itself on the beneficence of white people and white nations, should never have been born. Klassen would say: it's time to institute the triage system.

The degradation of the environment and the severity of the problem increases, yet nobody seems to be listening. This is because there is no political interest in stopping the human yeast. Yeast spores multiply in favorable conditions (warm sugary water), then excrete alcohol and ultimately poison themselves and their environment while producing beer. So are the non-whites of the Third World. Living sustainably has to be the long term goal of a white civilization capable of recognizing human limitations, but we are kept from facing this fact because the value of non-whites to the Jewish democratic system is too great for the system to allow their numbers to be controlled. Thinking ahead is limited in this day and age to National Socialism.

The Third World needs urgent and deliberate culling. Merely allowing blacks to kill themselves through war and disease is not addressing the problem quickly enough. False humanism, Judeo-Christian ideas of brotherly love and the silly idea of "the family of man" (propagated and perpetuated by, but never taken up, by the Jew) gets in the way of deliberate action, but we near a point where we must choose between our people and theirs. World population is expected to rise by 3.4 billion muds before 2050, none of whom can contribute anything to the world but squalor, murder, war, slavery, rape and pimping. How can our increasingly geriatric white and wealthy population resist this? If we won't or we can't we will be killed and our property taken up by third world squatters, just as happened in Rhodesia.

Some say Jewish multinational companies with their genetically modified seeds and crops offer the hope of increased crop yields, but they lie. Like all products of the Jew, their seed is sterile and causes dependency in nations that use them. No increased yield occurs, and, like an addict, they require heavier and heavier doses of toxic herbicides and pesticides to function, polluting the earth further and intensifying the crisis. The ultimate goal of the Jews and of corporations like Monsanto is to starve Aryan nations in the way Joseph starved the ancient Egyptians.

There is no future to be found in the present political systems and beliefs. The only light at the end of the tunnel is the Swastika. Yes, a war is coming, but it is a war we will slip into through gradual deterioration so slowly that we may not see it until it has well been here. Living standards for the majority of Whites have deteriorated in real terms since the 1970s. The gradual slide to anarchy involves economic depression, unaffordable housing, increased prices for staples and fuel, and lack of productive economic opportunity. Healthcare has declined, as diseases extinct in white nations have re-emerged and other Third World problems have become increasingly present. This degeneration of conditions has already initiated the struggle for survival.

We cannot stop because this chaos was avoidable, unnecessary and unwanted. We know it was very carefully planned by the Jewish world rulers, who have deliberately allowed Western nations to be invaded, carved up and colonized by the variegated races and sectarian factions of the Third world. De-industrialization and resources depletion are public policy, not the accidental result of unconscious actors. Third world ghettos abound in nearly all western cities because Jewish communists and "Civil Rights" activists wanted them. In Britain, cannibalism, voodoo, muti murder, and AIDS have replaced the occasional beery brawl, whereas the United States has lived with these plagues for a long time. Terror attacks against whites and mass slaughter of white civilians are regularly plotted by the Asiatic, the Hindu and Mohammedan races we once crushed, but were persuaded by Jewish humanists not to exterminate. As white cities go wholly Muslim, African, or Hindu, Western nations are disintegrating as separatists and regions seek autonomy to allow themselves to address the racial flood.

Ultimately what we face is a law of Nature called kladogenesis. It is the segregation of the species into new strains who must then compete for the right to survive. This occurs under any guise, national identity, regionalism, politics, social class cult or religion. As soon as the central state tears down a barriers that preserve the DNA, people begin to form new ethnic and subcultural groups that eventually take on biological identity. They join a cult, move to a different area or merely join a social subculture, each of which establishes new barriers that alter within it the form of the race. They lose a sense of racial or national identity and become smaller and easier to manipulate. Leopold Kohr, Herman Kahn and Thomas S Cuhn openly advocated the balkanization of Europe in the 1970s as a good way to "prevent big wars", apparently by promoting many, many smaller ones. The end game of the plan to Balkanise the whole of Europe in order to make Europeans unable to resist the much larger and united international Jewish apparatus.

The Middle East is another testing ground for this strategy. The chaos in Iraq and Afghanistan is not accidental, it is deliberate, and designed to grow to embroil the Iranians, the Turks and the Kurds, all to the benefit of the Zionist Occupation of Palestine, which hopes to face enemies so divided into micro-states that they can never unite against it. If any peace seems likely the Jewish Mossad commits outrages to set people at each other's throats again. They have done this repeatedly in Lebanon, even assassinating their key allies, chess piece-like for the greater good of the Zionist Entity.

The democracy agreed to feed the niggers in response them rioting against the horror of having to work. Afraid to fight them, how will it keep control when the food is gone?

The old blueprint for this idea comes from medieval Germany. At that time Germany existed within the framework established by the Holy Roman Empire. It was not a peaceful or unified place. Whilst France, Spain, Portugal and Great Britain forged Empires abroad and were stable at home Germany was divided. It was at war with itself. The hundreds of principalities, independent cities, religious factions and ambitious princes all vied with one another for power. The result was chaos, war and slaughter. Jews abounded in central Europe under the protection of different princes and as usual they lent money, supplied weapons and stirred princely ambitions to war. Peasant revolts, factions and heresies abounded. Fortified cities regularly had their inhabitants put to the sword.

Ambitious Barons and prince most impotent Emperors the order to maintain their autonomy and treaties were formed and quickly broken. By the time years war had burned itself out population of Germany was with almost two thirds the population of certain German nations, and property destroyed. The Germans ever after, always believed hankered after strong leadership and unity. That is, of course, until the re-education of recent times.

Similar disunity and chaos even now is being plotted in Europe, for when industrial civilization collapses under its own weight, the Jews plan to permanently divide mankind into warring nations, fighting over scarce resources, and too small and weak to resist them. Economic meltdown brought on by environmental collapse is speculated as a causal root of the French Revolution; it is only a matter of time now before a similar blow shatters the state in the West.

The possibility of a new global Bolshevik revolution fueled by environmentally based economic collapse is not a remote one. The chaos of continuing war mixed with the increasing impotence of states that must claim greater and greater authority to maintain their loosening grip on power is one that, when combined with the overpopulation of the Earth with muds incapable of sustaining themselves may well end in anti-white revolution. Against that possibility, National Socialists must prepare and organize.

The multiracial nightmare world is a world without love, peace, altruism or compassion. But even in a world with few global resources, our people have the ability to reassert our lead. How long it will take to restore our civilization is anyone's guess. It took almost a millennium to recover from the Dark Ages. Do we face a similar nightmare? Not if we can organize our people into a National Socialist state that recognizes the primacy of the creative power of the white race. Such a state of being is inevitable; the question is whether we must survive collapse to attain it.

Sweden's March To Freedom

Day was turning into dusk when I and my fellow nationalists began to gather at the Rönningen train station, where units of police special forces in full 'combat gear' were waiting, patiently expecting us. As passengers disembarked from the trains to join our group they were systematically checked by the se police officers.

Fifty members of a violent antifascist youth group had been organized by the government, with the support of the mass media, to attack our group, launching an ambush in a nearby neighborhood and from a nearby woods. To detect them, police helicopters patrolled the air, shining a searchlight down onto any potential hiding places for the anti-racists. This search took time, and the march's start was delayed from 4 PM to 6 o'clock, as the police tried to locate the reds.

Finally, we were able to begin. We were placed in four lines and everyone was given torches to hold that created a beautiful and somber lighting in the dark. Several people, including many antifascists masquerading as reporters or "independent journalists", had gathered in the streets to watch us parade. Many of these "anti-fascists" took photos and video, hoping to identify dissidents for future state persecution, and a handful of people -- maybe a few dozen -- wore the yellow shirts of the local anti-racists and were carrying the text "Mot Nazism" (Against Nazism). In contrast, on our side, stood a legion of normal people, angry at the continuing abuse of normal people by these abnormal antifa.

A rune symbolic of the tree of life had been erected at the place where Daniel Wretström was murdered. The symbol was decorated with flowers, candles and garlands at the roadside place where Wretstrom has been attacked and left to die one cold night seven years ago.

As the march reached its end, music and speeches began. Guests from as far as the United States and Germany were reminded us how important it is to hold together in the struggle against multiculturalism and for the preservation of our heritage.

The Salem march is a nationalist institution in Sweden which grows in number every year, attracting white activists from across Europe to remember the white musician, Wretstrom, who was murdered by a gang of fifteen immigrants because of his race. This year's event drew over two thousand people, and among the Swedes, Finns, Norwegians, Danes, Germans and Russians joined the march. For those who have never participated, it is one of the most remarkable events in European nationalism.

I had been invited to cover the march for Nationalist Socialist by a group off Swedish patriots, and I was very lucky to meet two members and political activists from the leading Swedish National Socialist organization and political party, the Nationalsocialistisk Front.

Jonas Andersson is a member of National Socialist Front who, for the past two years, has been the province-leader of "Östergötland," which is located in Southern-Sweden. Andresson told me that the NSF maintains a high level of activist across the country at all times, including flyer distributions, lectures and internal study groups, along with regular meetings and demonstrations. Most notably, Andresson told me of their recent big demonstration in Stockholm on the 30th of November for the Swedish king Karl 12th, which drew about 180 national socialist activists.

In October a similar demonstration in Karlshamn drew 150 NSF members. In a July 2007 demonstration for German political prisoner Ernst Zündel, the NSF activists gathered at the German embassy in Stockholm with comrades from the Danish National Socialist party and distributed nearly 500,000 fliers in support of Zündel that week across the country.

Though many NSF activists participated in the Salem march, the NSF as a party was not an endorser of the event, which Andresson told me was over movement difficulties with the Salemfonden organizers, who have ordered that the race issued not be discussed during the event, but that the attack on Wretstrom, who was a white power activists, be framed as an "immigration" issue. As Andresson told us, "We have already strict laws here in Sweden that restrain the free speech and we can't tolerate that it is even more restrained even at a meeting that should be free to discuss the solution of those serious threats against the Swedish people." While the organizers stress the law in Sweden, it is ironic their position is similar to that of many white activists in the United States, who face no legal repression.

Despite the differences, Andresson hopes for reconciliation and NSF participation in the 2008 Salem march, which many NSF activists intend to attend, despite the repeated threats of violence against the event that originate with the governing Swedish socialists. Just a week before Wretström's murder in 2000, Swedish Prime Minister Göran Persson had publicly sent a message to the Swedish nationalists, saying "We shall crush them." To that terrible statement, Andresson responded, "Many torches lights up the darkness in this country and shows that there are men and women still fighting for our people."

Sandra Carlstedt, another NSF member I spoke to, discussed the important role of women in the Nationalsocialistisk Front, which has its own women's section. Carlstedt, who has been active in the NSF for many years, said that women have an important role in the party and they take part in all of the activities that the NSF arranges, from propaganda distribution to demonstrations. As a woman, she feels that National Socialism is an empowering ideology for her race and her sex.

As we concluded the interview, Andersson and Carlstedt are hoping that the readers of National Socialist magazine would check out the following Internet web pages for information on activities, all of which were English translation

OF A DEAD S DEEDS

Griffin's Fame of A Dead Man's Deeds is his authorized biography of William Pierce, former Chairman of the National Alliance, begins with four words: "Havamal:

And kinsmen die,

One die's oneself;

Nothing I know that never dies

Fame of a dead man's deeds.

It is a fitting pre-Christian, Nordic beginning to the life of a man who sought to restore our people to their pre-Christian, Nordic lives.

The book is written for the everyday American to show how a well educated man shared his ideas and influenced others with his intriguing life. Griffin, a former member of the National Alliance, treats Pierce fairly, though without undue adulation, giving strong contrast to media portrayals of the man.

Pierce's personal life is detailed, including his several marriages and his several children, as well as his history of activism, from his work with the John Birch Society to his work in the printing room of George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party. Griffin traces carefully how anti-communism lured Pierce into Birch, but how their refusal to name the Jew drove him out, eventually into the National Youth Alliance, which became the NA.

Griffin also highlights Pierce's sometimes complicated relationships with other white activists, such as Revilo Oliver and Willis Carto. Carto brought Pierce into the National Youth Alliance, but the two parted ways after Pierce gained the leadership of the group. Griffin also notes the strong influence William Gayley Simpson had on Pierce's intellectual development.

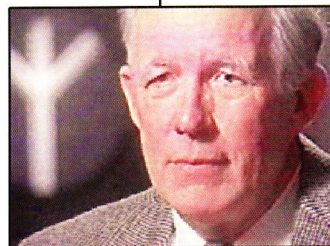

Pierce's religious beliefs, which dominated his early activism but later became less emphasized, are given their own chapter. Griffin details the growth and development of Cosmotheism and how Pierce used the religion to awaken many whites in the Washington, DC area.

Bob Matthews' and the Order's relationship to Pierce is also discussed, including the accusation, made by Matthews' mistress Zillah Craig, that Matthews turned a large sum of money over to Pierce, allowing him to grow the Alliance and purchase, for cash, the group's famous West Virginia headquarters.

Pierce's literary record is also discussed, from his work with "Attack!" to his publication of the Turner Diaries, the alleged "blueprint" for Oklahoma City bomber Timothy McVeigh. Hunter, which Pierce called his "best-written book", and which celebrates the life of Joseph Paul Franklin, is also mentioned, though it never reached the 300,000 copies strong sales of its predecessor.

Griffin's work concludes with an explanation of modern white nationalism, or racialism, that leaves the reader floored with the clarity and honesty of the description. Engaging and accessible, Griffin forgoes the typical media depiction of the movement for a thoughtful and faithful discussion of our philosophy.

Fame of A Dead Man's Deeds is a timely, important and informative work that appeals to both the general reader and the discerning white activist. While it leaves some areas, such as Resistance

Records and the last days of the Alliance, blank, this authorized biography of the man most responsible for the modern white movement is a must-read.
