The Coming of World War III
By Richard T. Osborne

The Plan

The origin of modern plans to continue the great conspiracy of ancient times and to bring it to its fruition in these latter days can be traced to the year 1776 and to the organization of The Order and Sect of The Illuminati.* To unravel the secrets and hidden mysteries of this ancient order and to understand why and how it ever came into being, we begin with the year 1773 and with a man named Amschel Mayer Rothschild.

Amschel Mayer Rothschild's original name was Amschel Mayer Bauer and was born in 1743. His father was Amschel Moses Bauer who was a Jewish goldsmith who had settled in Germany and had established a counting house called "A Red Shield". Red Shield in German is Roth Schild. After his father's death, Amschel Mayer Bauer took over the business and changed his name to Amschel Mayer Rothschild. He had five sons. All were well educated in the field of finance and all became very wealthy. The acquisition of wealth is essential to the success of any criminal conspiracy and especially the means by which they obtain it, namely, the easiest and quickest way. To understand this aspect of this conspiracy, we need to go back to the early 1600's.

In those days, gold was a primary means of exchange. For safekeeping, people would deposit their gold in secure vaults maintained by goldsmiths. The goldsmith would give the people a receipt for their gold. Thereafter, when someone wanted to buy something, they would go to the goldsmith, show their receipt, and withdraw their gold from his vault. However, this procedure was not very convenient. People found it much easier to simply exchange their receipts which the goldsmith made payable to the bearer on demand. Only a few would bother to withdraw their gold to make a purchase. Goldsmiths soon realized how they could profit from this practice. They decided to go into the loan business.

The goldsmiths would loan the gold, which wasn't theirs, charge interest on the loan and keep this as profit. But the person who borrowed the gold would deposit the gold back into the goldsmith's vault for safekeeping and receive his receipt for the gold that he would use as money. The goldsmith would loan that same gold to someone else that would also deposit it in the goldsmith's vault and receive a receipt to be used as money. The goldsmith could hardly believe himself! Here he could loan gold and still have it! All interest charges on the loans were his to keep as profit. This con game worked as long as the real owners of the gold never came to withdraw their gold, or as long as the confidence of the people was maintained.

In 1609, several goldsmiths established the Bank of Amsterdam to carry on their banking business. Then, around 1716, a man named John Law appeared on the scene. Law was a Scotsman who fled to France because he had been convicted of murder in England. He was a professional gambler and became very wealthy. He also noticed that most people exchanged their receipts of deposit rather than withdrawing their gold. Law decided to enter the banking business and began making loans. He too charged interest on the loans and kept this as profit. But Law did not loan out gold. He printed fake receipts in excess of genuine receipts and loaned these out as well. The success of this fraud depended on only a small number of people ever wanting to withdraw their gold from the bank.

In France at this time, there was a shortage of money. Louis XIV had spent France into bankruptcy. Louis XV decided to join with John Law. When Law issued fake receipts (currency) he was increasing the amount of money in circulation. Louis XV thought this would pull France out of its depression. The Royal Bank was established with John Law as its chief stockholder. Law set himself up as a great economist and the people thought he was a hero because France did begin to prosper. But when the public learned that there wasn't enough gold in the vaults to redeem all those receipts, a run on the banks resulted and the Bank collapsed.

England was also suffering from depression and legalized the money lending business in 1690 so the government could borrow needed funds. King William III borrowed $5,000,000 to finance his war against Louis XIV. He later requested to borrow another $6,000,000. Sir John Houblon and William Patterson decided to loan King William the money but on certain terms. They requested that the English Parliament grant them a charter to establish the Bank of England with the right to issue paper currency against the limited gold in its vaults. This was done and in 1694 the Bank of England was established under the leadership of William Patterson and John Houblon. These bankers issued receipts in number far greater than the amount of gold in their vaults. William Patterson boasted, "The bank has benefit to the interest on all monies which it creates out of nothing".

When these bankers loaned out these receipts, charging interest and becoming wealthy from something that cost them nothing to produce, they would influence the governments to pass laws making it illegal for the people to reclaim their gold and thus prevent any runs on the banks. This constituted a theft of the public's gold. (Today in America, these "receipts" are called Federal Reserve Notes.)

Some of the bankers who became very wealthy and powerful out this process were the Rothschilds. They, along with their fellows in the Lodges of Grand Orient Freemasonry, held secret meetings between 1773 and 1776 and entered into a pact that they would henceforth acquire control of the banking systems of the countries of the world. With this accumulation of vast fortune in money, and by resorting to the most unscrupulous of means available, they would obtain control of the wealth, natural resources, and manpower of the entire world. On May 1, 1776, they completed the organization of The Order and Sect of the Illuminati under the leadership of one Adam Weishaupt.* Weishaupt was a professor of Canon Law at the University of Ingolstadt. He was also a member of the Lodge Theodore of Good Council located in Munich, Bavaria. Here and elsewhere, Dr. Weishaupt came into contact with some of the best minds in Europe at that time. Weishaupt was successful in recruiting some of them into the Illuminati. He managed to obtain about 2,000 followers.

At one such meeting in 1773, the concepts, goals, and strategies, which were ultimately to give them control of the world, were presented as follows:

1. Since men are more inclined to do evil than good, they can be governed best by using the crude methods of violence and terrorism rather than by discussion and persuasion.
2. Political freedom is not a fact but just an idea. All that is necessary is to preach "liberalism" and the people will surrender their freedom to a central government for an idea.

*John Robison A.M., "Proofs of a Conspiracy", Western Islands, Belmont Mass., 1967. Originally published in 1798.

3. The power of gold has taken away the power of liberal leaders, even now. It does not matter who will be used to destroy existing governments because whoever it will be will have to seek the aid of money which is entirely in our hands.
4. The use of any means to accomplish our goal is justified.
5. Our might lies in force. We will rebuild existing governments once the people have surrendered their power and authority to the central government for the idea of "liberalism".
6. We will use alcoholic liquors, drugs, and moral corruption of all kinds to corrupt the youth.
7. It should be our policy to cause wars and direct peace conferences so that neither side obtains territorial gains.
8. The power of our sources must remain secret.
9. Wealth should be used to have candidates elected to public office to be used to pass laws favorable to our cause. Our agents operating discreetly behind the scenes of government as experts, specialists and advisors will control politicians.
10. We will use criminals, lunatics, and subversives to create violence and terror upon the masses. After these groups have served their purpose, our agents will appear on the scene and exterminate them thus making ourselves appear as the saviors of the oppressed.
11. We will use our combined wealth to control the press and all outlets of public information and use them to spread propaganda and lies while we remain in the background free of blame.
12. We will use high-sounding phrases and make lavish promises. Afterwards, the opposite can be given.
13. A combination of high taxes, unfair business competition, and monopolies, will bring about the economic ruin of the masses. This will enable us to seize control of natural resources, raw materials, manufacture and distribution of goods. The wealth of the workers will be confiscated through a progressively graduated income tax while the wealthy elite shall remain free of taxation through a system of tax-exempt investments and programs.
14. Industrial depressions and financial panics will be fabricated to create unemployment and want.
15. Create economic war within the nations through higher and higher taxes and by subsidizing competing special interests and minority groups. To get their share from this stimulated greed the masses will destroy their own economy and themselves.
16. By controlling the mobs, any opposition that stands in the way can be eliminated.
17. Infiltrate continental freemasonry and form a secret society within a secret society. Use the Lodges of the Grand Orient a secret headquarters for spreading propaganda.
18. Infiltrate secret agents into all classes of people, in schools and elsewhere, to corrupt the youth by teaching them theories and principles we know to be false.
19. Build up arms between the major powers. Provoke incidents and force them into war so they will destroy each other's governments and weaken their religions.
20. Substitute international arbitration for law.
21. World government is the goal. Nationalism must be destroyed and replaced by an anti-national one-world government, the Novus Ordo Seclorum (New World Order)

A German Illuminist named Von Zwack prescribed the methods by which the agents of the Illuminati were to execute their long-range plans:

1. Use money and sex bribery to obtain control over people who already occupy positions in high places. Once under control, use threats of blackmail, financial ruin, public scandal, and physical harm to keep them under control.

2. Other persons who come under control are to be placed into high positions in government and business as experts, specialists, and advisors and used to influence and control executives at the top to insure they execute the plans of the Illuminati.

3. The agents and members of the Illuminati are to obtain ownership and control over the various media that give information to the public. News is to be altered to persuade the public to accept only those programs that result in the expansion of centralized governmental power as solutions to the many problems they face, those problems having been manufactured by the Illuminati for this very purpose.

Weishaupt wanted to infiltrate all secret societies and bring them under the central control of the Illuminati. Weishaupt wrote:

*"To inspire everywhere a single spirit to direct toward the same object, in deepest silence but with all activity possible, all men scattered over the face of the earth; I have here this problem to solve even in the politics of the States, upon which is established the control of secret societies. Once this domination is established, through the close union and multitude of its members, let force follow the Invisible Empire".**

At the Masonic Convent of Wilhelmsbad in 1782, The Illuminati was merged with the Masons. Only Masons with international leanings were recruited into the Illuminati. The destruction of nationalism and their replacement by an anti-national world government was the goal.

The House of Rothschild

Amschel Mayer Rothschild had five sons. The eldest he named after himself. Amschel Rothschild stayed in Frankfurt Germany with his father. He became Treasurer of the German Confederation and head of the Rothschild bank in Germany. The other sons were Solomon, Nathan, Carl, and James who became the heads of the Rothschild banks in Vienna, England, Italy, and France, respectively. Thus, the Rothschilds had established their banking dynasty throughout England and Europe becoming very wealthy and powerful by loaning money to governments and financing armies and wars. They were major financiers of the Illuminati.

The Illuminati is comprised of individuals of the highest intelligence that can be recruited from the fields of finance, science, government, arts, industry and manufacture, agriculture, communication, transportation, and military. There are probably no more than a few thousand of such people manipulating world events to serve their diabolical purposes. Those who rise through the ranks of the Illuminati through their ruthlessness and effectiveness become members of the Council of Thirty-Three of the Illuminati. This council is the executive committee of the Grand Orient Lodges of Freemasonry.

From these 33 are chosen the Supreme Grand Council of Thirteen. The Chairman of this Council of 13, is the Supreme Leader of the Illuminati.

The Illuminati Exposed

The plans of the Illuminati were ultimately exposed and made public by the government of Bavaria in 1786. Plans for the involvement of the Illuminati in a revolution in France were found on a courier who was killed while delivering the documents from Frankfort Germany to agents in Paris France. It is said that the courier's death was an act of God since he was struck and killed by lightning as he rode by horseback through Ratisbon. After studying the subversive documents the Bavarian police raided the Lodges of the Grand Orient and found further evidence of the conspiracy. In 1785 the Bavarian Government outlawed the Illuminati and, in 1786, published the details of the conspiracy as "The Original Writings of the Order and Sect of the Illuminati"*

Writing in "Occult Theocracy", Lady Queenborough (Edith Starr Miller Paget, Baroness Queenborough) documented the continuing Luciferian conspiracy from the dawn of man to the present generation.** She says that Benjamin Goldsmid, his brother Abraham, and their partner Moses Mecatta and his nephew Sir Moses Montifiore, were Jewish financiers in England who were affiliated with the agents of the Illuminati who fomented the French Revolution in 1789. Further evidence shows Daniel Itsig of Berlin, David Friedlander and Herz Gergbeer of Alsace, and the Rothschilds were in with the plot. These would be some of the Jews who constituted the secret power behind the world's revolutionary movements. Perhaps one of the most horrible things about the French Revolution was the "reign of terror" which depopulated France by several hundred thousand and which was designed to subjugate the remainder of the population.***

In order to infiltrate into the Masonic lodges in England, one John Robison was invited by Illuminists to Europe for possible recruitment. Robison was a high degree Mason in the Scottish Rite. He was also a professor of natural philosophy at Edinburg University, and Secretary to the Royal Society of Edinburg. Robison did not agree to the plot but kept his convictions to himself. Later Weishaupt entrusted Robison with a copy of the original conspiracy for study. After the French Revolution, Robison wrote his monumental expose of the conspiracy to warn the world of the Illuminati. Robison's work was widely circulated in England and Europe under the title, "Proofs of A Conspiracy to Destroy all Governments and Weaken Religions".

The Illuminati was founded on the humanist principle that all forms of life are simply "God" manifesting himself as these forms and therefore all is God and God is all. Any sense of self is an illusion, they say, and is a form of separatism, separating oneself from the "oneness", the "allness", and the "onlyness" of God. Humanism is thus the source of all collectivism and equalitarianism. It is a view that private ownership of property, gender consciousness, tribal consciousness, and nationalism, are all forms of separatism and must be destroyed in order to awaken man to the God consciousness.

Along with their humanist view of life, is their insidious use and practice of occult magick and sorcery that have been handed down through the ages of time in the old Jewish texts known as Kaballah, or Cabalism. The Illuminati practice certain rites of Cabalism that they believe empowers them with spiritual illumination making them intellectually superior to the remainder of mankind. They have used sorcery, magick and incantations from the days of the Egyptian Empire down to the present to obtain their power over the world. Their dedication to the destruction of individualism and nationalism and a public declaration of their hand in these things, comes to us from their own writings. As an example, the 20th century occultist, Alice Bailey, a favorite of the present-day Lucis Trust, writing in her thick tome, "A Treatise on White Magic", declares:

"Close to our earth, on the road to rebirth, is a great Life in process of taking etheric form. This Life, being on the evolutionary arc is having a real effect in the inauguration of the New Age. This effect is two-fold: through the emanations from the astral body of this great Life, the work of breaking down the separative wall of individualism which demonstrates in man as selfishness, and in nations as nationalism, is carried forward." (Page 313)

"Revolt, the formation of political parties, the class warfare which is so rampant today, and the splitting of every country into warring political groups, though sporadic always, have become universal during the past two hundred years, and are all the results of the group activity started by the Masters. Men have grown thereby and have learnt how to think, and even though they may think wrongly and may initiate disastrous experiments, the ultimate good is inevitable and unavoidable. Temporary discomforts, passing depressions, war and bloodshed, penury and vice may lead the unthinking into the depths of pessimism. But those who know and who sense the inner guiding hand of the Hierarchy are aware that the heart of humanity is sound and that out of the present chaos, and perhaps largely because of it, there will emerge those competent to deal with the situation and adequate to the task of unification and synthesis." (Page 409) (Emphasis added)

Bailey continues with what she sees as their purpose:

*"This period has been occultly called the "age of restoration of what has been broken by the fall". The time has come when the separate parts can be re-united and the whole stand together again in its earlier perfection". (p. 409)**

This last paragraph, above, illustrates the confusion among occultists over the issue of the subjective and the objective. Philosophers have long argued for a withdrawal from objective existence and a return to some purely subjective state. But the Christian concept of a literal resurrection, wherein the object and the subject become one and eternally inseparable by a process of re-birth, is quite the opposite view from that of the occultist who babbles on about returning to some previous state of subjective existence. Bailey smugly dismisses the suffering heaped upon mankind as a result of their schemes to reconstruct the world according to their ideas, as though she were casually referring to re-arranging the furniture in her living room. As destroyers of civilization, they are a menace to the world.

The American Colonies

While the Rothschilds and other wealthy Illuminists had gained significant financial control over the governments in Europe, and had succeeded in getting many agents of the Illuminati placed into strategic positions in those governments, they had not held controlling interests in the American colonies. Amschel Rothschild had boasted: "Give me control of a nation's money supply, then I care not who makes the laws".

In 1770, the American colonies were doing very well. Benjamin Franklin gave the following reason for this prosperity:

"In the Colonies we issue our own money. It is called Colonial Script. We issue it in proper proportion to the demands of trade and industry."

In those days, the production of gold and silver increased the money supply and subsequently the demand for an increase in the production of real wealth. Today, the money supply is increased through the lending process. Loans are issued on the basis of real production. As long as this is done, the amount of money in circulation remains consistently proportional to the demands of trade and industry, and stability in the buying power of the dollar is maintained. Growth is steadfast. However, when private investors are allowed to buy into the banking system, extracting a return on their investments, economic havoc results as they pursue their profits. When they are kept out, by the government providing banking as a public service free of interest charges, the people prosper.

As long as the American colonies issued their own money, the bankers and the Illuminati could not control them by manipulating their economy. However, the American colonies were still under the control of the King of England who was corrupt.

The Rothschilds wanted the English King to forbid the colonies from issuing their own currency and, instead, surrender it to English banks controlled by the Rothschilds in exchange for British currency. The Rothschilds had been financing the King's mercenary troops and enjoyed great favor with the King. The Rothschilds got their way and the King required that all the colonial money had to be turned over to the Bank of England so that the exchangers at the Bank could issue the colonies English currency they would now use. However, the exchangers would only give the colonies half the value of their Colonial Script. They kept the other half as profits. This fattened the King's treasury along with the Jewish bankers but this reduced the supply of money in the colonies by half causing a deflation of the currency that devalued real wealth and threw the colonies into an economic depression. Many people became unemployed or lost their business. Of this situation, Ben Franklin said:

"The Bank of England refused to give more than 50% of the face value of the Script when turned over as required by law. The circulating medium of exchange was thus reduced by half. In one year, the conditions were so reversed that the era of prosperity ended, and a depression set in, to such an extent, that the streets of the Colonies were filled with unemployed."

One of the primary causes of the Revolutionary War was economic freedom. Franklin continues:

"The Colonies would gladly have borne the little tax on tea and other matters had it not been that England took away from the colonies their money which created unemployment and dissatisfaction. The refusal of King George to operate on an honest colonial money system which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the manipulators, was probably the prime cause of the revolution".

The American Nation

After the war ended, the Americans began a new free country, free from the manipulations of private bankers. The U.S. Constitution was written to say: "Congress shall have power to coin money and regulate the value thereof". While our medium of exchange has changed through the years, the principle of this Article of the Constitution is that the national government will issue the nation's money, determine its value, and provide this as a public service. Today, the lending process creates money. Loans are made through banks. It is logical therefore that for Congress to exercise this power there must be a national banking system, a standard medium of exchange, and loans must be made without interest charges. If a national bank is exclusively owned by the government and operated as a public service, free from private investors, then money is loaned free of interest allowing all citizens regardless of income to afford a loan. Being free from the demands of private investors also enables the government to maintain a stable buying power of the dollar by issuing money only in proportion to the demands of trade and industry, meaning, that the supply of money is increased by lending in direct proportion to the increase in the production of the real wealth that secures the loans. When this happens, a consistent value of the money is maintained, economic growth occurs in a consistent and steadfast way, and the people prosper.

Jewish bankers, however, wanted the new government to establish a new central banking system and to sell interest-bearing bonds to private investors to raise some of the money to finance it, allowing the investors to profit from public lending through the imposition of interest charges on loans. This is like allowing termites to settle within the walls of your home. With private investors comes speculation on future values. With interest charges come situations of easy money and tight money and the subsequent ups and downs of the so-called business cycle. Periods of prosperity are followed by recessions and depressions with bankers whip-sawing through the economy confiscating property and businesses from the people. Private investors care only about their investment returns and confiscated property, not the welfare of the nation off of whom they feed. This process enables them to acquire huge fortunes at the expense of the people. This is the curse of Jewish capitalism. The making of money on money instead of on real production is a practice that enables such parasites to accumulate enormous fortunes unearned by real work. It upsets the otherwise stable workings of an honest money system, and introduces into society a new elite class known as the bourgeois. They are the swindlers of the world. Of this, Thomas Edison would later say: "If the nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The difference is, the bond fattens the usurer while the bill leaves the people with their money in their own pocket."

Any system that places the issue of the nation's money at the mercy of private investors, is illegal under the Constitution. A stooge of the Illuminati, Alexander Hamilton advocated the chartering of a national bank with private bankers as major investors. The revenues in the U.S. Treasury were also deposited in the Bank and thus the government partnered with private investors, thus prostituting itself to the hustlers. Some 35 million dollars in interest-bearing bonds were issued to English and European banks to raise funds to finance the new Bank of The United States. At first, credit was expanded with easy loans for mortgaged property but then credit was tightened, outstanding loans were called in, and the amount of money in circulation was greatly reduced. Mortgaged properties were confiscated. After a depression set in Thomas Jefferson said:

"I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set government at defiance. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people to whom it properly belongs."

Hamilton was enticed into a duel with Aaron Burr and shot to death. Burr, along with Andrew Jackson and Daniel Clark would later make the first attempt to seize Texas, California, and Mexico from Spain.

The charter for the Bank was due to expire in 1811 and threats like this from Jefferson made the bankers afraid that the Bank's charter might not be renewed. Nathan Rothschild, of the Bank of England, threatened the United States: "Either the application for renewal of the charter is granted or the United States will find itself involved in a most disastrous war. We will teach these impudent Americans a lesson and bring them back to Colonial status."

Accordingly, the British instigated the War of 1812 by kidnapping American sailors. While England did not succeed in bringing the United States back to colonial status, the American economy was devastated and the charter for the Bank of The United States was renewed in 1816 and, again, on borrowed money from European and English banks.

Andrew Jackson

In 1828, Andrew Jackson was elected President of the United States. Jackson was a Democrat and aware of the problems with private bankers and leveled this charge against them; two Jewish bankers in particular, Anthony Drexel and Nicholas Biddle: "You are a den of thieves--vipers. I intend to rout you out and, by the eternal God, I will rout you out!"

In 1832, Andrew Jackson, upon re-election, effectively abolished the Bank of the United States by removing federal deposits and returning them to the national Treasury. At this time, Nicholas Biddle was President of the Bank of the United States. He secured this position as one of the conditions for acquiring money from private investors to finance the Bank. James Rothschild of Paris backed him. Biddle claimed that when Jackson removed the federal deposits from the Bank, the Bank was forced to call in loans and stop lending. Again, recession set in. While Biddle blamed Jackson for the economic slump, Jackson told the people, "Go to Nicholas Biddle!". Jackson convinced the American people that one man in charge of a central bank was too powerful if he could cause a depression by manipulating the amount of money in circulation through the expansion and then contraction of credit, which Biddle had done before Jackson was elected.

The goal of the Illuminati is world government with them running it. In order to persuade the masses to except world government, all existing governments would have to be destroyed through a succession of wars and revolutions. This would cause the people of the world to cry for peace. The world government was then be offered as the only way to obtain peace by preventing further wars through the application of international law, determined by the Illuminati.

Blueprint For World War

In 1829, a year before Weishaupt's death, the Illuminati met in New York. A British Illuminist named Frances "Fanny" Wright addressed the meeting. She was a Scot who came to America in 1818. She opposed slavery, the influence of churches in politics, favored women's suffrage, birth control, and free public education. She sought to accomplish these objectives by transferring power from the States to the national government in order to achieve a national standard and, thus, the real core of her issues was States' rights, not the issues themselves. It was at this meeting in 1829 that it was decided to unite all the various revolutionary groups and all nihilist and atheist groups into one revolutionary body to be known as Communism. Illuminists Clinton Roosevelt, Horace Greeley, and Charles Dana raised funds to sponsor a European Jew, Karl Marx, to write the Communist Manifesto.

After the death of Adam Weishaupt, a Sicilian Jew named Giuseppe Mazzini (Mazzi) became the leader of the Illuminati in 1834. He established in Switzerland the headquarters of the World Revolutionary Movement, now organized into Communism. To communize the world into a collectivized state without national boundaries was the goal of world communism and the Illuminati behind it. The Illuminati became the upper level of the conspiracy comprised of financiers, industrialists, scientists, etc., who would direct the world conspiracy. Communism, or the militant factions, became the lower level of the conspiracy, with mutual cooperation between the various leaders of each.

Mazzini is said to have been instrumental in organizing the MAFIA as an underground criminal organization as a means of raising large amounts of cash through vice, corrupting public officials, and executing assassinations and other means of violent intimidation to keep people under their control. Such people come mostly from Sicily. They are not really Italians in the traditional sense of the word. Sicily was largely uninhabited back around 70 AD when the Romans sacked Jerusalem and exiled many of the Edomite Jews to Sicily. While posing as Italians, many of the world's sordid crime figures are actually Sicilian Jews. Mazzi evidently changed his name to Mazzini to appear Italian. Other Edomite Jews escaped to Eastern Europe and Asia and were later absorbed by the great Khazar Kingdom. To Europeans they later became known as Ashkenazim Jews, which are a mixed breed of non-Semitic Edomite Turks, and Finns.* Other Edomites migrated to Spain where they practiced black magick and were subsequently expelled, fleeing to Turkey. Spain in Hebrew is Sepharad, hence Sephardim Jews. These tribes were noted for their complete lack of ethics in commerce and were ultimately expelled from most European countries. The Illuminati of today have descended mostly from these tribes.

In 1840, Mazzini recruited the infamous Jew, Albert Pike, into the Illuminati. Pike became the Great Sovereign Pontiff of Universal Masonry. He established three Supreme Councils of the New and Reformed Palladian Rite throughout the U.S. and Europe to serve as his secret headquarters. He also became the head of Scottish Rite Masonry. He published his thick occult tome, "Morals and Dogma" which clearly shows the man to be of the Luciferian doctrine, to use the power of the occult, sorcery, wizardry, and witchcraft to bring about his "final social cataclysm".* While many true principles of natural philosophy have been preserved down through the ages such as animal magnetism, hermetic philosophy and some of the Rosicrucian teachings, it is how they are used that ultimately determines whether a person is on the side of good or evil. It is also true that the mingling of them with false man-made ideas has corrupted many of the original secrets of nature revealed to Old Testament prophets.

Albert Pike examined the world situation at that time and then formulated a strategy on his "international chessboard" that involved three world wars and revolutions to overthrow all existing orders and that would give to the Jewish Illuminati total power over the world. At the time, the Russians had long since conquered the Khazar Jews and had confined them to the Pale of Settlement. Pike wrote that World War I would be fought to weaken Europe and to enable the Jews to overthrow the Czarist regime in Russia and to seize control of that country as their first conquest. The Russians were to be held captive by Marxist Communism. War between the European nations was used to weaken their power and render them unable to aid the failing Czar once the Revolution got under way. World War I also destroyed the Ottoman Empire, opening the way for the Jewish takeover of Palestine.

World War II was designed to expand the conquest of the Eastern hemisphere by two thrusts. One was to conquer the continent of Europe and destroy European nationalism. The second was to conquer the hordes of Asia, beginning with China. A consolidated Eastern Front led by Russia and China would then be formed. At the end of World War II, a sovereign Jewish state was to be established in Palestine to enable the Jews to move from Russia, and from other countries, into their new headquarters for world domination. World War III is to be fought between the Eastern Front under Russia and China, and the Western Front under the U.S., Canada, and Britain. Europe is to serve as a balance of power to insure that neither side wins. The war is intended to bring about worldwide destruction and chaos and to enable Zionist Jewry and their Illuminati to emerge as the undisputed rulers of the world.

The three revolutions that Pike included with this world strategy were, first, a Jewish revolution in Russia which occurred in 1917; secondly, a Jewish takeover of Palestine which occurred in 1948; and thirdly, a provoked Islamic revolution that would provide the spark to ignite World War III and a pretext for the destruction of the Islamic mid-eastern countries which are then to be absorbed into a new Greater Israel.

On August 15, 1871 Pike wrote letters to Mazzini stating what was to follow World War III:

"We shall unleash the Nihilists and the Atheists, and we shall provoke a formidable social cataclysm which in all its horror will show clearly to all nations the effect of absolute atheism, origin of savagery and of most bloody turmoil. Then everywhere, the people, obliged to defend themselves against the world minority of revolutionaries, will exterminate those destroyers of civilization, and the multitude, disillusioned with Christianity, whose deistic spirits will be from that moment without direction, anxious *Things are coming to a head. The priesthood of God will soon have to contend with this evil power in order to defeat their plans.

for an ideal, but without knowing where to send its adoration, will receive the true light through the universal doctrine of Lucifer, brought finally out into public view, a manifestation which will result from a general reactionary movement which will result in the destruction of Christianity and atheism, both conquered and exterminated at the same time." *

On July 14, 1889 Pike wrote instructions to his Palladian Councils:

"That which we say to the crowd is, 'we worship God'. But it is the God that one worships without superstition. The religion should be, by all us initiates of the high degrees, maintained in the purity of the Luciferean doctrine...Yes! Lucifer is God. And unfortunately Adonay is God also for the eternal law is that there is no light without shade, no beauty without ugliness, no white without black, for the absolute can only exist as two gods. Thus, the doctrine of Satanism is a heresy: and the true and pure philosophical religion is the belief in Lucifer, the equal of Adonay: but Lucifer, God of Light, and God of Good, is struggling for humanity against Adonay, the God of Darkness and Evil".

That all who oppose Christianity are atheists, is a lie as the above quote reveals. It is a lie circulated to hide the secret plans of the High Priests of the Luciferean Priesthood who direct the Synagogue of Satan so that the human race still finds it difficult to establish on earth the plan of God as revealed to our first earth parents in the Garden of Eden.

In 1876, the Prime Minister of England, Benjamin D'Israeli observed:

"The governments of this century not only have to deal with governments, with Emperors, with Kings and with Ministers, but even with Secret Societies which may at the last moment nullify their orders for they have agents everywhere, unscrupulous agents who instigate assassinations and may, if it is necessary, perpetrate a slaughter."

When Mazzini died, he was succeeded by a Jew banker, Adriano Lemmi who was succeeded by two other Jews, Lenin (Hiam Goldmann) and Trotsky (Levi Bronstein). The plans for three world wars that were drawn up by the Illuminati as revealed in the writings of Albert Pike, are to enable them to destroy all existing governments and religious institutions and raise in their stead, their New World Order.

The Lincoln War

As previously stated, President Andrew Jackson abolished the central Bank of the United States in 1832. However, the Illuminati continued their efforts to obtain control of the American money supply. In 1861, Salmon P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury under Lincoln, proposed a plan to centralize banking in the United States as part of the Republican agenda. Chase proposed that a system of national banks be set up to issue national banknotes backed solely by interest-bearing federal bonds. The South opposed central banking and the newly formed Republican Party that was founded by Communists, Whigs, social busybodies, and Free Soilers like Martin van Buren, America's first Jewish President.

*From letters cataloged in the British Museum Library according to Cardinal Rodriguez, which have since disappeared.

The Republican Party favored the protective tariff to protect big northern industry. The tariff was to be increased on farming implements that the South was importing from England and Europe. The tariff was intended to sufficiently raise the price of imports so as to force the South to buy from the North. The South opposed this imposition, favoring free trade. After Lincoln's election, the tariff was tripled*

The Republicans advocated free Federal land grants, and other subsidies, to the railroads and to large corporations, land that laid within the boundaries of the separate States. The South opposed this Federal seizure of State lands and their give-away to private railroad companies and other big business. As did other States, Southern States also opposed centralized banking, preferring State owned banks that issued their own currency against deposits of coin, thus providing another means of preserving State sovereignty. The new National Banking Act was designed to bring banking under Federal Control by creating a central bank and by Federally taxing State currency at the rate of 10% to discourage its use, forcing State banks to close.* The South threatened secession if Lincoln won the Presidency.

Abraham Lincoln was the son of Nancy Hanks and A.A. Springs, or Springstein, a relative of the Rothschilds. He became America's second Jewish President. He was born in Lincoln, North Carolina, hence the name Lincoln. He dressed like an undertaker and posed a very ominous creature. In the August 24, 1965 issue of National Review magazine, editor Frank Meyer assessed Lincoln thusly:

"Under the spurious slogan of Union, Lincoln...moved at every point...to consolidate central power and render nugatory the autonomy of the states. It is on his shoulders that the responsibility for the war must be placed. We all know his gentle words, 'with malice toward none, with charity toward all', but his actions belie this rhetoric." Here Meyer referred to Lincoln's "win at any cost" strategy, his refusal to consider a negotiated peace, his imposition of a "repressive dictatorship" in the North and the "brigand campaigns waged against civilians by Sherman" in the South. "Were it not for the wounds that Lincoln inflicted upon the Constitution, it would have been infinitely more difficult for Franklin Roosevelt to carry through his revolution [and] for the coercive welfare state to come into being ...Lincoln, I would maintain, undermined the constitutional safeguards of freedom as he opened the way to centralized government with all its attendant political evils."

Thomas J. DiLorenzo, author of The Real Lincoln writes: "As soon as Lincoln took office the old Whig coalition finally controlled the entire government. It immediately tripled the average tariff rate, began subsidizing the building of a transcontinental railroad in California even though a desperate war was being waged, and on February 25, 1862, the Legal Tender Act empowered the Secretary of the Treasury to issue paper money ("greenbacks") that were not immediately redeemable in gold or silver...and a 10 percent tax was placed on state bank notes to drive them out of business and establish a federal monetary monopoly. The government's paper money flooded the banks so that by July 1864 greenback dollars were worth a mere 35 cents in gold."

The Constitutional freedom of which Meyer writes was written by the White Christians who founded the United States to secure the freedom to be who we are, the freedom to enjoy living our own culture amongst our own folk, to be free to live in a moral society, free from alien interference of any kind, the freedom to propagate our specie and to have sufficient land to live on. The Liberal equalitarian social engineering of today, creating national standards “without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin,” is a subtle way of requiring associations on the grounds that to choose otherwise is unlawful discrimination. Our Constitution was written the way it is precisely because of the race and creed of the people who wrote it, namely White Anglo-Saxon Protestants. Roman Catholics and Hottentots would have never written such a document. Freedom of association and its twin, freedom from association, are the basis of human dignity. Freedom of choice is a right secured by the 1st, 9th, and 10th amendments of our Constitution that decentralized our government. (The 1st is a restriction on the national Congress, the 9th and 10th reserve such issues of human relations to the States and to the people as individuals.) Lincoln’s tenure in public office, and the 14th Amendment that followed, was the beginning of the Jewish war on the White Christian people in America.

After Lincoln’s election by only a plurality of the popular vote, about 28% in a four-way split, the South began to secede, confiscating federal property within their States. When the militia in Charleston, South Carolina demanded the surrender of Ft. Sumter, the Captain of the Fort refused. When supplies ran low, Lincoln provoked the militia by threatening military reprisal if they blocked further supplies from reaching the Fort. The militia then leveled the Fort forcing a surrender. Lincoln used this local incident as a pretext for war against the South to crush State opposition to centralization of power in the Federal Government and in big business, the Republican agenda.

In 1863, The National Banking Act was passed by Congress and signed into law by President Lincoln centralizing control of the nation’s money supply in a national bank partnered with private investors. Lincoln then issued credit by fiat, the Greenbacks, to finance his war, inflating and subsequently devaluing the currency. The ruthless warmonger Lincoln was shot to death by his patriotic southern wife, Mary Todd, as he sat sleeping with his head on her shoulder at Ford’s Theater.* The doctors who examined Lincoln found the bullet to have entered through Lincoln’s left ear and lodged behind his right eye. Lincoln was not shot in the back of his head. The Jew Booth (Botha) arrived too late to save Lincoln and was thrown off the balcony by Major Rathbone. There were two simultaneously occurring conspiracies; those who opposed Lincoln and those who opposed Sam Johnson.

After the War, many Jewish bankers rose to high positions of wealth and power. Nicholas Biddle was one of them. Anthony Drexel was another. One of the most well known was J.P.Morgan (Morganthau). Biddle and Drexel housed their banks in Philadelphia while J.P. Morgan became the king of Wall Street. Other Jewish banking houses were Kuhn-Loeb, Lehman Brothers, Goldman-Sachs, Brown Brothers, and the Rockefellers.

Unification of the West

In 1891, British Jews Cecil Rhodes, the Rothschilds, Lionel Curtis, William Stead, Geoffrey Dawson, Earl Grey, Leopold Amery, Alfred Beit and other wealthy and influential Jews met and organized the Royal Institute on International Affairs (the R.I.I.A.) In America, the wealthy Jew Edward Mendel House, who would later be Woodrow Wilson’s advisor, organized the American Institute on International Affairs (the A.I.I.A.), later changed to the Council on Foreign Relations (the C.F.R.). Through these groups, and the dainties at the Fabian Socialist club, the Illuminati would control and formulate foreign policy of the western powers.

Around 1900 the House of Rothschild sent two people, Jacob Schiff and Paul Warburg, to America to form an alliance with Wall Street so they could take control of the nation's money supply and subsequently the country. Paul Warburg came from Germany where his banking house of M.M. Warburg is located. Upon arriving in America, both Jacob Schiff and Paul Warburg bought partnerships in Kuhn-Loeb & Co. Schiff later bought out Kuhn's interest. The Rothschild's furnished Schiff the money he needed and it was Jacob Schiff who financed the Standard Oil Company for John D. Rockefeller, the Railroad empire for Edward R. Harriman, and the Steel Industry for Andrew Carnegie.* Schiff also arranged for loans to J.P. Morgan, Biddle and Drexel.

Around 1900, the Rothschilds obtained their desired alliance with Wall Street. In 1869, J.P.Morgan and Anthony Drexel went to England and concluded an agreement with N.M. Rothschild Co. that J.P.Morgan Company would henceforth act as their agent. Thus Drexel Company of Philadelphia, J.P. Morgan Company of New York, Grenfell and Company of London, and Morgan Harjes of Paris, transacted Rothschild business after 1869. J.P.Morgan's father, J.S. Morgan, was a partner of George Peabody who were the financial agents of the Federal Government in London during the Lincoln War. Then, in 1901, J.P.Morgan and Kuhn-Loeb & Co., formed their alliance known as the Northern Securities Company.

In 1913, the bankers held a meeting on Jekyll Island, Georgia and produced the Federal Reserve System. These men controlled the oil, railroads, communications, and heavy industry of the country. They bought and sold newspapers and publishing houses at their pleasure. They financed the campaigns of politicians and judges and had agents in all levels of government to do their bidding. They set up 12 privately owned national banks as the stockholders of the new Federal Reserve Corporation.

The Illuminati Again Exposed

In 1905, the Original Writings of the Illuminati that had been published by the Bavarian government, were re-printed by a Russian Professor S. Nilus under the title of "The Jewish Peril". They were later translated into English and published by Victor Marsden as "The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion". As the title indicates, they are the plans by which Zionist Jews seek to dominate the world. They view the whole world as Zion and they seek to rule it. It was Zionist Jews who fostered the Illuminati, recruiting by bribes and favors anyone into their ranks who would serve their purpose. They are distinguished from the many non-Zionist Jews and anti-Zionist Jews who oppose Jewish Zionism.**

Skeptics say that the "Protocols" are a forgery but they never cite an original writing from which they are supposedly forged. Investigations into the Illuminati and their writings, however, produce sufficient evidence to show that the "Protocols" are, in fact, the very writings of the Jewish Zionists who organized the Illuminati in 1776 as documented by the Bavarian police who investigated the criminal conspiracy, as well as by investigations by historian Nesta Webster pertaining to the causes of the French Revolution of 1789.

Properly speaking, a Jew is a descendent of the Israelite tribe of Judah. They, and the tribe of Benjamin, constituted the Biblical Kingdom of Judah that was taken captive by the Babylonians. These Judahites escaped Babylon and returned to Palestine settling in Galilee and Judea and were living there when Jesus appeared. The many Judahites who accepted Christ became known thereafter as Christians and, as a result of persecution, fled Palestine and spread Christianity throughout Europe and Britain.

Most people commonly called Jews today, however, are not descendants of Israelite tribes but rather descend from Esau and his Canaanite wives. The Bible refers to the descendants of Esau as Edomites, or Idumeans. They were also conquered by the Babylonians and shared captivity with Judah. At the time of Christ, they occupied southern Palestine and Judea. Herod the King was an Edomite.* The Sadducees were also Edomites. Under Herod was the Sanhedrin. The Herods also founded the Herodians, a political party in alliance with the scribes and Pharisees, that later produced the Talmud.

Also descending from Esau are the Turks who fled from the Chin rulers in China and settled in southern Russia and founded the great Khazar Kingdom. The Khazars later accepted Judaism in preference to Christianity or Islam. When the Romans sacked Judea in 70 AD, some of the Edomite Jews were exiled to Sicily while most, over the years that followed, fled northward settling among the Khazar Jews while others settled in Spain. From these tribes came the Ashkenazim and Sephardim Jews which presently make up most of what the world today calls Jews.** Zionist Jews are mostly descendants of these non-Semitic tribes. They established the Illuminati to further their plans to rule the world. They later founded the counterfeit state of Israel as a sovereign state or headquarters from which to rule.

WORLD WAR I: The Wilson War

The German statesman, Bismarck, created the Triple Alliance. The alliance was between Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. France became concerned because of her isolation and formed an alliance with England and Russia, forming the Triple Entente. Serbia was also an ally to Russia.

During a meeting in Switzerland in 1912, the Illuminati decided to assassinate the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand. The Archduke was a powerful foe to the Illuminati in Europe. Serbian Freemasons executed the plot. On September 15, 1912, the "Revue Internationale des Societies Secretes", edited by M. Jouin, published the following on Pages 787-788:

"Perhaps light will be shed one day on these words spoken by a high Swiss Freemason. While discussing the subject to the heir of the throne of Austria, he said 'The Archduke is a remarkable man. It is a pity that he is condemned. He will die on the steps of the throne'."

On June 28th, 1914, almost two years later, the Archduke was assassinated. On October 12, 1914, at the trial of the assassins, the military court questioned Cabrinovic who threw the first bomb at the Archduke's car:

The President: "Tell me something more about the motives. Did you know, before deciding to attempt the assassination, that Tankosie and Ciganovic were Freemasons? Had the fact that you and they were Freemasons an influence on your resolve?"

Cabrinovic: "Yes".

The President: "Did you receive from them the mission to carry out the assassination?"

Cabrinovic: "I received from noone the mission to carry out the assassination. Freemasonry had to do with it because it strengthened my intention. In Freemasonry it is permitted to kill. Ciganovic told me that the Freemasons had condemned the Archduke Franz Ferdinand to death more than a year before."

In "Im-Welt Krieg", Count Czerin, an intimate friend of the Archduke says:

"The Archduke knew quite well that the risk of an attempt on his life was imminent. A year before the war he informed me that the Freemasons had resolved on his death."

As a result of the assassination, Austria declared war on Serbia. Austria was backed by her ally, Germany. Serbia was backed by her ally Russia, and Russia by France. Austrian troops invaded Serbia. Russian armies advanced toward Germany. German armies advanced on Russia and France. Italy changed sides and joined the Alliance with France, England, and Russia. This left Germany fighting on two fronts, the Russians on one side and the French on the other. England became so weakened by the war that no help could be given to the Czar in Russia when the Bolshevik revolution took on full force there. The Bolsheviks seized the moment and toppled the Czarist regime. Russia, then, having exhausted herself, pulled out of the war leaving Germany's full strength to be directed toward France.

England's failure to deliver arms and munitions to Russia caused Russia to suffer severe military reverses. Newspapers reported that Russian troops were fighting with sticks and bare fists and were slaughtered by well-armed German troops. A letter written by Professor Bernard Pares to Lloyd George substantiates the fact that England delivered no arms to Russia. Pares stated in the letter that, "I am definitely told that so far no supplies whatever have reached Russia from England". These supplies were supposed to have been furnished by Vickers-Maxim & Co. However, this company was run by Sir Ernest Cassels, a business associate of Kuhn-Loeb & Co. of New York that was affiliated with the House of Rothschild. By 1917, the Russian Imperial Army had suffered nearly 3,000,000 casualties. The Illuminati had sabotaged England's efforts to aid Russia in order to bring about the Bolshevik Revolution that would result in turning Russia into the stronghold of Communism.

According to his grandson, Jacob Schiff of Kuhn-Loeb & Co. of New York, deposited $50,000,000 in the Bank of Sweden to the credit of Lenin and Trotsky to finance the Revolution in Russia.* Trotsky, who had been expelled by the Czar, was training a cadre of about 300 as leaders for the Revolution. With funds from Jacob Schiff, Trotsky set sail for Europe but was detained by Canadian officials in Halifax Nova Scotia. The power of the Illuminati was demonstrated here by the fact that upon protest, Trotsky and his gang were released and given safe conduct across the British Blockade Zone. Finally, Trotsky met with Lenin and his crew in Switzerland.

Max Warburg of Germany, brother to Paul Warburg of New York, was the Chief of Germany's Secret Police. He was also financing Germany's side of the war through his banking house of M.M. Warburg of Germany. He arranged to have Trotsky, Lenin, and their cadre transported across Germany and into Russia by rail. After much fighting, the Bolshevik's toppled the Kerensky Regime. In Russia, the Weinsteins of Odessa assisted the Ginzbergs in St. Petersburg in sabotaging the Czarist regime.

Meanwhile Germany was winning the war against France and England. Had Germany won the war against them, she would have then turned on Russia to wipe out the Communist menace there. It was therefore necessary to get aid to England and France to insure a German defeat, or rather a draw. To accomplish this, the United States was drawn into the conflict.

Entering the scene from the political Left, came a sly cunning college Professor named Woodrow Wilson, real name Wolfsohn. A Sephardim Jew, he became America's third Jewish President. As a willing stooge of the Illuminati, Wilson and another sly and cunning Jew, Winston Churchill, arranged for the sinking of the Lusitania that was packed with guns and munitions headed for England.*

In 1917, Wilson manipulated the United States into this internal European conflict blabbering something about wanting "to make the world safe for Democracy". There is nothing in the U.S. Constitution, however, that authorizes an idiot President, or Congress for that matter, to go to war for such a purpose. Writing in "The Federal Reserve Conspiracy", the author, Eustace Mullins observes:

"Our loans to the Allies during the two and a half years before our entry into the First World War were more accurately acts of aggression than our belated shipments of troops in 1917, after Wilson's declaration of war had given an air of legality to the farce. By 1917, the Morgans and Kuhn-Loeb had floated a billion and a half dollars worth of loans to the allies in bonds sold by the big financiers of New York. (This would be like spending a hundred billion dollars today.) Those bankers spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to get us into the war, using publicity from the Commission for Relief in Belgium, that manufactured atrocity stories, and The League to Enforce Peace, a Carnegie organization, that agitated for war. By sending shipload after shipload of munitions to England and France, we provoked Germany into sinking those munitions ships, and one such vessel, the Lusitania, was sunk. American lives were lost, but the goods on board, ammunition from Cleveland H. Dodge's Remington and Winchester arms plants, were paid for. This was nothing, however, compared to the American lives, which would be thrown away in France or the fortunes, which would be made from the deaths of our soldiers.

"On March 5, 1917, Walter Hines Page (Ambassador to Britain) sent a confidential letter to Woodrow Wilson. This letter stated : 'I think that the pressure of this approaching crisis has gone beyond the ability of the Morgan Financial Agency for the British and French Governments...The greatest help we could give the Allies would be...a large investment in a Franco-British loan or might guarantee such a loan. Unless we go to war with Germany, our Government, of course, cannot make such a direct grant of credit.'"

*Colin Simpson, "Lusitania", reprint, Penguin Press, 1990.

Before the U.S. could make such a large loan to England and France, the U.S. would have to enter the war to make sure Germany lost, thus insuring England and France's ability to repay the loan. Mullins continues:

"Within the month, Woodrow Wilson asked Congress for a declaration of war, to save American bankers from a billion and a half dollar loss, and to provide an outlet for (Dodge's) armaments. The first Liberty Loan of 400 million dollars went to J.P. Morgan Co. for repayment of a British Loan, and this was only the beginning of the party. The bankers and their managers of heavy industry, transportation, and communications, flocked to Washington for a year and a half picnic while they spent 25 billion dollars of our money. This entire sum went to enterprises that they owned. The spectacle of Eugene Meyer Jr., director of the War Finance Corporation, taking advantage of his appointment to sell himself millions of dollars worth of Government securities, is an index to the intrigues of wartime Washington."

World War I ended only in a draw, an Armistice. There was no victor. People everywhere were crying for peace. The first attempt to create a world government was the formation of The League of Nations. It was presented to the public as a means of preventing future wars. This was a colossal flop. Most Americans refused to surrender their national sovereignty to a group of foreign powers. In reality, world government is only a tool of the Illuminati by which they manipulate wars and direct their outcome.*

The Roosevelt Depression

After the Federal Reserve Act was passed, several western States and farmers chose not to join the System. To remedy this situation, the bankers first made for easy credit to farmers to plow and plant. But at harvest time, the rates were raised. During the Wilson War, farmers were paid a lot of cash for food to feed the military and many got rich from the War. The government largely financed its War on borrowed money by issuing interest-bearing bonds to private investors. The massive expenditures of the government during the War resulted in an inflation of the currency after the War. The dollar became worth less robbing the farmer of his savings and caused him to pay it out to stay in business. Then, to protect the value of their bonds, the banks raised interest rates and stopped lending, called in outstanding loans, and decreased the amount of money in circulation, causing deflation. Dollars became more valuable which enabled the investors to reclaim and even increase their profits since the government repays bonds at a fixed price, not on the basis of the buying power of the dollar. (If someone buys a bond for $100 and cashes it in, say, five years later, they get $100 for their bond even though, as a result of deflation, the dollar may be worth twice what it was when the bond was first purchased. This is how the Fed manipulates the economy to enhance their profits, first by inflation (easy credit) then by deflation (tight credit). They buy bonds when dollars are cheap. They cash the bonds in when dollar values are high. For those like farmers who have only cash, prices of goods are not fixed so they can only buy according to the relative worth of their dollars at the time.) Meanwhile, the farmers had spent their savings and couldn't get more. State bank notes were federally taxed making them more expensive. Many western banks failed. The actions of the Fed resulted in the Agricultural Depression of 1920-1921. After the depression, William Jennings Bryan charged:

* The Korean War is a perfect example.

"The Federal Reserve Bank that should have been the farmer's greatest protection has become his greatest foe. The deflation of the farmer was a crime deliberately committed."

The bankers foreclosed on the mortgages of securities and properties of those who couldn't repay their loans and millions of dollars worth of properties transferred to the bankers and private investors on Wall Street. Farmland was then put out to speculation and lease. This gave the bankers significant control over food production and market values. It also gave rise to those who chose to do something about it other than writing their Congressman.

In the tradition of the James brothers who fought the corruption of the railroads, John Dillinger became a folk hero for burning mortgage papers in banks, relieving them of their bank notes and distributing such notes to the impoverished victims of the depression. In defense of their actions, another folk hero, "Ma" Barker once said, "stealin' from the Jews ain't stealin'", its poetic justice".

After fleecing the farmers, easy credit was again issued, stock values ballooned, and then, suddenly, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York raised its discount rate from 1.5 % to 6% resulting in the crash in the Stock Market in 1929. The President of the Reserve Bank who raised the rates was also the Governor of New York. This was Franklin D. Roosevelt, a descendent of Jacobus R. van Roscnvelt. Franklin Roosevelt became America's fourth Jewish President.*

With much higher rates of interest, speculation in the Stock Market dropped and many wanted to sell. The tremendous selling orders from October to November wiped out 160 billion dollars worth of securities. The big Trusts and wealthy bankers then bought up all those securities at a fraction of their cost. Of this, Mullins writes:

"The Crash of 1929 also saw the formation of giant holding companies which picked up these cheap bonds and securities, such as the Marine Midland Corporation. In 1929 J.P.Morgan Company organized the giant food trust, Standard Brands. It was an unequalled opportunity for trust operators to enlarge and consolidate their holdings."

Paul Warburg organized three of the greatest Trusts in the United States. They were the International Acceptance Bank, Agfa Ansco Film Corp., and I.G.Farben Corp. The concept of the Federal Reserve System was applied to the world economy and the Bank of International Settlements was established. Twenty-six central banks were set up throughout the world to centralized world banking.

On May 8, 1931, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York dropped its rate back to 1 ½ per cent. The crash was over. It is difficult to imagine the extent to which the American people were swindled out of their wealth by the Wall Street Jews but, perhaps, these figures will illustrate: In 1936, the working population of the United States was about 40 million. These 40 million people earned about $26 billion dollars that year. 46 % of the workers received an average income of $588 each while less than one-

WORLD WAR II: The Roosevelt War

Out of Albert Pike's mouth came his own condemnation when he said that the absolute could only exist as a pair of two relative comparisons. He wrote, "There is no light without shade". To reverse the order of his statement, it would read, "there is no shade without light". Indeed, Mr. Pike, and this light was "the light that shined in the darkness and the darkness comprehended it not". For out of the darkness of evil came a messenger of hope for the world. His name was Adolf Hiedler, or Hietler; in English, Hitler. A charismatic populist, his calling and mission here on earth, and the many profound truths he wrote in Mein Kamph, were hated and despised by the divisive-creating Illuminati for the simple reason that the point of harmony, or balance, between any so-called pair of opposites, will be equally opposed by both of its extremities. The opposition of the pair of opposites cannot be eliminated by finding balance between the two. This only creates yet another pair of opposites, i.e., the balance on one side, and the two extremities of which it is the balance, on the other. Individualism and collectivism are the Yin and the Yang of politics, hermetically speaking. The balance between the two, the point of harmony between them both is, more or less, something called populism. And both the political Left and the political Right equally oppose populism. Hence both the United States, representing the political Right, and Russia, representing the political Left, combined to destroy populist Germany.

Basically, populism balances individual liberties and self-improvement, with the collective good of the whole. In Germany, populism was expressed as National Socialism. Under National Socialism, the German people enjoyed both civil and personal liberties. The free enterprise system was their means of producing and distributing real wealth. Private ownership and control of property, particularly home ownership, was an integral part of the Nazi program. There was no personal income tax. The Third Reich was financed by a nation-wide sales tax. These aspects of the political Right that were integral parts of the Nazi program were checked, however, by an equal emphasis on public works, internal improvements, and public provision for essential services.

Publicly owned hospitals and medical clinics operated without charge, provision for public prosecutors and public defenders in the courts, a co-operative farm program at the distribution level and a requirement that farmland be owned by the farmer, a prohibition of speculation on land, the abolition of all incomes unearned by work, and a publicly owned banking system free of interest-charges on loans ("the tearing down of the thralldom of interest"). There was also the Auto Bohn, long term mortgages for home loans, an old-age retirement program, national holidays, paid vacations, fair wages for labor, and vitamin pills. These were all new to the world then, things taken for granted today. Under the benevolent leadership of Adolf Hiedler, Germany became the most prosperous and the happiest country in the world. The Nazi slogan was, "To make the world a happy place to live". Germany's beloved Fuhrer taught them the love of the folk and the love of the homeland. He taught them to work for the good of the folk as well as for self-interest.**

Internally, the one thing that Hitler did that incurred the revenge of the Jews more than anything else was the nationalization of the banks and the elimination of interest charges (usury). Hitler argued that the Jews had fleeced enough profits from the German workers, justifying a seizure of the banks' ill-gotten gains. It was like rolling a pimp. Under the new public banking system, free of private investors and operating without profit, when a German borrowed a dollar, he paid back a dollar and no more. This left the people with their money in their own pockets and freed the people from the interest-collector. This allowed Germany to issue debt-free currency, backed up by the real wealth of the nation, rather than issue interest-bearing bonds to private bankers who then issue the government a credit against the bonds, as the United States now does under the Federal Reserve System. Hitler liberated the Germany people from Jewish capitalism, the practice of making money on money instead of on the production of real wealth. Chancellor Hitler explained: "We were not foolish enough to try to make a currency coverage of gold of which we had none, but for every mark that was issued we required an equivalent of a mark's worth of work done or goods produced."

The plans of the Illuminati for World War II as laid down by Pike were the invasion and subjugation of the masses of Asia and the continent of Europe. The end of such a war would then leave two remaining consolidated fronts, the East and the West, in preparation for the third world war. In opposition to this diabolical scheme were the staunch nationalists of Europe: Adolf Hitler in Germany, Mussolini in Italy, Franco in Spain, and Marshal Petain in France. In Asia there were the nationalists of China, Korea, and Japan. Accordingly, the Communists made their first bid for power through an invasion of China and by sponsoring a revolution that was later led by Mao Tse-tung.

For the free Japanese, the security of the mainland was of the utmost importance. Japan is a small island and most of their food, building materials, and other raw materials came from the mainland. A free China with whom Japan could trade was essential to Japanese survival as a nation. For this reason, Japan supported Sun Yat-sen and Chiang Kai-shek in their overthrow of the Manchu dynasty. China then became free and was reorganized as a Constitutional Republic. Under Sun Yat-sen, democracy flourished in China. The constitution provided for an elected National Assembly that chose the president and vice-president. The National Assembly could also amend the constitution. Sun Yat-sen's "Three Principles of the People" were that China would be free from foreign control, that China would be a democracy, and that the livelihood of the people should be made secure. This is what Japan defended when they made their noble attempt to save China from Communism.

First, the Communists invaded Manchuria, a Chinese province under Japanese control, and bombed Japan's railroads and other targets. Japan defended Manchuria and repelled the Communist attack. When the Communist Revolution took on full force, Chiang Kai-shek was not powerful enough to stop it, hence Japan sent troops into China to defeat the Communist uprising and to keep China free. After Japan secured the British colonies of Singapore and Hong Kong in China, Churchill seized upon this as a pretext to declare war on Japan. Churchill, who should have supported the Japanese in securing Hong Kong, thus escalated a local war. While conventional historians often rail against Japanese "imperialism" for their incursions into Indochina, Singapore, the Philippines, and Indonesia, they remain silent about the fact that these were French, British, Dutch, and American colonies and that, therefore, we, along with the French, British, and Dutch, were just as much the imperialist. Roosevelt then threatened to protect "American interests" in Indonesia from any Japanese incursion to obtain needed oil, thus triggering the War.

Thus, from the political Left, came that arrogant pompous master of soapbox oratory, a favorite of the Jews, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Roosevelt was a member of Albert Pike's Scottish Rite Masonry. Roosevelt's pro-Communist foreign policy against Japan is well known and his deliberate provocation of the Japanese into bombing Pearl Harbor was used as a pretext for war against Japan in order to stop Japan from interfering with the Communist conquest of China. Roosevelt also promoted the laughably ridiculous "Tanaka Memorial", a bogus plan by which tiny little Japan was supposedly going to conquer the entire world.

Two weeks before Japan attacked Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt's Secretary of War, Henry Stimson, records in his diary that during a cabinet meeting, Roosevelt discussed Japanese relations and "...brought up the event that we were likely to be attacked, perhaps next Monday...and the question was what we should do. The question was how we should maneuver them into the position of firing the first shot without allowing too much danger to ourselves". Roosevelt's concern was not that the Japanese would attack the harbor, but that they might not.*

Long before the attack, Roosevelt sent military aid to China and on April 15, 1941 dispatched the Flying Tigers air force to fight against Japan. He also ordered B-17s to Manila to prepare to attack Japan's home islands, all in violation of the Neutrality Act. Roosevelt then deployed U.S. warships in or near Japanese territorial waters to intimidate and provoke the Japanese Navy. This, coupled with American planes of the Flying Tigers arriving in China in July with the express purposes of fighting the Japanese, meant that Roosevelt was already waging de facto war against Japan in China. Then, there were Roosevelt's sanctions against Japan. On July 2, 1940, Congress passed the Export Control Act banning the sale of basic war materials to Japan. On July 26, 1941, Roosevelt froze (seized) all Japanese assets in the United States, an act that ended all trade between the U.S. and Japan and which threatened to drive Japan into national bankruptcy. Roosevelt closed the Panama Canal to Japanese shipping. The oil embargo cut off all oil supplies to Japan. Roosevelt then cornered the Japanese on August 17, 1941, threatening military action if Japan entered Indonesia and the Dutch East Indies to get oil. However, the oil embargo forced Japan to launch such an incursion into the Dutch East Indies to seize the needed oil fields there. This direct threat by Roosevelt, the continued interference with Japanese efforts to secure the mainland from Russian invasion and Communist revolution, and the overt acts of war committed against Japan, put Japan into a position of having to launch a defensive war against the United States in the interests of her own national survival.** In mid-November the Japanese made one last effort to reach a diplomatic settlement with Roosevelt but had resolved, on November 5, that if the peace efforts failed, Japan would initiate a military offensive against the U.S. naval fleet in the Pacific. Between November 10 and November 18, Japanese naval fleets moved to advanced positions in the Pacific and, on Dec 2, the order for the attack that occurred on Dec 7, was given. American lives were lost but the Jews who made up the Roosevelt administration got their declaration of war.

Chiang Kai-shek was never strong enough to stop the Communists. Had Chiang accepted the aid of the Japanese, China would have remained free. In the end, all aid to Chiang from the U.S. was cut off by General George Marshall and Truman. Chiang and his nationalist Chinese had to flee to the island of Taiwan. The Communists then took over all of China.

The European Front

As previously stated, the re-unification of the German States was one of Germany's main interests. In 1936, Germany re-claimed the Rhineland. In 1938, Austria voted to re-join the Reich with much jubilation, celebration, and victory parades. In March of 1938, at the Conference in Munich, Chancellor Hitler peacefully arranged for an honorable settlement over the question of western Czechoslovakia granting self-determination to 3.5 million Germans living there to be re-united with Germany. Hitler also won Poland's approval of the Munich Agreement by granting to Poland the return of territory in which many Polish people lived. Poland, however, refused to consider self-determination for the Germans in the Polish Corridor that separated East Prussia from Germany and left the seaport of Danzig, a purely German city, isolated. Hitler made many efforts to reach some reasonable agreement with Poland, efforts which were in keeping with the efforts of previous German Chancellors. He presented several proposals to Poland for the return of Danzig to the Reich, for safe passage of Germans to and from East Prussia, and for placing the Corridor under international control. Poland refused all of them.

When Germany had occupied the Rhineland in 1936, Poland secretly agreed to aid France and Belgium if they would resist Germany. Then, after the Munich Agreement peacefully dismembered Czechoslovakia, Poland seized the Teschen district. These actions plus Poland's continued attacks and campaign of terror against the 1.5 million ethnic Germans living in the Corridor under Polish rule, the roadblocks that prevented travel through the Corridor to and from East Prussia, the slaughter of some 58,000 Germans in Danzig,* and the attack on Gleiwitz, one of 21 border incidents in which many German civilians were killed by the invading Poles, forced Hitler to take defensive action against Poland.** Adding to this conflict was the agitation of England's promise to Poland that in the event of an attack by Germany, England would come to the aid of Poland, a promise that England never kept. This promise was prompted on the basis of a lie, the lie that Hitler had given Poland a 48-hour ultimatum to respond to his peace proposals. There never was any 48-hour ultimatum. Subsequently, on the basis of a lie, England promised Poland protection, an act that resulted in Poland's refusal to settle with Germany that, in turn, resulted in the war. Following Poland's attacks on Germany, German troops entered Poland on Sept 1, 1939. On Sept 3, 1939, England and France declared war on Germany. Again a purely localized conflict was escalated, this time into a European-wide conflict, by the war declarations of England and France. The agitation for war was quite intense, coming from the Roosevelt administration as well as from Churchill and, of course, the Jew-owned media.

The British Ambassador to the U.S., Lord Lothian, later stated in the last speech he made at Chatham House:

"If the principles of self-determination had been applied in Germany's favor, as it was applied against her, it would have meant the return of Sudetenland, Czechoslovakia, parts of Poland, the Polish Corridor, and Danzig to the Reich".

On 9 February 1938, the Polish Ambassador in Washington, Count Jerzy Potocki, reported to the Foreign Minister in Warsaw on the Jewish role in making American foreign policy:

"The pressure of the Jews on President Roosevelt and on the State Department is becoming ever more powerful...The Jews are right now the leaders in creating a war psychosis which would plunge the entire world into war and bring about general catastrophe. This mood is becoming more and more apparent.

In their definition of democratic states, the Jews have also created real chaos: they have mixed together the idea of democracy and communism and have above all raised the banner of burning hatred against Nazism.

This hatred has become a frenzy. It is propagated everywhere and by every means: in theaters, in the cinema, and in the press. The Germans are portrayed as a nation living under the arrogance of Hitler which wants to conquer the whole world and drown all of humanity in an ocean of blood. This international Jewry exploits every means of propaganda to oppose any tendency towards any kind of consolidation and understanding between nations. In this way, the conviction is growing steadily but surely in public opinion here that the Germans and their satellites, in the form of fascism, are enemies who must be subdued by the 'democratic' world."*

In 1936, Hitler had sought peaceable relations with England and attempted to form alliance with her. Hitler loved England. He viewed England as another great Aryan nation. At no time did Hitler ever threaten England. He was willing to give up German colonies to work out an honorable relationship with Winston Churchill. Churchill refused. Of this Hitler stated: "No sacrifice would have been too great in order to gain England's alliance. It would have meant renunciation of our colonies, and importance as a sea power, and refraining from interference with British industry by competition."

Meanwhile, the agitation for war ensued. Continuing with Ambassador Potocki and his report of 12 January 1939 which dealt with the U.S. domestic situation:

"The feeling now prevailing in the United States is marked by a growing hatred of Fascism and, above all, of Chancellor Hitler and everything connected with Nazism. Propaganda is mostly in the hands of the Jews who control almost 100 percent radio, film, daily and periodical press. Although this propaganda is extremely coarse and presents Germany as black as possible, this propaganda is nevertheless extremely effective since the public here is completely ignorant and knows nothing of the situation in Europe.

"Right now most Americans regard Chancellor Hitler and Nazism as the greatest evil and greatest danger threatening the world. It is interesting to note that in this extremely well-planned campaign which is conducted above all against National Socialism, Soviet Russia is almost completely excluded. If mentioned at all, it is only in a friendly manner and things are presented in such a way as if Soviet Russia were working with the bloc of democratic states.

"The prevalent hatred against everything which is in any way connected with German Nazism is further kindled by Jewish intellectuals: Bernard Baruch; the Governor of New York State, Herbert Lehman; the newly appointed judge of the Supreme Court, Felix Frankfurter; Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau; and others who are personal friends of President Roosevelt."

In the months before armed conflict broke out in Europe, perhaps the most vigorous and prophetic American voice of warning against President Roosevelt's campaign to incite war was that of Hamilton Fish, a leading Congressman from New York. In a series of hard-hitting radio speeches, Fish rallied considerable public opinion against Roosevelt's deceptive war policy. On 6 January 1939, Fish told a nationwide radio audience:

"The inflammatory and provocative message of the President to Congress and the world [given two days before] has unnecessarily alarmed the American people and created, together with a barrage of propaganda emanating from high New Deal officials, a war hysteria, dangerous to the peace of America and the world. The only logical conclusion to such speeches is another war fought overseas by American soldiers.

All the totalitarian nations referred to by President Roosevelt ... haven't the faintest thought of making war on us or invading Latin America.

I do not propose to mince words on such an issue, affecting the life, liberty and happiness of our people. The time has come to call a halt to the warmongers of the New Deal, backed by war profiteers, Communists, and hysterical internationalists, who want us to quarantine the world with American blood and money.

He [Roosevelt] evidently desires to whip up a frenzy of hate and war psychosis as a red herring to take the minds of our people off their own unsolved domestic problems. He visualizes hobgoblins and creates in the public mind a fear of foreign invasions that exists only in his own imagination."

On 5 March, Fish spoke to the country over the Columbia radio network:

"The people of France and Great Britain want peace but our warmongers are constantly inciting them to disregard the Munich Pact and resort to the arbitrament of arms. If only we would stop meddling in foreign lands the old nations of Europe would compose their own quarrels by arbitration and the processes of peace, but apparently we won't let them."

Fish addressed the listeners of the National Broadcasting Company network on 5 April with these words:

"The youth of America are again being prepared for another blood bath in Europe in order to make the world safe for democracy. If Hitler and the Nazi government regain Memel or Danzig, taken away from Germany by the Versailles Treaty, and where the population is 90 percent German, why is it necessary to issue threats and denunciations and incite our people to war? I would not sacrifice the life of one American soldier for a half dozen Memels or Danzigs. We repudiated the Versailles Treaty because it was based on greed and hatred, and as long as its inequalities and injustices exist there are bound to be wars of liberation."

"The sooner certain provisions of the Versailles Treaty are scrapped the better for the peace of the world. If the areas that are distinctly German in population are restored to Germany, except Alsace-Lorraine and the Tyrol, there will be no war in western Europe. There may be a war between the Nazis and the Communists, but if there is that is not our war or that of Great Britain or France or any of the democracies."

At the end of 1940, West Virginia Senator Rush D. Holt issued a detailed examination of the President's War Committee that exposed the base interests behind its idealistic-sounding slogans:

"The Committee has powerful connections with banks, insurance companies, financial investing firms, and industrial concerns. These in turn exert influence on college presidents and professors, as well as on newspapers, radio and other means of communication. One of the powerful influences used by the group is the '400' and social set. The story is a sordid picture of betrayal of public interest. The powerful J.P. Morgan interest with its holdings in the British Empire helped plan the organization and donated its first expense money."

Senator Holt revealed some of the important figures active in the Committee:

"Frederic R. Coudert, a paid war propagandist for the British government in the U.S. during the First World War; Robert S. Allen of the Pearson and Allen syndicated column; Henry R. Luce, the influential publisher of Time, Life, and Fortune magazines; Fiorella LaGuardia, the fiery half-Jewish Mayor of New York City; Herbert Lehman, the Jewish Governor of New York with important financial holdings in war industries; and Frank Altschul, an officer in the Jewish investment firm of Lazard Freres with extensive holdings in munitions and military supply companies."

If the Committee succeeded in getting the U.S. into war, Holt warned, "American boys will spill their blood for profiteers, politicians and 'paytriots.' If war comes, on the hands of the sponsors of the White Committee will be blood-the blood of Americans killed in a needless war."

Dominated by Zionist Jews, this war Committee of President Roosevelt's was titled, "Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies." Senator Holt continues:

"In March 1941 a list of most of the President's Committee financial backers was made public. It revealed the nature of the forces eager to bring America into the European war. Powerful international banking interests were well represented. J.P. Morgan, John W. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont and others of the great Morgan banking house were listed. Other important names from the New York financial world included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon, Felix M. and James F. Warburg, and J. Malcolm Forbes. Chicago department store owner and publisher Marshall Field was a contributor, as was William Averill Harriman, the railroad and investment millionaire who later served as Roosevelt's ambassador in Moscow."

"Of course, Jewish names made up a substantial portion of the long list. Hollywood film czar Samuel Goldwyn of Goldwyn Studios was there, along with David Dubinsky, the head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. The William S. Paley Foundation, which had been set up by the head of the giant Columbia Broadcasting System, contributed to the Committee. The name of Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, wife of the New York Governor, was also on the list."

"Without an understanding of his intimate ties to organized Jewry, Roosevelt's policies make little sense. As Jewish historian Lucy Dawidowicz noted: "Roosevelt himself brought into his immediate circle more Jews than any other President before or after him. Felix Frankfurter, Bernard M. Baruch and Henry Morgenthau were his close advisers. Benjamin V. Cohen, Samuel Rosenman and David K. Niles were his friends and trusted aides." This is perhaps not so remarkable in light of Roosevelt's reportedly Jewish ancestry."

As previously stated, after Germany's defensive war against Poland, England and France declared war on Germany. They didn't need to but the Illuminati had its own agenda: European nationalism was to be crushed to pave the way for the Communist conquest of Europe and Southeast Asia. On Feb 18, 1940, England attempted to implement Churchill's "Norway Gamble" to invade Europe through Norway. When Hitler learned of the plot, he moved German forces through an obliging Denmark and into Norway ahead of England's planned invasion. German forces joined with the pro-German factions there under Vidkun Quisling, and drove the English back across the channel to England. England's defeat, however, was not blamed on Churchill, but rather on a reluctant Chamberlain. A campaign was launched to discredit Chamberlain and he resigned. Churchill was then made Prime Minister.

Churchill immediately launched air raids on Germany, bombing civilian targets and killing German citizens in the Ruhr. In his book, "Bombing Vindicated", J.M. Spaight, who was the principle Assistant Secretary to the British Air Ministry, says that the ruthless bombing of German cities and civilians began on May 11, 1940, "the evening of the day Winston Churchill became Prime Minister". On that night, eighteen Whitley bombers attacked railway installations in the peaceful West German province of Westphalia, far from the war front. That forgotten bombing raid has been called "the first deliberate breach of the fundamental rule of civilized warfare that hostilities must only be waged against the enemy combatant forces" (See Advance to Barbarism [1953] by F.J.P. Vcale). The official Air Ministry volume, The Royal Air Force, 1939-1945: The Fight at Odds (1953), stated: "If the Royal Air Force raided the Ruhr, destroying oil plants with its most accurately placed bombs and urban property with those that went astray, the outcry for retaliation against Britain might prove too strong for the German generals to resist. Indeed, Hitler himself would probably head the clamour. The attack on the Ruhr, in other words, was an informal invitation to the Luftwaffe to bomb London." Hitler, however, exercised restraint.

Hitler protested this English onslaught of German cities and waited until the news broke that England was the aggressor so that the world could see that Germany's action against England was in self-defense. After enduring heavy bombardments of Germany's civilian population, Germany's Luftwaffe attacked England Aug 8, 1940, largely destroying the British Royal Air Force. They also bombed London in retaliation for the bombing of Germany cities. Hitler ordered an end to the attack on Oct 12, 1940. Churchill had become obsessed with the idea of killing Germans and continued to make attempts to invade Europe. Many Englishers opposed Churchill, but Churchill had them arrested under Regulation 18-B and put in Brixton prison. Captain A.H.M Ramsay, Admiral Barry Domville, Tyler Kent, Sir Oswald Mosley, and Admiral Nicholson's wife were a few of the hundreds who were imprisoned. (At the next election at the war's end in 1945, the English hurled Churchill from office in a landslide election defeat and put Clement Attlee of the Labor Party in office as Prime Minister.)

Meanwhile, after the German occupation of Poland, and just before Churchill initiated the air attacks on Germany on May 11, French forces along the Maginot Line, attacked Germany's defenses in the Saar. Next the French invaded Belgium from which to launch an attack on Germany, even though Belgium had declared neutrality. England, then, invaded Holland from which to launch their attack on Germany and to gain a foothold in Europe. Small countries like Denmark, Holland, and Belgium were no match for the superior British invaders. On May 10, 1940, British Blenheim Bombers of the No. 15 Squadron bombed the Rotterdam airport in Holland. Later that day, bombers from the British 110 Squadron bombed German vessels near the Hague. At dawn, May 11, the British bombed vital bridges at Maas to try to keep the Germans out of Holland while the British were moving in. A British task force, the Kent Royal Engineers TA unit, sneaked into Rotterdam Holland and, from there, raided the Dutch Treasury making off with her gold. Records from the Royal Navy destroyer HMS Wild Swan confirm this. The Brits then blew up the Dutch oil refineries of Shell and Standard Oil in Rotterdam. German forces entered Holland and Belgium to defeat the invading English and French forces. Again, Germany fought in self-defense and in defense of Europe. As British forces retreated, the British bombed Rotterdam again on May 14, falsely blaming the bombing of Holland on Germany even though England was the aggressor. The Germans shot down almost 200 of England's Blenheim bombers in defense of Holland. (However, this attack on Holland by England was nothing compared to the vicious Allied bombing of Holland in 1944. The idiotic excuse for this genocide was to drive the Germans out of Holland. However, the Germans did not need to be driven out of Holland. They were only there in the first place to defend Holland from the Allied invasion.) After rescuing Holland from the British, signs were erected around Rotterdam that read, "Under the Protection of the Führer". On May 15, after Holland's Monarchy fled to England, a free Holland formed an alliance with Germany whom the world revered as The Great Protectors of Europe. Germany rendered financial aid to care for Holland's sick and wounded and to rebuild the country. In Belgium, the Germans defeated the French Army, liberating Belgium, and entered France May 20, 1940. Germany easily obtained victory within a few weeks, liberating France from Communist control. Charles de Gaulle's Communist Army was smashed leaving de Gaulle to flee to England where he was granted asylum by his friend, Churchill, threatening to return to France with his so-called "Free French" army.

The French Parliament voted for an armistice with Germany on June 22, 1940. French Premier Paul Reynaud was voted out on July 10 and Marshal Henri Philippe Petain became the new Premier of France. Petain was a staunch French nationalist and pro-Nazi. Under his rule, France retained its independence as a free country, largely ridding itself of communism and of Reynaud's left-wing government. Reynaud was imprisoned and France joined the Axis powers. The French lined the streets cheering the Germans as they paraded through Paris. Having liberated France, the Germans remained to set up "Fortress Europe" to protect and defend the continent of Europe from any further invasions.* The U.S. recognized the new French government but after the war, railroaded Premier Petain off to prison.**

Germany was never strong enough to actually invade and conquer the British Isles and never held to such intensions. Chancellor Hitler sought to unite all the Aryan tribes of Europe in a common defense against Communism and the Jewish Illuminati. All of Churchill's hysteria about threats from German military power was designed to manufacture a pretext for secretly attacking Germany so as to provoke Germany into an attack on England. Then Churchill, who portrayed himself as the innocent victim, screamed from the rooftops about "German aggression" in order to give Roosevelt an excuse to send aid from the United States and, ultimately, for direct U.S. involvement in the war. An attack from the U.S. on one side, and from Russia on the other, would spell doom to an independent Europe. A defeated Europe was then to be absorbed into the New World Order.

*It is difficult for ego-centric Americans to understand that Europe belonged to the Europeans and that they, regardless of their internal differences, resented this presumptuous intrusion and invasion of their continent. France never asked the U.S. to invade their beach at Normandy.

**Harry Elmer Barnes, "Crucifying the Savior of France" (Observations on the trial of Marshal Petain).

Having suffered another humiliating defeat, and with Marshal Petain in power in France, the slobber-mouthed Winston Churchill went berserk, turned on France, and attacked the French Navy, murdering some 1500 French sailors in their own harbor. Churchill's excuse for this atrocity was his pretentious concern that Germany might use the French Navy against England. This was an idiotic excuse, however, since Churchill was the aggressor in the first place and Hitler never threatened England or France. Germany fought only in self-defense, defending herself and Europe from Communist aggression.

The professed concern was not only groundless, but just another one of Churchill's colossal lies, making false accusations against Hitler and accusing the Germans of the very aggression of which Churchill was now guilty. Just as he had bombed Holland, Churchill now attacked France. Called "Operation Catapult", on July 3, 1940, Churchill's Naval forces launched an unjustified attack against French Naval forces at Mers-el-Kebir in French North Africa and at Oran. By July 5th, British naval guns sank several French vessels, which were not even prepared for battle being in narrow harbor. 1,297 French sailors were killed and 300 wounded. On July 3, 1940, after a surprise attack, French vessels at Portsmouth and Plymouth were boarded and taken over. The French fleet at Oran was attacked and destroyed by a British task force. At Alexandria, the French Admiral Godfroy was forced to intern his ships and render them harmless. At Dakar on July 8 the battleship Richelieu was attacked and damaged. Then, during mid-September, an attempt was made by Churchill to land General de Gaulle and his Commie army at Port Dakar, but Premier Marshal Petain arrived in advance with naval reinforcements, announcing that Dakar would be defended to the last man, forcing the British with de Gaulle to finally retreat. These callous actions of Zionist Jew Winston Churchill reveal his intentions toward Europe quite clearly and were in glaring contrast to the merciful actions of Adolf Hitler in allowing British troops to return home from Dunkirk on May 24, 1941 when Hitler's military could easily have slaughtered them.* On July 9, 1940, Churchill bombed the airfield at Stavanger Norway. On August 13, Churchill bombed the Aalborg airfield in North Jutland, Denmark.

Meanwhile, the threats to Europe from Soviet Russia had been mounting all through these conflicts between Germany and Poland, England, and France. Russia had been gaining a lot of ground as Stalin moved his armies closer to Germany. On Sept 17, 1939, Russia invaded Poland. After having signed a 10-year non-aggression pact with Russia in 1934, Germany felt free to invade Poland without interference from Russia. However, after Germany invaded Poland on Sept 1, Russia moved armies into Poland on the 17th. Stalin thus broke the 10-year non-aggression pact with Germany. (While mainstream historians rail against Germany's invasion of Poland, they rarely mention the Russian invasion. In 1939, Russia had secretly agreed to aid the British and French in exchange for occupation of eastern Poland which was comprised mostly of White Russians and Ukrainians. Thus, the occupation of Poland had already been agreed to by the very countries that pledged to defend Poland from Germany.) When Poland surrendered to Germany on October 5, Germany agreed to allow Russia to keep eastern Poland. However, Western Poland, wherein many people of German descent lived, was retained by Germany. On November 30, 1939, Russia invaded Finland. The Finns surrendered on March 13, 1940.

*Winston Spencer-Churchill's grandfather was Leonard Jacobson who changed his name to Jerome. His daughter, Jennie Jerome was Churchill's mother. Moshe Kohn, writing in the Jerusalem Post, boasts: "Cunning, no doubt, came to Churchill in the Jewish genes transmitted by his mother Jenny Jacobson/Jerome." See www.jewwatch.com.

England, again made an attempt to invade Europe, this time from the south by landing troops in northern Africa. Chancellor Hitler entered into defense agreements with Bulgaria and Yugoslavia who joined the Axis powers to defend southern Europe. German armies moved swiftly through Yugoslavia joining with Italian forces in securing Greece from the invading English. The island of Crete was taken by Germany and the British were driven back to Africa. Europe was secure once again from the invaders. This incursion, however, delayed by six weeks the German invasion of Russia.

With Russia making inroads through Eastern Europe, Germany launched a defensive invasion of Russia in June 1941. Finland was liberated as well as other east-Russian territories. Reports were heard of the liberated people cheering the invading Germans and throwing flowers at their tanks, the people were so glad to be relieved of living under Stalin. In spite of all the military gains, the Germans became entrenched by the winter and by the Lend-Lease aid that poured into Russia from Roosevelt, providing an almost endless source of military supplies and equipment for Stalin's Army. Thus, before any declaration of war against Germany, Roosevelt was already running a de facto war against Germany in Russia, just as he was against Japan in China. Threats of impeachment were heard in Congress.

It is amazing that anyone would have objected to Germany's liberation of Russia from the ruthless Jew butcher Joseph Stalin.* Yet, even before the liberation began, and while liberated Russians were cheering the Germans as they moved through Russia, Roosevelt was arranging for massive aid to Stalin.

In March of 1941, the U.S. Congress had passed the Lend-Lease Act to give aid and comfort to Stalin's Communist regime in Russia. Major George Racey Jordan was the Lend-Lease expeditor and liaison officer to the Russians. In his book, "From Major Jordan's Diaries", he revealed the tremendous amounts of military and non-military aid that went to the Russians. Over 44 billion dollars worth of munitions was sent to Russia. Non-munitions worth 5 billion dollars and aircrafts worth almost 2 billion were sent. Motor vehicles were valued at 14 billion dollars. Tanks and parts worth 4 billion, 5 billion in industrial materials and agricultural products, and hundreds of millions in petroleum products were sent. Major Jordan testified that his one-time boss, Harry Hopkins, had obtained information on the atomic bomb and shipped it to Russia in a Lend-Lease plane. Jordan was later ordered by Harry Hopkins to send shipments of uranium compounds to Russia. In 1949, Russia exploded her first atomic bomb.

The Jews debased the science of nuclear physics by using nuclear power to make atomic bombs. The technology was stolen from the Germans who only used it to generate electricity. Robert Oppenheimer, Klaus Fuchs, the Du Ponts and other Jewish "scientists" were the madmen behind the development of the atomic bomb. The Du Pont Company manufactured the first atomic bombs after constructing huge plants for this purpose. Later, in 1950, Fuchs was exposed as a Communist as was Oppenheimer in 1954. Albert Einstein was also a Communist, hence his expulsion from Germany. He was also a moron. French scientist Henri Poincaré discovered  $E = mc^2$  and developed the theory of relativity.** Jews fraudulently promote Einstein because they want people to think Jews are an intelligently superior race. The same is true of the Du Ponts. After the War, the U.S. Government seized the German Dye Trust and gave the patents to the Du Ponts. On the basis of this theft of German know-how, and with the fortune the government paid them to build the A-bomb, the Jewish Du Ponts built their chemical empire.

*Stalin's real name was Joseph David Djugashvili. "Djuga" means Jew in the Georgian language. "shvili" means "son of".

**Jean-Paul Auffray, "Einstein et Poincaré: Sur les traces de la relativité (A contre-courant)", Le Pommier (1999).

Lend-Lease also went to the English who received 31 billion dollars. These huge grants to Roosevelt's "allies" came from a government that operated on a deficit to fight Roosevelt's war. Interest-bearing government bonds were "sold" to the National Banks that comprise the Federal Reserve to borrow much of the money. In 1940, the assets of the Federal Reserve were shown as 5 billion dollars. In 1946, they were declared to be 45 billion dollars. The bankers made 40 billion dollars from their transactions during the Roosevelt War.

When Germany invaded Russia to liberate the Russians from Jewish Communists, it was apparent that Japan could strike Russia through Siberia. This would have meant the death of Stalin's regime. It was a race with time for Roosevelt to lure Japan into an attack, which he finally did on December 7, 1941. The declaration of war against Japan, which followed, was used as a pretext to declare war on Germany since Germany was an ally of Japan. In August of 1941, four months before Japan bombed Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt and Churchill met and laid out their plans for war in Europe in what became known as the Atlantic Charter, clearly showing to the world that they were the conspiring aggressors.

Meanwhile, England's Prime Minister Churchill continued his war of aggression against France. In 1941, Iraq was a colony of Britain and Syria was a colony of France. In June of 1941, Churchill invaded Syria and Lebanon, capturing Damascus from France on June 17. In August, Britain occupied Iran even though Iran was neutral. In 1942, Britain invaded and conquered the French territory of Madagascar. In June of 1943, England attacked France again, bombing France's defenses in Peenemunde where V-rockets were being made to defend Europe. The air raids on Europe that followed were all designed to destroy Europe's defenses in preparation of the coming invasion that was planned months before any declarations of war, as outlined in the Atlantic Charter.

Churchill's Madness

Evil is a difficult thing to imagine especially the extent to which evil men will go to inflict their mayhem and murder on innocent decent people with a sadism and vicious cruelty that boggles the mind and pains the hearts of honorable men. The miserable wretch, Winston Churchill, the insane Roosevelt, and the combined forces of international Jewry, executed their madness in the most ghastly and horrible of ways from July 24 to Aug 3, 1943 in a grizzly and merciless rampage of mass murder named "Operation Gomorrah", also known as the Battle of Hamburg, Germany. During this eleven day period, British and American air forces (RAF Bomber Command and the 8th US Air Force Bomber Command) deployed 3,000 aircraft, dropped 9,000 tons of bombs, and slaughtered 50,000 civilians, leaving one million Germans homeless and fleeing the city. During these dark nights of terror in which "cookies" explosives were used, huge firestorms erupted forming tornadoes of fire with winds of 150 mph and temperatures of 1,500° F causing asphalt on the streets to burst into flames, cooked people to death in air-raid shelters (hence the name "cookies"), sucked up pedestrians off the sidewalks like leaves, and incinerated an 8 square mile area of Hamburg slaughtering 40,000 civilians in a single night, July 27. Hitler vowed retaliation and launched numerous V-1 rocket attacks on sadist England. Again, Germany fought in self-defense. Germany's fight for survival against overwhelming odds was the reality of World War II to which mainstream historians have blinded themselves in their obsession with deluding themselves with the nonsense that Hitler and Germany was some sort of super power that went about bullying the world. And in the tinyness of their thinking, and by some quirk of mental trickery, historians somehow manage to convince themselves that the atrocities of the War, such as those committed on Hamburg and as well the fire bombing of Dresden, were somehow all Hitler's fault and quite naturally an appropriate consequence of fascism. Indeed, if anyone anywhere in the world stubbed their toe, it was Hitler's fault! Many Englishers who have close historical ties to Hamburg refuse to admit that they started the War. Hamburg was bombed another 69 times before the War ended.

On September 11, 1944 this same bombing tactic of producing these tornadoes of fire was used on Darmstadt, Germany. This a special target-marking technique using a fan-shaped flying formation with a staggering of explosive and incendiary bombs. Some 11,500 Germans were slaughtered, many burned alive or cooked to death by this demonic technique. The goal, namely the greatest possible destruction, was obtained by careful execution of detailed attack plans, and also by the attributes of the materiel that was deployed. The means whereby the goal was reached was the aforesaid firestorm, whose production was no accident; it was scientifically based and developed through painstakingly detailed work.

Codenamed "Skate", on October 14, 1944, the ruthless obliteration of Brunswick and Duisburg occurred by the same methods of bombing and fire-storming that were used on Hamburg and Darmstadt. The massive firestorm created in Brunswick burned for two and one half days and burnt Brunswick, a beautiful historic city, to a crisp. Some 12,000 Blockbuster bombs were used to destroy the buildings and 200,000 J-Cluster incendiary and phosphorous bombs were used to ignite the firestorm. Many historic landmarks were destroyed and 3,000 German civilians were burned to death in the raids conducted against Brunswick. Other German cities that suffered the same fate were Cologne, Dresden, Pforzheim, Kassel, Essen, Würzburg, and Heilbronn.

One of the most sickening aspects of the bombing of Dresden was the reason for doing it; to help Stalin's Communist army to invade Germany. It was believed for several weak reasons that if Dresden were destroyed, the Soviet invasion of Germany would be enhanced. So, the city was fire-stormed? Huge tornadoes of fire burned the city to a crisp. Churchill and Roosevelt had enhanced the Soviet invasion by killing all those six month old babies, 12 year old girls, pregnant mothers, and old men in hospitals who threatened the Russian advance? Again, Blockbuster bombs and phosphorous bombs were used to ignite the firestorms. Out of 28,410 houses in the inner city of Dresden, 24,866 were destroyed. With an average family of three or four, that's about 75,000 to 100,000 civilian casualties. Another area of 15 square kilometres was totally destroyed, among that: 14,000 homes, 72 schools, 22 hospitals, 18 churches, 5 theatres, 50 banks and insurance companies, 31 department stores, 31 large hotels, 62 administration buildings, and factories such as the Ihagee camera works. There were some 200,000 refugees from other cities there and many of them were incinerated beyond recognition.

In conjunction with the fire bombing of Dresden, the US bombed Prague, Czechoslovakia. Sixty flying fortresses of the 8th American Air Force dropped 152 tons of bombs on heavily populated areas by a method of bombing called carpet-bombing which destroys whole cities. All casualties were civilians. Witnesses say the sky was clear and sunny with no clouds and that the bombers had fallen back from the main body of bombers that flew on to Dresden. It would seem that the bombers knew where they were.

The stated purpose of this destruction was to demonstrate the “overwhelming superiority of the Allied Air Forces in this theater”. In defiance of this recognition of Allied might, Liberal historians continue to portray the Third Reich as some colossal monster much larger than its opponent, railing as they do at the pathetic little V rockets with which Germany tried to defend itself. Germany was never any such a thing. This, of course, is typical behavior of a real bully; accuse his tiny victim of threatening him in order to justify beating his victim to death. In order to somehow make the U.S. and England appear righteous, historians essentially point their fingers at Hitler and shout, “See? See? See what happens when you have fascism?”, as if, somehow, this brutal and demonic war instigated by Churchill and Roosevelt was merely the result of a disagreement over political persuasion or of Hitler’s domestic programs, or because Poland was some precious jewel of the earth who’s existence necessitated the entire world going to war over its restructuring. Neither Roosevelt nor Churchill genuinely cared anything about Poland’s welfare as is evidenced by the fact that neither one rendered any aid to Poland at the time of the German invasion. Nor did either side assist in resolving the conflicts that existed between Germany and Poland. With all the style of a ham play-actor, the pompous windbag Winston Churchill then pretentiously expressed his “outrage” at “German aggression”.

Having largely annihilated Europe’s defenses by air raids, on June 6, 1944, Roosevelt and Churchill ordered the invasion France at Normandy to make another attempt to conquer Europe and to save Joe Stalin from Germany. They were joined by the Communist underground in France. With the U.S. and Britain moving in from the west and with Russia mounting a counter-offensive from the east, Germany became exhausted fighting on two fronts. Because of Roosevelt’s demand for unconditional surrender, Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin threw millions of American, English, and Russian bodies at the German guns until, at last, the Germans ran out of bullets. This is the real reason why millions of soldiers lost their lives during the last few months of the war. Hitler and his wife voluntarily remained in Berlin and died fighting together in defense of Berlin as Soviet troops poured into their bunker. The Russian Jew Army then swept through Germany slaughtering German civilians by the millions.* When World War II ended, the Communists had made significant gains in China and Europe. Japan had been bombed off the map by 100,000 tons of bombs dropped by hundreds of B-29s. At the conferences at Tehran in Iran and at Yalta in Russia, Roosevelt and Truman gave most of Europe to Soviet (Jewish) control.

According to G.L.K. Smith in “The Roosevelt Death”, (RH Book, 1947), Roosevelt was mentally ill and committed suicide by shooting himself. The official cause of his death was “cerebral hemorrhage”. Vice-President Harry Truman succeeded Roosevelt, becoming America’s 5th Jewish President.**

On July 28 1945, a devastated Japan announced their acceptance of the terms of surrender that the Allies demanded at the conference at Potsdam, Germany on July 26. Japan only requested that the Emperor be allowed to continue to govern the internal affairs of Japan, a request that was later granted with the stipulation that the Emperor would be subject to the Allied Commander. Truman falsely claimed that Japan had rejected the surrender terms. It was afterward, nine days later, on August 6, 1945, that Harry Truman unnecessarily dropped his demonic atomic bomb on Hiroshima Japan, murdering 160,000 defenseless civilians and destroying 62,000 homes. On August 9, the second Jew bomb was dropped on Nagasaki murdering 40,000 civilians. Both the Japanese and the Germans were good people. They were our friends. We should have been their ally.

Korea: The Truman War

Korea was a colony of Japan. In the Cairo Declaration of 1943, the U.S. had promised that Korea would be a free and independent nation following the fall of Japan. However, in 1945, at the surrender of Japan, and as part of the Treaty, Truman sold out Korea by agreeing that Russia would occupy the northern half of Korea as spoils of war, while the U.S. would occupy the southern half. Thus, the stage was set for the Korean War, for the Russians soon invaded the south. The strategy here was to pretend to be the friends of South Korea, pretending to help them repel the Communist advance from the north, while directing the war in such a way that the very forces we were assisting, including our own, were systematically destroyed. This same tactic was later used in Viet Nam. (The U.S. bombing and shelling of Saigon, Hue, and Highway 1 that connected them during the 1968 TET offensive is a perfect example.) The objective was the Communist conquest of all of Korea.

Officially, the Korean War was not a war, but rather a police action by the United Nations. The war thus came under the direction of the U.N. Security Council. The under-Secretary in charge of military operations was a Soviet Communist, General Constantine E. Zinchenko. President Truman ordered General Douglas MacArthur, UN Supreme Commander in Korea, to get approval from the UN before implementing any of his plans to fight the Communist army. The plans, once approved and examined by the Communists on the UN Security Council, were then passed on to the North Korean commander, Lt. General Vasiliev through treasonous diplomatic channels. Subsequently, the South Korean army and MacArthur's U.S. troops were being slaughtered and defeated by the North Korean forces who were informed in advance of MacArthur's plans. Finally, MacArthur proved the treason of Truman's administration and of the UN. He disobeyed orders and kept his plans to himself. On Sept 15, 1950 he launched a surprise attack against the enemy on Inchon smashing their forces that allowed his X Corps to retake Seoul and the rest of South Korea. Truman was furious because MacArthur proved what he could do if neither Truman nor the UN knew of his plans.

The dramatic landing of General MacArthur's forces at Inchon on 15 September 1950 initiated a period of military success for UN forces, which drove deep into North Korea in succeeding weeks until "volunteers" from Communist China intervened in massive numbers in October and November. The Communists then inflicted heavy losses on UN troops and forced them back into the southern part of Korea. Although lines became stabilized by the spring of 1951 along the 38th parallel, the fighting dragged on for another two years due to China's reinforcement of the North Korean Army and because Secretary of Defense George Marshall and Truman played their diplomacy games in support of their limited war objectives to return Korean boundaries to prewar lines, achieve an armistice, and then work for a diplomatic solution. Considering MacArthur's victory at Inchon, this pansy policy was a policy of surrender. All that was necessary for complete victory was to block the reinforcements coming in from China across the Yalu River. Marshall's policy was based on a pretended fear that a victory policy might lead to some new conflict with China and possibly Russia. This unjustified fear was the pathetic basis on which victory in Korea was thrown away by Truman and Marshall. General MacArthur advocated a ground offensive all the way to the North Korean-Chinese border at the Yalu River and the bombing of bridges and supply routes between China and North Korea. Rejecting the concept of limited war, MacArthur believed in fighting for complete victory.

In spite of directives from the President and from the Department of Defense to refrain, General MacArthur persisted in denouncing Truman's policy. Truman refused to allow General MacArthur to bomb the bridges at the Yalu River over which the Chinese Communist troops came by the hundreds of thousands to kill and wound our soldiers. In a letter of 20 March 1951 to Joseph W. Martin, House Republican minority leader, MacArthur directly challenged the president's policy, and a few days later, undercutting a UN plan for an armistice and negotiations, he publicly shamed Truman by offering to confer personally with the enemy commander to discuss surrender terms if Truman didn't have the stones to do it.

On 10 April 1951 President Truman relieved MacArthur of his command in the Far East. George Marshall, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff with whom Truman conferred, agreed with the president's decision. In congressional hearings during May 1951 Marshall testified that MacArthur's removal stemmed from "the wholly unprecedented position of a local theater commander publicly expressing his displeasure at and his disagreement with the foreign and military policy of the United States." In response, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who had earlier accused the Truman administration of harboring Communists, spoke for three hours in the Senate on June 1951 releasing a 60,000-word document reviewing Marshall's career since 1939 and charging him with being one of the leaders in the Communist Conspiracy to sacrifice the United States to the captivity of the Soviet Union.*

MacArthur continued to challenge Truman after Truman relieved him of his command. Truman's treason was so obvious at this point, having murdered some 33,000 American soldiers in a fruitless war, that he had to retreat from his plans of total Communist conquest of Korea and accept the compromise that left South Korea remaining free and independent with North Korea under Communist control, the way it was before the war. While treachery and treason reigned supreme in Washington D.C., there finally arose those who exposed the demons of Edom as the butchers of humanity that they really were.

McCarthyism

When Roman Catholics become "inquisitive" of the Jews, it is not a good day for Jews. Big Joseph McCarthy, US Senator from Wisconsin, was like a big Catholic mongoose in a pit of Jewish snakes. The list of Jews in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations was seemingly endless. Their role bringing about the destruction of Europe and Southeast Asia resulting in the Communist conquest of these areas, and the fact that US foreign policy was formulated and directed to fulfill the objectives of international communism, was the focus of McCarthy's exposure of the "Red Menace" in Washington D.C., and particularly the State Department.

On April 25, 1945 at a meeting in San Francisco, with over 40 members of the Council on Foreign Relations present, the Illuminati attempted for a second time, the creation of a world government. The Treaty was drafted which created the United Nations Treaty Organization. Among the residents of the pit, were Benjamin Cohen, Laughlin Currie, John Foster Dulles, Dean Acheson, Norman H. Davis, Alger Hiss, Harry Hopkins, Phillip Jessup, Owen Lattimore, Nelson Rockefeller, Harold Stassen, Sumner Wells, John McCloy, and Leo Pasvolksy.

The UN presented, and continues to present, a serious legal threat to the sovereignty of the United States because the U.S. Constitution, Article VI, paragraph 2, says, "This Constitution and Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land". UN treaties are thus internally binding on the U.S.

The build-up of Communism, coupled with tightening control over western powers through increased centralized government, was to occupy Illuminist agents over the next several decades, in preparation for World War III, during which the Eastern bloc and the Western bloc, thus created, would fight themselves into a state of complete exhaustion until the final social cataclysm as outlined by Albert Pike could be unleashed.

This Commie spy apparatus, comprised mainly of Zionist Jews, became exposed in 1948 when two spies defected and gave their testimony to the House Committee on Un-American Activities. They were Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley.* Miss Bentley testified that she acted as the courier and paymaster of two espionage cells which she identified as the Silvermaster Cell and the Perlo Cell, run by Nathan Silvermaster and Victor Perlo. Mr. Chambers identified the third cell as the Ware Cell, run by Harold Ware. These three cells were exposed and were composed of the following:

The Silvermaster Cell

Nathan G. Silvermaster: Director of the Labor Division, Farm Security Administration.
Norman Bursler: Department of Justice.
Solomon Adler: Treasury Department.
Frank Coe: Division of Monetary Research.**
Lauchlin Currie: Deputy Administrator of Foreign Economic Administration. Administrative Assistant to the President.
Mr. Bella Gold: Senate Subcommittee on War Mobilization.
Abraham Silverman: Railroad Retirement Board, economic Advisor to the Air Force.
William Taylor: Treasury Department.
William Ullman: Division of Monetary Research for the Treasury Department. Material and Services Division Of Air Corps Headquarters in the Pentagon.

The Perlo Cell

Victor Perlo: War Production Board and Treasury Dept.
Edward Fitzgerald: War Production Board.
Harold Glasser: War Production Board.
Charles Kramer: National Labor Relations Board, Office of Price Administration.

Solomon Leshinsky: United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.
Harry Magdoff: War Production Board
Donald Wheeler: Office of Strategic Services.

The Ware Cell

Harold Ware: Department of Agriculture.
John J. Apt: Department of Agriculture, Justice Department,
Works Progress Administration.
Nathan Witt: Department of Agriculture, National Labor Relations Board.
Lee Pressman: Department of Agriculture, Works Progress Admin.
Alger Hiss: Department of Agriculture, Justice Department,
State Department.
Donald Hiss: State Department, Labor Department
Charles Kramer: National Labor Relations, Office of Price Admin.
Henry Collins Jr.: National Recovery Administration.
Victor Perlo: Treasury Department, War Production Board.

Thomas B. McCabe, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, worked with Abraham Silverman through the Office of Surplus Property and other agencies of the Treasury Department. Harry Dexter White, Frank Coe, Lauchlin Currie, William Ullman, and Nathan Silvermaster were all associated with the International Monetary Fund through which the Jews profited from government guaranteed loans to European nations after the war. As a result of his subversive activities, Alger Hiss spent 3 years in prison. Owen Lattimore was declared to be, "a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy".* Miss Bentley also identified Harry Dexter White, then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, as a Soviet agent connected with the Silvermaster Cell.

In 1953, the Senate's Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations exposed two more spy cells. The Chairman of this committee was Senator Joseph McCarthy. The first of these two cells was found in the Government Printing Office where secret documents were printed for the military. Evidence to this cell was provided by Mrs. Mary Markward who was an undercover agent for the F.B.I. in the Washington branch of the Communist Party. The second cell was in the experimental stations of the Army Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey where a Jew General, Ralph Zwicker, had promoted a Jew Captain, Irving Peress, to Major after Peress' involvement in a known spy ring. This Jew spy ring had involved Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, Klaus Fuchs, Harry Gold, David Greenglass (Ethel's brother), and Morton Sobell, who were arrested in 1950 for passing secrets of the atomic bomb to Soviet agent Yakovlev. In 1951 Greenglass was sentenced to 15 years in prison while Gold and Sobell were given 30 years. The Rosenbergs were given the death penalty for treason and executed in 1953.

One of the other means by which the Jews of the Illuminati formulated foreign policy was the Institute of Pacific Relations, the I.P.R. The I.P.R. was instrumental in giving China to the Communists. In 1952, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, which had investigated thoroughly the activities of the I.P.R., concluded: "The IPR has been considered by the American Communist Party and by Soviet officials as an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda, and military intelligence. The IPR was a vehicle used by the Communists to orientate American Far Eastern policies toward Communist objectives". The IPR was financed by the Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations and by Rockefeller's Standard Oil Company and by his Chase National Bank in New York.

When the Communists were taking over China, Roosevelt's representative to Chiang Kai-shek had been Owen Lattimore, whom the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee said was. "...a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy". Also involved with the IPR was Lauchlin Currie who had served on the Federal Reserve Board. Currie was later identified with the Silvermaster cell.

In 1956, the Swedish Jew, Dwight David Eisenhower, who became America's 6th Jewish President, allowed the Communists to crush the Hungarian revolt. Then came the Eisenhower/Oppenheimer scheme, the "International Atomic Energy Agency", set up to share US atomic technology with foreign powers. Oppenheimer was one of the authors of the Acheson-Lilienthal Report that designed this scheme to share atomic secrets, opening the way to share such technology with Israel.

The governing body within the C.F.R. is the Business Advisory Council, (B.A.C.) dominated by Zionist Jews. Sidney Weinberg, partner in Goldman, Sachs & Co, founded the B.A.C. Members of the B.A.C. during the 1960s were: Thomas B. McCabe, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board; Frank Stanton, President of C.B.S. Television; Frank Denton, Director of Mellon National Bank and Trust; Charles Dickey, Chairman of the Executive Committee of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.; G. Keith Funston, President of the New York Stock Exchange; Reese Taylor, member of the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. David Rockefeller was Chairman of the C.F.R.

Viet Nam

On April 23, 1975, President Gerald King Ford, America's 7th Jewish President, publicly and shamelessly announced his surrender of South Viet Nam to the Communists who defeated the United States in the Viet Nam War. Only a dullard such as he could have done so with such a silly grin of stupidity. He did not announce his surrender to the military or to the educated but rather to a crowd of students at Tulane University who mindlessly cheered the announcement of their own defeat and the subsequent defeat of freedom from Southeast Asia.

The end of the Viet Nam War was exactly as was intended. By pretending to support South Viet Nam, the war was deliberately and callously prolonged to achieve the very objective that was achieved: South Viet Nam became totally exhausted; her economy became exhausted, her military became exhausted, the morale of her people became exhausted. By withdrawing from an exhausted Viet Nam when they did, it only remained for the butchers of humanity to watch the nation painfully die as its enemies ripped her to shreds devouring her carcass. (The U.S. dropped 3.2 million tons of bombs on South Viet Nam during the war, but only dropped 340,000 tons of bombs on North Viet Nam.) The Communist victory was achieved. Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos all fell to Communist control according to the plans laid down by Pike and Lenin years earlier when they plotted to capture the masses of Asia, beginning with China.

Officially, the surrender of South Viet Nam to the Communists occurred in September of 1973 with the signing of the Paris Accords, arranged by Zionist Jew Henry Kissinger. While the U.S. deceitfully promised that any violations of the Accords by North Viet Nam would be met "with decisive military force", the U.S. did absolutely nothing as the Communists violated all of the Accords during their military conquest of South Viet Nam that followed. The only Accords agreement that was kept was by the U.S. by its withdrawal of all its forces in early 1973. Thereafter, the Communists launched "General Offensive, General Uprising," to bring about the complete subjugation of South Viet Nam in a direct and brazen violation of the Accords.

In December 1974, North Vietnamese military forces attacked Phuoc Long Province in South Vietnam, in violation of the Accords. President Ford registered diplomatic protests, but did nothing militarily. This was the first signal to the Communists that the U.S. would do nothing to intervene. The Communist then launched their full-scale war to conquer all of South Viet Nam, thus scrapping the Paris Accords.

March 1975 saw Hanoi make its next seriously aggressive move. In the preceding two years, North Vietnam's army patiently moved into the South enormous quantities of Soviet artillery, surface-to-air missiles, and armored vehicles, along with 100,000 fresh troops. The Paris accords only allowed 80,000 North Vietnamese regular troops to remain in the South, and their numbers had already increased to more than 200,000. 300,000 North Vietnamese regulars and several hundred thousand guerrilla forces totaled nearly 1 million by 1975. The North then launched its full offensive.

North Viet Nam General Dung entered Loc Ninh via the Ho Chi Minh Trail, now expanded from footpaths to include paved, two-lane highways that reached within 30 miles of Saigon. His first target was Ban Me Thuot, a city in the Central Highlands and the capitol of Darlac province. It was the vital link in the South Vietnamese army's defenses. Northern forces isolated Ban Me Thuot by cutting off or blocking the main highways to it. On March 10, 1975, three North Vietnamese army divisions, well equipped with tanks, assaulted the city, which was defended by two reinforced regiments of the 23rd Division. After a barrage of 122 mm artillery the city fell on March 12.

Refugees by the tens of thousands fled from the Communists down Route 7B. Vehicles were jammed with people from babies to elderly grandparents, packed on top or clinging to the side. Many of those who fell off were crushed by the vehicle behind. Thousands more fled on foot, carrying their meager belongings with them. The route was littered with abandoned people; children, the elderly, the infirm. North Vietnamese army troops attacked the defenseless refugees trying to get to the coast, killing thousands of citizens. North Vietnamese artillery destroyed many vehicles at close range, splattering body parts and blood everywhere.

General Dung swung north and on March 18 occupied Kontum and Pleiku. The South Vietnamese leader, Premier Thieu, now concentrated on holding certain coastal cities, including Da Nang, along with Saigon and the Delta region. Premier Thieu had the naive belief that holding these areas would give the United States time to exert its military power to enforce the Accords and to come save South Viet Nam from defeat, an event which never occurred, a hope that never materialized.

North Vietnamese forces unleashed attacks in Quang Tri province in late March, accelerating the flow of refugees. In Hue, citizens merged to join the throng headed for Da Nang. The city of Hue fell on March 24 as Communist artillery shelled Hue and all of the roads leading to and from it. Other forces surrounded Da Nang, to which more than 1 million refugees had fled. Thousands attempted to escape by sea, fleeing in anything that would float. Many drowned while tens of thousands were slaughtered by the Communists who entered Da Nang on March 29. Qui Nhon fell on March 31 and Nha Trang on April 3. The rich resources of Cam Ranh Bay fell on the same day. These reverses were soon followed by the fall of other coastal towns. Phu Cat airport was captured with more than 60 flyable aircraft in place.

Elsewhere in the region, the United States on April 12 evacuated Americans from Phnom Penh, Cambodia, in "Operation Eagle Pull". The withdrawal sent North Viet Nam another signal that there would be no U.S. intervention in South Vietnam. Much like Truman refusing to allow MacArthur to bomb the bridges over the Yalu River over which Chinese reinforcements poured into Korea, U.S. forces were never allowed to effectively bomb the Ho Chi Minh Trail through which reinforcements from North Viet Nam poured into the South.

With no U.S. support for the South, the North Vietnamese army was able to reach the capital city of Saigon by April 1975. Premier Thieu for another nine days clung to the hope of US intervention. When all hope finally gave way to sad reality he resigned on April 21, 1975 turning the government over to aging and feeble Tran Van Huong. In a TV and radio address, outgoing President Nguyen Van Thieu said his forces had failed to stop the advance of the Vietcong because of betrayal by the Americans. In a scathing attack on the US, he charged that US Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had tricked him into signing the Paris peace agreement two years earlier, promising military aid that never came. "At the time of the peace agreement the United States agreed to replace equipment on a one-by-one basis," he said. "But the United States did not keep its word. Is an American's word reliable these days?" He continued: "The United States did not keep its promise to help us fight for freedom and it was in the same fight that the United States lost 50,000 of its young men."

Henry Kissinger

Heinz, alias Henry, Kissinger, was born in Germany in 1923, moved to the U.S. in 1938, and was naturalized in 1943. He was inducted into the Army and became a Sergeant and served as an investigator in the Counter-Intelligence Corps. He was stationed in Europe near Germany.

Through the underground operations in Poland during the Roosevelt War, Soviet agents organized spy networks, one of which has been identified under the code name ODRA.* The ODRA was controlled by General Zelanzenkoff of Soviet Intelligence. Some time after the War, during a trial in Russia, some of General Zelanzenkoff's old files were opened and examined by top K.G.B. officers in Soviet Intelligence. On the list of ODRA agents, under the code name of "Bor", was Sergeant Henry A. Kissinger, a U.S. Army counter-intelligence interrogator. One of the Soviet officers who was present during this meeting later defected to the U.S. and informed the C.I.A. of Kissinger's treasonous activities as a double agent for the Communists while serving in the U.S. Army.

In 1955, when Kissinger was a Professor at Harvard University, the U.S. Military Intelligence investigated him because he was editing a publication titled, "Confluence", written from a pro-Communist viewpoint. Confluence received financial backing from the Ford Foundation. Soon, Henry found favor with the Illuminati and was made a researcher for the C.F.R., the Council of Foreign Relations. A few years later, he was appointed as Director of the National Security Council.

Having been placed into such high positions in our government, it was now Kissinger's job to help formulate foreign policy and keep President's under control just as did the Jewish advisor to Wilson, Edward Mendel House. Several of Henry's appointments of Zionist Jews to high positions in the national government were as follows:

(1) Kissinger helped position Helmut Sonnenfeldt on the National Security Council. Sonnenfeldt had been investigated twice by the F.B.I. and was reported to have transmitted secret information to a foreign power. U.S. Foreign Service Officer Steve Koczak and Frank Niland, former Internal Security officer for the State Department testified against Sonnenfeldt and recommended he be prosecuted under statutes of espionage.

(2) Kissinger arranged for the appointment of William O. Hall as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. Hall had already been cited by Security Officers of the State Department because of his close association and contact with Harold Glasser.

(3) Kissinger served as special consultant to President Kennedy on the Berlin Wall, which tightened Communist control over the citizens of East Berlin. Kissinger also helped design the 1971 German Accords that accepted the Berlin Wall and allowed Communist East Germany to have a seat in the United Nations.

(4) On Kissinger's recommendation, Boris H. Klosson, another security risk, was appointed as a political intelligence officer on the U.S. negotiating team to the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks (SALT). Klosson's own security records show him to have been a Soviet contact. It was Jew Boris Klosson who, on July 11, 1961, made it possible for the Russian-trained Jew, Lee Harvey Oswald to enter the United States. Kennedy had suspected internal security problems after the fiasco at the Bay of Pigs and had threatened to bust up the C.I.A.

(5) As Secretary of State, the German-born Jew Henry Kissinger, appointed David Henry Popper as the United States Ambassador to Chile. Popper had originally joined the State Department on the recommendation of convicted Communist spy Alger Hiss. He was also affiliated with the I.P.R.

(6) In February of 1974, Kissinger appointed another Zionist Jew, Leonard Unger as U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of China on Taiwan. Unger was shown to be a security risk by Scott McLeod who was Chief of State Department Security. Unger was a member of the Washington Bookshop Association, which was cited by the U.S. Attorney as a subversive Communist front. Miss Bentley had identified Unger with the Silvermaster and Perlo Cells. Unger was also listed as an espionage agent of the Soviet Union in the State Department Area of European Affairs.

(7) Kissinger pledged to give away the Panama Canal. Kissinger appointed Ellsworth Bunker as our U.S. Ambassador-at-large. Bunker was a director of the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, that was officially cited by the U.S. Attorney General and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee as a subversive Communist front. Bunker also contributed to the American defeat in Viet Nam. The Panama Canal has since been effectively taken over by Communist China, since China had been contracted to run the docks at both ends of the canal. China has been moving vast amounts of materials and security forces into Panama, all in preparation for World War III.

World War III

The so-called State of Israel is the product of a Jewish uprising in 1948 in which some 716,700 ungrateful Jews revolted against the British and who commenced a reign of terror upon the other inhabitants of Palestine. With the aid of Baron Edmond de Rothschild, the militant Jews won the fight and proclaimed themselves the State of Israel on May 14, 1948. Zionist activist Chaim Weizmann was sworn in as Prime Minister of the new provisional government. Russia and the United States immediately recognized the new "State". Eventually many members of the UN also recognized Israel as a nation.

From 1922 to 1964 some 1.5 million Jews migrated to Palestine from Europe. This accounts for most of Europe's Jewish population, which the Jews falsely claim were exterminated by the Germans.* Obviously, if Germany had "exterminated" the Jews, then the population of Jews would have been reduced to zero. Somehow, there were millions of Jews still very much alive at the war's end. (In 1930 the world's Jewish population was 13 million. By 1950 it had increased to 16 million.) The Jewish population of Germany in 1930 had only been 550,000 and in the period 1932 to 1939 alone, some 214,000 German Jews migrated to Palestine. In Poland, there were only about 200,000 Jews until 1924 when 3.2 million Jews moved in from Russia, increasing the Jewish population of Poland to 3.4 million. By 1930, having organized illegal immigration on a large scale, some 1.8 million Polish Jews entered the United States, leaving about 1.6 million Jews in Poland. By 1964, as stated above, most of these had migrated to Palestine. These would be mostly Ashkenazim Jews. A few thousand more Jews were scattered around other European countries. German Jews, and other Partisans, who remained in Germany and who refused to sign loyalty oaths during time of war, were interned in camps. They were released when the war ended. Thousands of smiling healthy Jews who had comfortably sat out the war in their self-sustaining camps, taking an occasional dip in the Auschwitz swimming pool, returned to their homes. There were, of course, thousands of Jewish Germans who were loyal citizens but mainstream-thinking historians rarely mention any of them.

The myth of the 6 million exterminated Jews was created by simply inflating the population of European Jews to a ridiculously high 10 million figure, and then subtracting from that the actual population of 4 million, who can be accounted for. The Jews then simply say that the Jewish population of Europe was reduced by 6 million Jews.** They then add to their bizarre story doctored and blurry photographs, fake photos, photos of war-dead, and claim they are photos of dead Jews. Even more ridiculous is the Jew story that Germans had large numbers of gas chambers and crematoriums all over the country that enabled them to kill millions and millions and gazillions of Jews, as if Germans had nothing better to do with their time during the War when their own country was being incinerated by daily and nightly firebombings.

There never were any gas chambers. The few crematoriums that existed were those that are normally found in funeral homes. After the war, Allied forces were everywhere in Europe, along with news media from all over the world, and the International Red Cross and numerous other relief agencies. Nobody ever saw any gas chambers, crematoriums, or huge piles of dead Jews.

While Jews claim they were persecuted solely because they are Jews, the truth is they were restricted because so many of them were Communists and subversive to society. Their reputation as cheats and swindlers is centuries old. Jews also made up the bulk of the European Partisans. Jewish Partisans kidnapped and sadistically murdered Mussolini who had dismantled the Jewish MAFIA in Italy.

In 1951, Germany was compelled by the war's victors to pay Israel reparations even though Israel did not even exist at the time of World War II. Thus, Zionist Jews swindled some $950,000,000 out of Germany on the basis of their bogus holocaust story, in which they falsely characterize the German people as the type of people who would murder millions of innocent people. Germany was and is a Christian nation full of good decent Christian people who were and are incapable of committing any such heinous crimes. Jews, on the other hand, fabricated the War that caused the murder of millions of Germans. Hitler had warned the world in Mein Kampf that the only reason Jews wanted an exclusive national homeland in Palestine was to have a sovereign State from which to swindle the world. With Jews in control of international finance this has largely come true.

As for the Jews, the only proper definition of a Jew is that he is a descendent from one of the 12 Israelite tribes known as Judah. Most so-called Jews today, however, are not of the tribe of Judah. The tribe of Judah returned to Palestine after their Babylonian captivity and were living there in Judea and Galilee when Christ appeared. Many of these Judahites accepted Jesus, joined the new Church, and thereafter became known as Christians. Edom, the descendents of Esau were also living in Judea and in southern Palestine. The Herods and the Sadducees were Edomites in league with the scribes and Pharisees and the Sanhedrin under the high priests Annas and Caiaphas who murdered Jesus. Largely, the Edomites accepted Judaism. The Christian Judahites fled northward into Galilee, leaving Judea to the non-Christian Edomite Jews. ("Ye men of Galilee..." Acts 1: 11)

Around 70 AD, the Gentile Romans, sickened by the corruption in Judea, destroyed Judea scattering the inhabitants. The Edomites fled into eastern Europe and later became part of the great Khazar Kingdom, while some were exiled to the island of Sicily. Others fled to Spain and then to Turkey. The Christian Judahites fled further north into Europe and the British Isles that had previously been settled by the 10 tribed Kingdom of Israel who had escaped Assyrian captivity around 730 BC and, who, upon crossing the Caucasus Mountains on their entry into Europe became known thereafter as the Caucasian race.* The Christian Judahites thus comfortably assimilated into European and British society.

The Edomite Jews who infiltrated Europe were known for their lack of ethics in commerce. Their appearance also sets them apart from other tribes, being typified by a large curved nose and scraggly hair. The most characteristic element of the 19th century bourgeois was Jewish financiers who dominated commerce in Europe. They were cheats and swindlers and were expelled from most European countries they lived in. The Jews in Spain introduced Jewish Cabalism and practiced sorcery and witchcraft resulting in the Inquisition. They were expelled from Spain and fled to Turkey, thereafter becoming known as Sephardim (Spanish) Jews. The Khazars Jews became known as the Ashkenazim Jews. There were also gypsy Jews who claimed descent from Egypt, hence their name. They were also unscrupulous people from whom came the term gyp, meaning to cheat or swindle. The gypsies held to Egyptian traditions of occult magic. Most of those who comprise Zionist Jewry and the Illuminati of today descend from these non-Semitic Edomite Jews.

Having come from Russia and Poland, most of the several million Jews who have settled in the counterfeit state of Israel are Edomites and gypsies. Their constant seizure of lands not belonging to them, the slaughter of the native Palestinians who resist the theft of their land, their numerous instigated wars from 1948 through the present, their saturation bombing of Lebanon in 1982 that slaughtered 17,000 refugees, their continued agitation, coupled with the fact that so many Christians have been duped into believing that these imposters are the Israel of old and therefore should be sustained as "God's chosen people", all serve as the powder keg that will ignite the world into World War III.

The state of Israel is a counterfeit; having been created by Edomite Jews, not true Israelites. These descendents of Esau have sought to regain the birthright given to Jacob and to lay claim by deception to the scepter given to Judah, and this has been the conflict of the ages. The birthright included wealth and prosperity. While these Jews have swindled their way into financial wealth, they still seek the power to rule. Zionism, so-called, is their movement to assist in this objective by creating a sovereign state from which to rule. This sovereign state, however, is not to be limited to Palestine, but rather is to include all the lands that God gave to Abraham, according to the Bible. This area includes present-day Iraq, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, parts of Egypt and Saudi Arabia. Israel seeks to absorb these areas into a much larger Greater Israel. The Bush War in Iraq serves this purpose.

Through it all, these Zionist Jews are the perpetrators of the most heinous crimes against humanity. They have maliciously promoted vice, corruption, moral debasement, organized crime, and world wars. When exposed or criticized, or when Zionism is challenged, they scream "anti-Semitism" from the rooftops and denounce their critics as hateful, intolerant bigots. They present themselves to the world as poor innocent victims being persecuted for their religion, but they have never been the victims of anything. Rather, they are the very perpetrators of everything they accuse everyone else. Jacob de Haas, an intimate of the late Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis, wrote, "Zionists purposely used the word Jew synonymously with Zionist to give Political Zionism protection from criticism enjoyed by religious Judaism". They smugly claim that the world is simply envious of their success in business and financial matters. Nothing could be farther from the truth.*

In 2002, Former President Jimmy Carter, writing in the New York Times, denounced Ariel Sharon's "invasion of Lebanon, his provocative visit to the Temple Mount, the destruction of villages and homes, the arrest of thousands of Palestinians, his open defiance...His rejection of all peace agreements that included Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands" and his ultimate goal "to establish Israeli settlements as widely as possible throughout occupied territories". The Jews, of course, scream "anti-Semitism" at Jimmy Carter for his criticism of Israeli atrocities.

For years, the international bankers and the Illuminati have been using the United States to build up Israel into a powerful state. When they feel the time is right, these Jewish conspirators will provoke the Islamic nations into another war, or series of wars, and use the power of the United States to crush and destroy the Islamic world. Russia and China will aid the Arabic nations to pretend they are their friends and to get oil. They will also do this to convince the American people that by aiding Israel, they are somehow checking Russian power in the mid-east or fighting Communism. This will manipulate the U.S. into continued aid to Israel, a nation from whom we derive no benefit whatsoever. Such manipulations will further divide the West from the Eastern bloc headed by Russia and China and will serve the purpose of bringing into conflict the major powers of the world.

During an attack on the United States by either Russia or China or both, the Communist 5th column will be activated. Subversive elements of the most criminal and sordid variety live among us. They work in defense plants, on military installations, in industry, government, communications, utilities and have been quietly gathering vital security and other information to enable them to execute a campaign of sabotage throughout the United States. There are millions of illegal aliens in the U.S. who are organized into criminal gangs who can be called upon to perpetrate the slaughters that Albert Pike wrote about.

Since China does not have a Navy to bring their Army of millions to our shores, the strategy has involved the pretended split between Communist China and Russia that was exploited during the late 70's and through the 90's. This propaganda was designed to condition the American people into accepting a U.S.- China alliance in a war against Russia. This huge hoax has been used to justify recognition of China, massive military and economic aid to China, favorable trade relations with China that would enable China to either build a Navy or a large merchant marine which could be converted into troop transport vessels, or which could be used as an excuse by our government to bring the Chinese Army to our shores on the pretense that the Chinese are going to help defend the United States against Russia. While this may still happen, Russia and China are now openly developing closer ties. The Chinese Communists are not our friends, but our government and the news media are determined to convince us that they are. President William Blythe (Clinton), America's 8th Jewish President, did much to promote the Communist regime in China. Communist Chinese have agents in U.S. universities and research centers, defense industries and military bases. China already has contracts to operate the Panama Canal and is moving troops into that area as security personnel. Along with hostile militant Mexicans, the Chinese could launch an invasion from the south as well as joining Russia in an invasion from the north. Regardless of the particular strategy used, however, the outcome of the continued agitation in the Mid-east can only be war and precisely because it is planned that way. U.S. support of Israel is the best guarantee the U.S. has that the world will eventually take up arms against us.

The most pathetic arguments are used to justify U.S. attacks on Islamic countries. Lies, distortions, and utter nonsense form a steady barrage of propaganda from our national government and the Jew-owned media for war on behalf of Israel against Islam. After the destruction of the United States and her allies, and the Eastern bloc nations of Russia and China in an all-out World War III, the Illuminati intends that there will remain only anarchy and chaos on one side, and the sovereign State of Israel on the other, which the Illuminati will use as their headquarters to run the world that they hold in usury through their control of international finance as well as through their control of the internal monetary systems of the nations.

Survival

If the United States would reverse its foreign policy to one favorable to the Islamic nations with whom we do business, and end all aid to Israel, we might prevent another world war. We would also have to work for a free China and cease insulting the national integrity of Europeans. The trillions of dollars in ill-gotten gain should be confiscated from the international banking cartels and the money restored to the people. These huge funds should be dispersed as reparations to Germany, France, and Japan. Germany should be re-united. Reparations should also be paid to U.S. veterans and widows of veterans in the form of greatly increased benefits. Zionist Jewry should stand trial for their crimes against humanity. As for personal survival, getting out of debt, storing food and water, acquiring guns and ammunition, keeping cash on hand, and praying for Divine intervention, are essential. Weaponry, however, will only be good for keeping intruders from your home. They will be ineffective in defending the country against the invaders. Once World War III begins, the public will be unable to stop it. We can expect that the Zionist-controlled government in Washington D.C. will bomb any segment of the population that effectively resists the Chinese/Russian invasion. If bombs are dropped on America, even atomic bombs, they will be dropped by our own national government. They would justify it as a necessary amputation in order to save the remainder of the country. Thus the greatest threat to the American people is still their own government. This policy of a regulated war will not only insure the devastation and subjugation of the American people, but will also demonstrate once again to the Chinese and Russians that the Illuminati has the bomb and will use it on them as well. This will keep the invaders in line and serve as a reminder to them as to who is the boss. There is to be no victor in this war other than the Illuminati. The ultimate objective is the general world-wide destruction.

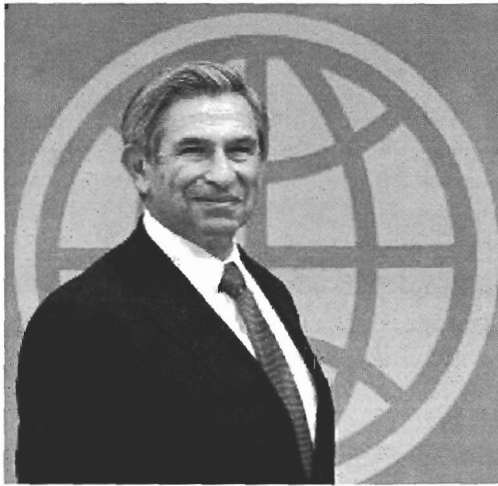

Eventually, the nations of the world are to be occupied and controlled by World Police under the Zionist controlled New World Order in the form of the United Nations or some other organization. The U.N. is controlled by world Zionism through their agents and stooges throughout the governments of the world who sit on the Security Council and in the General Assembly. Over the last few years, Russia and China have been mortgaging themselves to international finance. Banks, insurance companies, and law offices form the bulk of big city skylights all around the world. Jewish capitalism is the great whore patronized by a deceived world as envisioned and recorded in the Book of Revelation.

If anyone is looking for a political solution, a program, God has given us one. It is the light that shines in the darkness and the darkness comprehends it not. It is titled "The Program of the National Socialist German Worker's Party".* Its principles are for all peoples everywhere, if they would but accept them.

Appendix I: Greater Israel

Paul Wolfowitz: U.S. Deputy Secretary of Defense
President of The World Bank
One of the most powerful Jews in the world.

Wolfowitz is a hawk when it comes to slaughtering Muslims. He is one of the grand architects of the butchery of Iraq and of the slaughter of some 100,000 Iraqi civilians.

President Bush has already stolen Iraq's entire national treasury of gold and silver and all of her currency, and replaced it with a new currency borrowed from the World Bank at interest. The payment of the interest for the use of the new currency is guaranteed by the imposition of a personal income tax, a tax that was never imposed under the benevolent leadership of Saddam Hussein. The minimum tax rate is 15% plus a 5% reconstruction surcharge" in imports. Six foreign banks have taken over Iraqi local banks and all state-owned companies have been sold-off to foreign (Jewish) investors.

President Bush's new appointed finance minister for Iraq is Kamil al-Gailani. He has pledged that Baghdad will now allow up to 100% foreign ownership of all sectors of the economy except natural resources (oil). Foreigners cannot own land but they can lease it for 40 years. This allows the Jews to speculate on land values. Officials of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund have applauded this sell-out by al-Gailani.*

As further proof that Bush's Iraq war is all about benefiting Israel, the Bush administration intends to re-open an oil pipeline that runs from Mosul, Iraq to Haifa, Israel. Bush has promised Israel Iraq's oil and he intends to deliver. As further proof that the new Iraqi government is only a puppet regime for Bush, he has stipulated through diplomatic channels that the economic sanctions against Iraq will not be fully lifted unless the new government approves of piping oil to Israel.** Making threats and twisting arms is the Bush concept of democracy in Iraq.

All of this, however, is conditional upon President Bush establishing security in Iraq. This is the real reason for our continued stay in Iraq, and the reason Bush keeps saying, he will not pull out troops until the country is secure: to complete the theft of Iraq's entire economic wealth, the placing of all of Iraq on a debt money system, and the completion of the transfer of control of Iraq's entire economy to the Jews.

President Bush further argues that he will not pull our troops out of Iraq until the new Iraqi Army is strong enough to keep the peace, meaning that he will not withdraw our troops until enough Iraqis can be recruited who are willing to kill their own countrymen who resist the Bush regime. Obviously, this will never happen so Bush has thus assured our continued stay in Iraq.

This is all geared to enable Israel to absorb Iraq as part of Greater Israel, which includes all the land God gave to Abraham, according to the Old Testament. This is to provide room to settle millions of the world's Jews there. Much like the native Palestinians, the native Iraqis who resist will be displaced or murdered.

By exhausting our military strength in this unjustified foreign war, America will be largely defenseless when the Chinese invade. Gog (Russia) and Magog (the Mongolian hordes of Siberia and China) will invade from the north.

The Jews Behind the Butchery and Conquest of Iraq

Appendix II

Madeleine Albright
Secretary of State, Clinton Administration

When Denis Halliday, the courtly Irishman who spent 34 years with the UN, resigned in 1998 as the UN's Humanitarian Coordinator for Iraq in protest at the effects of the embargo on the civilian population, he gave the following explanation:

"...the policy of economic sanctions is totally bankrupt. We are in the process of destroying an entire society. It is as simple as that ... Five thousand children are dying every month ... I don't want to administer a program that results in figures like these."

"We have heard that half a million children have died [because of sanctions against Iraq]. I mean that's more children than died in Hiroshima. And - you know, is the price worth it?"

The US Secretary of State, Madeleine Albright, was asked this on May, 11 1996, in a "60 Minutes" program in the US. She answered: "... I think, we think, the price is worth it."

This vulgar Jew literally starved to death a million Muslims in Iraq throughout the decade of the 90's as a result of the unjustified and cruel sanctions imposed on Iraq. As a Zionist Jew, when Ms. Albright says, "the price was worth it", by "it", she means the cause of Jewish Zionism, the conquest of the world.

In 1994 when Madeleine Albright was U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, she argued strenuously to The United Nations not intervene in the genocide taking place in Rwanda, April through July of 1994. After the Christian Tutsis had been disarmed by governmental decree in the early 1990s, Hutu-led military forces began to systematically massacre the defenseless Christians. Using machetes rather than bullets, the Hutu forces were able to create a state of abject fear and terror within the helpless Christian population as they systematically butchered hundreds of thousands of them. Madeleine Albright also insisted that the word "genocide" must not be used, and that the United Nations forces stationed in Rwanda were not to be allowed to intervene. In the three months that followed, between one-half and three-quarters of a million Christians were systematically dismembered, hacked to death, and slaughtered in the bloody carnage that ensued. Tens of thousands of Christians were murdered in their churches; tens of thousands more were murdered in their hospitals and in their schools. On several occasions, United Nations soldiers stationed in Rwanda actually handed over helpless Christians under their protection to members of the Hutu militia. They then stood by as their screaming victims were unceremoniously hacked to pieces. At the end of the carnage, in late July 1994, the U.S. government rewarded the Hutu murderers with millions of dollars in foreign aid. The Jew-owned media has remained silent about the fact that almost all of those who were slaughtered were Christians, and it was the policies of our Zionist-controlled government that were primarily responsible for blocking efforts by neighboring African countries to intervene. Imagine what may lie in store for Christians here in America at some time in the not-too-distant future, if Zionist Jews and their supporters are not expelled from our government.

Appendix III

Beloved of his people, the German Fuhrer, Adolf Hiedler gave them prosperity, greatness, and joy.

These beautiful German children are what the Jews called "thugs". They were massacred by the millions. They fought and died for their homeland.

Appendix IV: The Auschwitz Swimming Pool

Swimming Pool, Auschwitz Camp, June 1996. 'Inmates from Auschwitz and surrounding camps enjoyed swimming and sunbathing beside the pool on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Although not as popular as sports like soccer, some competition was organized where inmates from different countries of origin, and different camps, raced in individual and relay events.' Above photo and caption from www.air-photo.com

Marc Klein, a detainee, recalls the swimming pool at least twice in his recollections of the camp. In an article entitled 'Auschwitz 1 Stammlager' he wrote:

The working hours were modified on Sundays and holidays, when most of the kommandos were at leisure. Roll call was at around noon; evenings were devoted to rest and to a choice of cultural and sporting activities. Football, basketball, and water-polo matches (in an open-air pool built within the perimeter by detainees) attracted crowds of onlookers. It should be noted that only the very fit and well-fed, exempt from the harsh jobs, could indulge in these games which drew the liveliest applause from the masses of other detainees (De l'Université aux camps de concentration: Télmorgnages strasbourgeois, Paris, les Belles-lettres, 1947, p. 453).

In his booklet Observations et réflexions sur les camps de concentration nazis he further wrote:

Auschwitz 1 was made up of 28 blocks built of stone laid out in three parallel rows between which ran paved streets. A third street ran the length of the quadrangle and was planted with birch trees, the Birkenhaller intended as a walkway for the detainees, with benches; there also was an open air swimming pool (booklet of 32 pages printed in Caen, 1948, p. 10; its text is a reproduction of the author's article published in Etudes germaniques, n° 3, 1948, pp. 244-275).

Another wartime Jewish detainee like Marc Klein and R. Weil, confirmed, in a short testimony written in 1997 entitled "Une Piscine à Auschwitz," that he saw, in July 1944, dozens of his fellow detainees busy at work on the said pool which, he pointed out, had "a diving board and an access ladder". (Esrail, registration no. 173295, « Une piscine à Auschwitz », in Après Auschwitz [Bulletin de l'Amicale des déportés d'Auschwitz], n° 264/octobre 1997, p. 10).
