
From: "John Kaminski" <skylax@comcast.net>
To: "Brian McDermott" <governor@cqfreestate.com>
Cc: "Laura Knight-Jadczyk" <lark2@cassiopaea.com>
Sent: Tuesday, September 19, 2006 10:42 AM
Subject: Fwd: Jewish Rule by JB Campbell

Begin forwarded message:

From: John Kaminski <skylax@comcast.net>
Date: September 19, 2006 10:37:45 AM EDT
To: Peter Marshall <petemar@tsn.cc>
Cc: Rixon Stewart <editor@thetruthseeker.co.uk>, World Newsstand <worldnewsstand@worldnewsstand.net>, Kev Hall <kevcross2@yahoo.com>, Victor Thorn <Sisyphus1285@cs.com>, Shiu Hung <shiuhung@sbcglobal.net>, John Lee <piratenews@infowars.net>, American Patriot Friends Network <APFN@apfn.org>, Don Harkins <observer@coldreams.com>, Iaczone@aol.com, John Prukop <ccw@wolfenet.com>, Tidbits News <tidbitsnews@peoplepc.com>, Mark Elsis <mark@lovearth.net>, Tony Graffeo <t0ny@sarasota-web.com>, Lisa Guliani <wingedpiper@yahoo.com>, WorldViewNews News <worldviewnews@hotmail.com>, Dave Patterson <david.p@psu.ac.th>, Adelaide Institute <info@adelaideinstitute.org>
Subject: Re: Jewish Rule by JB Campbell

This is awesome, Peter, thanks. Best description of what's happening I've read anywhere.

Best wishes,
John Kaminski
<http://www.johnkaminski.com/>

On Sep 19, 2006, at 12:04 AM, Peter Marshall wrote:

<http://www.thebirdman.org/Index/Others/Others-JewishRule-JBCampbell.doc>

Jewish Rule

by

9/21/2006

JB Campbell

Probably the best description of the problem which confronts humanity is in Douglas Reed's The Controversy of Zion. Reed, a foreign correspondent for the Times of London, discusses the struggle within Judaism between those who craved a Jewish homeland in the former Judea, which for many centuries has been known as Palestine and populated by Semitic Palestinians, and those who thought this was a crazy idea, due to the Jewish nature. The ones who wanted a homeland called themselves Zionists and the ones who didn't merely called themselves Jews. Oddly, the Zionists were mostly non-Jews whose ancestors had themselves converted to Judaism around 800 AD in a place called Khazaria, in the Caucasus Mountains between the Caspian and Black Seas. They were quite literally Caucasians. The history of the Khazars can be found in the Jewish Encyclopedia, the Britannica and especially in Arthur Koestler's The Thirteenth Tribe, and of course online.

This is one of the many aspects of the Jewish Question: Who is a Jew? What is a Jew? What do Jews do and what do they want? One of the results of the Holocaust legend is that it has made people around the world wary of even mentioning Jews, or the word "Jew." Substitutes are often used - but not by Jews of course. Jews call themselves Jews - they just don't like non-Jews to say the word "Jew." It disturbs them because they know that coming from a non-Jew, the word "Jew" is an accusation of a crime, generally usury, sometimes worse. Today, it has become something far worse.

And so, we have two kinds of Jews: Western Jews and Eastern Jews. Western Jews are the more civilized ones, the ones who traditionally occupied themselves in the money business - gold, silver, banking, finance, lending, precious gems, etc. They are the real Jews, who can trace their ancestry to Spain, Morocco, Egypt and the Middle East. There is no trace of Judeans. Ironically, Western Jews generally were not the ones who wanted a Jewish homeland ripped out of Palestine; those ones were the Eastern Jews from Russia. These Eastern Jews, who are known as Ashkenazim, are the ones who have been pretending to be Jews. The amazing thing is that they have redefined Judaism thoroughly via an utter obedience to the Talmud, which does qualify them as Honorary Jews. One should refer to the history of the Khazars to learn the source of the ruthless nature of these people, who were always what we have come to know as Terrorists. Roughly 90% of Jews are Ashkenazi Jews - maybe more. Since the early 20th Century, they have flooded America and Europe and much of the world.

In Russia, in the late 19th Century, these ruthless people developed simultaneously two types of Terrorism. One of them was Communism and the other one was Zionism and they were both forms of Judaism. As Stephen S. Wise, chief rabbi of the United States in the 1930s said, "Some call it Marxism - I call it Judaism!" Both Communists and Zionists desired to rule the world - literally. The Communists wanted to murder the Romanoffs, liquidate millions of Russian Christians, seize control of the Russian homeland and make Moscow the center of world domination. The Zionists wanted the center to be in Palestine, because they were fanatical Talmudists and had this recurring pipe dream that they were the people of the Old Testament. Zionism called for the Russian Jews to emigrate to Palestine, get settled and take it over from the Palestinians, rename it "Israel" and make The Law go forth from there. The Russian gang was a cult of pretenders; steeped in the Talmud, ruthlessly bossed by rabbinic commissars, they were prepared to kill their way out of Russia and into Palestine. They possessed the deadly zeal of the convert and they planned to migrate en masse to Palestine starting soon.

The first Jewish Century began in Basel, Switzerland in 1897 with the Zionist Congress convened there by Theodore Herzl and his associates. One group of associates, the Russian branch of Zionism and Communism, soon eliminated Herzl and took over the movement. Herzl was the godfather of Zionism and was surprised by these strangers from the East, who had no ancestral ties to the Middle East. The Western or Spanish Jews such as Herzl may have had some tenuous connection to Judea - but that is not proven. For years there were to me some remarkable coincidences: How the Khazars and their descendants the Ashkenazim could mimic so perfectly the Hebrews of Leviticus and Deuteronomy; how a typical coarse Ashkenazi Jew such as Kissinger could be so like a supposed Spanish Jew such as Bernard Baruch, the tall and regal financial high priest of the Wilson and Roosevelt administrations? Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote in his memoirs that the smartest thing he ever did was, as a lieutenant colonel going nowhere, to ask Bernard Baruch for advice on his career. Within months, despite his utter incompetence and lack of combat experience, Ike was picked to become the first five-star general in US history, and overlord of the most terrible war criminals in human history. Douglas Reed answered my question on Baruch: he revealed that Baruch was in fact a Russian Jew, not a Western Jew as he pretended. One mystery solved! And it is interesting that Herzl would supposedly design the concept of Zionism in complete ignorance of the Russian "Jews" who were sharpening their knives and pining for a miraculous transportation to the new Zion. Once Herzl was out of the way, Zionism was a Russian operation, no less than Communism.

But the question remains: Should we refer to these pirates as Jews, as Zionists, as Talmudists? Some are obviously Zionists but since all Jews refer to themselves as Jews, we should, too. The horrors mentioned below were mainly committed by Jews who were not Zionists. The Romanoffs and twenty million Russians were not murdered by Zionists, but by Communist Jews. The Hungarians and Ukrainians were destroyed by Communist Jews. The banking and business depredations mentioned below were committed by Rothschild gangsters who were not Zionists. Now, of course, our government has been taken over totally by Zionist Jews and Zionist non-Jews, but the glue holding them all together is Judaism. What if Israel implodes or is just no longer viable as a safe haven and the persecuted ones must once again depart for friendlier lands? That would be the end of Zionism but not the end of Judaism. Jews would still gravitate to Capitol Hill and the White House to demand special exemptions for themselves and unearned, unnatural powers over the rest of us.

The Zionists have pressured and even terrorized other Jews into supporting Zionism - the secular religion justified only by the grimmest fairy tale of all, the Holocaust. It has become an obsessive compulsion for some Jews and the most terrible problem for many more who see a nightmare coming. They know that the nightmare was designed by Jews and was tacitly supported by virtually all Jews, Zionist or not.

Zionism was at first rejected by reactionary Western Jews, who had been trying to assimilate themselves into Gentile society for centuries. Perhaps the Rothschilds and Warburgs and Oppenheims, et al, realized the futility of assimilation with those whom they were plundering with their fractional reserve banking, or perhaps the idea of a Jewish headquarters appealed to them, but for some reason the Jewish Money Power got behind the Zionist plan for the invasion of Palestine. It is my theory that the invasion coincided with the discovery of oil in the Middle East and that the Rothschild Group simply needed Jewish special forces in the region to control events in whatever way needed. Jews would not be discovering or producing any oil, but they could make sure that it would be as expensive as possible.

Oil is the most lucrative business after banking and cocaine trafficking but it depends on a reliable price structure. That is, consumers have had to be persuaded that oil is rather scarce and hard to find to justify ever-rising oil prices. Rothschild's American banking and oil commissar, John D. Rockefeller, planted the idea that oil supplies were short and in danger of drying up at any time. This myth was exploded on January 10, 1901 near Beaumont, Texas when the massive Spindletop well blew out. That monster produced around four million barrels of oil and ended Rockefeller's Standard Oil monopoly on oil prices, based on his Indiana and Ohio wells and his criminal railroad transportation practices. Spindletop ended the belief he'd sold the people that oil was scarce. Prices plummeted, although there wasn't much demand for oil at the time. There wouldn't be for a few more years until the advent of the automobile. A better method for control of raw materials - mainly oil - would have to be developed.

It was at this time that the Rothschild/Rockefeller Group devised the best method of all to keep unwanted oil in the ground, where it would not threaten the price structure. Only oil owned by the Group would be exploited, and at very controlled amounts. The Group began in 1917 to place its agents in control of governments of countries whose oil supplies, if exploited, would hurt profits by lowering the price. Their first agents were two Communist Jews named Bronstein and Ulyanov, better known as Trotsky and Lenin. These ruthless characters murdered the entire potential Russian middle class and thereby prevented the emergence of Russian oilmen. Anyone with the idea of being a businessman was killed. The oil stayed in the ground.

European oil production was mainly in Rumania. Who can forget the wanton destruction of the Ploesti oil fields and massive storage facilities by the American and British air forces in the early 1940s? Our wonderful boys flew months of air raids against Ploesti. The German war machine switched to synthetic gasoline, produced by the gasification of coal! This was in fact a Standard Oil process, but we are not told about it today.

China, of course, also represented a threat to the price structure if Chinese oil were produced. So the Group installed two more extremely ruthless agents in China's government: Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai. These two Rothschild boys slaughtered sixty-four million potential middle class enemies by 1964, according to the congressional records. There were no Chinese oilmen to come up with a Chinese Spindletop. They were all dead. We can just imagine how China would have blossomed under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek, based on the performance of tiny Taiwan, which rose to number four GNP in the world in just twenty years.

The same thing happened in Vietnam, where the US installed the Communist Ho Chi Minh, who made sure that a Vietnamese Spindletop would never be produced. (Ho was a US intelligence agent during World War II. He sent his reports to the OSS from the Texaco office in Hanoi.)

Why 7000 Children Had to Die

(dpa/fis) A new study about the deaths of more than 10,000 German refugees in Denmark shortly before and after the end of the Second World War has startled the public of this Scandinavian country. The discovery that the refugee casualties from 1945 to 1949 included more than 7,000 toddlers and babies who were denied not only adequate rations but also any and all medical aid was described by the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken as "shocking and inhumane".

Equally bad, the newspaper said, is the "massive repression of awareness" of the refugees' fate in Denmark, since to date the Danish have considered it common knowledge and a point of national credit that the 200,000 to 250,000 people who fled to Denmark from the advancing Soviet troops had been accorded highly decent treatment.

Senior physician Kirsten Lylloff has taken a closer look at this myth. Studying history is her hobby, and she had become curious about the great number of graves of German babies and children in a cemetery in Ålborg where she used to live. When she spent six months gathering information, the relevant archives were readily opened to her. The amateur historian was all the more surprised to find numerous shocking statistics and reports, which had never been mentioned in standard historiography to date. And this despite the fact that the time of German occupation of Denmark from April 1940 to May 1945 is more thoroughly researched than any other historical period.

At first, the refugees - 85 percent of them women and children - had been quartered in schools or meeting houses; then, in 1945, 142 camps were set up for these people. The Danish civilians were strictly forbidden to have any contact with the German expellees.

Lylloff's research has shown that in 1945 alone, 13,492 German refugees died in Danish refugee camps. More than 7,000 of them were children under five years of age; most of them died of malnutrition and dehydration and - according to Lylloff - of "perfectly curable" illnesses such as stomach and intestinal infections and scarlet fever. But until 1949 the Danish medical board, as well as the Red Cross, consistently denied the refugees interned in these camps any medical assistance.

"How can one consider babies and toddlers to be enemies?" Kirsten Lylloff counters the argument, routine at war's end, that the Germans were enemies, regardless of their age. Jørgen Poulsen, the present Secretary General of the Danish Red Cross, commented on this new study: "It hurts to read this. I hope that we've grown smarter by now." The Copenhagen medical board also stated that the refusal of all pleas for medical attention in those days "cannot be justified, no matter how good the excuses."

Medical board spokesman Torben Pedersen nonetheless joined historians in warning against drawing rash conclusions. He says that after five years' occupation by National Socialist Germany, with a world war and ever-worsening reports about the systematic destruction of the Jews, the political mood in Denmark perforce played a powerful role in determining the attitude towards German refugees.

However, according to Kirsten Lylloff's findings, there was also a pragmatic consideration to the merciless attitude the Danish authorities took towards the refugees: "The medical board stated officially that helping German refugees would harm Denmark's relations with the Allies."

In fact, at the war's end Denmark found it very difficult to dissuade the victorious powers from classifying it as "collaborator". Instead of offering armed resistance, like its Norwegian neighbors for example, the government at Copenhagen had surrendered without a fight to the German Wehrmacht in 1940 and placed their country at Hitler's disposal as a willing supplier of foodstuffs for the Wehrmacht. In return, Denmark was treated relatively mildly by the occupiers and was spared any involvement in the war itself.